Faculty Members, Wives Demonstrate Their Strength, Stamina at Dance

By EMORY KING

The old myth that faculty members are a senile bunch, filling their nights with textbooks and schemes to fail students was exploded last Saturday night at the Student Union.

On a floor slick as glass almost 200 faculty members and their wives danced until after midnight to the music of records. This dance went far and away to rival any mere undergraduate hop.

THE DANCE had just begun when two energetic members of the chemistry and geology department sold the disc-jockey that "this isn't a wake. Let's have a little music—not this funeral dirge."

And that's just what they got. The faculty danced to everything from Count Basie's "Two O'Clock Jump" to Tommy Dorsey's "Opus One."

Mr Clyde Burns, of the Industrial Arts department, proved he was old enough to remember the "Charleston," and young enough to still do it. He got a large round of applause from the audience.

TEN COUPLES of all ages joined in on "Theta Tenia Theta," while three dancers joined hands to dance the Lambda-Chi traditional folk dance that goes with the music.

After three jitterbugs and the "Dark Town Strutter's Ball", Dr George Mahaffey, of the Art department, asked for "a nice waltz for an old man." However, Dr Holachuh was later seen dancing Dixieland like an expert.

At half-time they refueled with sandwiches, punch and mints in anticipation of a lively second half. They got it.

THE PROCEEDINGS started with a dedication to Dr Dosa S Campbell — "Bless Your Heart." Then someone dedicated "Diz Diz Diz For Your Dinner" to the Archeology department. After that, many other dedications were made.

Still the complaints came in about "slow" records. Still the disc-jockey played all the fast numbers he could lay his hands on. Still the dancers demanded more.

At fifteen minutes until midnight 40 dancers were going strong on the "Beer Barrel Rag". Two minutes until 12 found 30 couples stubbornly holding the floor doing tangos, sambas and red hot jive.

IT WAS 12:30 a m before the last three couples danced out the door to the tune of Dorsey's "Boogie Woogie."

One faculty member summed the dance up by saying, "The students only want to hold each other at their dances. We can do that later—we want to dance now."

Industrial Designer Stevens Has 118 Clients on His List

An attack of polio when he was eight years old was probably one of the greatest influences in the life of Brooks Stevens, nationally known industrial designer. He will be one of 20 outstanding lecturers at the fourth annual Art Seminar, which opens Monday, and continues through Saturday, at the Ringling Museum of Art in Sarasota. The Seminar is sponsored jointly by the Museum and the Art Department of Florida State University.

The purpose of the Art Seminar is stated as "to provide a lecture next Tuesday is a study of the contemporary. It will cover philosophy, contemporary history, architecture, painting, sculpture, movies, music, literature, industrial design, opera, the dance, and theatre, all in the space of six days.

Anyone within driving distance of Sarasota is invited to attend, as no charge for the lectures at the Ringling Museum next week. "Each day's program is a unit in itself," says Mrs B S Williams, head of the Art Department at FSU. Persons wishing more information about the Seminar or reservations for it are advised to contact her at the University.

YOUNG Brooks Stevens recovered well and was left with a slight disability, and with profitable results from his two-year confinement in bed. He spent those two years drawing, sketching, and constructing models of buildings, trains and planes. His father, William Clifford Stevens, chief engineer and executive of Outlet Hammer, Inc., one of Milwaukee's large industrial firms, devoted himself to developing the creative spark which the boy showed.

Eventually Stevens left the sick bed and went back to school, but he was not a good student. He was so obsessed with the urge to originate ideas and set his dreams on paper that Father Stevens sent him out of Milwaukee prep schools that would take his talented but un-scholarly inclined son.

Even when Brooks entered Cornell University the same old problem confronted his college professors that had plagued the Milwaukee prep schoolmasters. Experts and cartoons came out in the form of sleek cars and smooth-styled washing machines. However in his senior field of architecture he showed brilliance promise and achievement.

AFTER graduation he had ideas of becoming the leading designer of cars in the country, but his father got Brooks a job with a wholesale grocery in Milwaukee. His new boss asked him what he could do for the firm. Brooks replied: "Redesign your entire line of packages and labels." He did is and the firm, Brooks Stevens man, are still using those original designs.

Since then he has designed the Jeep Station Wagon, and the Jeepster for Willys-Overland Motors, the 1950 Kaiser and Frazer automobiles, the Hamilton Clothes Dryer, and the Rouillard Dress Label, to mention only three of 118 nationally and internationally known firms on his list of clients.

In explaining the role of the industrial designer the authority says that before the industrial revolution the craftsmen guaranteed that the articles used in everyday living had a certain honesty, beauty. Then came mass production with a consequent loss of beauty or utility, in many manufactured articles. A slow but very definite buyer reaction set in against thinks they didn't like, and therefore wouldn't buy.

"The search for the right product which would be salable developed the industrial designer whose perspective and knowledge of production and merchandising provided a practical approach to building blazer and better business in a world which had accepted the transient appeal of chance", Stevens says.

THOMAS WRIGHT (left) and John Bode go over a tricky passage in the "Carnival of the Animals" in which they will be featured with the State Symphony of Florida in Westcott Auditorium Monday, April 9, at 8:15. This will be the first performance of the "Carnival" in Tallahassee.

Symphony to Feature All Kinds of High Jinks

Two outstanding pianists, a reader and a trampoline artist are among the attractions of the last concert of the season for the State Symphony, to be presented in Westcott on Monday, April 9. In keeping with the tradition of most orchestras, Karl Kuerstiner, conductor of the symphony, announced today that "high jinks" of all kinds will be featured in the evening concert.

Thomas Wright and John Bode, professors of piano in the School of Music, will be soloists in the Carnival of the Animals by Saint-Saens, one of the few works in the repertoire written for two pianos and orchestra. Called a "grand zoological fantasy" by the composer, the work depicts 14 members of the animal kingdom, some humorously, others in a serious manner.

ROY FLYNN, director of radio at FSU, will read descriptive verses for each animal depicted by the orchestra. This will be the first performance of the "Carnival" in Tallahassee.

Dick Gutting, of Chicago, freshman in the School of Music, will combine a performance on the trampoline with the post of guest conductor during a rendition of the Hi Yo Silver overture by Rossini. Asked how this could be accomplished, Dean Kuerstiner said, "No comment is possible. This has to be seen to be believed."

The famous quartet from Rigoletto will receive a double-feature performance, and first by the faculty performance, then rendered in a travest, version by a butcher-shop quartet.

OTHER perennial favorites to be included in the program will be Ravel's Bolero, the Unfinished Symphony of Schubert, and the ever-popular Blue Danube Waltz of Johann Strauss.

Special student prizes have been set for the two concerts on Monday. For the matinee at 2:30 p.m. the admission fee for university students will be 50 cents, including tax. For the evening concert, students will be admitted for half-price, or $1.23, including tax.

Tickets are on sale in the School of Music office and will be available at the box office before the concert.

Mrs Lafleur Serves As Design Judge

Mrs Lawrence J Lafleur, who has studied design and interior decorating in New York and Paris, will serve as a judge in the Interior Design Department of the annual student exhibition of the Ringling School of Art which opens April 8.

Mrs Lafleur is the wife of Dr Lawrence J Lafleur, associate professor of philosophy here. The exhibition which Mrs Lafleur will attend, is being held in connection with the annual Art Seminar, sponsored jointly by the Florida State University Department of Art and the Ringling Museum of Art.

Religious Groups Hear Mobile Rabbi

Solomon Chernlak Visits Different Student Houses

Rabbi Solomon Chernlak, spiritual leader of the Gates of Heaven Congregation in Mobile, Alabama, will be the Jewish Chautauqua speaker at a series of meetings on campus beginning next Tuesday evening. His visit is being sponsored by the Religious Workers Council, according to Miss Mary Elizabeth Ainsworth, Baptist student director, president.

The first general meeting to be addressed by Rabbi Chernlak will be held Tuesday at 7 p m at the Baptist Student House. His topic will be "What We Jews Believe." At 9:30 that same night he will address a meeting at the Methodist Student House on the theme, "What Every Christian Should Know about Judaism." On Wednesday evening he will speak before a meeting in the Presbyterian Student House on the topic, "What Judaism Teaches About God, Man and the Universe."

The meetings are open to the public.

Rabbi Chernlak, a native of Brooklyn, N Y, received his BA degree from the College of the City of New York in 1936 and was awarded the degree of Master of Hebrew Letters at ordination from the Jewish Institute of Religion. He was also the recipient of the Guggenheimer Fellowship at the Institute in 1940.

For three years prior to his entering th U S Navy as Chaplain in World War II, Rabbi Chernlak served as Director of the Hillel Foundation at the University of Georgia. Upon his return from the service he became the Hillel Director at Western Reserve University. Before coming to his present pulpit in Mobile, he served congregations in Athens, Ga, and Pittsfield, Mass.

Manford Presents Recital Tonight In Music Hall

Barbara Manford, messo-soprano, will present her senior voice recital in the Music hall tonight at 8:15 p m. She will be accompanied at the piano by Gertrandi Kooper, graduate student.

Miss Manford, who is preparing for a professional singing career, has worked continually in music and dramatics since she entered FSU. She played the role of Sarah in the production of Carlisle Floyd's musical drama Slow Dusk last year and will be featured in the world premiere of Fugitives, a new work by the same composer, on April 17.

The program will include the Four Serious Songs of Brahms, his last published works and long considered his most important contribution to the vocal literature. Miss Manford will also present two arias from Menotti's opera The Consul.

Scholorship Fund Awarded By DSF

This week Florida A & M student James Hendon received the first installment of a scholarship fund set up for him by the Disciple Student Fellowship of the Capital Christian church. James, who is a sophomore ministerial student from Jacksonville, was selected by the A & M scholarship committee because of his outstanding ability and need of financial assistance.

Sunday night DSF members, in continuing their study of comparative religion, will discuss the causes and effects of the Protestant Reformation. On the following Sunday night a Catholic student, as guest speaker, will tell the group of her basic beliefs.

● NO CLUE HERE

We were indeed surprised that Governor Fuller Warren, in his message to the joint Senate and House, neglected mentioning the biggest financial problem facin gthe legislature—raising an additional $20,000,000 in the next biennium to finance the minimum foundation program.

Likewise, the Governor skipped any mention of the proposed budgets for the three state supported institutions of higher learning.

Altogether these items make up a considerable chunk of the proposed state budget for the next two years—over $50,000.00. We are of the opinion that the way to deal with problems is to face the, not avoid them.

The school budgets are a ticklish situation; they must be studied, amended and debated before final action is taken on the measures. But now we do not know how the Governor stands in regard to the school situation. His speech, similar in many respects as the one delivered to the 1949 Legislature, called for such things as a cen tralized purchasing agency, re-enactment of a constitutional amendment exempting motion picture studios from taxation, a study of democracy. None of these can be an important to the general public as the educational program of the state.

Yet, it was not mentioned.

It seemed to be the general consensus of members of the House and Senate that they would like to go along with the Governor in that no new levies against consumers be passed. They were, however, concerned with raising of the money for the minimum foundation program.

It seems obvious that if we are to have the minimum foundation program that more tarces wil lhave to be raised. The question before the Legislature is how can this be done without wising taxes.

The Governor did not have an answer to this question in his speech.

● NEED MONEY, BUT . . .

The Associated Press released a report Sunday that the University of Florida alumni were backing a requested 18 million dollar budget for the U of F.

Within the next few weeks pressure by Alumni lobbying and by their letters and telegrams will try to influence the solons to pass the budget of the University of Florida in its entirety.

With President Truman's statement Sunday, that provided draft deferments of hundreds of thousands of college boys, no doubt the University of Florida needs money. Likewise, so does Florida State.

Pressure from an Alumni association is no way to decide the true issues of the requested budget. Perhaps the Old Grads of FSU realize that the 1951 Florida legislature is working for the people of the state, not select pressure groups.

It has been predicted that enrollment will remain stationary or perhaps even increase. Florida State will need money. But pressure, clouding the real facts, is no way to get it.

● THE FIRST BLOW

The first blow has been struck against mass scheduling of events of major importance during the same week. Earlier this week Carl Zerke, director of the forthcoming speech department play Jim Dandy, announced a change in production dates to April 23 through 28, due to overcrowding of the calendar for the dates reported earlier.

Under the original schedule Jim Dandy, the FSU Circus and the School of Music's Fugitives were to occur during the same week.

We want to commend Director Zerke for his judicious action in this matter. All three of the originally scheduled events could be classed as major events and ones which should certainly draw a full house each of its performance. But just as certainly one or all of the shows would have suffered an attendance deficiency had the original schedule been adhered to.

Conflicts wil arise in scheduling of events, even with the most careful consideration. but it takes a wise man to do something about it before it's too late. Thanks Mr. Zerke, you did the students and yourself a big favor. Here's wishing Jim Dandy a successful run.

● IT COULD HAPPEN

Florida State University's Defense Council, under the leadership of Chairman Dr Milton Carothers of the graduate school, is making realistic plans to face the very real possibility of bombs falling on this campus.

Plans are now being worked out by the students. staff and faculty members of the Defense Council to meet any emergency situation such as this.

The work being done by this Council is vital and important to the safety of every student and staff member of this university. It isn't pleasant to think of such an "emergency situation." But it is pleasant to know that intelligent preparation is being made in the event of a chaotic state.

Why an FSU Defense Council? Because as a type of community within itself, this university has special problems. All its own. It's these problems that are now being handled by FSU Defense in close cooperation with the Tallahassee council.

Key job positions are now being filled. First-aid facilities are being spread throughout the campus at strategic points. Surveys are being made to determine which floors of which buildings are serviceable as shelters against bombs. These important tasks are now being planned and supervised by our FSU Defense Council.

No, it isn't peasant to think of bombs at FSU. But, at least we have the satisfaction of knowing that a realistic group is making preparation for such a critical situation.

'PON MY WORD

FAILED TO ABSORB BASIC PRINCIPLE

By BETSY BLANTON

Some good often comes out of every evil, and I guess the University Court and Student Publications Board bill are no exception. If nothing else it is their credit, they at least provide an ample source of material to write columns and editorials on.

Despite the previous objections of key collegians, Sen. Senator Mary Ruth Summers again submitted a proposed student publications board statute to University Senate Tuesday afternoon.

The only major change in the new bill is that the committee now thinks is would be better to elect members to the board than to appoint them. No attempt was made to change the provision permitting the board to suspend the salaries of editors of publications.

This suspension provision has been the main point of controversy. Even senators who are not backers of present publications have cited the fact that such a board with this power would be an arrangement in the constitutional guarantee of freedom of the press.

This fact apparently is taking some time to sink into the minds of the committee which is drawing up the statute.

Another senator, Junior Dick Yaeger, tried to get his class to go on record as favoring the bill at a recent class meeting, but he had very little success.

Yaeger proposed giving the class free tickets to read and consider the bill before voting on it. We hope he intended to cast no reflection on his fellow senators who have been reading and considering the bill for several weeks.

We have only one question to ask. Why is the bill directed at the newspaper rather than at publications in general as the title of the bill would imply? With its present provisions, the bill could apply be exhibited, "An Attempt to Suspend Earl Dobert for his criticisms of the Almighty University Senate."

We must admit that we are more than a little surprised at a member of the senate committee responsible for drawing up the bill who has failed to absorb a basic principle of journalism to which she was exposed in high school.

One of the sins in our time is that the University Court has a most terrible handicap in work under . . . that of rendering an opinion in accordance with the student constitution which does not reflect their personal views. It must be extremely difficult to distort the document so that it agrees with their prearranged decision.

Tuesday night's session was made more comical than usual by a group of students who sat in the rear of the room and commented on various aspect of the cases.

Their obvious lack of information on legal procedure was pathetically funny. As long as the case was progressing as they wanted it to, they were very attentative, but when the application was accepted to present its case, they yelled long and loud.

Had these people been in any other court room, and had they not been friends of members of the court, they would have been cited for contempt of court and asked to leave.

Evidently they hold the opinion that there are two sides to every issue . . . their own views and those of the uninformed, and ignorant masses.

AMONG OTHER THINGS

OBVIOUS DECISION NOT WELL TAKEN

By JERRY THOMAS

The University Court room was filled to its capacity aaain last Tuesday at a continuancing of the Jennie Adams vs James Ball and Eunice Thompson vs Elections committee.

Evidence presented by James Ball left no room for doubt that the Court will have to accept Ball's election to the office of Chairman of Elections.

The presenation was so evident and complete that the Court was confronted with a very obvious decision—dismissal of the case.

However, any premature exercitation of judicial duty the Court would be foolish in light of recent events.

In lieu of information presented during the Adams-Ball c a s e, Eunice Thompson dropped her case against Election Committee.

Incidentally, Paul Garrison, Elections Chairman was the defendant in the Thompson case.

If the Court rules that Section Three of article Four is void. Bill Hayes will automatically be returned to the office of Chief Justice.

Hayes was thrown out of office because of publication stipulations in Article Four.

It was surprising how many FSU students turned out for the Governor's address last Tuesday.

The capricious conversation of the audience was also surprising to the Governor.

When the Governor's wife was seated between the legislative leaders, it was nai long before the women in the audience were commenting on the fact that the other two ladies had beautiful orchid corsages and Mrs. Fuller Warren did not have one—roses."

Another specator stated, "boy, the Governor sure does look as if he has aged since his last address to the Legislature . . ."

A final comment: "Warren did not mention a most important issue—financing of education."

Sunday's edition of all of the State papers carried news that was welcomed by many college men.

The President released information that could well mean a great deal of deferment for many male students.

The exemption methods boil down to the following educational tactics—a written examination.

Although the majority of men who will take the examination appeared happy over the recent ruling, their attitude may change when they are taking the test.

A word to the wise. Today is Friday 13th, so be very careful.

All students should be particularly watchful for black cats, old ladders and the Faculty Reviewing Board.

FANCY THIS

THEY DON'T KNOW FROM NOTHIN'

By JEANNE O'RIORDEN

The University Court, although constitutional and its members daily election, is a farce. The members' knowledge of any sort of law or legal terms is practically nil. It seems that the only time most of the members have ever come into contact with legal proceedings has been watching courtroom scenes in the movies.

This was very clear in all the student governmental bodies. When a speaker calls for a question of law, the student officers look amazed.

The knowledge of court procedure is probably nal so necessary in the other sections of the government as it is in the Court. Here, so much of the proceedings are based on a knowledge of legal technicality and restrictions, that a lack of this knowledge puts the Court at a disadvantage.

In the majority of the court cases presented, it has been either the defendant or the plaintiff or both has as counsel to speak for him, students who are welversed in how to present or argue a case. Not exactly what is meant by a writ of quo warranto or null process. But the court members themselves (and there are a few exceptions) do not know, nor do they appear to attempt to know what counsel is talking about.

Even our legal terms dictionaries in the library; all simple court expressions could be found therein. In such a short time if the court members were to look up what they are making of themselves in the eyes of the spectators and newspapers of the state.

Political science students throuah their reading and discussion, learn the terms; why can't the court members. To use an abstract example, why would a home economics major run for the office of Judicial Court members. Knowing absolutely nothing about procedure or terminology, they would be the same as letting a physics major, who had no writing experience, cover the lead story for the Flambeau without having the slightest how to write.

Instead of having a real membership on the court to be unofficial for the position of Chief Justice of Honor Court or Chairman of Judicial Court, trials of the applicants knowledge of legal procedure should be given. They wouldn't be hard for anyone who honestly desired that he wanted to be considered for the office to meet out justice in an intelligent way.

FUNNY DEPARTMENT—The heartiest laugh at the University Court session was heard when one of the members of the court mistook Jack Lamar for Dal Martion . . . Blair Hennessy, member of the University Singers, gave out autographs to just outline in an intelligent way.

CAMPUS CAROUSEL

PROFESSORS SHOULD TAKE NOTICE

By JOEL P SMITH

(NOTE: Usually your columnist writes to please the students, but this particular column is addressed primarily to the University instructors, professors and even those who hold every degree and rank possible on our faculty.)

Dr Ara Arnold in a psychology social work, listed some points from an article entitled "The Background of Teaching," by Louella Cole for one of his classes in social work in the schools. He remarked during the lecture that it "sounds like an autobiography!" The teacher who is conscious of his weakness and his responsibility to his students might profit from these points . . . he might even feel as Dr Falk did—that the authorities surely knew him personally.

Under the heading of scholarship Dr Falk listed the following frails af a poor teacher:

A . . . He does not know his subject matter and is often quite out of date.

B . . . He does not continue to work and study in his own field.

C . . . He is often interested primarily in either research or writing and not in teaching . . . and Dr Falk added that these may also apply to the 'she' teaching in the library.

He does not control his class; he assigns reading and books that are not in the library.

He does not use an outline or syllabus. He jumps from one thing to another in no logical fashion.

He is vague and indecisive in class, he rambles, he has no definite objectives, and he bluffs and stalls. A trait of the poor teacher is handing the class may be that he uses the same methods day after day and he depends almost wholly upon the textbook, practically parroting it in class. He is so dependent upon his notes he cannot look at the students while he talks. This poor instructor may even read his notes in hopes that the class may get the information.

The college instructor is sometimes—and in some cases often—inclined to make no assignments during the semester—when he does, he assigns pages only and fails to check.

structor may make no effort to connect what goes on in class with anything outside. He reads examination books hastily and rarely has supplementary materials of his own.

His tests are poorly made and unfair. He sometimes does not pass back papers . . . then he does return them he delays for several days. He gives no help as to how his grading is inaccurate and careless.

A degree does not always excuse an instructor from poor English or having numerous annoying mannerisms in the classroom.

Speaking of the personality of a poor teacher, Dr Falk listed the following:

A . . . He is lazy, conceited, impatient and irritable.

B . . . He is sarcastic, prejudiced, dogmatic, intolerent; he shows marked favoritism.

C . . . He is dull.

D . . . He will not admit his own errors or shortcomings.

E . . . He has either no humor, or an unkind humor.

F . . . He is untidy in appearance and in his habits.

Dear Editor...

Could Be Cucumber

For the benefit of those who missed the lecture on semantics Monday evening I want to boil the substance of the entire lecture down into one sentence. An apple is an apple maybe it's not an apple but of course it could be a cucumber, it seems to me regretable that the serious, worthwhile study of semantics, with a little 's', should degenerate into a commercialized Cult of Semanfics with a capital "C" and a capital "S". The disgor is that students, seeing professors sitting listening with straight faces to such nonsense, may be seriously misled.

Dr Andrews Donates Two Books to Library

Florida State University's library received two books from Dr Edson J Andrews, one of them in memory of the late Federal Judge Curtis G Waddell and the other in memory of W D Moore, Jr.

The books are "Man of Independence," by Jonathan Daniels and "Gulf Coast County" by Hodding Carter. Miss Richardson, librarian, said the university is appreciative of the gifts and feels the memorials will mean much to the university students and faculty.

Poetically Yours

SOFTLY SPEAKS MY HEART

By Doug Alley

Softly speaks my heart—
Saying odd things
Saying "I love you."
Singing refrains
Thinking of you.

Softly speaks my heart—
If you are very near to me
Heaven and earth are one;
Death is only a dream to be
And love a fortune won.
Hope is lived within a kiss
And faith within a heart;
Sadness is to reminisce
When we are far apart.

Softly speaks my heart—
Dreaming strange dreams
Whisp'ring odd phrases
Writing long reams
Of love in phases.

Softly speaks my heart—
"The river is not so wide,
The horizon not so wide,
The mountains not so steep,
As wishes to be by your side."
If only you could hear
As sheltered words now start
To whisper how I love you near—
As softly speaks my heart.

TALLAHASSEE Merry-Go-Round

By VERNON PEEPLES and BILL PATTERSON

Tallahassee's biennial political circus officially began Tuesday afternoon when Governor Fuller Warren, in his opening address, generally sidestepping and softpedaling the issues, came out for welfare, education, and taxes, startled an otherwise unimpressed legislature with a proposed constitutional amendment to prohibit state-controlled prices and amused them with a new plan for property taxation.

Warren, speaking to a joint session of the House and Senate in the floral bedecked house chamber, was more concerned with assuring the legislature that his administration had been successful than advocating measures which might engulf him in more storms of controversy. Clearly, the Chief Executive has had enough rough political sailing in the last two years and is ready for a little calm and repose.

On Warren's recommendation for state price control, legislative reaction was summed up by Senator Bill Shands of the Thirty-second District with his statement, "I don't think the state has any business in price control." General consensus is that nothing will come of this proposal or of the one on property taxation.

The first Florida completely avoided mention of the state minimum foundation program for education. Initiative on the program was presumably left to the legislature. Already it is reported that its legislative proponents will seek to pass a race track bill in order to provide funds needed to assure continued operation of the program. This tax bill would call for a 5 per cent across the board sales tax with only groceries exempt.

Warren cautiously refused to commit himself on the pari-mutuel issue other than to say he favored "assistance for the aged, dependent and blind." The welfare program is certain to be a target of the "economy" bloc which during already been introduced to cripple it. It will be interesting to watch the stand taken on this question by "most valuable senator": Hadie Barnes of Duval County. Included in his district, the Eleventh Senatorial, are the unusually large number of welfare recipients, i. e. the aged occupants of St. Pete's private pensions. Sure to face a serious Republican threat in his bid for reelection next year, his position on this could well determine his political fate.

Governor Warren's failure to push or even comment on reapportionment disappointed efficiency minded lawmakers, led by committee Representative Charles Andrews, Jr., of Orange County. This was another indication of the governor's desire to steer clear of the hot ones.

MISCELLANEOUS:

Hospitable Tallahassee welcomed a freshman South Florida visitor reentailtive with a traffic ticket. Wonder how much he was fined? We'll be watching the local papers . . . All incumbents of officeholders from county commissioners to United States Senators can relax. Former Senator Claude Pepper has no immediate political aspirations. His political enemies in the legislature now recognize him as a "good loser."

SPORTS THOUGHTS

The Simmons came into its own again this week for half a hundred assorted coachemen who gladly spurn the pleasures of the Shop or CP for that bed they dream of during long practice sessions.

Body contact started the first day. After watching the casualties limp away one way suggested that only the coaches will be tackling each other next week. About the only pleasure an observer gets from that tortuous way hours is thinking what he would like to do to that grinning face that keeps yelling. "Roll him out." when all he wants to do is lie down . . .

Seminole Golf, Tennis Teams Battle Here Tomorrow

Seminoles Impressive in First Scrimmage

KEEPIN' SCORE

With Scott Marshall

THE BIG QUESTION MARK—Trying to determine how Florida State University's football team will stack up with the University of Miami Hurricanes next Fall is next to impossible at present, but the big question mark will be somewhat answered tonight when the 'Canes meet the University of Tampa Spartans in an exhibition game on Tampa's Phillips Field.

Last year the Seminoles topped Tampa 33-19 at a Chilled Campbell Stadium, and the outcome of tonight's Miami-Spartan tilt could have some bearing on the final score of the FSU-Miami battle in November at Miami's Orange Bowl. However, the game winds up spring training for both elevens, and the Hurricanes will probably be minus a little with various injuries and perhaps some green players who need experience. Coach Andy Gustafson doesn't have to worry too much that his Miami aggregation will be licked.

Seminole mentor Don Veller has been doing a little experimenting a little of his own with a lot of new boys trying to find out what's and what's what.

Yesterday's first scrimmage session bore from last year's unbeaten squad saw Tooks the regular in the backfield, and it is about split in the forward wall.

Outstanding back on the field was Big Mike Sellers, the Barberton, Indiana, fullback. Sellers was all the way twice and added approximately 80 more yards from scrimmage.

Donald King, 207-pound freshman transfer from Tulsa, ended behind Big Mike with 21 yards. Veteran Nelson Italiano, who scored once, also tacked on 18 yards. Following in order were Eddie Gray, 16; Bobby Fivesah, 12; Al Woodham and Preston Bradley, 9; and Don Oakor, Dick Turk, and Gary Folsom ended with a minus total.

Veller's charges tossed 27 passes in the scrimmage and completed 13 of them for four touchdowns and 112 extra yards. Fivesah was the big gun on the throwing end of the aerial attack with five completions in seven, good for one TD and 58 added yards. Italiano followed with four of five completed forwards for one touchdown and 32 more yards.

End Curtis Campbell was the leader on the receiving end, hauling in four passes for two touchdowns and 36 extra yards. Both Gray and Bob Harwell pulled in two.

In the defensive department Guards Bill Brown and Tommy Owen looked good along with End Jimmy Arnold. Both Brown, transfer from the University of Florida, and Owen, holdover from the 1950 squad, were busting into the offensive backfield to spill the backs for losses. Although he didn't see much action, Arnold always managed to turn the ball carrier inside when the latter attempted to skirt his left end post.

The performance of the entire team was impressive taking into consideration the number of days the boys have been out—only three prior to yesterday—and the number of new boys who are not familiar with Veller's cockerel-T.

Florida State University's baseball team may meet the Tallahassee Citizens, the Capital City's entry in the newly formed Class D Alabama-Florida professional league, in an exhibition game sometime in April, approximately the 18th.

Citizen general manager Ray Kiran said he would take the offer into consideration, although one has not yet been officially made.

The Tallahassee nine is scheduled to end its exhibition schedule April 16 and does not open the season until April 23. An extra game in that period would benefit the players and would also give the Tallahassee fans a chance to have a look see at Coach Charlie Armstrong's Seminoles.

Florida State, however, has a two-game series lined up with Stetson in DeLand April 20 and 21. The game, which would be played at Centennial Field, would have to take place at night, and the FSU nine would at least one pitcher for the Hatter series.

Seven TD's Registered In Workout

Florida State University's football team broke loose for seven touchdowns yesterday afternoon in the first scrimmage session at the West campus athletic field as they impressed in the first full bloom workout of the spring training drills.

Coach Don Veller's Seminoles struck three the airways for four TD's and added the other three on the ground. Al Woodham, Nelson Italiano, Bobby Fivesah, and Gary Folsom were on the throwing end of the scoring passes with Eddie Gray, Lamar Massey, and Curtis Campbell on the receiving end.

Big Mike Sellers paced the ground attack with two touchdowns and 55 yards more from scrimmage. Italiano went the distance for the final touchdown of the afternoon.

SELLERS, who usually carried the ball on the opening play of the Seminoles' offense during the undefeated, untied 1950 season, blasted seven yards over right guard to open the first scrimmage session.

Sellers, who was the state's second highest scorer last year with 54 points, served notice yesterday that it would take plenty of work before he'd have his fullback slot taken away.

The big threat in that department, transfer Donald King, 207-pound transfer from Tulsa, who finished next to Sellers in ground gaining with 27 yards, excluding all touchdowns.

The Seminoles will probably take things fairly easy today and then go at it again next week. All workouts begin at 4 p.m.

Kappa Alpha Theta Cops Women's 'Mural Swim Meet

Kappa Alpha Theta swam through with 47 points to win the women's intramural swimming meet, Anita Bouriand sparked the Thetas with first places in the advanced 25 yard free style and the advanced 25 yard back crawl. Beside Ardis' first places the Thetas took first and second in all the free style events and second in the wheel barrel race, two third places and one fourth.

Next to the first place Thetas were the Gamma Phi Betas and the Alpha Delta Pi's tied for second with 15½ points each.

The final results of the meet were.

Kappa Delta was third with 15 points and ZTA fourth with 12 points.

FSU Meets Rollins Today, Tomorrow

Coach Charlie Armstrong and his Florida State University baseball team left yesterday morning for Winter Park where they are scheduled to battle the Rollins College Tars in a two-game series beginning today.

The Seminoles, who have seven of their eight games to date, are expected to go with Big Bob Whitmer on the mound today. Veteran Ed Lockard will probably work tomorrow's contest on the hill.

The remainder of the lineup for both games is expected to see Ronald Melton, behind the plate; Ken Smith, first base; Lee Bailey, second base; Bob Trowbridge, third base; Augie Pompella, short stop; Wes Benner, left field; Lee Mullen, center field, and Glenn Gresham, right field.

TUESDAY afternoon on the West campus diamond 12- Seminole nine broke loose in the limited Florida Collegiate 6-2, sweeping the two-game series. Florida State had won the opening contest 22-9.

Bob Hartman went the distance for the Tribe, allowing only four singles, all in the fourth frame, fanning five, and walking only one.

With the score tied at 2-2 Gresham and Trowbridge blasted triples and Pompella hit a single to score two runs in the seventh. They insured the victory with two runs in-line in the eighth on two hits, a free pass, and a passed ball.

Florida State scored insurance runs in the first and second innings. Bailey was hit by a pitched ball to lead off the first. He advanced to third on Billy Hunter's error at short, and then the ex-Navy flinger stole home with Trowbridge at the plate.

Hunter led off in the second Smith walked and Mullen followed with a bingle. Smith went to third on David Lee's error of Earl Herold's grounder to second, and Smith raced to home on Hunter's double left of Bailey's grounder to short.

The Choes tallied twice in the fourth. Hunter led off with a sharp single and Lee flied out to Pompella at short. Ed Pittman followed with another single off Hartman and Jim Pittman's one base hit scored Hunter. Bob Pittman scored on Rodger Zachery's single. Louis Myers hit into a quick double play to end the outburst.

Mark in the 100-yard free style in the NCAA meet last week, but failed to qualify for the finals. The sophomore flash long with Smythe, Dunn-Rankin, and Jardine, will enter the 100-yard free style event at theAAU.

Weak in the Smythe, Dunn-Rankin, and Jardine will combine for the 400-yard free style relay. and Jardine is expected to enter the 440-yard free style.

FSU Tankmen Enter National

Florida State University's swimming team left from Austin, Texas, earlier in the week for Columbus, Ohio, where they will participate in the National AAU meet.

Yale is expected to run away with another title, having won the NCAA crown at Austin last week. Paced by John Marshall, Yale's 32-man team will be strong in all departments.

Michigan State and Ohio State are expected to battle it out for second place. The Michigan State swimmers took second in the NCAA with Ohio State third.

Entered in the AAU meet from Florida State include All-American Roger Sloane, who finished sixth and ninth in the NCAA low board and high board diving, respectively. Dick Wells, Jack White, Pete Dunn-Rankin, and co-captain Walter Jardine.

Golfers Face Stetson, Netters Meet Navy

Florida State University's golf and tennis squads offer the only home action this week and when they clash with Stetson and the Jacksonville Navy, respectively. The baseball team will be in Winter Park and the trackmen are idle.

Coach Bob Harbison's linksmen, with a record of four victories, two losses, and one tie, are expected to take the DeLand Hatters. Earlier in the season the FSU golfers topped Stetson in the Volusia county city. Tomorrow's match will be played on the Tallahassee Country club course.

In the meantime, Coach Ralph Matherly's tennis team will lock horns with the Jacksonville Navy netmen on the East campus courts.

The Seminole netters have won but three of nine matches to date, but they have lost to such strong teams as Georgia, Miami, Rollins, Davidson, Loyola, and Indiana. They have besten Concordia, Florida Southern, and Emory.

On the other hand, the Florida

New Junior Counselors Begin Training Program

Almost one hundred sophomore women assembled in the parlor of Jennie Murphree hall M o n d a y night for the first in a series of six meetings designed to train them for their duties as junior counselors next year.

These girls were recently selected from among the sophomore class on the basis of character, service, leadership, personality, and scholastic average. Seventy-three of them will reside in the freshman dormitories next year and help to orient the new women residents into the life of Florida State University.

EIGHT of the prospective JC's will serve as counselors for the transfer students, and eight will help guide the freshmen day students. One will serve the new coeds at summer school.

Miss Elizabeth Lynn, assistant Dean of Women, who is in charge of the junior counselor program at FSU, welcomed the girls and talked briefly to them on their responsibility as junior counselors both to the new students with which they deal and to their university as a whole.

She then introduced the training council, a group of four girls whose duty it is to help plan and conduct the Monday night instructional meetings. Composed of present junior counselors, the council consists of Mae Gaulter, who presided over the remainder of the meeting, Til Lomsaint, Louise Ware, and Catherine Hamby.

DURING THE meeting talks were given by the council and other JC's on the various duties and responsibilities of junior counselors in specific capacities such as those of house president, vice president, social chairman, and floor chairman.

There were also talks on house council, proctoring, and the court system. Junior counselors who spoke besides those on the training council were Eleanor Cooper, Alice Myers, Patti Mims and Mary Ellen Tavel.

Tallahassee Sun, Star Reporters Cover Opening of '51 Legislature

By SIDNEY KOBRE
Associate Professor,
School of Journalism

The colorful opening of the Florida State Legislature on Tuesday was covered thoroughly by the staffs of the Tallahassee Sun and the Tallahassee Star.

Never heard of these two papers? Shame on you! These "publications" are "issued" by the students in the course, Reporting of Public Affairs, at the School of Journalism. Although the newspapers are never actually published and the reporters' copy never will touch print, the students do their work enthusiastically and perform creditable jobs.

THEY ARE taking a course designed to give first-hand experience in reporting, consequently I decided to make full use of the rich opportunity the meeting of the legislature presented.

Last Thursday, March 29, we laid our plans for complete coverage of the session. John Canada, City Editor of the Star, and Allan McCall, City Editor of the Sun, gave assignments, under my direction, to the other student-reporters in the class for detailed coverage of their papers which were to be issued presumably on Sunday, April 1, prior to the first session.

The possibilities and angles of the bill story were discussed in a class conference. What would the reader want to know about? What duties on a State-wide, county and city level were expected to arise? These were the questions for which students-reporters sought answers. Round them as a result of interviewing officials and searching back files of newspapers.

THE REPORTERS turned in their lead story and others prior to the meeting of the class on Tuesday, April 3. Fortunately, the class met from 11 to 12 noon, and we could adjourn and move down to the state capitol building in time for the opening session.

There, assignments for coverage of House and Senate meetings were given to the reporters. I had learned previously the press tables would be crowded at the opening session, and so we climbed to the galleries where we obtained first-row, strategic seats.

Some of the students had visited the legislature before as spectators. Now they attended the session on business as "working newsmen and newswomen.' This was serious business!

SOME REPORTERS wrote color stories about the display of flowers on the desk of each senator and representative and the gay Easter hats and clothes of the wives and children of the members of the legislature. The students were impressed by the ceremonies during which President Sturgis of the Senate and President Elliott of the House were inducted into office. Reporters took elaborate notes and wrote strong stories about the speeches of Governor Fuller Warren and of the newly-elected presidents.

This was education-in-action, and, tied into classroom work, will be useful. During the next few weeks conferences with press association and newspaper correspondents will be held. Mr. Malcolm Johnson, chief of the Associated Press, has consented to take two reporters on a tour of the Wing to show them how the AP covers the legislature. In their laboratory of journalism reporters will also cover meetings of the legislature as well as committee hearings on bills. Some have contacted home town and other papers for individualized stories relating to representatives and senators from their districts.

IF STUDENT-newsmen later become capitol correspondents, this training will benefit them. If they become local newsmen on weeklies and dailies in other sections of Florida, the experience will be helpful because they will be more aware of current state issues. They will understand more adequately the significant legislative news coming out of Tallahassee and know how to evaluate it for their readers.

UGA OFFICERS
Speedy Is Quite A Soph Senator

Speedy, as she has been called since high school days, is quite a gal, but also a sophomore senator.

Her real name happens to be Mary Helen Speed and her home town happens to be Jacksonville.

She has had much fun participating in the various organizations of which she is a member. They include Alpha Lambda Delta, Sophomore Council; Alpha Chi Omega sorority, and one of the floor chairmen of Landis.

She received the Omicron Nu scholarship cup.

When asked what she plans to do in the future she replied:

"Well, first I'd like to get my degree, then get married, and then teach school."

Quite a busy schedule for a home economics education major who is only nineteen.

Ballots Distributed For Blue and White

Sophomore Council ballots were distributed to all freshmen women on Wednesday for voting for membership in Sophomore council for next year.

Voting for membership into the blue and white, is done by freshman women, junior counselors, and resident counselors.

Tapping will not take place until the first part of May.

Editor Says Annual Should be Out On Time if No Further Hold-Ups

"If we don't meet any further hold-ups, the annual should come out before the end of this school semester," Harry Newman, editor of the college annual, Tally-Ho, has stated. This is in opposition to the printer's belief that the annual will not come out on time, he said.

Ninety percent of the annual copy has been sent to print according to the editor. Final copy will go in this weekend. All photography has been completed with the exception of pictures of the Junior-Senior Prom.

THIS YEAR'S annual will have approximately 400 pages in comparison to the 300 printed last year, Harry said. There will be different sections on the schools and departments. "We are not running individual pictures of the faculty this year or taking any pictures off campus except the capitol building, and there will be no Indians in this book," Harry emphatically stated.

The student staff of approximately 30 members and faculty assistants have worked diligently to get the book out on time, the editor noted. He also added that without the service rendered by the Alabama Engraving Co. the staff could not be as far along as it is.

This year's annual dragged out during the year due to delays in photography, the editor commented. It is one of the plans of the present staff to get a change of photography contract.

"THE CHANGE should make it definitely easy to have the book out on time every year hereafter," Harry said.

"We inherited the job of mailing out last year's annual," he continued, which was not at all conducive to helping this year's progress.

New office equipment was bought this year. There are three new typewriters and new steel filing cabinets. Previously, the staff had to use typewriters in the Flambeau office.

LATER THIS month, the Tally-Ho plans to move its office from 402 of the Alumni building to the former location of the University

Two Musicians Play In Carnegie Hall

Florida State University will be contributing the talent of two musicians tomorrow night when Dmitri Mitropolous and the Philharmonic Symphony play in Carnegie Hall.

Ernst von Dohnanyi, composer and pianist, will be represented by his Ruralia Hungarica, a work for orchestra in four movements depicting folk scenes in the Hungarian countryside.

Sidney Foster, professor of piano, will be soloist with the orchestra in the Concerto in C minor (Beethoven).

Professor Foster will also be guest artist on the radio program, "Piano Playhouse," broadcast over the ABC network Sunday afternoon at 12:30 p m.

Alpha Lambda Delta

Alpha Lambda Delta will tap sometime in the next two weeks, according to President Frances Clark. They will take sophomores who came in at the first of the year last year or those who came in second quarter as long as they maintained an average of 2.5 throughout the year. No immediate plans have been made for a men's honorary due to a shortage of men students having a 2.5 average, she said.

Paul Rubey Polls Opinions on 849'ers

Since the 849 "Go National Week" has gone, roving reporter Paul Rubey has asked students this week, What did you think of the 849 affair?

Jackie Sanders, Freshman, 219 Bryan: I think it's darling, and they certainly are having a grand time! It is the first thing on campus since the UGA elections that have held the interest of everyone, and it shows the originality of the boys at FSU.

Marion Gressman, sophomore, 520 Landis: They are having a lot of laughs, and I think it's a cute idea, even though they are making fun of the fraternities.

Karol Kobelski, senior, 229 Senior Hall: It's the greatest thing since Long John's.

Marian Anderson, sophomore, 417 Landis: That seems to be getting a lot of enjoyment out of it, and I think it's a fine thing.

Jackie Sense, senior, 112 Landis: I think it's really funny, and it certainly gave everyone a good laugh and brightened up the campus. The whole thing has been very clever. The parade was hilarious.

Molly Mead, freshman, 234 Reynolds: I think they had a lot of spirit behind it, and since some of the boys can't join a frat because they can't afford the 849'ers have given these fellows a chance to get better acquainted than they would otherwise.

Dot Welch, freshman, 238 Reynolds: Oh, I think they're just what this campus needed! Everybody has been so serious about student government and everything, that it's nice to have some fun for a change.

Phil Trugilo, freshman, 529 College street: I don't really know. It is a joke, are they serious, or what?

Barbara Jones, sophomore, 417 South Cawthon: I thoroughly enjoyed it, and their banquet showed that you don't have to picket or go down town to have one.

Bobby Givens, freshman, 208 South Cawthon: Their "Going National" by going to the National Shirt Shop was really tremendous.

Bobby McPherson, freshman, 219 Bryan: I think it was a lot of fun and real cute. A lot of people thought they were making fun of the fraternities, but I certainly didn't think so.

Jo Claire Cannon, freshman, 203 Jennie Murphree: It certainly has brought a lot of attention to the 849'ers! We all Jennie are asking them to coffee in a few weeks, which I doubt seriously we would have done otherwise.

Jim Lohmeyer, senior, 224 Senior Hall: The best joke since a "notice from Otis." But why a joke, why don't they form a new fraternity or campus?

Ted Rowell, senior, Route 4 Box 31: I think it was a lot of fun for everyone. It showed great spirit, and there should be more of it. It seemed very well planned and was carried out in an orderly manner.

W C Jackson, senior, 3905 Cates street: They kinda poked a little fun at fraternities and I got a big kick out of their activities all week. It certainly showed a spirit that seems to be necessary to the boys in the dorms, and they have contributed wonderfully to the spirit of the entire campus.

Iris Duggar, sophomore, 226 Broward: I think possibly some of the other dorms would do well to follow suit, and it certainly is an excellent way to meet people on campus. (For example, they're coming to our tea this afternoon.)

Campus Interviews on Cigarette Tests

Number 16...THE HARLEQUIN DUCK

"I may be a clown—but I'm no fool!"

He might be the merry-andrew of the marshlands, but lately he's been downright glum about these trick cigarette mildness tests. Never one to duck facts, he holds nothing much can be proved by a sniff of one brand or a quick puff from another. Snap judgments can't take the place of regular, day-to-day smoking. That's why so many smokers are turning to . . .

The sensible test . . . the 30-Day Camel Mildness Test, which simply asks you to try Camels as a steady smoke — on a pack after pack, day after day basis. No snap judgments needed. After you've enjoyed Camels — and only Camels — for 30 days in your "T-Zone" (T for Throat, T for Taste), we believe you'll know why . . .

Artist Series Poll Open to Students

Can Choose Between One Large Item Or Several Small Ones, or Combination

The Artist Series committee, in an effort to obtain student opinion concerning events on next year's series, is now accepting all suggestions from students.

According to committee members, students must choose between having one big, expensive event or a number of smaller, less expensive ones, or a moderated combination of both. On another page of this paper appears a blank upon which student may state their choices of Artists, which should be in the Artist Series office by Friday.

"If WE GET as many as a thousand replies to our questions we will feel that we have gotten a fair sample of student opinion, and insofar as possible, we will be guided by this opinion in making our bookings," stated John Newton Baker, chairman of the committee.

In presenting artists with wide popular appeal the committee has one problem: it is necessary to schedule it for two performances, as each almost immediately sells out. And, according to the committee, most top-ranking artists will not sing on two consecutive days.

There are pictures, brochures, background material, files in the committee's office, 208 Misc building, which students may see by appointment. Secretary will answer any questions regarding them.

THE COMMITTEE has had several queries about certain artists and has sent letters to the respective agents, inquiring as to availability and fee. As the answers received are: "Andre Kostelanetz does not have an orchestra for touring," and "Cannot forecast your orchestra, complete with rehearsals, for $1000 for one concert."

Fred Waring asks $6,500 for one performance. Duke Ellington, Louis Jourdn, Horace Heidt, the Marine Band and the Robert Shaw Chorale are also available in the southeast this year. Many others play stay close to New York for their television broadcasts.

Following is a tentative list from which students may choose:

GROUP ONE: (from $3,000 to $1,800. Choose three). Fairfield Mumel, Kirsten Flagstad, La Traviata (company of 70), Ballet Russe de Monte Carlo, Yma Sumac, Shankar and his Hindu Ballet, Jim Drama Cavalcade (includes Charles Boyer, Agnes Moorehead, Sir Cedric Hardwicke, Charles Laughton) and Helen Hayes-Marc Connelly Mystic (music from "Alice," "State of Union," "Oklahoma" and "South Pacific").

GROUP TWO: (from $2,00 to $2,700. Choose two). Helmut Berger, Igor Gorin, Thomas L. Thomas, The Rukadi (singers and dancers from the Basque country of the Pyrenees), The Norwegian Ballet, Jussi Bjoerling and Franklin P. Adams (of "Information, Please" fame).

GROUP THREE: (from $300 to $1,250. Choose three). Gerald Wood, Hannah Gray, Norman Dyas Pearson, Romney Wheeler, Orri Bevan, Sarah Churchill, Curry (author of Cheaper by the Dozen).

Ballad is found on page 31.

One Day Voting For King, Queen Of Sophomore Hop

The only day of voting for the Sophomore Hop King and Queen and their court will be Thursday, April 12, from 9 a. m. to 6 p. m. in Dyer Westcott and the Seminole Social hall lobby.

The entire student body will enjoy the Sophomore Hop this year for the first time. The class is over-throwing tradition in the election of the Campus Charity Queen. Drive Chairman Ted Stenhouse, President of the Sophomore Class. The sponsors have planned a class project, hope to raise over $200 through donations at the dance.

Jo Nell Proctor, social chairman of the class, announced that the theme of the dance is "Sophomore Shipboard."

The formal will be held in the Lafayette Room 8-12 p m. April 21. Georgie Bee and his orchestra will provide the music. The presentation of the Sophomore King, Queen, and court will climax the evening. Final voting for King and Queen will be announced later.

Class Officers Race to Begin On April 24

Qualifying Opens Today; Continues Until Tues; Elections Set April 24

Qualifying week for this university class elections opens today, with the deadline next Tuesday, April 17, it was announced by Paul Garrison, elections chairman.

ANY STUDENT may run for office in his own class, the only prerequisites being a 1.0 grade average for president and a 1.0 average for other offices.

Offices to be filled are those of president, vice-president, secretary, treasurer, social chairman and parliamentarian. The chairman of the Off-Campus Council also, to be named at the time Electees will take office next fall.

The primary election will be held on Tuesday, April 24 and the general election Wednesday, May 1. As in the UOA elections there will be three precincts, first floor Carrington, Reid Seminole and by on East campus and the post office on West campus.

ALPHA PHI OMEGA, service fraternity, is to handle the West campus polling place, and the Sophomore Council will watch the ballot boxes on East campus.

Official campaigning may not begin until April 16, the day after Spring ends, Garrison said. Further rules in connection with campaigning will be forthcoming. Garrison stated he is at the date and rules he had given were tentative, depending on action of University Council, which met last night after Flambeau deadline.

Sandspur Meeting Scheduled Tonight

Anyone interested in working on the 1952 Sandspur is invited to attend the first mass meeting of Sandspur staff in 303 Westcott, Bill Dunlap announced.

In addition to committee appointments, all students who desire to work on the staff in the production should attend since preliminaries try-outs will be held. Also, there will be German announcements. All students with specialty acts are encouraged to attend.

All recently appointed production staff members are required to attend, Backus said.

Floyd's 'Fugitives' Opens Next Week

Local Performances Slated In Westcott April 17-19

The "Fugitives," a musical drama written by Carlisle Floyd, instructor in the School of Music, will have its premier showing on April 17, 18, and 19 at 8:15 p m in the Music Hall. There will be no admission charge.

"The Fugitives is a depiction of human loneliness both conscious and unconscious, and of a violent and unceasing refusal to accept such a condition of existence, but to substitute for it a sense of being and sharing with another human whose need is the same," according to Floyd.

Mr Floyd is not only the writer and the composer of the Fugitives, but the director and accompanist, as well.

The three act play has a cast of five characters. The part of Dan is taken by David Lowe, and that of his mother, Mrs Davis, by Barbara Manford. Mary Helen Warner will portray the girl who becomes involved with the family and falls in love with Dan. Jean Forhan will appear as the mute Essie, and Virginia French will be a neighbor.

Chemistry Coaching

Gamma Sigma Epsilon, chemistry honorary, and the Chemistry club are holding coaching classes for freshmen and sophomore chemistry students.

All students desiring aid are asked to meet in 201 Science building at 7 tonight.

In an extraordinary session which Dean Otis McBride called "one of the most productive of the year," members of the University Senate last Thursday took the clothes off the Board of Student Publications issue. The tentative conclusion of the debate seemed to be that editors must be either elected with no strings attached or else actually appointed by an elected board.

Under discussion was the controversial bill designed to put into the hands of an elected body control over the policies of the three editors, who are also chosen by the students.

THE MEASURE has been reported three times to the Senate and has been three times sent back to committee. The major criticism has been that it gives one group of elected officials control over another. Which would supposedly be chosen by the same students and given the same "mandate from the students."

As originally planned, Thursday's meeting was to have been a committee of the whole Senate. Only a handful of Senators and a larger handful of interested outsiders appeared, and those present said, "Let's just talk about it."

Since the arrangement was unofficial, anyone was allowed to speak.

RUBE ASKEW, president of the student body, made a brief suggestion that the present arrangement for choosing editors be kept but that "they and all other elected officers should be subject to recall vote of the students, for which our constitution makes no provision." Askew suggested repeal of the constitutional requirement for a board.

Earl Dobert, editor of the Flambeau, said, "I believe that editors should be appointed by an elected board, and removable only by that board, as at the University of Florida."

Dal Albritton, speaking on behalf of Bruce Straub, summarized the choice between "electing the editors and electing the board." "Either system will work," he said.

ALL THREE speakers emphasized the importance of amending the constitution to provide for recall.

Toward the close of the session Dean McBride congratulated the group on their work, and cited as example of the good that can be accomplished when the spirit of to solve your common problems together instead of trying to knife one another," he said.

Research Contract To Conduct Survey Is Awarded to FSU

President Doak S Campbell yesterday announced that an $80,000 two-year research contract to investigate the meteorology of the Mediterranean, Near East and Southern Asiatic areas has been awarded Florida State University.

The department of meteorology has been selected by the Quartermaster Research Directorate of the Air Materiel Command, Air Force Cambridge Research Laboratories, Cambridge, Mass, to conduct the research, Campbell said.

President Campbell reported.

"The strategic and tactical problems with which the military are confronted depend to a considerable extent upon meteorological conditions said Dr Warner A Baum, head of the meteorology department. This is the purpose of projects such as this to gain fundamental knowledge of the structure and behavior of the atmosphere. This knowledge may later be applied by the operational weather personnel," he explained.

Dr Baum pointed out that this is the second contract of its kind in this area and said that the research would include development of improved methods of forecasting for this area.

Education Group Gets Legislation

By Staff Writer

The Florida Senate approved an Education committee recommendation Friday that all school lecture and other state-sold books be referred to the Senate Education committee.

The ruling is designed to enforce the minimum foundation program by placing a check on local legislation that would ruin the unified effect that the program is trying to attain.

The recommendation, which was presented by Senator LeRoy Collins of Leon count., caused a great deal of debate before it was finally approved. The opponents of the proposal felt that local school legislation was independent of the state government.

Lanigan Announces Graduation Plans

There is a strong possibility that Harold Stassen, President of the University of Pennsylvania, will be the speaker at the 1951 graduation ceremonies, senior president Bob Lanigan, announced at a class meeting Thursday.

In the event that Stassen will not appear, Lanigan said that the speaker may be Governor Earl Warren or G Sproul of the University of California.

LANIGAN also announced that the graduation exercises will be held in Campbell stadium at 10 a.m. at 8 p.m. and that each graduating senior will be allowed six guests as he desires. No tickets will be issued.

During the meeting, the seniors voted to have a class trophy made to be placed in Westcott as their gift to the university.

The '51 graduates also received information concerning important events scheduled for the next two months. The group decided at the meeting that a formal dance at the Duval hotel for their relatives and guests only. The date of the dance will be announced later.

ALL SENIORS will be exempt from their examinations in courses in which they have a B average or better. This is an administration ruling and is not at the discretion of the individual instructors, Lanigan told the class.

Williamson, Davis Win Cigarettes

Now it can be disclosed just how many Chesterfields one plastic leg can hold. There were 228 Chesterfields in Miss Chessie Field's leg. O H Williamson and Phil Davis submitted the correct number, and each received one carton of Chesterfields, as contest rules stated concerning duplicate guesses.

The contest which was held at the Mecca closed Saturday evening. Guesses ranged from 129 to 600 cigarettes in the leg. Virginia Smith and Ted Tedder, campus representatives, have decided to award two packages of Chesterfields to Bill Pickard who missed the correct number by one and Floyd Poole for submitting the most guesses

Students Choose Patterson, Askew Prom Queen, King

Rube Askew and Faye Patterson were crowned king and queen of the junior-senior prom Saturday night in the Sewannee room, with a court of six senators and six juniors, plus several hundred other students who attended the annual affair, looking on. Those in the senior court were Ann Oliver, Cass Tonge, Anne Scudder, Ted Hewitt, Bob Lanigan and Sonny Morrison.

JUNIOR MEMBERS of the court included Marjorie Meckstroth, Jeri Monroe, Bobbie Pettit, Jerry Thomas, Will Pennell and Joel Smith.

The theme of the dance was of April Showers. At 11:30 p m scores of balloon "rain drops" came down slowly on the dance floor from high upon the chandeliers Preceding the song, "Good Showers" were in evidence on the walls of the hall, as well as numerous bright colored flowers and leaves.

AFTER THE coronation ceremonies the two crowns were auctioned off with the proceeds going to the Campus Chest.

Bob Cole and his orchestra provided the music and the whole affair was directed by Dean of Men Perry Sparkman, junior class social chairman.

Sigma Alpha Iota, Phi Mu Alpha Sing Changed to May 6

Th Annual Campus Sing sponsored by the Sigma Alpha Iota and Phi Mu Alpha music fraternities has been changed to May 6 at 7 p m in the Westcott Auditorium, announced Mary Rosenbush, president of SAI.

Fraternities, sororities, dormitories, or any non-music organizations are urged to turn in applications which are available from Mr Myers in room 207 Music Building or Mary Kerley Box 888 not later than April 14.

Each organization should send one representative to room 202 Music Building at 7:30 p m. April 19 for the drawing of order of appearance. Each group must sing two numbers, not more than one humorous selection may be used, Mary stated.

The groups will be judged on originality and imagination as to interpretation and selection of the numbers rhythm, intonation, tone color, diction, appearance, and over-all effect. A cup will be presented to the winning sorority group by SAI, and the cup for the men's groups will be presented by Phi Mu Alpha.

Women Senators to Draft Bill For Spend-the-Night Permission

Having received the approval of the Faculty Reviewing Board, Women's Senate is going ahead with plans for drafting a bill which would give women students permission to spend the night at the homes of mature friends and relatives in Tallahassee.

Many details are yet to be worked out before the bill can be approved by the faculty board, according to Senator Mary Helen Speed, chairman of the committee. If a bill can be worked out to the satisfaction of both groups, it will go into effect next year she said.

Senator Speed emphasized the fact that under no circumstances did this proposal include any extension of hotel privileges. Under the present ruling women students can spend the night at Tallahassee hotels with their parents only.

Jennie Adams discussed with the Women's Senate in Thursday's meeting a proposed referendum concerning student publications.

This amendment would replace the Board of Student Publications clause with a clause calling for all three publications to be run on an individual subscription basis instead of having all FSU students pay for these publications involuntarily through their student activity fees.

Zoe Rentz and Imogene Van presented a bill setting forth a new method of electing Junior counselor officers of the freshmen dormitories. As it stands now, house officers are elected from among the girls as a whole. According to this new bill, however, only the junior counsellors living in each particular dormitory would vote on the officers of their house.

A change in the manner of electing the chairman of offcampus court was also proposed at Thursday's meeting. Instead of being elected by the student body at large, the chairman would be elected only by those over whom this court has jurisdiction.

Faculty Play Opens Thursday for 3 Days

Westcott Curtain Rises at 8:15 For 'The Madwoman of Chaillot'

Some 30 Florida State University faculty members will display their thespian talents in the annual faculty play, "The Madwoman of Chaillot," in performances on Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights. The curtain will rise in Westcott auditorium at 8:15 p m.

Written by Jean Giraudoux, the play was adapted in English by Maurice Valency and was winner of the Drama Critics Circle award for the best foreign play in New York in 1949.

THE PLAY has been described by Director Lester Moore as a "conglomeration of odd Parisian characters one would meet in a Paris street cafe." The plot is centered around the antics of four unlikely insane women.

In the lead part of the maddest of these four will be Miss Janet Bacon, professor of home and family life. While this will be Miss Smith's stage debut, she was director of the 1949 faculty production, "Arsenic and Old Lace."

Miss Smith's three crazy friends are portrayed by Peggy Flynn, wife of Roy Flynn of Public Relations office; Jean Johnson, instructor of art education, and Fay Patterson, wife of James and A Norton of the political science department.

MRS NORTON and Miss Johnson portrayed the leading characters in last year's production, "Three Blind Mice."

Dr Ralph Lewis will play the role of a prospector, and Stephen Winters will portray a broker. Charles Hendry will be the "dream man," while Karl Hochschwender will appear in the role of the president.

In Lincoln Canfield has the role of the baron. Albert Leduc plays the part of Dr Jadin, and Woodrow Pierce appears as Irvers.

THE PHREE LADIES are Dahney Adams, Tania Leshinsky and Francine Palhaber. Karl Holschuh will be the sewer man, while Elmer Higgins is the flower girl.

Other characters include Ken Yudewitz as the policeman, Richard Baker as the police sergeant, Jane Yancey and James Gunn as Irma and Marcial.

Miss Eva Mae Atwood is the director of the play. The production staff includes Joan Coleman, costumes; Jay Winters and Misses Lalberte, stages and set, and programs, Mary Beth Williamson, and Mary Ann Watson.

All seats for the play must be reserved, and the admission price is 60 cents. Tickets are on sale at the bookstore, lower Westcott and the West campus post office.

Social Work Club Holds Pepper Talk

Former U S Senator Claude Pepper will speak tonight, at 7 p m in the Longwood Auditorium of the Student Alumni building, according to an announcement by the Social Work club, according Richard Coleman, president, and it is expected that he will make a significant speech and considered by the U S Senate during his 14 years of service in that body.

Senator Pepper was scheduled to speak at the meeting several weeks ago, but was forced to postpone the engagement due to the sudden death of his law partner and former administrative assistant, Congressman Mr James C Clements of Perry.

All the entire faculty and student body are cordially invited to hear Senator Pepper, Coleman said. The former senator has consented to throw the discussion open for a question and answer period immediately following his main address.

Two Cheerleaders Attend Conference

Jett Munroe and Nancy Bennett, Florida State University cheerleaders, will represent FSU at the annual Southeastern Pep conference on April 13 and 14 at Chapel Hill, North Carolina.

These coeds will obtain information at the conference on setting up a card system to be used by the studen body in cheering sections during the football games.

Honor Group Meets

The Honor Committee will meet tomorrow evening in the UOA courtroom 3 p m.

All committee chairmen as well as interested students, are asked to attend.

State Symphony Gives Concert

Kuersteiner Leads Last Presentation of Season

The Florida State Symphony conducted by Karl Kuerstelner and sponsored by the Tallahassee Junior Chamber of Commerce presented the last concert for the season with two performances in the Westcott auditorium yesterday.

The Children's Matinee program consisted of When Johnny Comes Marching Home, Gould; Peer Gynt Suite, Greig; Not Crocker Suite, Thompson; Carnival of Animals, St Saens; Quartet from Rigoletto, Verdi; Blue Danube Waltzes, Strauss; and "Hi Ho Silver" from the William Tell, Rossini. Dick Gutting was the soloist for "Hi Yo Silver."

The evening pop concert included the Bolero, Ravel; Symphonie in B Minor, Schubert; Quartet from Rigoletto, Verdi; Les Carnaval Des Animaux, Grand Fantasie Zoologique, St Saens; Blue Danube Waltz, Strauss; Fiddle Faddle, Anderson; and "Hi Yo Silver" from William Tell, Rossini.

Request Denied By High Court In Ball Case

Court Convenes Tonight For Final Consideration Of Election Hearing

The second week of hearings on the University Court case of Adams v Ball ended last Thursday evening with a denial of Ball's motion for a dismissal. Consideration of the case will continue tonight at the 8:30 session.

The court did not pass on the validity of the constitutional amendment election of last spring, which set up the one-year-experience requirement for chairman of Judicial Court. That issue was considered irrelevant in view of the fact that all contestants were repassed in the elections of February 15, 1951.

THE CASE presented by Jennie Adams last week charged that James Ball was unqualified to hold the chairmanship of the Judicial Court under the constitution as amended last year, Ball sought to prove that the election was not valid because the ballots were never counted.

The motion for dismissal read in part:

"The court finds the evidence presented by the defendant, James Ball, is not relevant to the case inasmuch as the evidence does not pertain to article IV, section three of the UOA constitution in effect at the time of the primary election of March 7, 1951. Upon February 15, 1951, the constitution went into effect a constitutional amendment containing the qualification clause as to length of service upon Judicial court which Mr Ball is charged with violating in his campaign for the office of Chairman of the Judicial court. From February 15, 1951, all student activities have been under the UOA constitution as amended at the time and from that date this court and all cases brought before it have been under it."

"MR BALL, in the election of March 7, 1951, was running not under the UOA constitution of February 15 and the case brought against him could not properly brought under the UOA constitution of that date. Thus the action Mr Ball is charged with violating was, at the time of the election in which he ran, a legal and valid part of the constitution then in force."

Bruce Kirksey abstained from voting on the motion to dismiss. The remainder of the court concurred in the decision.

● LAST HOPE FOR JUSTICE IS LAST HEARING

The last hope for fair and equitable justice for James Ball rests in the hearings of the University Court tonight.

To date it seems that Ball has been rebuffed in all of his attempts to prove his "innocence." Even after the plaintiff admitted that the counting of the ballots was never carried out for the judicial section, the University Court took it upon themselves to find another article on which to deny Ball's motion for dismissal. Needless to say, it was not in their province to do so.

The court, in looking for a way to take Ball's office from him, trumped up the charge that a new Judicial amendment went into effect on February 15, 1951. And this supposition is quite true, but the case brought by the plaintiff specifically questioned the old Judicial article. Therefore the court had no right to rule on an article they were not asked to rule on. The procedure should have been for a new case to be brought up.

It seems evident the court is doing its utmost to have Ball expelled from his elected office. This is born out by the fact that some members had an opinion on the case even before it was presented to the court. Such things as this cannot be tolerated in any court of justice. Pre-determined opinions are a dangerous precedent for any judge to assume. It closes their minds to the evidence presented and makes for a biased and prejudiced decision.

An excerpt from the University Court action on the motion to dismiss states that "from February 15, 1951, all student activities have been under the UGA Constitution as amended and Comm that date this court and all cases bought before it have been bound by it." This is not true. In the Jennie Adams vs Bill Haves case, the court ruled on the Judicial article that can be found in the Pow Wow and not on the new amendment passed February 15. This seems inconsistent.

Further, the motion reads, "Mr Ball of necessity ran under the UGA Constitution of February 15, and the case brought against him was of necessity brought under the UGA Constitution of that date." The plaintiff read from the Pow Wow the Article under which she brought the case against Ball. The February 15 article does not appear in the Pow Wow. The Court is still assuming. They are supposed to rule on the testimony presented, not what they think should have been presented.

And more of the dismissal action said, "Thus the section Mr Ball is charged with violating was, at the time of the election in which he ran, a legal and valid part of the constitution then in effect." We have proved conclusively that Mr Ball was charged with violating the old Judicial article, not the new one.

What more need be said on this question? The court is trying desperately to dislodge James Ball from his office and will try any means within their power to do so. We cannot allow such miscarriages of justice on this campus.

● QUITE A GIRL

You probably have heard of a young senior lady by the name of Jennie Adams. But if you haven't heard of Miss Adams you should get to know her because she is exercising a tremendous impact on your student life.

Singlehandedly, this appointed senior senator has decided that the persons elected by the student body to Judicial and University courts were not qualified to hold the office. So she has succeeded in having the Chief Justice-elect removed from his office. She now has a suit before the court to remove the Chairman of Judicial court-elect from office.

She has advocated efforts to arrange it so that all publication heads will be responsible to a University council group instead of to the students who elected them. She now proposes that students subscribe to publications instead of having them paid for by the student activity fee.

All three editors for next year have said they will be unable to produce their publications if such a policy is adopted. Two of the editors have offered to resign if such a plan is adopted before the handling of the publications would no longer rest in their hands, and also because these two experienced persons state that it would be financially impossible to produce decent papers.

Therefore, Miss Adams may indirectly remove two more major officers from their elected positions. Evidently we are to assume that the student body does not know what it wants. You may wonder just how one person can dictate policies contrary to the expressed will of the student body. Frankly, we don't know. Maybe she has friends in high places.

Maybe she does know better than the student body. Again we don't know. But you've got to admit she's quite a girl, this Jennie Adams.

Dear Editor . . .

Disagrees

Dear Editor:

I have been a careful Flambeau reader for the past year. Every Friday I picked up the paper and was pleasantly surprised upon reading it. Page four, I thought, made the mistake of going on and reading the editorial page. Congratulations! This time you topped all other issues and turned out one of the worst bits of drivel I have ever laid eyes on. You and your "unbiased" staff have done nothing this year but turn that page and at many times the whole paper into a private peeve page.

Miss Blanton: I wonder just how many fine principles of journalism and decency you employed in the writing of this nasty, sarcastic little piece of trash known as "An Open Word." One of the sins of our time is that the Flambeau has a terrible handicap to work under . . . that of writing a newspaper reflecting the opinions of students and not just the paper's staff. It must be extremely difficult for you to have open court session so that it agrees with the opinion of the paper. I have attended the sessions on "Who's Who" and the recent sessions concerning the elections. After each session, I anxiously waited to read the next edition of what is supposed to be the school paper. Each time you gripe happy Jacks have set in the sessions madly scribbling down every misplaced burp and every sour note and mountains out of mole-hills. It's a shame that an accurate report of these meetings cannot be given to let the students in on some of the things that big league papers really have to worry about.

You also mentioned a group of people who sat in on the last session should have been cited for contempt of court. (I was not one of them.) Hah! Name any open session of the sort or semi-private session you and your sob shop choose to call it, and you will find present quivering loudly and hewing to the things did not go as you so desired. The shoe fits, "Kid," wear it.

Miss O'Riordon: YOU don't know from nothin'. So you are keeping cause all of the court the Flambeau has run up time and has ailing legal phrases around. Tch, tch, what a person who school papers. I hate to think has been present at many of these the colleges all over the country. sessions, I wonder just how many It was not quickly passed on and up really know their big legal really know their big legal in the trash can. If it is printed, terms? Where does all of that you will piece a little heading over fancy stuff have to be used? Who that and a sarcastic editor's note at needs the words put into their the end, but I have at least exmouths by people sitting along the ercised my right to criticize something that I feel is doing much sidelines ? Where does all of this more harm than good. I only hope legal business get them anyway? that next year's editor will carefully rid his staff of all scum and I know if I were appearing before the court, I would be nervous enough without having a such that might be left over from court throw legal terms at me.

According to your examples, this year, "Miss O'Rear," no one but physical education majors should even have that word. Even spunk and a fine sharp, and accurate report of these meetings cannot be an Education major, and so aren't really qualified to sing. You and I know as well as I do that being a law student or a political science major does not really qualify a person for an office, and being a journalism major does not qualify a person for a position on semi-newspaper articles, as you have so fully proven this year. I'm sure that some of our physics majors appreciated your ability to write the lead article of the physics column, but I believe that a university out west to whom I have been sending copies of "Doc Bert's Dirt Dobber" left it out when they sent the Flambeau. He has really been getting some jams and has said many times he's read better high

ANOTHER BELOW THE BELT BLOW

By BETSY BLANTON

Final blow before the belt was dealt Friday by the University Court when it handed down a decision on James Ball's motion for dismissal.

We thought Ball had presented factual evidence which supported his testimony that the constitutional section under question is not a legal and valid part of the Judicial Article.

Even the plaintiff, Jennie Adams, has said that it is quite evident that Article IV, Section 3, had been adequately voted upon and recorded. But not so the court.

In an explanation of its decision of refusal to grant the dismissal the court said "the evidence presented by the defendant is not relevant to the case . . ." It refers to the fact that Article IV, Section 3, is now in effect (the traffic court amendment).

The court has neglected to consider that it may only try the case on the grounds presented by the plaintiff. Jennie contested the election of Jim to Judicial Court chairman on the Article IV, Section 3 which was found to be illegal. She has even read the section in open hearings.

In the most recent court hearing, a spectator reminded the court that it could only rule on the section of the constitution which Jennie had contested. The members nodded their heads in unison.

They were informed that if the plaintiff wished to contest the new section of the student constitution, she would have to introduce a new petition for a hearing. And even then it is a perfect opposition to this information.

We hate to see the high court lose prestige over an issue such as this. But even so, we still have much respect for a court which evidently is not too concerned with the responsibility of representing its constituents!

Nine of your senators represented the entire student body at the Religious Council committee of the whole session.

It is too bad there weren't more senators there, for more was accomplished in that meeting than has been done in a long time.

Spectators were permitted to give their views on the much-discussed student publications bill and offer suggestions for its improvement. We only hope that the senators took note of these suggestions.

It was pointed out that the Flambeau and Smoke Signals could serve as a training ground for students who plan to enter the professional journalistic field. With the bill as stated, it was said that it is inevitable that students in the process of such training will make mistakes.

To which UGA President Bobbe Baker retorted that the mistakes are emotional. Considering that he would hardly know the difference between good reporting and bad or between a journalistic triumph and a mistake, we laughed it off.

We trust that our School of Journalism profs will laugh off this obvious slam at their training program.

THE STUFF THAT MADE MILWAUKEE FAMOUS

[The Florida Flambeau has been granted permission by International News Service to reprint portions of Bruce Catton's Inner Robb. Mrs Robb writes this column for many newspapers throughout the United States.]

By INEZ ROBB

MADISON, Wis. (INS) — The sneaking suspicion that I was born thirty years too soon has been confirmed resurlarly every hour on the hour since my arrival in this, the home of the University of Wisconsin.

Modern education is a wonderous thing; and the crew cuts and college sweater have had it so good. Fifteen minutes after my arrival in Madison, mine hosts had brought me to the Memorial Union, from which I have resolutely refused to budge since.

The Memorial Union, twixt the center of Grand Canyon and Jayleen's e flea circus, is the campus headquarters of the student body. On the ground floor, called Tripod Union, was a six-table pool hall, and through the big arches beyond I could see bowling alleys and coeds blowing suds off aedels of the stuff that made Milwaukee famous.

"Cripes!" I ses to myself, "I'm in amazement. Prestidigitation is too, too, a Ph D. Pool and beer in plain juxtaposition, manned by students of same. Pinch me if you will pardon the academic expression, and no dean of women doing the Big Apple in the graveyard!

"Cripes!" I sez again, in amazement. "When I was in college, both beer and pool were capital offenses. The guilty party caught associating with either was subject to instant expulsion, or the fate worse than death."

"Now, Pop," my hosts or students looked at me in amazement, as if I were a survivor of the Dark Ages or the days of the Inquisition. And I remembered that pops had spent the first twenty years of their life trying to keep me away from the pool hall and the boys, not to mention beer.

And here, thirty years too late for my purposes, the University that lets its kids run the streets and whenever they feel like it and rack up a game of pool under legal auspices.

"This guy's studying for his Ph.D.," one of my companions said proudly of the industrious student manning the nearest pool table. "I could well believe it, and furthermore stake a buck on his getting it, for in the days when I was a student down the cue and made a run of fifteen.

In an adjacent room, other servants were doing their home work in ping pong. And in still another room, a little group of pundits — candidates for the highest degrees — were busy with post-grad work in bridge. The elementary work, or canasta, is done wherever a little grove can find a table around which to flop.

Well, as you can see, this new air of academic freedom and romantic innovation has been surprising to me, and to say it with What kids can study in college today is just wild.

I am still rocking on my spine heels from an encounter with a co-ed who replied to my query and said "Oh, Mrs Robb, we spent a whole week studying your 'Conspondial' column. We are the girls in our class in juvenile delinquency."

I just stood there, rocking gently with the punches and thinking how wonderful is modern education. When I left high school's age, I had to learn to be a lady, and how to keep a boy at bay. No teachers offered any help; no educators gave any pointers. A girl had to get up on a pedestal, delinquent on his own, by trial and error, mainly error.

So I learned, maybe I didn't hear right—or rightly. And I got out of the college catalogue and looked it up, and Course No 154 is listed with simple dignity as "Juvenile Delinquency."

Just to be sure, I read the description of the course. And I swan, I envy for the life of me all whether the prof is fer it or agin it.

Modern education don't miss nothing!

SENATORS GET IDEAS FROM EDITORS

By JEANNE O'RIORDEN

Last Thursday, a group of seven senators met as an informal committee to discuss the Flambeau editorials. They were kicking around the UGA Senate since January. A lot of good ideas were put forth, since only nine out of twenty-four senators were present, the whole meeting will have to be discussed and explained to the absent senators.

Spectators were allowed to enter into the discussion. Flambeau editor Earl Dubert and Tally-Ho editor Harry Wilson explained many things to the senators which apparently they had not have come to light through a discussion by senators only.

One point which was that changing practically all the points in the bill are provided for now, such as auditing books by an outside firm of office supplies. The same old argument arose as to whether the senators should be allowed to write applications and compare or merely the Flambeau. The latter seemed to be the main topic of conversation.

An idea offered by one speaker was that the Publications board clause of the FSU constitution be taken out entirely whether they be elected by members of a board of publications and appoint editors instead of electing them. This was done at most universities, with good results. In an election, popularity often is the key to winning while, if the editor was appointed, students who have worked together for a couple of years on the publications know what a responsible would make a better editor.

A system of recall of elected officials was also discussed. As it stands now, there is no way, under the present constitution, for students to call the unsatisfied with an elected member of student government to get him out of office. Now we just suffer and wait for next year's elections to come. It was suggested that included in the constitution students could vote on whether the official should or should not stay in office.

The meeting Thursday could not accomplish any concrete decisions because it was only a formal meeting, and a majority of the senators were present. But much good might arise out of the ideas presented.

CAMPUS CAROUSEL

A MALE IN A BEAUTY CONTEST

By JOEL P SMITH

It isn't just every male that receives the honor of representing his fraternity in a campus-wide beauty contest . . . and it isn't just every frat that would elect a candidate with a 40-inch waistline. But this is precisely what the Phi Delts did.

Bruce Kirksey, personal photographer for the Flambeau and for the 85ers, made appointments with two members of the Alpha Gamma Rho Sweetheart Beauty Contest committee to set their photographic standards of beauty that was supposed to be sworn of hearts. Bruce wanted Harry Copeland to pose with the "undiscovered" beauty sitting in his lap. Bruce did come out with something that was undiscovered—a huge specimen of MANhood that measured something like 6 feet by four. . . . The 85ers' "queen of hearts" turned out to be the Joker. Copeland played his cards right, he suddenly remembered his fraternity membership and made a b-line for the door leaving Bruce cooing with the "beauty."

The Alpha Sig's another gathering of campus characters, are planning big plans for their annual weekend. . . . Tom Hendricks held a shindig at one of the local taverns last Saturday night. Alpha Sigma Sigma sweetheart was elected at this meeting and "The Donkey Serenade" was officially declared the fraternity song. Another business matter was settled at this meeting: Bill Lumb, president, upheld the ouboy officers decision that only members could be elected president.

The Alpha Rho didn't go to the trouble of "going national" as the 85ers did, but they have bumped into another problem. The Alpha Rho claim to be the Alpha chapter in the collegiate world, but they are being sued by the Alabama campus group which claims to be the original chapter of ARS . . . It is rumored that two grand old fabulists rear and measurements of the members and use this as a basis for their claim. They'll be the Beta chapter, President Bill Lumb said that he was going strongly on Sam Armeur and Ben Eubanks if such a step is taken.

Poetically Yours

PRIDE DENIED
by James Herdo

Hunter Hrdo was terrified
When he was set by a cannibal tribe;
He strut, he shot, and tried to hide.
He fought, got caught, was petrified.

With force applied, his limbs were tied
"A feast," they cried, "he shall provide."

Distraught with thoughts of homicide
They got a pot, stirred him inside:
With pride they eyed him as he sighed
And fried his hide until he died.

STEPHEN OF LOVE
By Doug Alley

Our love is like a rose
Your kisses are the melody;
Your arms are like the killing strains
Of a rhapsody refrain.
Our love is like a voice of spring
The chorus that the angel's sing;
The height of beauty in design
The melody that says your's mine,

The violins that weave a spell
And thrill me as your kisses tell
Of all the love for me
That comes into my reverie.

Our love will last when worlds are gone
And find a cloud to dream upon;
Like the music of the sea,
Our love is like a symphony.

TALLAHASSEE Merry-Go-Round

By VERNON PREZLE
and BILL PETERSON

Yesterday would have been like any other legislative day had it not been for Governor Fuller Warren who provided newsmen with acutely needed copy. In a terse memo to executive under the Governor reinstated suspended "Whistlin' Jimmy" Sullivan of Dade County, and thereby dropped a political bombshell on the legislature. By reinstating Sullivan at this time, he deprived the Senate of the opportunity to pass on suspending.

Under the practice of "Senatorial courtesy" the Senate is wholehands the final decision on Sullivan's removal would have been left with Dade County Senator Charles R B Glautier. The senator from Miami said of Warren's action that he had no comment to make at this time.

He [Governor Warren] did not consult any member of the Dade delegation, but he did consult with our the wishes of the people of Dade County," Kirkland continued, "The Governor is the boss under his technical authority."

Kirkland has pointed the correction of a house committee to investigate the Governor's alleged decision with Sullivan's reinstatement.

In past sessions a general practice of some spineless legislators has been to "investigate" the governor's first voting for appropriations so implementation of governmental programs, and then to determine these programs by refusing to vote for funds to provide funds needed to execute these programs. This column will list the names of legislators who vote for this practice.

Four separate joint resolutions have been introduced in the House to lower the voting age to 18. If the bills pass, all boys between year-olds to vote why don't they get together?

LEGISLATIVE opponents of World Federalism picked up a new supporter in Governor Fuller Warren last night when Bill Hendrix of the Klux Klan blasted world government. He also attacked PSI's "Communistic" and "Socialistic" courses as "Communists and Socialistic."

Senator James Franklin of Port Myers has proposed a general bill to abolish the ward system used in some counties for the election of county commissioners. Chances for its passage are nil, Senator, the politicos. Able representative Farris Bryant of Ocala will be selected as the speaker for the 1951 House of Representatives. He will edge out sincere and capable Representative George Nesmith of Wauhilla county.

Cavalier Try-Outs Slated Thursday

Membership tryouts of the Cavalier Dancing Honorary will be held Thursday night at the Club Theatre 7 until 8, David Pinson, secretary of the organization, has announced.

Tryouts will be open for both men and fad dancing, he said. "Those men accepted will go through a pledge period and will then be brought into the organization as active members."

The Cavalier organization at Florida State University is the Beta chapter of the national organization with headquarters at Gainesville.

DSF Plans Retreat At Silver Lake

Plans are under way for the Dacpsie Student Fellowship's annual retreat at Silver Lake. The date for retreat has been set for April 28-29. Cabins have been reserved and speakers have been contacted for the occasion. Definite information will be available within a few days and will be distributed to DSF members and other interested students. Anyone interested in working with the committee should contact DSF president Lou Riley.

Plans for a fish fry at 08 Trees on April 21 are also near completion.

Campus Characters

It looks as though those Cavalier-Cotillion sponsored dance lessons are clicking. Maybe they will fill a basic need on this campus for some social graces. The weekly formal dances to keep the average J C happy but few good informals. Wonder what happens to everybody over there. Certainly aren't swallowed up in the mad social whirl here in Tally. Some of the best looking girls on campus and the average Non-Club Freshman into whipping out his dancing pumps . . .

ANOTHER campus cop is sporting a red face this week. Seems he knocked on the window of a car parked for a love session and climbed in astrial when the girl screamed . . .

King, Queen of May Will Be Nominated By Seniors Friday

Nominations for the King and Queen of the annual May Day dance will be held in lower Westcott next Friday, April 13, it was announced today.

Dance Chairman Mickey Johnson said that the nominations would be made by the senior class members only. The election, he stated would be open to the entire student body, however.

"In the past," he said, "the May Day dance was a function carried out by the senior class officers. Last year's senior class president, Dal Albritton, asked that some other group take over the dance, because the seniors had too much to do."

This year the dance is being sponsored by the Student Union Organization.

Elections will be held on Tuesday, April 17 in lower Westcott and the Seminole dining hall. The dance will be held at the West campus after Union on Saturday, April 28 from 9 til 12.

Annual Art Seminar Meets in Sarasota

The fourth annual History of Art Seminar began yesterday at the Ringling Museum of Art in Sarasota. The seminar is being sponsored jointly by the Florida State University art department and the museum.

According to Mrs B Williams, art department head, the week-long program could well be titled "The History of Art and the General Subjects Related to It in the Contemporary American World."

EACH DAY'S program is slanted toward a special phase of the contemporary art scene. A philosophical and political history of the American World at mid-century was presented at a background lecture yesterday.

Today participants will visit three houses designed by Twitchell and Rudolph, Sarasota architects who have won national recognition. Prior to the tour, Mr Paul Rudolph will explain what he is striving to accomplish as a modern architect.

Tomorrow artists and art critics will discuss modern painting. Lectures will be Arnold Blanch and Doris Lee, painters who teach each the winter at the Florida Gulf Coast Art Center. Other speakers include Fleicher Martin, artist in residence at the University of Florida and Edmund Lewandoski, professor of art and a nationally known painter. Author, and art critic is Parker Tyler, the remaining speaker.

ON THURSDAY the FSU School of Music will be featured. Dr Warren D Allen, musicology professor, will present a lecture "Music in an Era of World Revolution". The musicology professor will discuss the role music has played in the last half century and its probable future role.

Thursday evening at 8:30, the Faculty Quartet will play two quintets for piano and strings, assisted by John Boda. Compositions will be by Prof Boda and Ernest von Dohnanyi.

Other members of the Music School present will be Dr Karl Kiesinger and Robert Bethrs, Eugene Crabb, Owen Sellers.

BROOKS STEVENS, designer of the Jeep station wagon, the Jeepster, and redesigner of Kaiser-Frazier automobiles, will lecture on Friday.

The final day of the seminar will be devoted to the dance and the theater. Dance demonstrations will be given by FSU students under the direction of Miss Nelle-Bond Dickinson, assistant professor dance.

The speech department's new production of Jim Bundy will be given in its first performance Saturday night.

Service Fraternity Has Formal Pledging

Formal pledging for the Alpha Phi Omega service fraternity pledgeing group will be held in room 121 of the Social Work building, next Wednesday evening at 7. Pledge bids have been extended to eight students.

The latest project of this organization, the installation of bicycle racks for the demonstration school has been rescheduled for next Saturday following postponement due to the rain.

Rabbi to Lecture Here Today, Wed.

Rabbi Solomon Chernick, of Shaari Shomayim Conrregation, Mobile, Ala, will represent the Jewish Chautauqua Society today and tomorrow on the Florida State campus, at a series of lectures.

Tonight he will speak at 7 p m at the Baptist Student house, on the subject "What we Jews believe." Later, at 9:30 p m he will address an audience at the Presbyterian Student House on "What every Christian should know about Judaism."

Tomorrow at the Wesley Foundation at 9:45 p m his subject will be "What Judaism teaches about God, man and the universe." He will also meet with a number of classes tomorrow.

The National Federation of Temple Brotherhoods sponsors the Jewish Chautauqua Society, which sends Rabbi lecturers to college campuses as part of an educational program to disseminate authentic information concerning Judaism.

Yudowitch Leads Sigma Xi Lecture

The operation of the new Florida State University electron microscope will be discussed at an open Sigma XI lecture on April 18. Dr Kenneth L Yudowitch, pysics faculty member, will lead the discussion in the Sciences lecture hall at 8 p m.

Publicity Chairman, Dr Dwight B Goodner, explained that Dr Yudowitch will explain in detail how the new microscope can be used in important research for the benefit of mankind.

Dr Goodner said that the lecture is being sponsored by the FSU Research Council composed of Dr Karl Dittmer, club president; Dr Werner A Baum, program chairman; Dr F R Hunter, Dr Guenier Schwarz and Dr Hazel T Stevens. All members are FSU faculty members.

TIME TO BE GETTIN' ON THE BALL—If Miami's unimpressive 21-13 victory over the University of Tampa Spartans is any indication of the Hurricanes' strength for the 1951 grid season, Andy Gustafson had better be gettin' on the ball before Florida State University comes a callin' in October.

Although Gustafson and his Magic City lads had to contend with a spell of wet weather, one has to take into consideration that Tampa was also under those same conditions. And, Don Veller and his Seminoles took a 16-point decision from the Spartans, and, if you will recall, the weather wasn't anything to write home about.

Now in this fine art of deduction one comes to the conclusion that FSU is 5 points better than Miami—comparative scores, understand. We can now slice about 3 away due to the fact that a fellow named John Lahosky didn't play in the FSU-Tampa game, but he saw enough action in the Miami contest to worry Mr Andy Pandy a little.

We may possibly get away with whittling 3 more points off the Seminoles' edge on the strength of the absence of Jack Hackett and Fed—whatchmacallit—from the 'Cane offense in Friday's game in Tampa. That leaves the two future state football rivals just about even if one goes about it in the above manner.

We'd better leave the FSU-Miami situation just as is and talk a spell about Veller's talent for next year. If first week of spring training—which Don termed: "I'm satisfied, but not enthused"—is an indication, Florida State is going to be rough, and there's no gettin' away from it.

Competition for positions is at an all time high, spirit is up, and the boys are working harder with each day. From what I've seen Veller and his Seminoles could hold there own with Miami, Florida (how'd that get in here), and the like.

Perhaps the stiffest competition in the backfield will develop for the tailback and fullback slots. Two newcomers are showing up well and with performers are going to be forced to work extra hard to keep their positions.

The newcomers—Tailback Al Woodham and Fullback Randall King—looked fine in last week's sessions. But, the veterans—Nelson Italiano and Mike Sellers—were just a little more impressive.

Italiano was the fellow who filled in for Dick Peterson midway in the 1950 season, and he established the year in fine fashion with his running, passing, and punting.

Sellers, however, earned the starting fullback slot before the opening contest and held it, ending the season Florida's second highest scorer and Florida State's leading ground gainer.

So you see, these newcomers have to be good in order to catch Veller's eye while they're running in their respective slots. Woodham, a Sophomore transfer from Auburn, has shown plenty of promise with his passing and running. His old high school mate at Albany, Ga. "Crazy-Legs," will probably be re-tagged before the spring drills are over.

King is a hard running, bucking back and a good ball handler. He's a Freshman and transferred from Tulsa where he was the first line fullback for the 1950 Freshman team there.

Veller, who has been experimenting a little during practice, moved Italiano to wingback one day and used Woodham in the tailback position. Another day he had Woodham on the wing and Italiano back at tailback. To top things off, Veller tried King at the wingback slot earlier in the week. In other words here are three versatile backs.

By late September, when the season opens here against Troy State, Veller will have a backfield that can stack up with the best of em. The line problems can be met with Bob Harbison and Charlie Armstrong. And, one can be pretty sure that the duo will gain some up with a powerful forward wall.

FAMOUS LAST WORDS—"We'll play and keep on playing Florida State until we beat them." Hugh McCollum, head football coach, Troy State Teachers College, Troy, Alabama.

Benner, Lockard Lead FSU Nine To 9-3 Victory Over Rollins Tars

West Benner and Ed Lockard paced Florida State University's baseball team to its eighth victory in nine starts Friday after noon at Winter Park as the Seminoles blasted Rollins 9-3.

Benner led a 19-hit barrage against three Tar hurlers, pounding a triple and three singles in five trips to the plate, and Lockard eased over the nine frames from the mound, limiting the Tars to six hits. He fanned 10, six in the last two innings, and walked seven.

Lee Bailey, Bob Trowbridge, and Augie Pompella ended with three hits each, and singles. Bailey and Trowbridge drove in two runs each and Pompella finished with one RBI.

A SCHEDULED second game was rained out Saturday and will probably be made up later in the season.

Flaking Friday's game in a stew-pot of chaos, the Seminoles hopped on Tar starter Henry Mesenden for one run in the fourth and three more in the fifth. Florida State collected another run off the Rollins starter in the seventh and finally drove Mesenden to cover in the ninth with a four-run outburst.

The Seminole baseballers travel to DeLand this weekend to battle Stetson in a two-game series Friday and Saturday. Ray Whitten and Ed Sessoms will probably hurl for FSU.

Hartman Paces Record Setting Seminole Five

The Florida State University 1950-1951 basketball team set new school records in almost every column of the record book during the season just completed.

Outstanding accomplishment of the year was the 493 points scored by Guard Bob Hartman of South Bend, Indiana, which established a new state intercollegiate record for a single season. Bob's totals of 193 field goals and 107 free throws were also new one-season marks.

Hartman also had a monopoly on the other individual school records set. The new single game mark is 29 scored against Howard College in the Dixie Conference tournament. His 16 field goals in the Millikin College game at the national NAIB tournament was another mark he has set. His 11 free throws he got against Georgia Teachers in the finals of the District 25 NAIB tournament at Jacksonville. Hartman averaged 17.388 on attempted field goals scored during the complete season, for another new mark and his per game average of 16.2 points was also the best ever recorded by a Florida State basketball player.

HARTMAN was a unanimous All-Dixie Conference choice at guard, and missed by only a few votes being named unanimously on the Florida Intercollegiate All-State team.

Runner-up to Hartman in the scoring column this year was another South Bend athlete, Forward Bob Whitmer with 342 points two better than the former school record). Guard Bug Bond and Center Tom McLaughlin, both of Madison, Indiana, trailed Whitmer in scoring with 317 and 179 points, respectively. Forward Bud Marsee of Mishawaka, Indiana, had 177 and Guard Dick Trobaugh of Greensburg, Indiana, was next with 130.

THROATSHOT set the pace in free throw percentage when he dropped 42 of 59 charity toss tries for .712 mark. Whitmer was next in line here with 88 out of 122 for a .667 average.

As a team the Seminoles set new school marks in total number of field goals, 692; free throws, 460; points, 1792; and per game average, 66.4. New single game records were set in total points, 86 against Florida Southern; field goals 37 against Fla Southern; free throws, 28 against Connecticut State Teachers. The Seminoles made 12 games for another school mark and their 18-5 season record was also the best ever recorded at Florida State in basketball.

Hartman Finishes 29th in Small College Scoring

According to the final statistics issued by the National Collegiate Athletic Bureau on small -college basketball leaders of the nation, Guard Bob Hartman of Florida State University finished in a tie for 29th place in individual scoring with an 18.2 per game average for 27 games.

In this same group nationally, Florida State as a ten minshed 44th with a 66.4 points per game average. And according to the Dunkel rating system, which includes all the large and small college teams of the nation, Florida State jumped from a 422 ranking in 1950 to 208th in the country during this season just completed.

FSU Linksmen Blank Stetson By 18-0 Score

Florida State University's golf team shut out the Stetson University Hatters Saturday 18-0 on the Tallahassee Country club course.

Paced by Ted Hewitt's low medal score of two over par 74, the FSU linksmen made a clean sweep of all four individual matches and the two team pairings.

Coach Bob Harbison's golfers were without the services of aces Johnson and Dick Montney.

Johnson has been pacing the Seminoles all season with 6 individual victories in 7 starts while the FSU golf team was racking up four victories in seven starts. FSU is the only victor and battled Rollins to a 9-9 tie.

MONTNEY has the best medal score of the Florida State golfers for the seven dual matches, excluding Saturday's Stetson match, with an average of 72.3 strokes per 18 holes, just a little over par.

The Seminoles battle Emory at Atlanta Saturday in the next match.

Scores for the golfers were: Ted Hewitt, (FSU) 74, defeated Chuck Fee, 78, 3-0; Bud Martinez, FSU-76, defeated Price Bush, 89, 3-0; Tom Cumbie, (FSU) 78, defeated George Prison, 80, 3-6; and Mike Pacsoi, (FSU) 83, defeated Guido Tambui, 88, 3-0. Team scores were Hewitt and Marsee defeated Rea and Bush, 3-0; and Cumbie and Pacsoi defeaid Prison and Tambui, 3-0.

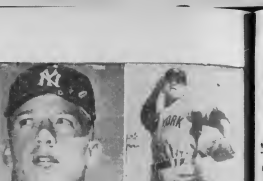
Seminoles' only home match of the season here Friday ninth.

According to Coach Bill Odeneal, Bill Roethem, who recently won the all-around NCAA title, will perform at intermission.

The Florida State volleyballers took one match from the Albany six earlier in the season at the Georgia city, but Odeneal expects the Georgians to be tougher this time.

Albany recently won the Georgia YMCA state championship.

Volleyballers Face Albany YMCA Six Here Friday Night



Florida State University's volleyball team, champions of the Mid-South and Florida AAU, will meet Albany, Ga. YMCA in the Seminoles' only home match of the season here Friday night.

According to Coach Bill Odeneal, Bill Roethem, who recently won the all-around NCAA title, will perform at intermission.

Fast becoming one of the most popular and enjoyable physical activities at FSU, modern dance is fun as well as an art to be able to express yourself through movement. The Odd-Even teams have been practicing for the past few weeks in preparation for their dance demonstration to be held tomorrow, April eleventh, at eight o'clock in the Augusta Conrad Theatre. Then, will be twelve girls who will be chosen this weekend on each team. The Odd team, whose leader is Anice Spencer has been under the able supervision of Miss Mary Titus; the Even, lead by Nancy Smith, has been supervised by Miss Nellie-Bond Dickinson. The public is cordially invited to come to the demonstration and stay to hear constructive criticisms of both teams by the three judges to be chosen next week.

It seems there's never a minute to rest here at FSU. One sport ends and another begins. Swimming, intramurals were held last Monday and Tuesday nights in the Women's Gym. The Kappa Alpha Theta's won first place with A D Pi and Gamma Phi Beta as the runners-up.

The Odd-Even Swimming teams will begin practice this week for the Odds practicing on Tuesday Thursday and Friday at five; the Evens on Monday, Wednesday and Friday at the same time. Wherever you think you're a swimmer or not, here's your chance to learn and to excel. Maybe you can break the world's record, but is certainly worth the try.

WRA has been busy making plans for the next year's some extra-curricular athletic events. Some of the ideas being worked on now for the 1951-52 intramural season are as follows:

1.) To have the year divided into three major sports seasons for instance, volleyball, basketball and softball. During these three major sports seasons the minor sports of swimming, ping-pong, horseshoes, archery, etc., will be played.

2.) To have these major sports played in "round robin," that is each team will play every other team in their respective group of either sorority or dormitory at least once. By this method each team will be able to play more than just one or two games and was the case many times in the elimination method of competition.

Second Performance Slated For Faculty Play Tonight

Court Upholds Ball's Election

Dismisses Adams Charge Of Unconstitutionality

The University Court has dismissed the charges brought against James Ball by Jennie Adams, and has upheld his right to continue as Chairman of Judicial Court. Jennie had questioned his right to the office since he had not served one year on the Court previously.

Dal Albritton, acting as counsel for Ball at the hearing Tuesday night, pointed out that it is common practice in government work to consider an elector to a newly-created office as having held the position for the length of the term. This the court accepted as in the spirit of the UGA Constitution.

BALL WAS elected to a newly-organized Judicial Court last fall, and after a few months ran for the chairmanship, thinking that his service would be sufficient to qualify him for that office. Jennie Adams brought suit on the ground that he had served less than one school year, and was therefore not qualified under the constitution.

Following the decision of the court Jennie Adams said, "I wish we had more men like James Ball in our court system."

Below is the published decision:

"THIS COURT holds that justice calls for a construction favorable of the letter but of the spirit and intent of the law.

"The evidence in this case shows that a reorganization of the UGA Judicial System took place at the beginning of the present school year and that on November 20, 1950, in an election held to fill vacancies in the expanded system, James Ball was elected to Judicial Court.

"The intent of the constitutional one-year service judiciary qualification is, in the court's opinion, to insure the experience of at least one term of service upon Judicial Court, and the court finds that Ball's term, which failed to include only one case judged by colleagues elected the previous spring, fills the full intent of the Constitution. He is, therefore, held to be eligible for his office as chairman of the Judicial Court.

British Educators Scheduled to Visit

Two British educational representatives are coming to the Florida State University from London to inspect the program of the department of restaurant and hotel management, President Doak S. Campbell announced yesterday.

A letter has been received from R. Carter, education officer in the British embassy in Washington that M. F. Bird, inspector of schools for the British Ministry of Education, and J. D. Kelly, president of Westminister Technical College in London, will be at FSU April 26, 27 and 28.

The two British education officials will be speakers at a public seminar at 8 p. m. Thursday, April 26, in the Longmire auditorium. They will discuss "Higher Education in Britain." This program, arranged by Dr. J. Frank Deme, dean of the School of Business, and Dean Ralph Eyman of the School of Education will be sponsored by the two schools jointly.

Dr. Donald Lundberg, head of the department of restaurant and hotel management, said the two British visitors will inspect the operations of his department, visiting the dining hall to observe the laboratory experience program of the students and also Wakulla Springs lodge to observe a work experience program of FSU students.

They will also serve as guest lecturers to Dr Lundbergs' classes in Institutional Engineering and Plant Maintenance, Personnel Practices and Institutions, and Business Policies.

Sophomore Hop

The final election for Sophomore Hop King, Queen and court will be held on Wednesday, April 18, from 9 a. m to 6 p m in Lower Hall and the Seminole Lobby.

Garrison Tells Election Plans

Students Urged to File Candidacy by April 17

"Student candidates for class offices are urged to file their applications for candidacy before the deadline next Tuesday, April 17th," Paul Garrison, Chairman of the Elections Committee said today.

The first primary will be held Tuesday, April 24 and the runoff will be held Tuesday, May 1st.

ACCORDING TO a statement issued to the Flambeau by Chairman Garrison, the following offices are declared vacant and will be filled in the primaries for the term beginning in September of this year: three class presidents; three class vice-presidents; three class secretaries; three class secretaries; three class parliamentarians; and three class social chairmen. In addition, there will be six senators elected from each class, three men and three women senators.

Other officers to be filled at this time are the representatives of the newly created Traffic Court. The Chairman of the Traffic Safety Court must be of senior standing and shall have had one year of experience on the Traffic Safety Court and qualify parently, no experience is required for the Traffic Court Chairman slad. The University Constitution requires the candidates for Chairman of Safety-Court must have maintained a 1.3 grade

Florida State Site Of Drafting Test

Florida State University will be one of the nation's testing centers for the Selective Service College Qualification Test to determine the draft status of high school graduates, college and university and graduate students, announced Dr Doak S Campbell, president.

To take the Selective Service College Qualification Test, according to Dr Campbell, the applicant must be a registrant under the Selective Service Act of 1948, must request occupational deferment as a student, must be between 19 and 26 years of age, have not taken the test before, and must be satisfactorily pursuing his full time college course leading to a degree.

The tests are to be given April 26, June 28 and June 30. Printed instructions concerning the test will be released by the National Selective Service Office to local draft boards soon. Any additional information and instructions concerning the mare received from the local boards will be passed on to the FSU students and all others interested, said President Campbell.

Board of Control Approves Contract

The State Board of Control has approved a new contract with the United States Army Chemical Corps at Camp Detrick, Frederick, Maryland, for research experimental work at Florida State University, President Doak S Campbell has announced.

The contract said the program of research for Camp Letrick, central United States Armed Forces agency for bacteriological warfare, will be conducted by Dr Kenneth L. Wodwich, associate professor of physics.

Dr Yudovitch said the new contract calls for a study of the internal structure of bacteria by the utilization of X-rays as a part of a program of studying and identifying possible bacterial warfare agents. It will include the study of arrangement of hemoglobin molecules inside the red blood cell.

Artist Series Vote Continues 50 Votes Cast

Flagstad, Ballet Lead Group One; April 18 Is Balloting Deadline

Less than fifty ballots have been received in the Artist Series poll up until yesterday, according to John Newton Baker, member of the Artist Series Committee.

Students will have until Wednesday, April 18, to send their preference of artists for the coming year to the Artists Series office in 308 Music building.

In the first group, Kirsten Flagstad and the Ballet Russe de Monte Carlo are highest. Only one artist may be chosen from this group. Word has been received by the committee that the Drama Quartette, consisting of Charles Boyer, Renes Moorehead, Sir Cedric Hardwicke and Charles Laughton, will not be available as they have completed bookings for the coming year.

From group two, the Norwegian Boy's Choir and Igor Goren are leading.

Group three leaders are Ogden Nash and Jean Dickinson.

It has been announced by the committee that unless 1,000 ballots are received they cannot vote because this would not adequately show student opinion.

Students are urged to check the ballot which appears on the editorial page of this issue and send their votes to the Artists Series office.

Below is a tentative list from which students may choose:

GROUP ONE: (From $2,000 to $5,000. Choose two.) Ballet Russe de Monte Carlo; Kirsten Flagstad; La Traviata (company of 70); Ballet Russe de Monte Carlo; Charles Laughton and his Hindu Ballet, and Rogers and Hammerstein Nights (music from "Oklahoma," "Show Boat," "State Fair," "Carousel," "Oklahoma" and "South Pacific").

GROUP TWO: (From $2,000 to $2,750. Choose two.) Gerald Bersell, Igor Gorin, Thomas L. Thomas, The Eustadi (singers and dancers from the Basque country of the Pyrenees), The Norwegian Boy's Choir (60 boys), and Franklin P Adams (of "Information Piece" fame.)

GROUP THREE: (From $300 to $1,250. Choose three.) Gerald

Sport, Fun on Menu For 'F' Club Night

Anyone interested in sports and good fun is invited to "Play Night" tonight at 7:30 p. m. in the Men's Gymnasium.

The co-recreational playnight is being sponsored by the FSU FSU Women's "F" Club.

A variety of sports and entertainment features is on the agenda for tonight's activities. Included on the schedule will be tumbling, square dancing, social dancing, ping pong, badminton, tennis, volleyball, basketball, and bowling.

Campus Chest Drive Starts Tomorrow; $1,500 Goal

Heart Fund, Cancer, WSSF, Student Welfare Split Take

"Give 'em Heaps, Seminoles!" is the slogan for the Campus Charity Chest drive beginning tomorrow and ending Saturday, April 21.

The goal of this drive, the first of its kind on campus, is $1,500. The four organizations to which the money will be given are the Heart fund, Cancer Crusade, World Student Service Fund, and Student Welfare.

"IN ORDER to accomplish the purpose of the drive, we must raise four times as much money as has ever been raised before in a single drive," Bill Hess, Campus Chest chairman, said today. "Four drives are being combined into one. Students who are accustomed to give the 10 or 15 cents to charity five or six times a year, must realize that this is their only opportunity to give. If each student gives 40 cents we will meet our goal," he said.

The first event of the drive will be on Tuesday when "P" Club will hold a picnic supper on Landis Green at 5 o'clock. Foreign students will meet at the Wednesday afternoon tea held in the Women's dormitories next week. That night in the assembly theater the Junior Class will hold a rally featuring circus acts.

STUDENT ART will be auctioned off Thursday night at 7:30 in the Student Union building on West campus. The students will set a minimum price on their work and receive 60% of the materials, at which point the bidding will end. Jack Hall is in charge of the auction.

Village Vamp initiates are giving a benefit dance in the basement night in Westcott auditorium. The theme of the show at which the girls will wear their own clothes is "All Through the Day." A collection will be taken up during the program.

THE SOPHOMORE Hop Benefit dance in the Lafayette room will end the week-long drive. Jo Nell Pounds, social chairman of the Sophomore class, says that there will be a combination collection at the door. "On Shipboard" is to be the theme of the hop, and a first and last dance the King and Queen of the hop will be crowned.

The Faculty Auction, sponsored by Sophomore Council, is scheduled for April 30. The auction this is after the week of the drive, the proceeds will be given to the Campus Charity Chest. Interfraternity Council will give a cup to the fraternity raising the most money during the drive.

Bill Hess is the chairman of the chest drive. Other officers are Jo Nell Proctor, secretary, and Jack Cornelius, treasurer. The committee chairmen include: Caroline Whitaker, publicity; Carol Henderson, women's activities; Marianne Cillen, church groups; Milton Folds, men's dormitories; Dame Nelson, campus organizations; Milton Caruthers, faculty; Bill Ford, fraternities; Rina Page, sororities, and Margaret Krasman, ways and means.

STARTS TOMORROW—Bill Hess, Campus Charity Chest chairman, points to a sign telling how the proceeds from the first annual "Chest" drive will be distributed. The campaign starts tomorrow.

Changes Advocated For Constitution

Turnbull Presents Reforms To Senate Meeting Tuesday

Four amendments calling for extensive reforms in the UGA Constitution were introduced dropped in the lap of the Senate last Tuesday by Jim Turnbull, Freshman Senator. They provide for recall of judges, changing of experience requirements, and repeal of the Board of Student Publications section.

The first measure would make it possible to trun unacceptable members of either Judicial Court or Honor Court out of office by a recall vote of the student body. A petition of two hundred names would be sufficient to bring about the election. Such a referendum could vote "for" or "against."

THE SECOND proposal deals with the experience requirement. A requirement for judges, which appears many times in the constitution. Turnbull suggests shortening the prerequisite period to "one-half the school calendar year." to avoid the confusion that has existed in the past.

The type of court on which a judge may gain experience is determined by the third amendment. Justices would be able to move up from Judicial Court to University Court or vice versa. Present law requires that they have experience on the same court to which elected.

LAST IN the group is an amendment repealing the constitutional requirement for a board of Student Publications. This action was suggested by Rube Askew, President of UGA, at a special meeting of the Senate last week.

Another major action of the Senate was the passage without change of Ronald Koons' Traffic Safety Court Bill. The measure provides for three judges, to be elected in the class voting April 25, 26, 27 and 28. Jurisdiction, court structure, and future rules and regulations.

Absent were Senators Mary Helen Speed and Pat Exan.

Concert Presented

The annual Spring Concert of the Women's Glee Club was presented last night under the direction of Joseph M Running.

The program consisted of songs ranging from those of Johannes Brahms to contemporary works. Soloists were Mary Sparks' soprano, and Betty Jane Grimm. Accompanist for the group was Lorraine Nottage. Miss Nellie-Bond Dickinson, assistant professor of dance at FSU, played the French horns.

Lawmakers Discuss State Scholarships

By Staff Writer

The Florida Legislative Council introduced a bill in the House of Representatives yesterday increasing that state scholarships be limited to fields of education where a definite teacher shortage exists.

The measure would amend the Florida statutes relating to the granting of scholarships in the institutions of higher learning by requiring that senatorial, representative and general district scholarships be awarded only in such fields where there is a shortage of teachers.

Under the provisions of the bill the State Board of Education would determine in which area of education the shortage exists. The bill also states that the amount granted in the scholarships would be $400.

Scholarship recipients would have to pledge themselves to teach for the same number of years for which the scholarship is granted.

Senior Announcements

The deadline for placing orders for graduation announcements is April 16 instead of May 16 as was announced in the last issue of the Flambeau. The deadline for placing orders for caps and gowns is May 17.

Don't Open Welfare Rolls-Pepper

Former United States Senator Claude Pepper asserted here Tuesday that Welfare rolls should not be open for public inspection. He said opening of the rolls would do more harm than good.

Speaking before a small group in Longmire auditorium, the 14-year veteran of the Senate declared that only a few unsited public officials should be allowed to weed out the "whiskers" from the public assistance rolls.

He maintained that any abuses found in the social legislation programs could be corrected but the entire program itself should not be condemned because of a small percentage of those who received aid illegally.

IN ADDITION, Mr Pepper, now a Tallahassee and Washington attorney, discussed the need for more federal social legislation to complete what he termed as an adequate program reaching those people who need it most.

Having had a part in the sponsorship and passage of such social legislation during his years in the United States Senate, Mr Pepper said there remains the need for a practical, adequate national health program.

He said such program could safeguard the health of the nation and at the same time protect the dignity of the doctors and the moral fiber of the people.

HE POINTED to the Tallahassee Memorial hospital which he said was made possible through a grant of federal funds as an example of how the government could join with local governments and private families to meet their minimum needs," he said.

FORMER SENATOR Claude Pepper is shown addressing a group of FSU students of the Social Work club. The veteran senator said that welfare rolls should not be open for public inspection.

Speech Production Plans Premiere at Art Seminar

Premiere performance of the speech department play, Jim Dandy, will be presented tomorrow night at the close of the fourth annual History of Art Seminar at the Sarasota Ringling Museum. The first Florida State University performance is slated for April 25, 26, 27 and 28 in the Augusta Conradi theater.

Cast, directors and crew of the William Saroyan play left this morning for the presentation in Sarasota.

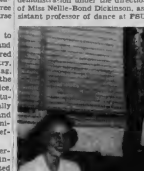
IN PREPARATION for tomorrow night's in the round performance, the cast under the direction of Mr Carl Zerke has held

Bills Introduced Requiring Teaching Of Americanism

By BILL FALCONER

Bills requiring the teaching of Americanism courses in Florida Public schools and State colleges were introduced in the Florida House of Representatives Tuesday by Rep Bryan J Patton of Franklin County.

Patton is also chairman of the Florida American Legion's Americanism program. The measures are being advocated by the Florida Legion.



THE BILL concerning the lower grades would require a regular study in Americanism of every student beginning with the sixth grade and continuing through the twelfth grade. The course would be taught not less than three hours per week.

The bill regarding colleges or junior colleges partly or wholly supported by public funds would require the course of all second year students to be taught not less than three hours per week for eight months. The bill states that after July 1, 1953, no college student will be granted a decree unless he has passed the course or its equivalent.

THE OBJECT of the bill is to "impress upon the hearts and minds of boys and girls a sacred regard and love for their country, respect for the American flag, obedience to law, to instill the principles of law, truth, justice, and righteousness in the youth students morally and intellectually for the duties of citizenship, and to inculcate in them a determination to serve their country effectively and loyally."

THE DEFINITION of "Americanism" under the measures includes: "History of the United States; the essentials, sources, and history of the United States Constitution, particularly the Bill of Rights; American heritage; the American way of life and its contrast with the social and morally existing in other lands, particularly in totalitarian countries; the American form of government; biographies of American statesmen and patriots; and the sacrifices of our forefathers and the continuation of those who have served in the armed services of our country since its inception."

Under the proposed measure, the State Board of Education would prescribe the outlines of study and the books necessary for the course.

'What Do You Think of Separate Subscriptions for Publications?'

Following Jennie Adams proposal in Women's Senate last Thursday for separate subscriptions to each student publication, the roving reporter, Paul Rubey, asked: "What do you think of the proposed amendment for separate subscriptions to each student publication?"

Marian Smith, sophomore, 147 Magnolia: "No, I don't think we should. It is much easier to pay it all in one lump sum."

Johnny Decker, senior, Sigma Chi House: "If we paid for them individually, less students would buy and read them, therefore, resulting in the students knowing less about campus life."

Nenon Martin, jr. Wakulla Springs Lodge: "If we paid individually, less people would buy them, the income would decrease, the cost would rise, and the people desiring the publications would be reluctant to buy them because of their increased cost."

Prunella Lowry, senior, A D Phi House: "I don't think much of it."

Frederick S. Larson, jr. 701 E College: "Following the examples of the other major schools around the country, I say keep the present system."

Carolyn Cobb, Jennie Murphree: "I think it a good idea, because that way we'll get more of what we want, and not just something that is handed to us."

Joan Semmes, sophomore, Mamolia: "I think it would be too much trouble to pay for each one individually, and besides, I don't think that they would sell one-half as many."

Bob Foley, freshman, 920 W College: "I think it's a good idea, because it would raise the standards of journalism."

Earl Hazy, senior, 848 W Campus: "I think its foolish! It wouldn't even meet expenses because not enough people would buy them. I wouldn't walk across the street to buy a Smoke Signals."

Joan Robertson, freshman, 140 Jennie Murphree: "No, because its more convenient to pay it in the lump, and most probably a lot cheaper, too."

Jerry Patterson, sophomore, 515 W Campus: "I think it would be an extremely good idea, because we could pay for only the ones we wanted. There are a lot of times we don't care to get certain publications and its foolish to pay for something you don't want. The students would appreciate the freer choice they would have.

average while the candidate for members on the council must have maintained a 1.0 grade average.

"ACCORDING TO the University student constitution, all candidates for class president must have maintained a 1.3 grade average for the past semester or for their over-all work in college in order to qualify for the office of president," Garrison said. "All other class offices come under the interpretation of the constitution as "minor" offices and candidates qualifying for these offices must have maintained at least a 1.0 grade average," he stated.

A president of the University Recreation Association will also be elected in the spring general primaries. This office is also a major one and candidates for president must have maintained a 1.3 average.

"The Chairman of the off campus court will not be elected by the student body at this time," Garrison said. Recent changes by the legislative section of the University government in attributed to the changes in the method in which these officers are usually elected, he said.

which would probably make up for the difference in price."

Ray Senn, senior, 508 W Campus: "As long as its coming out of your seniority fee, you don't mind it (like those hidden withholding taxes, you don't miss them). Otherwise, I can't see laying money on the line to buy it like you would a newspaper. Even if we would pay for the publications ourselves, they probably wouldn't lower our student activity fee anyhow."

SUO Art Auction To Be Held Mon

The lusty and fast talking shouts of the auctioneer will be heard beginning promptly at 7:30 pm Monday in the West Campus Student Union when the first annual student "Art Auction" gets underway on behalf of the Campus Chest.

Bill Hayes, chairman of the Student Union Organization, working in cooperation with the FSU Departments of Art and Art Education and Industrial Arts, said everything from brica-brac to oil paintings, jewelry and ceramics, will be placed on the auction block to the highest bidder.

"HE SAID the auction will be opened to the entire FSU student body along with the general public with nothing being held in reserve and no sales made prior to the auction.

"There are three persons under consideration for the role of auctioneer and one of them will be selected by the committee in charge by Friday afternoon," Chairman Hayes said.

"WE WANT everyone to come out and take a part. The bidding should be lively and the cause is of importance to us all. A good time is anticipated and some of the works of the graduate and senior students will be in much demand."

Assisting Chairman Hayes in the annual auction are Miss Hilda Tinney, William Boyles, Hobby Shop chairman; Emory King, Mrs Rainey Cawthon, Mrs John Stead, chairman of the fine arts committee of the Woman's Club and others.

Mission Tale Co-Authored By Smith of Archaeology

Hale G Smith, acting director of FSU's department of anthropology and archaeology, is one of three co-authors for "Here They Once Stood."

THIS book, which was recently released by the University of Florida Press, is a historical-archaeological account of the Franciscan Missions in Florida.

For the first time in print, intimate details paint a picture of the Franciscan Missions at the moment of their greatest historical interest, roughly 1600 to 1700.

No book before this one has gone back further in the history of the Franciscan Missions than the year 1700, Mr Smith reports.

THE joint archaeological studies of Mr Smith and John W Griffin, who is in charge of archaeological field work for the Florida Park Service, provide information for the book's vivid description of the very mode of life of the Indians in the mission compounds.

Both the San Luis and the San Francisco mission sites, located about five miles from the present downtown Tallahassee area, figure prominently in the story described by historical documents cited by Mark F Boyd, historian of the Florida Park Service and former president of the Florida Historical Society, one of the co-authors.

IN "Here They Once Stood" there is contained a story, not only of great architectural monuments, great churches, or massive structures, but one of flimsy buildings, crude implements and primitive utensils.

"It is also a story of poverty, suffering and bloodshed—also the accurate portrayal of the forlornness of the mission compounds and tragic events which were finis to this chapter in Florida history," says the Rev Charles Spellman, Catholic chaplain at the University of Florida, in his introduction to the book.

FSU Students Find It Hard Keeping Up With World Events

By Emory King

Those students who keep up with the world have had a field day this week. The pace has been fast, and many have dropped by the wayside in certain areas.

WITHIN 48 hours six events occurred that vitally affect the student body of FSU.

On Tuesday the Tallahassee city commission asked the student board to resign. A re-zoning of the city could make a great difference in the physical appearance of the city and the university.

Early Tuesday morning the University Grill burned down. This was a major tragedy for over a hundred FSU students. Not only the grill as a hang out, office space, and place to eat. Many of the students who have been "burned out" of their headquarters have been seen walking all over the campus looking for a suitable place to locate until the Grill is rebuilt.

ALSO, on Tuesday, the Dade County Representative, George S Okell, told the Florida Legislature that with the proper evidence he would ask for impeachment Governor Warren. His colleague, Dante Fascell, backed him up, in a stirring speech against the governor.

At one a m Wednesday (EST) General Douglas MacArthur was fired by the President. If the general's policy had been used — to fight the Red Chinese in their homeland—there might have been no deferments for FSU men.

The Republicans almost immediately demanded the impeachment of President Truman. The controversy put the nation into two armed camps before the day was out. Many prominent people defended the President's policy. They said that MacArthur's policy might have caused a millitary group to run the civilian government and its policies. For the good of the government, they contended, Truman had to do what he did.

TUESDAY were, however, just as many leaders and respected citizens on the other side of the fence. The majority of the Republicans demanded impeachment for Truman. Many claimed that by taking out the general we could lose all our friends in Asia. . . . . and Wednesday, the University Court acquitted James Ball of being elected Chief Justice of Judicial Court Monday. The most controversial case to come to the court was wound up on Tuesday night. The session was surprisingly quiet. Defense council for Ball, Dal Albritton, spoke most persuasively to the court. The most orderly session of the court this year broke up at 10 o'clock to decide the outcome.

Albritton, sometimes called the Dean of FSU politicians, was confident of victory. The court upheld his argument and James Ball will take office next September.

Total Loss Reported In Whiddon's Grill

A total loss with the exception of one refrigerator was reported in the burning of the University Grill last Tuesday morning. The Grill was under the operation of Sherry Whiddon. Whiddon leased the Grill two years ago this May from the owner of the property, Miss Katherine Killihrew of Tallahassee.

Whiddon said that according to policemen and firemen all indications show that the fire began in the beauty parlor section adjacent to the Grill.

FIRE CHIEF, Earl Levy, said the alarm was turned in at 3:27 a m when flames were sighted by police patrolling in the railroad district of Tallahassee. The police radioed the alarm immediately.

The fire chief stated that by the time he had arrived, the middle section of the Grill had fallen in and the firemen were trying to keep the flames from spreading to other buildings.

ONE OF the firemen barely escaped injury when he started to go into the building with the fire hose and an explosion occurred in the rear end of the Grill. Fireman Kinard received painful hand burns. Fire Chief Levy reported Kinard's injury as the only serious one.

The Grill operator stated that students who own Grill meal tickets may have their money refunded soon. Whiddon said that he would meet the ticket holders in the Mecca at a date to be announced in the next issue of the Flambeau.

THE DRY cleaning part of the Grill was under the supervision of the owner, Miss Killihrew, Miss Killihrew had personnel reimbursements for all students who lost clothing in the shop burning.

Miss Killihrew had insurance covering the entire building. Whiddon reported. However, Whiddon only had partial insurance on his property in the Grill.

Bell, Ellis Present Joint Music Recital

Helen Bell, soprano, and Mary Ellis Elliot, pianist, presented a joint recital in the Music Hall last night. Miss Bell is a student of Prof Ezra Robertson and Miss Ellis is under Prof Mary Winslow. Accompanying Miss Bell was Lorraine Nottage.

Miss Bell sang Handel's two song "Happy arise" from Semele and "O sleep, why dosst thou leave me?" from Semele. She also sang Gia Il Sole dal Gange by Scarlatta and the aria "Je dis que rien ne m'epouvante" from Carmen by Bizet. Miss Ellis played Sonata in D major, Opus 28, by Beethoven.

In the second group Miss Bell sang Hasten Lullaby by Saminsky. Ellis, Ellis, traditional Yiddish melody, The Island by Rachmaninoff, Tell Me, Oh Blue, Blue Sky by Giannini, and Ecstasy by Rummel. Miss Ellis played the Etude in D flat major by Liszt, the Nocturne in C minor by Chopin, and The Juggler by Ernst Toch.

Jernigan Takes Part In Classical Forum

FLAMBEAU EDITORIALS

● CUTE UNIFORMS.

The Trinity Times, Trinity college, Washington, D C, recently polled female students on the following questions: What is your opinion of the proposed drafting of women? Here are some of the answers:

"They might as well take us too because we're going to be awfully lonely without anyone around. If it's the choice of that or a gun factory, I'd rather be drafted."

"I don't think women should be drafted, because if they were, who would write letters to whom? Who would be waiting to welcome the boys home?"

"I don't believe in it. Women don't have the courage and stamina for such jobs. We have to take care of civil defense and the little things at home."

"I'd go if they called me, but it's a little impractical. They could never take care of all of the women . . . I'd prefer the lady marines to the WACs—their uniforms are so much cuter."

"The only way they'll get me is to draft me. We don't want to win a war and allow up the boys. I'm too young to die for my country, but if it comes to an all-out war, I'll volunteer.

"I don't think they ought to draft women . . . I'm all for drafting into industry, though, but don't break up the home."

● SOME SUGGESTIONS

Something will have to be done and from reports we have received something is being done. We refer, of course, to the Constitution of the University Government Association.

The something that is being done is the rewriting of that document. It will be the fofurth time such a task has been undertaken. We sincerely hope the efforts of the group doing the job will not go for naught as did the document framed for this year.

The Flambeau, in an effort to help the committee, will, in a series of four editorials, present improvements we believe should be covered in the Constitution. We do not term ourselves experts in the field of Constitutions but we do know the weak points that should be covered in a basic document of law.

We will run editorials on the Executive branch of the UGA and upon the Legislative and Judicial sections. Lastly we will run an editorial which embraces all the other items which should be included in a well hauled Constitution. We trust the Constitutional committee will hold open hearings so many views may be expressed before the final document is drafted. Then we hope the committee will be open minded and fair when they write this Constitution.

Look for the series of editorials on Constitutions which will begin in the Florida Flambeau next Tuesday.

● HIGHER UGA BOARD?

The called session of University Senate turned out to be a general discussion period Thursday afternoon since only nine senators showed up.

The other fifteen representatives missed some good discussion and also some excellent suggestions for the Student Publications bill. It is inevitable that those absent will insist on being given a blow by blow account of the meeting in Tuesday's regular session, and more delay will result.

Suggestions for improving the statute ranged from abolishing the publications board altogether to electing a board with high qualifications, giving it the power to appoint student editors.

One of the best ideas presented was that if a board is needed to govern publications, then there is also a demand for a similar board to regulate the actions of University Council and the university courts.

It seems perfectly logical that if the editors of publications must be responsible to an authority higher than the students who elected them, then so must the UGA president, class senators and members of the court system.

Wonder if University Council would back these boards as vehemently as it has supported the publications board proposal?

● GIVE, GIVE, GIVE

The Campus Chest drive opens officially tomorrow and will continue throughout next week. The success or failure of this drive will determine whether it will be done in future years.

Events have been scheduled during the week, the benefits of which will be donated to the drive. Tuesday of next week will be the Sophomore Hop which, for the first time, will be open to the student body. Proceeds from this also will be given to the Chest.

Throughout the semester organizations have donated proceeds of entertainments or dances to the Campus Chest and now comes the chance for individuals or groups to give to the drive.

The Campus Chest was suggested by the Flambeau at the beginning of the year. We felt that one drive should take the place of the ten or fifteen smaller charity drives which were held on campus every year. We made the forwarding of a Campus Chest part of our editorial policy.

The Campus Chest drive is an innovation and an experiment this year. It replaces the numerous drives which, in the past, in previous years, have plagued the campus week after week. The final amount collected this year will be given to the different charity organizations on a percentage basis. But if enough money is not collected during this drive, the old system will be back . . . . this week will be the proof.

This week will give everyone the chance to get behind the Campus Chest and contribute to a worthwhile cause.

● A LOST FRIEND

FSU students have lost a friend indeed.

The University Grill no longer stands on the corner of College Park, a meeting place for many students. A castastrophic fire has left the once proud "Grill" a mass of charred ashes. Students can no longer drop in for a coke between classes or for their regular meals.

"Shorty" Whiddon, owner of the Grill, is well liked by all the students who know him. We hope the UG will rebuild a bigger and better place so that we may renew our acquaintance.

Dear Editor . . .

An Appraisal

Dear Editor:

Despite our high respect for Dr. Richards both as an individual and as a professor, we wish to object to his appraisal of M. Kendig's lecture on General Semantics. (Dear Editor—Friday, April 6th).

May we point out that he makes no serious attempt at evaluating either M Kendig's lecture or the discipline as a whole. Against the first he uses the adjectives trite, ridicule, as well as using the technique of quoting from a terminal 31 "nonsense." As for the discipline of General Semantics (M Kendig is director of the Institute of General Semantics), he confines himself to a mmes' attempt in merely calling it a "commercialized cult."

This is not the serious emuate we would expect from a man of Dr Richards's high caliber should he wish publicly to express his views on a subject of philosophical and scientific interest. Since Dr Richards stated during the lecture that his acquaintance with the subject was limited to looking up the word "semantics" in the dictionary, it is perhaps asking too much to expect him to be aware of the distinction between "semantics" and "General Semantics" as formulated by the late Count Alfred Korzybski. A knowledge of this distinction is the mInImum knowledge that should be held by one who claims that the second is a "degenerate" form of the first. We do think it is expecting too much, however, to ask that he familiarize himself with the discipline before publicly declaiming against it, and to use non-emotive arguments rather than ridicule and name-calling.

It is our opinion that Dr Richards's lecture is more likely to lure "misled" students than M Kendig's lecture.

To the Woods

Dear Editor:

"To the woods," he said.
"To the woods," he cried.
"To the woods," he said.
"Anywhere but the woods," she cried.

"In front of Bryan Hall," he said.

"To the woods," she replied.

Ah yes, the Legislature is back in Tallahassee and it has caused many changes here at FSU. Not the least among those is the noiove making edict handed down by the powers that be sitting on the Westcott hill.

The benches are deserted these nights, the doorways are empty, and the policemen walk their beats without the comfort of sitting another human.

But what is the new rule abolished the natural drives of the students? No, for after careful searching they are to be found elsewhere. Where? Mind your own business.

I think I'll walk down to the cemetery and hobnob with the —tombstones.

Dear Editor:

This week the student body is undertaking one of the largest campaigns in its history. The unsurpassed drive of the Campus Chest drive is a big step in making our campus a more well rounded and efficient social institution.

Some will ask, "Why have a Campus Chest rather than individual drives by each charitable organization?" The purpose of organizing a Campus Charity Chest is to co-ordinate and concentrate all aid to philanthropic organizations so that the students will not be constantly harassed by separate drives which are at different times each year. Also we hope to facilitate a more complete coverage of our campus.

In order to be successful in this experiment, we must build a spirit of unity of purpose, the same type of spirit that molds eleven football players into an unbeatable team. Success does not just happen. It is the result of hard work, cooperation and preserverance of everyone involved.

The Campus Charity Chest committee has worked hard to organize and promote a good campaign. The rest is up to you, the students.

BOX SUPPER FOR LEGISLATURE

By EARL DOBERT

President and Mrs Doak Campbell will play host at a box supper for the members of the 1951 Legislature next Thursday evening in Campbell Stadium. The governor, cabinet and Supreme Court justices will also be on hand for the affair.

This year the box supper replaces the Legislative banquet and the barbecue which Dr and Mrs Campbell have usually fed the legislators with. This year a new attraction will be added— the ladies will see the famous "FSU Circus" in action.

During the performance of the . . . . circus, two students from each county will sit with the legislators from their county. This is a sound opportunity for students to ask questions of their legislators regarding any procedures, bills or actions of the Legislature. Of course, the students can also let the legislators why Florida State University is the best college in the country to attend.

Coach Hartley Price, gymnastics wizard, tells me the Tallahassee Tumbling Tots will be featured in the May 13 issue of Parade magazine. The Tots are grade schools kids who perform gymnastics tricks most adroitly.

I hope they don't overshadow their proof right this time around.

TWO FAVORITE SPEAKERS HEARD

By JEANNE O'RIORDEN

Last Tuesday night I heard my favorite speakers . . . ex-Senator Claude Pepper and Dr. Dal Alverson.

The first, Mr Pepper, spoke in the Alumni building auditorium, sponsored by the social work club. He was up to par, as usual, as a speaker. Just like an actor, he can hold his presentation to the audience.

Mr Frank of the Tallahassee Democrat, he speaks intelligently, fluently, and educationally. When he's on a vote-getting trip he often speaks to crowds of uneducated people and here he uses emotion and really gives the same old-fire routine. He is indeed, a versatile speaker.

Two interesting phases of his talk concerned Florida welfare rolls and socialized medicine. He is against making the welfare rolls information secret believes that lighter administration could accomplish more. As for socialized medicine, he is all for it.

Dal, who is sometimes termed Dean of Student Politicians, presented James Stern on Tuesday night at the University Court session . Jennie Adams vs James

CAMPUS CAROUSEL

CHARRED RUINS MARK ONCE PROUD GRILL

By EMORY KING

In the early hours yesterday hundreds of FSU students have crossed Copeland Street and stood in front of the charred remains of the University Grill.

Like prisoners walking slowly past a bier, they shuffled around the blackened building with their heads bent, their faces linked in low tones.

The big show was over before the . campus had awakened on Tuesday morning. When the first breakfast diners arrived at seven o'clock the area had been roped off, water dripped from a few boards, and the tiny puffs of smoke could be seen floating skyward. The building looked like it died a slow painful death. Its back was broken, its roof had split and buckled, its front had been eaten away by the acid-like fire. What was left of the once fashionings hung in grotesque fashion, and gradually, hour by hour, pieces of charred wood and metal sank to the floor.

On the north side, chair legs pointed upward as if trying to ward off further destruction. The windows stared blankly onto the street, as if blinded by the fire, and the walls leaned a bit backward. The destruction was complete.

stories depicting the fall of man.

The banner story concerned the dismissal of MacArthur by Leiter Writin' Harry. A bulletin under the streamer said the Republicans were talking about impeaching Truman.

The second lead story told of the impeachment talk of Governor Fielder Warren here in Florida.

Still another story said the Tallahasse City commission has asked for the resignation of the City Planning board.

Now what is all this about? Wait in wrong in the United States today? Why doesn't man trust his fellow man?

It was utterly ridiculous to even discuss the possibility. However, the complexion of the situation has been altered to no small degree. It, still cannot be presumed, though, that there has been Communism in this state. To indicate any such proceedings are remotely probable.

NEWSBITS-ESS. Rep George Okell, of Miami, has asked the U S Senate's Kefauver Crime Committee and the Miami Crime Commission for any information which would justify impeachment proceedings against Governor Warren. Observers are of the opinion that some information will be forthcoming but few contend that such information will prove anything of a criminal nature according to the Governor. Of course, any effort to Interminate the Governor would prove embarrassing. What more could be said by the Florida administration than has already been said?

This column recommends that the legislature proceed with utmost caution with any impeachment attempt unless definite information is secured linking the Governor with organized vice. Without trying to defend his administration or to evaluate his bysts. While the formal legislation aces on in the chambers, discussion, debate and decisions are often found in the men's room, the lobby, or over the Seven Seas breakfast table.

All sorts of characters walk around the building. Big husky men with big cigars in their mouths down corridors; light tropical wigs flashing in the sun; straw hats can be seen almost everywhere you look. Newsmen drift around in group to group getting the scoop, while dressed up women drift from living room to men friends and making appointments to meet for a round of golf. . . . .

It's quite a place, better than a circus any day.

Tomorrow the Campus Chest Drive will officially begin. For quite a few months, organizations have been donating the proceeds of entertainments to this allcampus charity, and now there will be a full week for any interested groups or persons to contribute.

I hear they are having several record attempts throughout the week, the benefits of which will go to the Chest.

LEGISLATURE

. . WOULD SETTLE DOWN, BUT

By VERNON PEEPLES and BILL PATTERSON

The legislature by this time ordinarily would have settled down to the serious business of lawmaking, but its attention has been diverted to other functions. However, the solons have been confronted with several problems not directly legislative 'n nature.

Their first and foremost consideration, but not so far unofficial, has been the possible impeachment proceedings against Governor Warren. Up until the Governor reinstated Sheriff Jimmy Sullivan in Dade County the chances of his being impeached were so slim that it is utterly ridiculous to even discuss the possibility. However, the complexion of the situation has been altered to no small degree. It, still cannot be presumed, though, that there has been Communism in this state. To indicate any such proceedings are remotely probable.

NEWSBITS-ESS. Rep George Okell, of Miami, has asked the U S Senate's Kefauver Crime Committee and the Miami Crime Commission for any information which would justify impeachment proceedings against Governor Warren. Observers are of the opinion that some information will be forthcoming but few contend that such information will prove anything of a criminal nature according to the Governor. Of course, any effort to Interminate the Governor would prove embarrassing. What more could be said by the Florida administration than has already been said?

This column recommends that the legislature proceed with utmost caution with any impeachment attempt unless definite information is secured linking the Governor with organized vice. Without trying to defend his administration or to evaluate his success as governor, it can safely stated that he has admitted no greater crime than previous Florida governors have been charged with the responsibility of enforcing Pari-gambling laws.

THE ONLY other important action of the legislature this week was their election of presiding officers for the 1953 session of the upper chamber. Senator Charley Johns of Starke was elected president and in the lower Representative Farris Bryan of Ocala won out in the race for speakership. This might seem a peculiar time to be selecting officers for two years hence, but Florida is blessed with a far sighted legislature which likes to put off important legislative matters to the last minute.

MISCELLANEOUS:

One of the most progressive bills introduction to come before the legislature was introduced in the Senate this week by Rep Senator's Kelsaver, Crim and Timmerier. This proposed act is the final step toward home rule. The act provides that the boards of county commissioners in the same manner as municipalities are now empowered to give to the county commissioners many responsibilities which are now delegated to the legislature.

THE SENATE acted upon one of Governor Warren's suggestions and in both senate and house sessions to uphold the supremacy of the Florida Supreme Court. The resolution gives the Senate the prerogative to act upon appointive officials in closed or executive sessions. However, no one has become forth with a pleasing statement of the transaction of business behind closed doors.

What happens to the almost half-million gallons of water which fall on Tallahassee every time it rains one inch?

FSU Gymkana To Be Feature In Magazine

Dr Hartley Price's internationally famous Gymkana Troupe will be featured in Parade Magazine on Mother's Day, May 12.

The Tallahassee Tumbling Tots, of whom the article is written, have received much national publicity as of late. Dr Price has received countless letters requesting the appearance of or information about the diminutive tumblers, from almost every state of the union.

In a recent issue of Colliers magazine, Jack Benny, famous comedian, referred to the Tallahassee Tumbling Tots in respect to television entertainment. The Tots were filmed last Fall for a television short that has been shown throughout the country.

At present the Gymkana Troupe, including the Tots, are preparing to perform at Avon Park, Florida, April 14. The show is being sponsored as a feature of the PTA stress.

IN THEIR last appearance, Friday April 6, the troupe performed before a packed house at the Chattahoochee auditorium, spon-

FSU Trackmen Enter Relays

The Florida State University track team will be in very fast company tomorrow when the Seminoles compete in the southern relays at Birmingham, Ala. Coach Ken Miller plans to take nine men and they will compete in four events.

Representing Florida State in the discus throw, university class, will be Tom Behring of Tallahassee who already this season has set a new school record and bettered the current Dixie Conference mark in his specialty. Also in the university class, Joe Pracassi of Erie, Pa., and Ed Seasrom of Birmingham will be entered in the pole vault. Pracassi is Dixie Conference defending champion.

Coach Miller plans to enter two of the college class relays with Florida State teams. Running for the Seminoles in the sprint medley relay will be Dick Mize of Sarasota, John Poston of Jacksonville, Woody Parker of Lake Wales and either Jim Arnold of Bainbridge or Pete Pruschetl of Erie, Pa. The Florida State mile relay team in the college class will be composed of Fosion, Parker,

Seminoles Play First Pro Club In FSU History

By SCOTT MARSHALL

Florida State University's Seminoles step out of the amateur ranks for the first time in the school history Wednesday night when they face the strong Tallahassee Citizens of the Class D Alabama-Florida league under the lights at Centennial Field.

Student ID cards will not be honored at the game, scheduled to begin at 8 p.m.

Coach Charlie Armstrong indicated yesterday he will send Big Bob Whitmer to the mound in Florida State's first athletic contest with a professional ball club.

Ray Ryan, owner of the Capital City nine, made the announcement early yesterday afternoon following many requests from FSU students and Citizen fans who would like to see the college-pro tilt.

ARMSTRONG said yesterday, "I feel it would be good experience for my boys to play a pro team." The Seminoles, who have won eight of nine starts, would have been idle until next week-ends two-game series at DeLand against the Stetson Hatters.

Among Florida State's eight victories include wins over Tennessee, Georgia, Miami, Rollins, Florida Southern twice, and Mississippi College twice. They lost to Mercer earlier in the season.

In addition to Whitmer, who will be making his first appearance on the hill for FSU, Armstrong will start Ronald Nelson, catcher; Ken Smith, first base; Lee Bailey, second base; Bob Trowbridge, third base; Augie Pompella, shortstop; Warren Beisner, left field; Les Mullan, center field; and Glenn Gresham, right field.

SPORTING a team batting average of .323, the Seminole nine has six sticksmen who are clipping away with sweating marks over .360. Ed Seaslona, one of four starting pitchers, leads the parade with a remarkable .700. Trowbridge follows with .405. Bailey has an even .400, Benner and Masters are hitting .364, and Mullen has a .360.

The Citizens, who have split two games thus far in their spring exhibition schedule, will have picked up a title by the April 18 meeting with Florida State.

Chuck Quimby, skipper of the Class D nine, could not be reached for comment at press time.

Seminole Netters To Battle Emory

The Florida State University tennis team hopes to make a clean sweep of its home and home matches with Emory University when the Seminoles tangle with the Blue and Gold at Atlanta tomorrow.

The match will be " Florida State's 11th of the season and the Seminoles will be looking for their fifth victory. They trimmed Emory eight matches to one here March 21.

By JIM COUCH

Tonight will be the only time FSU students will be able to see the varsity volleyball team play at home this year. Florida State's Seminoles will face the Albany YMCA, runner-up in the Georgia State YMCA title matches at 8 at the West Campus gym.

FSU, state AAU and Mid-South champions, has already faced the Georgia six once this year, beating them on their home court in March 10, winning three out of four games played.

The Seminoles' dropped the first game in Albany 12-15, and then took the remaining three 15-1, 15-9, and 17-15.

Tonight's game should be a toss-up as FSU will be without the services of George Edmiston, All-State and honorable mention at the Mid-South tournament who is interning at St Augustine.

FSU IS enjoying its best volleyball season to date and are hoping to be the dark horse at the nationals in early May. The team has had to play all year without spectator support, a vital part of any volleyball game, and are hoping for a good turn out in appreciation for their accomplishment and future endeavors. Let's have all those interested in good volleyball there to support our team.

The games start at 7:30 sharp in the West campus gym. For those who have never seen "pro" volleyball, this is their opportunity to see the game which is played by millions of men and women all over the world, and is rapidly increasing in popularity here in the United States.

Ty Cobb won 12 American League batting championships. Nine of them were in succession.

FSU Nears End of Second Week Of Grid Drills, Competition Grows

Competition, especially noticeable in the backfield, is growing keener as Florida State University's football team nears the end of its second week of spring drills.

With only today's session remaining, scheduled to begin at 4 at the West campus athletic field, Coach Don Veller is expected to send the Tribe through another rough workout.

Holdover Nelson and newcomer Al Woodham (pictured below) are working for the tailback berth, with Nelson holding a slight edge at present.

The annual spring football game will probably be held either late this month or early in May. According to Veller's schedule calling for five weeks of practice sessions, the tilt will be held in May. The game will more than likely be played in Campbell Stadium.

Circus to Feature Thrills, Comedy

By MONTRELL SESSIONS
Flambeau Associate Editor

Featuring 35 acts of thrills, chills, and comedy, Florida State University's circus, "Flying High", will soon be out of its "Winter Quarters" on campus.

This annual outdoor show, initiated three years ago by Jack Haskin, FSU assistant professor of physical education for men, is scheduled to open April 19 for a three-night showing.

Under Coach Haskin's supervision, the FSU circus has grown to include over 200 students and has gained nation-wide attention through the press, radio, magazins, and newsreels.

THE 1951 circus of five rings, three stages, four high acts with all of its performers and a 35-piece circus band of FSU students will be viewed in the Doak S Campbell Stadium at the university this spring. Plenty of good, comfortable seats will be available for every spectator this year, Coach Haskin says. The circus will show to the west side of the stadium each night, providing 7,500 seats for each performance. Nine hundred seats will be reserved each night.

The FSU circus progresses a little higher each year with the addition of many new, skillfully-performed, and daring acts. The 1951 show promises to have its share.

In the two-hour show this year will be acts ranging from tumbling and hand-balancing to intricate aerial feats on the trapeze and high wires. An actual professional lighting system and hundreds of flying pennants will give the FSU show the atmosphere of a professional circus this year.

AMONG THE new numbers for the 1951 show is an aerial ladder act. This act features two girls, on each of the two side ladders which hang high in the air, performing tricks such as hanging from the knees with heads down to add more thrills to the act as a boy and girl work daring hand-to-hand tricks on top. Starring in this number are Bud Groat, Fred Darkow, Jolene Belcher, with Nancy Bennett, Gail Tomlinson, and Patsy Gates.

"The Tiger Act" will be another 1951 addition. This number features girls dressed as tigers performing tricks directed by the typical "lion tamer." Starring in this act are Shirley Knight, Doris Kriterell, Martha Hunter, Bobbie Jones, Ruth Spencer, Jean Church, and Dale Blair.

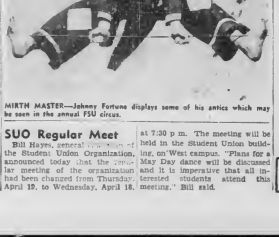
These "striped-suit tigers" will add entertainment for the audience by jumping through hoops, standing on their hind legs, and walking barrels.

A NEW "French Act", which originated through two Frenchmen, is on this year's program. Featuring Bobbie Jones, and Charlie Floyd, this act will be one of the few acts worked above a safety net since it includes such dangerous feats as the "Balance" and "Support" tricks and various combinations of hand-to-hand work.

Two high pole acts have been added to this year's FSU circus. These two acts are performed by girls doing neck and ankle spins on high perches hovering 25 feet in the air.

COMEDY PLUS will be seen in a new "Rigging Clown" act this year. A suspended double high bar will be worked by "clowns from Clown Alley," Jimmie Neal, Jack Price, Johnny Fortune, John Haygood, and Al Schmehl. Dressed in the typical circus clown costumes, these "clowns" will do series of monkey rolls, fly aways, leaps from bar to bar and giant swings to amuse the spectators.

Along with the new and thrilling additions to this year's show will be the return of many last year favorites. Plenty of fun for young and old alike will be found in such numbers as the "Ironjaw" act, the "Spanish Web," and the several whirling trapezes and ladders.



CLOWNING AROUND—Pretty Virginia Miller talks to clowns, Sonie Gibson, during a practice session of the forthcoming FSU circus. This year the circus will perform for the Legislature on April 19.

FLYING GIRLS on the flying trapeze are featured in the annual FSU circus. They are Helen Arnold, Ann Spencer and Edyrie Godfrey.

MOTOR TROUBLE?—Circus clowns look over the motor trouble as a "cop" tells them to be on their way to the FSU Circus which plays in Doak S Campbell stadium April 19, 20 and 21.

MIRTH MASTER—Johnny Fortune displays some of his antics which may be seen in the annual FSU circus.

Miami Convention Plans Made by Newman Club

All fees for Catholic students planning to attend the Southeastern Province of Newman Clubs Convention must be paid by Sunday, according to Margo Parker, Florida State Newman president. Margo announced that fees will be collected at a short meeting following the 10:30 a m Mass Sunday, April 15.

Convention headquarters will be the Sherry Frontenac Hotel on Miami Beach and the convention fee for students staying at the hotel will be $15. For students staying in Miami homes the fee of $6 will cover use of the hotel facilities, banquets, speech and Saturday night, Mass on Sunday, and a special water show.

THE FEES do not include lunch meals, breakfast and Friday night dinner meals, Margo reported.

A special rate of $14 round trip has been secured on a chartered bus which will leave Thursday evening, returning Sunday evening. Students are asked to sign up immediately for seats on the bus. "If a full load is not secured, the bus will be cancelled," Margo said.

Election of officers for the coming year will take place Sunday, April 22. Nominations in the slate of officers will close at 5 p m today. Nominations are to be made on the Newman bulletin board in the Post Office.

AN EXECUTIVE council meeting will be held Tuesday evening at 7 p m.

DISCIPLE STUDENT FELLOWSHIP

Sunday night the Disciple Student Fellowship will hear a discussion by Jetta Cato and Ann Keller on the Protestant Reformation. On the following Sunday night this discussion will be followed up with a talk by Catholic student Marion Dore on her basic beliefs.

DSF President Lou Riley reminds committee chairmen of the meeting today at 5 p m in South Cawthon parlor. The chairmen should have their retreat plans ready for presentation at this meeting.

Bills Introduced In House, Senate For School Aid

By Staff Writer

Two bills granting Florida's public schools their full requested amount of $120,000,000 for the next two years were introduced in the Florida Legislature yesterday.

The controversial legislative issue was introduced into the senate by Senator LeRoy Collins of Leon county and George W Leaird of Broward county. Collins is chairman of the Senate Committee on Education. An identical measure was introduced in the House of Representatives by Rep Woodrow M Melvin of Santa Rosa County.

PASSAGE OF the bills will mean more taxation because present revenue measures will bring in only $100,000,000 of the proposed $120,000,000 total. The additional $20,000,000 is necessary for the Minimum Foundation Program.

The Minimum Foundation law, adopted by the 1947 Legislature, provides that the public schools of Florida are to receive their funds according to a set formula. Under this sliding scale the State Department of Education has estimated that the schools will need $120,000,000 for the next two years.

So the choice has been put before the legislature of either cutting out the Minimum Foundation Program altogether, or providing for new taxation measures to raise the additional $20,000,000.

Tumbling and trampoline star, Dick Ontiveros, will present a solo show at the recent Symphony in Westcott auditorium. Dick, one of the nation's top trampolinists, performed as a humorous guest conductor at this intermission at the William Tell Overture on the trampolina has the entire campus talking.

At the Chattahoochee show, nerveless Scotty Stanton stole the show by executing a hand stand on 25 feet high on a rist of stacked chairs.

The Mother's Day feature of the Tallahassee Tumbling Tots in Parade Magazine is the second such feature of Hartley Price's gymnastics. The Sunday newspaper supplement, which is distributed throughout the nation, previously feature, Bill Koetzheim, Florida State University's national champion gymnast.

FSU Grad Chosen Furman U 'Faculty Member of Year'

The title of "Faculty Member of the Year" at Furman University has been conferred on a graduate of Florida State University, Miss Dorothy Richey. She is also the sister of FSU faculty members Misses Helen and Luella Richey.

The citation, which was given Miss Richey by the Hornet, Furman student publication, states "that she has contributed the most newsworthy story to the college paper for the past year, and that this honor is bestowed upon her for this reason and for her outstanding achievement in writing and directing the mammoth pageant as part of the University's centennial celebration."

Miss Richey is also a graduate of the School of Expression in Boston and the School of the Theatre in New York. She has her master's degree from N y University and has completed required courses toward her PhD at Northwestern. She has served for four years on the Executive Council of the National Speech association.

UGA Treasurer Gail Is Always Working

Gail Kelley, nee Mrs Arthur Dallas Albritton, Jr, is an active member of the town club.

At present she is treasurer of the University Government's association, and also chairman of the finance committee.

Her interests, however, are not all centered around money or Dal. She is this year's managing editor for the Tally-Ho and was also editor of the Pow Wow. Quite a few obligations for a Mrs who hopes someday to be a governor's wife -Note: Dal, she married you now you'll have to do your part!-

Next year will find her taking up new duties as editor-in-chief of the Tally-Ho.

Other essential data about this peri gal is as follows: Major—art; sorority — Alpha Chi Omega; hometown—Tallahassee; hobbies —painting, other art work.

Examinations Held On April 18, 19

The A C E Psychological and the Minnesota Personality tests are being held Wednesday, April 18, and Thursday, April 19, respectively. They are scheduled for 9 to 5:30 p m in Room 403 Education building.

All FSU students who have not taken these examinations must do so. Students delinquent in taking these tests will be penalized.

Solons to Premiere FSU's 'Flying High'

Members of the Legislature, their wives and children will be guests of honor at an out-door buffet supper and a premier performance of the Circus "Flying High" in Campbell stadium next Thursday evening.

President Doak S Campbell announced that "Friends of the University are contributing funds to pay for the supper," which will begin at 6:30 p m.

"After supper, the group will be guests of the University at the first performance of the student circus, starting at 8 p m." Student representatives from each county will act as hosts and hostesses to the legislators and their families.

Included among the guests will be the governor and his cabinet, members of the supreme court, board of control, representatives of county and civic governments, officials of local civic groups and members of the press and radio.

"For more than 40 years Florida State University has enjoyed the privilege of entertaining the legislature during the regular session," said President Campbell.

Deadline Today to Qualify As Class Office Candidate

Official Campaign Begins Tomorrow; First Primary To Be Held April 24

The deadline for students desiring to qualify as candidates for offices in the approaching class elections is at 4:30 p m in the office of Dr J Broward Culpepper, Dean of Student Welfare, Room 202. Westcott building.

The first primary will be held on Tuesday, April 24 and the finals will take place on Tuesday, May 1.

OFFICIAL campaigning will begin tomorrow and students are urged not to deface walls on trees, interior of buildings (except on bulletin boards). "No parades or loud record playing will be allowed during class hours and candidates attending the last of each devices in their campaign sign first clear violating the office of Dr Culpepper, Dean of Student Welfare," Chairman Garrison said. Failure to abide by these rules will result in a possible disqualification of the student candidates, he said. Candidates were also warned to stay within the $25 limit placed on campaign expenditures.

The two precincts located in Westcott and the Dean Office (dining hall building) will be used as polling stations for the East campus. The post office on West campus will serve as a polling station for students in the Music Amphitheater. Sophomore Council will operate the polls on East campus and the Alpha Phi Omega service will maintain the polls on West campus, the chairman said.

THESE OFFICES open are: three class presidents; three class vice-presidents; three class secretaries; three class social chairmen; and three class social chairmen. In addition there will be six class senators elected from each class —three men and three women.

Other offices to be filled at this time will be three members of the newly created Traffic-Safety Court. The chairman of the Traffic Safety Court must be of senior standing and shall have had the year of experience in the Traffic Court, or Judicial Court. The other two members of the Traffic Safety Court shall be elected in the following ratio: one from the upperclass and one from the Sophomore class. Chairman of the Traffic Safety Court must have maintained a 1.3 grade average while the candidates for members must have maintained a 1.0 grade average. Thus far no candidates have qualified for these offices.

THE ELECTIONS chairman reminded students that all candidates for class president must have maintained a 1.3 grade average for the past semester and for their over-all work in college in order to qualify for the office of president. A 1.0 average is required for all other class offices, he said.

Ringling Paintings Worth Half Million Will Be Displayed

Over a half million dollars worth of paintings will be exhibited at the University Museum beginning Sunday, April 22. The exhibit will last a month. The announcement was made yesterday by Professor Edmund Lewandowski, director of Museum activities.

The exhibit, "Masterpieces of the Ringling Museum" contains twenty-two pictures by world famous painters. In conjunction with the state owned and operated Ringling Museum of Art, the Art Department of FSU was assured to have such paintings as "Christ on the Cross" by El Greco, "Portrait Head of a Young Monk" by Ribera, "Portrait of a Cardinal" by Titian, and "Portrait of the Apostle" by Van Dyke.

"This IS an extraordinary opportunity," Professor Lewandowski said, for the student body to see such fine paintings as these. This is a third major exhibit the University Museum has sponsored here the last two years."

The pictures were brought to FSU by the school bus that transported back the Speech Department troop who premiered "Jim Dandy" at Sarasota. The bus was convoyed from county line to county line by State Troopers. While the paintings are here they will be under armed guard constantly.

The selection of the paintings were made by members of the FSU art department.

F Club Holds Box Supper

Campus Chest to Gain From Girl's Project

"Food and frolics" will be the order of the day at the Campus Chest Box Supper this afternoon at 5 o'clock on Landis Green. Bill Hess, campaign chairman, said the food would be provided by the Women's "F" Club, the funds by the students who buy the food, and the frolics by all.

The lawn picnic is one of many activities scheduled this week and next to raise funds for campus charities. Tomorrow evening at 8 o'clock in the Music Amphitheater there will be a booster rally for the students, with various entertainment features, including songs by the Collegians and Circus acts.

A CONTINUOUS all-night dance drive Thursday evening the Village Vamps will present a fashion show in Broward auditorium. The girls, wearing their own clothes, will portray the theme "All Through the Day."

Formal benefit dance will be held Saturday night, 21, from 9 to 12 in the Lafayette Room of the dining hall. Decorations will follow an Arabian Nights theme, and music will be by George Beck's orchestras.

Presentation of the Sophomore King, Queen and court will climax the week-end. They were elected by their class last week.

Traditionally the dance has been for sophomores only, but this year the event was opened to all students in order to further the Campus Chest.

The charity drive ends officially on Saturday. However, the faculty will hold their annual auction, with proceeds going to the Chest. Sophomore Council is in charge of the auction.

IT HAS been announced that Interfraternity Council will present a cup to the fraternity raising the most money during the drive.

Bill Hess is the chairman of the chest drive. The other officers are Jess Pendarvis, secretary, and Committee chairmen include Caroline Whitmire, publicity; Cleo Hendricks, women's dormitories; Marianne Gillen, church groups; Milton Fields, fraternities; Miss Dame McNeal, campus organizations; Milton Caruthers, faculty; Hal Pratt, fraternities; Bud Cox, sororities, and Margaret Krasleman, ways and means.

Artist Series States Student Balloting Weak

Only 111 Votes Cast; Poll Ends Tomorrow As Ballot, 'Nights' Lead

Only one hundred and eleven ballots had been received in the Artist Series poll which will end tomorrow, at the latest report available yesterday afternoon.

Prompted by what seemed to be a great deal of dissatisfaction among the students of FSU concerning the type of programs they had received in the past on their Artist Series coupons, this poll of student opinion was undertaken by John Newton Baker and fellow members of the Artist Series Committee in an attempt to bring the University a more satisfactory program.

HOWEVER, the weak response received would seem to indicate that the majority of the students either approve of the past selections made by the committee or else they don't care one way or the other, stated the committee.

Sixty-six votes were cast in favor of having a number of smaller events while around twelve indicated no preference in this respect. Among the first group the Ballet Russe and Rogers and Hammerstein Nights are leading.

THE NIGHT of Boy Choir and Thomas L. Thomas lead in group two, while Ogden Nash had received the most votes in group three.

Only about 30 ballots included

'Jim Dandy' Cast Rehearse for Play Opening April 25

The cast of Jim Dandy has resumed rehearsals for the forthcoming Saroyan play which will be presented on the evenings of April 25, 26, 27, and 28 at the Conrad Theatre.

The group has just returned from Sarasota where the play was presented as part of the seminar in dramatic arts at the Ringling Museum of Art.

CARL REHDER, instructor in the speech department, says of the play, "It shows the ridiculousness of people, but their essential nobility." A speech professor at another university, when he saw the play, remarked, said, "If Saroyan is wrong, so was Beethoven."

Thomas Wright, School of Music faculty, is in charge of the music. Mr Russell Graves, instructor in speech department, has written the love music. William Kinzer, speech instructor, is set design and technical director. Miss Rebecca Grimes, instructor, is designer of costumes.

A CHARMING FSU Miss who will be featured in the forthcoming presentation of the Florida State University student circus. The circus hits town for three showings April 19, 20 and 21.

Last Voting Tomorrow For Soph Hop Royalty

Final voting on the sophomore Hop king, queen, and court will take place Wednesday with ballot boxes in Westcott and the Seminole dining hall.

Winning candidates will be presented at the formal dance Saturday night. The Hop will last from 9 until 12 with Georgie Bee and his orchestra playing for the annual event. The dance will be open to all who wish to attend.

AS A RESULT of the preliminary voting which took place last week, the following twenty sophomores won places on the final ballot: Ellen Avis, Lorene Bates, Barbara Brereton, Judy Ellis, Sally Kennedy, Margaret Wasemiller, Jo Nell Proctor, Mary Helen Speed, Mary Ruth Summers, Helen Claire Wheat, Tommy Bowen, Bill Hess, Jim Landry, John Morris, Edward Pugh, Jack Robinson, Jerry Saylers, Bill Skipper, Ted Steinmeyer, and Jack Wells.

ALL MEMBERS of the sophomore class are invited to vote for five girls and five boys from among the above candidates. The boy and girl receiving the highest number of votes will be crowned king and queen of the Sophomore Hop this Saturday night in the Lafayette room. The next highest four girls and four boys will constitute the royal court.

Jo Nell Proctor, social chairman of the sophomore class, has announced the following as her committee chairmen for the dance: decorations, Jean Sydenzer and Jo Ann Davis; publicity, Mary Ann Seidner, Ann Raines, and Joan Ellenberger; floor committee, Lorene Bates and Frankie Clark; elections, Margaret Krasemann; refreshments, Dottie Bridges; and invitations, Frankie Brownlee.

Murray Introduces Bill Providing For Teacher Exemptions

By STAFF WRITER

Rep Murray of Polk county introduced a bill in the Florida House of Representatives last Friday that would give teaching exemptions to state scholarship holders who subsequently enter the armed forces.

Under the provisions of the measure, any Representative, Senatorial, or Lewis scholarship holder who voluntarily or involuntarily enters the armed forces shall have his time of military service credited as service in teaching. Military service would also be counted as duty with the state, county, or municipal government, whatever tie case may be.

Existing Florida law states that a scholarship holder must teach or serve in government work for the number of years that the scholarship was issued for. At the present time, there is no exemption for military service.

Gymnasts Perform At Avon Park For PTA Circus

Thirty varsity gymnasts, co-eds, and tumbling tots of Florida State's Gymkana performed this weekend at a PTA Circus in Avon Park.

The group, under the direction of Dr Hartley Price, carried out a 23-act show including adagio, comedy adagio, hand to hand balancing, a rag doll dance, last tumbling and toe dancing.

Co-eds included in the troupe were Gladys Tinkler, Susan Ball, Jeannie Brinson and Barbara Brode.

The Tumbling Tots, Tallahassee school children who have mastered many adult symnastics tricks, are Mary Cummins, Betsy Wheeler, Patricia Cummins, Jimmie Sue Williams, Dee Ann Dedee Linda Carswell, Jack Carswell, Nancy Lamb, Carol Ann Kuerzsteiner, Paula Rowe, Pran Rowe and Bobby Brown.

Last weekend the troupe was at Chattahoochee for an appearance at the Florida State Hospital.

Student Directories

Student directories which arrived last weekend may now be obtained in the Registrar's Office upon the presentation of the student ID card. There will be a sufficient number of directories so that each student and faculty member might have one

'Flying High' Opens In Stadium Thurs

Thursday Designated Student Night; 'ID' Cards Required

Florida State University's world-wide acclaimed student circus will open for a three night run in Doak S Campbell stadium beginning Thursday.

Tickets for the FSU 1951 show, which features 35 acts, are now on sale at the FSU bookstore, Tallahassee Chamber of Commerce, and the Athletic Department ticket office near the gymnasium on West campus.

Coach Jack Rankin, director of the four-year-old Circus says Thursday night has been designated as "Student Night," when all FSU students will be admitted on their student activity "ID" cards. Special guests for the opening night will be members of the Big Seven Conference and the Legislative Correspondents Association.

TICKETS FOR the Circus have been placed at 25 cents for children and 75 cents for adults, including taxes, for general admission. Special reserve seats located in the center of the stadium may be purchased for an additional 25 cents each.

Since its initiation three years ago, the FSU circus, "Flying High" has grown to include over 200 students.

Coach Haskin reports that comparable acts will be featured in every spectator this year. The circus will show to the west side of the stadium with 1,500 seats providing 7,500 seats for each performance. Reserve section seats will be reserved each night.

COACH HASKIN says that well over $5,000 worth of equipment purchased by Circus profits of previous years, will make the five tiers, three stages and four rings of acts plus the 35-piece circus band of the 1951 show near professional in appearance to the thousands of spectators expected to come from all sections of the country to view the show this weekend.

FSU's two-hour show this spring includes acts of tumbling and hand-balancing to intricate aerial feats on the trapeze with high wires. One of this year's added attractions includes an animal performance featuring lions along with the hundreds of flying pennants to give the circus the atmosphere of a professional show.

THE 1951 show will have new, colorfully performed, and daring acts. Included among these will be a comedy act called "Cartoon Ledder Act," "The Tiger Act," a new "French Act," the "High Pole Act," and a comedy act known as the "Ringin Clown Act."

Along with the new additions to this year's show will be the return of many last year favorites. Fan dancers will be featured for every age in such numbers as the "Iron-Jaw Act," the "Spanish Fan Act," and the world famous Hoops and ladders.

Costume designers are busy completing the finishing touches to the new fluorescent costumes to be featured in productions for the circus this year. Red, white and blue lights will be used on the scenes to bring out the brilliance of the circus costumes worn by the FSU co-eds in the show.

Collegians to Sing Tomorrow Night; Favorites Featured

"The Collegians will sing here!"

Numerous requests, from numerous groups on them, will mark the spot FSU's Collegians will serenade tomorrow night. The painted signs, designed by Jim Kirby, have been placed in front of dorms and sorority houses.

Girls will hear such favorites as "I Love You," "Take Your Finger Out of Your Mouth," and the popular "Hymn to the Garnet and the Gold," written by director of the Collegians, J Dayton Thomas.

THE COLLEGIANS will also sing several selections for the campus concert slated Wednesday at 6 p m in the music amphitheatre.

Newly elected officers for the Collegians are: Jim Harris, president; Bill Dalrymple, vice president; Blair Hennessey and Jack Scarborough, librarians.

Jim Harris will also be student conductor in the Spring concert of the Men's Glee Club, to be given April 27 at 8 15 in the music ha'

Fugitive Opens Tonight at 8:15

Music Hall Is Site Of Floyd's Musical Drama

Premier showing of The Fugitives, a musical drama written by Carlisle Floyd, will be presented tonight in the Music Hall at 8:15 p m. Repeat performances will be given on Wednesday and Thursday nights.

The production, which is sponsored by the School of Music, will be open to the public without charge.

PROFESSOR Floyd, a member of the FSU faculty, has composed The Fugitives not as a standard opera but as a play in which the actors sing their parts instead of merely speaking them. Floyd is not only the author of the play, but the director and accompanist as well.

THE DRAMA is concerned with the consequences of a mother's death upon her son and a young woman who has become involved in their family life.

According to Floyd, "The Fugitives is a depiction of human loneliness both conscious and unconscious and of violent and unreasing refusal to accept such a condition of existence, or to substitute for it a source of help and sharing with another human being like the same."

THE THREE act play has a cast of five characters. The part of Dan is taken by David Lowe, and that of his mother, Mrs Dawn, by Barbara Manford. Mary Helen Warner will portray the girl who becomes involved with the family and falls in love with Dan. Jean Forhan will appear as the mute. Jesse and Virginia Prench will be a neighbor.

Kuerstiner States FSU Music Camp Summer Plans

The annual Florida State University music camp will be offered this summer from June 11 to August 18 according to Dr Karl Kuerstiner, director of the music camp. The camp is open to both high school and college students and to music teachers, directors and supervisors from Florida.

Dr Kuerstainer said that every effort is being made to offer the musical training to a larger group than ever before.

THE MUSIC camp will consist of band, orchestra, and choral divisions; and a concert each week. One concert each week during the two weeks of camp. The band division will be directed by Otto Kraushaar of Lake Wales. He will be assisted by Glenn Bowman of Tallahassee. The orchestra will be under the direction of Robert Sedore, FSU instructor of music. Herman Guinter, Jr, assistant professor of voice, will lead the chorus. Associate director of the Music camp will be Professor Owen Sellers.

CAMPERS will use the university dormitories, dining room facilities and other university recreation facilities. Tallahassee students may attend as day students.

Equipment Stolen From Music Bldg

Recording equipment valued at $750 was reported stolen from the Florida State University to city police Saturday morning.

Mike Fatronia, FSU student assistant, said a Presto tape recorder and a large size microphone were taken from a room in the Music building either Friday night or Saturday morning.

The recorder came in two pieces, each weighing 45 pounds One section was in a grey case and the other had a case of the same color but with a white back. Value of the recorder was set at $700.

The microphone is valued at $50. A cable used with the recorder was not taken.

'Spend Night' Bill Awaits FRB Approval

Senators Accept Nine Sections at Wed. Meet; Discuss JC System

Awaiting only the approval of the Faculty Reviewing Board, a spend-the-night-in-town bill containing nine definite stipulations was accepted by Women's Senate at their regular meeting Wednesday at 6:30 p m.

If this bill is approved by the Reviewing Board it will go into effect next Fall. Each of the nine sections were voted upon individually and passed by the senators. The only one about which there was considerable disagreement was regulation number six which forbids a woman student to spend the night in town following a university dance.

THE MOST ardent opponent of this regulation was Senator Gene Lu Armstrong who said that she could see no substantial basis for such a ruling.

Some of the main provisions of this spend-the-night-in-town bill which is now before the Faculty Reviewing Board are as follows: A written invitation from the host or hostess must be filed in the student's residence counselor 24 hours in advance. This host or hostess must be over 21 in a mature person of at least 30 years of age. Each spend night in town would count as a weekend and only on Friday and Saturday nights can regulations be exercised.

SCHOOL policies would hold but not school regulations. That is to say that such things as drinking and going to places labeled as off-limits would be prohibited, whereas specific rules of procedure would not apply to a woman student spending the night in town.

Spending the night in tourist camps or hotels would be prohibited except in the company of one's parents. The students would be expected to call her residatory and notify her residence counselor if she is going out of town while spending the night Tallahassee. Senator Mary Helen Speed explained that this last provision is a safety measure and not intended to restrict the student.

AS ALREADY mentioned, a student could not spend the night in town following a university dance. And finally, the woman spending the night in town would be held on her honor to uphold the high standards of social conduct by both FSU students, according to the last provision of the bill.

At Wednesday's Senate meeting a proposal concerning a change in the Junior College Counselor house officers was voted down, leaving the old method of selection among the JC's to larger to prevail.

Qualification Test Blanks Given Out Beginning Today

All eligible Florida State University students, desiring to take the Selective Service System college qualification test, are requested to obtain their application blanks in front of Westcott Hall beginning at 8.30 a m today.

Dr Doak S Campbell, University president, announced that the application blanks for the Selective Service System College Qualification Test will be given to the students between the hours of 8:30 a m and 4:30 p m Monday through Friday and from 8:30 a m to 12:30 p m Saturday.

In order to obtain the application blank it is necessary that the student present both his draft card and his FSU identification card.

Frat Installs Bicycle Racks

Twenty-four new bicycle racks were installed Monday, at the Demonstration School by members of Alpha Phi Omega, service fraternity.

A committee of Willis Tyrrell and Frank Hurt with the cooperation of Dr Eugene Boyce, Demonstration School principal, and Col H D Mendenhall, university engineer, supervised the work. Permission for the installation was given by President Doak S Campbell.

When Alpha Phi Omega president, Jimmie Evans learned that the racks were needed in the school,

THE NATIONAL charter of the service fraternity will be presented Saturday evening at a special banquet at the Tallahassee Elks Club. The initiation program will begin at 5:30.

President Doak S Campbell will receive the charter in behalf of the University from Frank D Wood, national treasurer of Alpha Phi Omega. Guests at the banquet will be Omicron Delta Kappa and Gold Key honoraries. Various faculty members will also be invited, Evans said.

TO GO national. Evans reported that the service fraternity had to be approved by the National Extension Committee which weighs the fraternity's qualifications. There are 230 university chapters throughout the nation.

2 3 of the national chapters also have to approve of the fraternity, ter will be asked tomorrow night

New officers of the FSU chap-

Correlation in Minimum Foundation, Americanism

Two vital measures, affecting the student ing kindergarten es well as college, were introduced in the Legislature last week. The first bill, introduced in the Senate by LeRoy Collins of Leon county and George Ireland, Broward county, calls for the appropriation of $120 million which would grant schools their full requested amounts.

The second piece of legislation, if enacted, would require the teaching of Americanism in public schools and state colleges. This bill was introduced by Rep Bryan G Patton of Franklin county and is part of the Governor's program.

Now it stands to reason that the second bill cannot be passed unless the necessary funds for carrying out the provisions of the first bill are raised. There has been some doubt expressed in the Legislature that the controversial Minimum Foundation Program, which calls for $20 million, will have an easy time in both legislative branches.

The Minimum Foundation Program was set up by an act of the 1947 Legislature and the Department of Education has had to use in order to carry out the provisions of the act, $20 million dollars over and above the $100 million must be provided.

It is a known fact that, of a course in Americanism, more funds will in all probability, have to be raised. This places another burden on the already overloaded tax program. New books and outlines of study will have to be provided by the State Board of Education.

Americanism is defined as "history of the United States; the essentials, sources and history of the United States constitution, particularly the Bill of Rights; American heritage; the American way of life and its contrast with the ways of life actually existing in other lands, particularly in totalitarian countries; the American form of government; biographies of American statesmen and patriots; and the sacrifices of our forefathers and the contribution of those who have served in the armed services of our country since its inception."

The bill further provides that in colleges and junior colleges partly or wholly sustained by public funds, the course would be taught not less than three hours a week for eight months. That is a lot of meat to chew on for such a short length of time.

The reasons advanced for having the courses included in the curriculum are good but in order for the entire program to be carried out, the funds will have to be appropriated. And for the student to get something out of the course, the scope should be narrowed down so that we are not burdened with a survey course or a smattering of knowledge of this thing called Americanism.

● SUGGESTION NO. 1

On the March 6 editorial page of this paper we advocated the establishment of a cabinet system of government for the president of the University Government Association. We believe this suggestion should receive utmost consideration by the Senate constitutional committee now considering amendments to the student constitution.

We reiterate our claims that a cabinet system of government would put the responsibility of the Executive branch in the hands of one person. No longer would we have to listen to "buck-passing" from Executive council.

In addition, a cabinet system of government would make for more efficiency in the Executive branch and do away with the double legislative system now employed in the archaic structure of the present constitution.

The way a cabinet system would work is analagous to that employed by the Executive department of the federal government. The secretaries to the UGA president would each head an advisory capacity only. The president could take their advice or leave it. The responsibility would rest with the president.

We stand afford to go along with the pattern now in operation if we want an efficiently run student government.

● A PRECEDENT

It has been left to students at Cornell University to think up something new in fraternity initiations. If the example is followed, in spirit at least, there will be less criticism from those who indulge uncomplimentary remarks about how the boys carry on in school.

The Alpha Tau Omega at Cornell, at any rate, thought it was time for something different — something constructive as an initiation, rather than a staging of the conventional pranks.

Accordingly, the initiates and other members of the fraternity dug up funds with which to repair the bomes of two needy families in the University town of Ithaca, put workmen on the job, and went on with their studies and fraternity affairs. At the reports the job was done, it was completed, and the boys expressing pardonable self-satisfaction for having at least done the unusual thing.

It is less spectacular, perhaps, than infliction of the ordeals through which many a boy has had had to go to gain his coveted membership in the fraternity life of a school.

No bazing, no well-devised torture, no laughs. And in point of economy the old time bazing still has it all over the yielding up of real money to repair some poor man's bungalow.

Even so, there are points of advantage— both for the poor men and for the boys: and the precedent is there. Perhaps in the interest, already manifest at many seats of learning, in some possible revisions of a traditional and time honored custom— Florida Times-Union.

● GREEKS! GIVE

So you want s project, you sororities, fraternities and other campus groups! Now's your chance. Give a donation and watch the money grow . . . as the Campus Chest swells with cash.

Now is your chance to have a worthy project, contributing to the Chest. Now is your chance to donate to four worthy causes . . . the Easter Seal Society, the World Student Service Fund and student welfare.

The Campus Chest drive began last Saturday and will end this Saturday, after the Sophomore Hop. Many groups are sponsoring campus events, the proceeds of which will be donated to the Chest. Individuals may donate at any time during the week.

Organizations have the perfect set-up to contribute generously to all-campus drive such as this. The brotherhood and good will of each group may be shown by donations to the Chest.

Someday one of you might have the money you contributed returned in the form of life-saving medicine or research. It's a good cause, a worthy project. Give.

Dear Editor

Fine Spirit

Dear Editor:

Just a word of appreciation about the restraint and fine spirit shown by Navy Midshipman Lt. Allan F Head in their letter in Friday's Flambeau. What inspired my earlier comment on the several academics lecture was the presentation and the apparent underestimations of the academic subject itself. I am sincerely the last person in this field, also some of the more recent official literature, with the idea of attempting an abusive approach, and expect to give a talk on this subject soon

You Can Help

Dear Editor:

With this letter I would like to encourage everyone on the campus—students as well as faculty and staffs to contribute to the campus chest drive. As a foreign student I know the conditions there are other people in this world and don't have it as good as we have it. I have talked to hundreds of families who have lost their homes either by bombardments or by escape from communistic banks. These families to who once had been well off, live today a life of grief and hardship. How many families do you know who live with five or six persons in one room, lost their jobs after the war, who don't have enough to eat, not enough clothes to wear, not enough fire material to keep them warm, and no books to study from?

I wish I could describe to you this joy and happiness of European families when they receive a package, a book or even a letter from America. Only recently a package was overwhelmed Florida State.

with thankfulness that they never thought that there are Americans people bare done for them. The feeling that there are still some people, some friends, in this world who want to help the needy ones make the European families forget their worries and gives them new energy and courage.

Won't you like to try to help those people? This week is our chance to see if we really mean what we always say. I know most of us on campus aren't any Texas millionaires but nevertheless, all of us can give something and may it be only a very small gift. Let us unite at least an effort to bring a little sunshine to those sad over the world who need our help.

AMONG OTHER THINGS

SOME GOT IT AND SOME AIN'T

By EARL DOBERT

Attractive student directories have at long last been issued by the university. Garbed in a blue cover, the booklet contains important information of all the students in the institution as well as all the faculty.

The delay of the directories was caused by a period of waiting for the new phone system to be installed on campus. We, as editor of the Florida Flambeau and we did get the directories before Miss Ruth Bryan, director of University publications, thought it best to get the directories out before graduation time had come and gone.

How you can look up the phone number of that blonde in your political science class or, if you're a girl, you can find out if that boy with the curly hair lives in Senior Hall or on West campus.

The report in this column last Friday said that the Legislature would be feted at a 'bat bouse'. That was in error—it will be a 'bat party' instead. The only difference in a bat bouse and a bat party is that you can see the bats at the latter.

This corner can hardly wait for the class elections to be run so we can start covering the court beat again. Those who have been elected in three cases being brought before that body.

FANCY THIS

NO ONE BAR(RED) FROM THIS CONVENTION

By JEANNE O'RORDEN

Conventions are an integral part of many students' lives. From the time they begin Junior high school until they graduate from college, students attend these meets. Indeed, the list is endless.

Conventions can be classified into three. First, there's the one day "we're going to hear some speakers" kind. Then there's the country club variety. "We'll be gone for the week end; yeah, elect some new national officers. Hope we get a few drinks." Last, there's the all-night-long-and-everything variety.

The first two are very educational. The last one is terrific. This variety can be anywhere from a week end to a week long and is held in the Y, Shriners, Legion, the Elks and college students are varying degrees.

I'll trave a week-end convention in Tampa attended by the members of the Salsafi Evening Backgammen and Load Your Own Dice Society, Student Division. Six students from Florida State were there to entertain the elect officers, listen to lectures and draw up new rules. At least that's what they say.

Thursday morning dizzy week end cuts and bloodshot eyes climb into a car and head for the Hugh Culbreath Hotel in Tampa. They make it for the most by way of get tanked up and when they arrive at the hotel, they're really are tanked. (If they go by bus, they can't do this.)

After registering, they Seminole Six decide they'll try a Hitch-hiking contest to see who's head for Ybor City. After a tasty meal of chicken and yellow rice, preceded by a couple of Martinis, they want to hit a few of the spots. They're tired and better be in early. We've got a hard day tomorrow."

We've been in some bars later our sextette comes rolling down the street looking for the hotel. Before going to bed, though, everyone gets bunny. A couple of like them.

CAMPUS CAROUSEL

MAYBE 'THE SHAFT' IS 'THE THING'

By JOEL P SMITH

Spring fever is a term that are almost revolutionary . . . only dormant sorority pins are making their appearance . . . the warm weather hit the campus. Cold weather made it tough for the gals to show off their fraternity pins and as a result they hibernated under their coats and sink sweaters—the kind that were designed to keep out the cold.

Now that we're in having delayed action around the green, new campus. The men are beginning to show their pins in good sized numbers. When Commodore Vanderbilt Tom Turner get pinned, yea can bet your last belly pop that the Sigma Nu contingent will go with N . . . and then when females such as Nenon Martin set all records up yea know darn well that spring with all its captive powers is here to stay for a while.

But then there are two sides to every story. Besides all all the bah that goes with it around a co-ed campus has more activity than Hertz in the hay season. The women folks use their privilege to change their minds when a little thing like a fraternity pin gets in the way.

Then the sororities around these parts have established a reputation—some call it good, some call it bad—as expert givers of what is known in one colleges world as the 'shaft.' Some of these females have become so expert that they can slip yea a lemon so smoothly that you think they're doing you a favor. Indeed, they're soon usually sets in during the early part of the summer—just a few weeks after summer vacation begins and the involved female has proceeded to rene-new old acquaintances.

There is one cluster of gals on campus that are even become notorious on the Gainesville campus for their exceptional ability at shaft-giving. This particular crew of women seems to get a bang out of flinging back the fraternity pins accumulate at all the frolics. They have a handy little device in one of their hand to get to know that is known as "The Shaft Board."

When one of these gals holler by brother and aren't talking about the push button type! The once accepted male's device is now known on the shaft board. Usually an attached piece of artificial remark will read, "Only a mother could love this," or the simple phrase, "You're a heel." The moral to this story is, it a girl sets you for a picture, don't just stand there you are dead firm and just a laugh.

This gal-to-gal is one Florida fraternity house that the active brothers sent a group of pledges on a mission to capture the pledges of a sorority house. Unofficial reports have it that the pledges succeeded in getting the sorority assembled for a group picture . . . to take to the boys house. A second group of pledges searched the house for the shaft board. Results have it that they swiped the bulletin board instead.

In the next issue of Smoke Signals you'll get the chance to see the artist's interpretation of "The shaft." Bob Jenkins, BS humor editor has done a series of shaft cartoons to follow up in the coming spring edition. You know, that Bob is a pretty amusing fellow . . . he and people "The Thing" and "The Shaft" are synonomous.

SNAP SHOTS . . . Merry Reeves telling Dan Cameron to remember how she got engraved . . . Will Pennell the same class, taking a nap on the back row of the auditorium during the lecture . . . Jim Kirk selling an interested audience about his confab with Dook coach Harold Bradley . . . Dick Money's first congratulating him on winning the state diving championship in the golf tourney.

Sequins, Fluorescent Satins Are Featured in 'Flying High'

Latest circus fashions will be featured in each of the 33 acts of this year's "Flying High" performance in the Big Top, Ringling director, has announced.

FEED . . . a three night showing, the circus will open Thursday, April 19, with hundreds of flying trapeze artists whirling around the Campbell stadium.

March Hinds, producer of the spectacular will be making colorful and original costumes for over 200 circus performers.

The circus director said that it is cheaper to buy the material and make the costumes than to rent them. Originality can then be added since many of the coats design their own costumes.

In addition to the vice presidents the Student Foreman social chairmen will be functioning at their first major social event for which they are responsible for the planning and execution. These girls are Lavene Jennings at Reynolds, Josepine Fleery at Bryan and Pat Vines at Jennie Murphree Hall.

The triple trapeze actresses, Hemi Arnold, Ann Spencer, and Edythe Godfrey will be seen in flourescent satin costumes.

LEGISLATURE

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

By VERNON PEEPLES and BILL PATTERSON

The forthcoming investigation of gambling, crime and corruption continues to dominate the attention of the legislature. And, as a consequence, Governor Warren is squarely on the griddle.

Now, if the governor is as closely connected with gambling as nobody but himself should be subjected to the full wrath of a Kefauver Florida. But he should not be singled out as the sole object of investigation. His list of testimony and information secured by the Kefauver Committee is to be used as a basis for investigating crime in Florida.

Indeed, there was testimony given in Tampa, which, if true, involves another well-known Florida political figure.

Following a look at this witness's background, is a veritable crescent of testimony given to the Kefauver Committee by Anthony D'Lorenzo, former deputy sheriff of Hillsborough County, also former deputy constable. He was dismissed and fired from his job as deputy constable by Sheriff Hugh Culpepper, constable Hardy C Graves, had been removed from office on charges of failure to enforce gambling laws, and misuse of office." Quoting further from the Tampa Tribune, "The record shows that the county grand jury which investigated charges against him in 1941 linked D'Lorenzo with the Graves affair and declared D'Lorenzo to be a very close friend of one Charles M Wall, known to have been for many years the brains and boss of the underworld in Tampa."

So much for M D'Lorenzo's background. Here is a quote from the committee hearings in Tampa: (Mr Rice is attorney for the Committee.)

"Mr Rice: Now what have you been doing since 1940? Tell me about it.

Mr D'Lorenzo: Well, in 1940 there was an election. In 1941, I went to work for the police and in June 1941, I went to work for the governor in this district, my home district in this county.

Mr Rice: What doing?

Mr D'Lorenzo: Deputy constable.

Mr Rice: But what did you do? Mr D'Lorenzo: Well, when the governor fired us I went to work at the gas station.

Mr Rice: What did the governor fire you for?

Mr D'Lorenzo: Hardy Graves was constable at the time. And, Mr Rice, they did—they are doing the same thing over in the gambling now. Jimmy Velasco was wanting to run Graves out so he couldn't handle me in my district.

Mr Rice: Yes?

Mr DiLorenzo: So I started working with the bolita peddlers, and he didn't like it. So he started to keep on and I'm going to get Governor Holland to fire you. So I kept his word and we got fired. The constable did in other words fire us and fired him.

Mr Rice: Jimmy Velasco arranged that?

Mr DiLorenzo: He said he was going to do it.

Mr Rice: Did he tell you that?

Mr DiLorenzo: Yes: he told me that, to my face. He came over to my house trying to make a deal to have this peddler alone. I told him I was going to enforce all of the law.

Mr Rice: That was in 1940. Then you went to Drew Field as a guard,

Mr DiLorenzo: No; that was in 1941.

And so went this portion of the Kefauver Committee hearing in Tampa.

Here are two questions this column would like to see answered. Was there gambling in Florida prior to Fuller Warren's administration? And if there was why weren't previous governors diligent in cracking down on local law enforcement officials? The voters of Florida have a right to know.

Two extremely important bills are now before the Florida legislature for its consideration. These bills relate to state regulation of private utilities. One bill is called the Baynard bill which would provide additional regulation of the power companies. The other, favored by the private power companies, which would give little protection to the consuming public, is called the Collins bill. LeHurste for the latter bill entertained several representatives to establishment in the 2 practically the other night.

Power company strategy is to block passage of the Baynard bill at this session and then back some favorable amendment of the Pinellas sales next year, hoping to get rid of the anti-trust enemy and friend of the consumers once and for all.

Dorms Entertain Faculty Members

Newly elected vice presidents of the three freshman residences for women students will be hostesses at a tea honoring the married members of the faculty. Tea hours are from 4:30 until 6:00 p m Thursday. Each of the dorms will also assist with this annual spring function of the freshman halls.

At Reynolds Hall, faculty guests will be received by Hazel Hudson, president. Freshman vice presidents are Jane Merlin and Pat Reich.

At Bryan Hall Til Lomnicky is president and she will have Margaret Dunbar and Amy Snyder in the receiving line with her.

Eunice Thompson will have Patricia Hendricks and Sandra Corry, vice presidents, as her co-hostesses.

Faculty patrons of Bryan Hall are Dr and Mrs W L Housewright. Dr and Mrs Ralph Beaty and Miss Elizabeth Hanson.

Mrs Reynolds Hall Professor and Mrs A A Seigler, Dr and Mrs Lincoln Canfield and Mrs Margaret Blake are sponsors.

Professor and Mrs Edwin P Hartz, Professor and Mrs Herbert Lazzyr, and Miss Ellen Kelly are faculty sponsors of Jennie Murphree Hall.

Yellow and green, and ice blue and white will be featured in the girls' costumes with matching slacks for boys.

See by the papers that there is "kees competition" for fullback and tailback slots. Barring unforeseeable accidents, like a broken leg or a case of the measles, a couple of boys named Sam will do most of the turf-chewing at Campbell Stadium next season. Sam Senatore never had a better group of "kees" than he's got. It's That Time Again! The Red Sox and Dodgers in October, Says Johns

By WALTER L JOHNS
Central Press Sports Editor

Although our record for predicting the outcome of baseball races is about as sad as our best efforts on the horse and dog tracks, the October overlook such an impossible and, without too much modesty, predict the outcome of the 1951 major league baseball campaign.

As a word of warning, however, we might tell you first that we have been at this it was the last time we even came close to painting, in advance, a partial picture of October morn, although by some strange quirk of fate we did manage to select the Yanks last April.

That showed us out of character somewhat, however, but we grew and if it's courage one needs we got back there it by consistently muffing the Phillies, a club which we couldn't even see as a contender.

But enough of that. It's a new day we have it—with the following:

The winner and new champion: THE RED SOX.

The winner and new champion: THE DODGERS

It's just as simple as all that.

Now let's try to reason it out. We'll allibi later.

A YEAR AGO we failed to go along with the rest of the guessers (don't ask us why) on the Boston Red Sox. Sure, they seemed to have the best team, but we let ourselves be swayed by the spirit of the Yanks, the one and only Joe DiMaggio and such stalwarts as Tommy Henrich and Phil Rizzuto.

But now, we might ask, can you overlook the Bosox this year? There's a new deal, plus the old power.

In Steve O'Neill they have a fine manager and a guy who knows his way around pitchers for he was a catcher for years in his playing days.

In Lou Boudreau they have a new recruit, a guy who can help in still a new type of fight into the Red Sox camp and who has been accused of being riddled by dissension, of folding up when the chips are down and of showing a marked inability to win on the road.

Perhaps, they said, is what the Red Sox lacked.

Well, they did something about it. In getting Bill Wight and Ray Scarborough from the White Sox they picked up two starting hurlers and you can't overlook that help.

The 1950 Red Sox team wound up the season with a team batting average of .302. The squad bashed 161 home runs and the club had the help of Ted Williams for only 89 games.

At this stage, it looks like the Bosox will win—in a walk.

The Yanks?

Well, they're the champions and it's hard to forget it. But DiMag can't go on forever; Henrich is through and Johnny Mize is aging. Allie Reynolds, one of their slab aces, has a sore arm.

The Yanks, though, have Rizzuto, pitching and class.

Cleveland, fourth last year, has looked great this spring in smacking out hits and scoring runs.

The Tribe has pitching. It has power in Luke Easter, Al Rosen and Larry Doby.

But there's a young infield and it may or may not be good enough.

The Tigers, a surprise last year, lost Art Houteman and haven't found anyone to replace him.

They do have a fine outfield and George Kell. The pitchers are aging. Catching is weak.

The cast?

Washington has good pitching and so has Philadelphia. And Jimmy Dykes will help A's. Either has too muc power. The Browns have a young team and not enough class to contend for the first division.

FEW SELECTORS, or guessers, as you will, believe the Phils were the best team in the National league last year. And few believe they will even come close to their 1950 form this summer. After all they were lolding at the end and just made it, by one game over the Dodgers.

The Dodgers have the best all-around club in the National league. And a fiery, smart manager in Chuck Dressen.

They have power, speed and a cracker jack second-base combination in Perwee Reese and Jackie Robinson. They have two good pitchers in Don Newcombe and Preacher Roe. And young help coming up.

The Giants, who came on at the end of last year and wound up only five games off the pace, must be reckoned with. If their pitching is as good as last year, they'll be in there. For they have power and a good bench.

The Pnils lost Curt Simmons, who won 17 games. They had the weakest bench in the loop last year and have tried to help it. Accidentally, hov many believe that Jim Konstanty can turn in as fine a job as he did last year?

The Braves could be in there. They have a trio of pitchers which, on the record, can't be matched by any club. Johnny Sain, Warren Spahn and Vern Bickford won 60 games among them!

The Braves have power, too. Bis a problem around the keystone sack.

The Cardinals, who fell badly last year after 10 years of in-flight success, have some aging veterans and several youngsters who need experience. They have pitching troubles. And shortstop troubles. They do have Stan Musial, however.

The Reds, a poor club the first half of 1950, could be a surprise team. If they get good pitching from Ewell Blackwell and some power they will be heard from. They came on last season and played almost as good ball, perhaps wise, as did the Phillies the last half of the season.

The Pirates have Ralph Kiner. But no pitchers.

Whitmer to Pitch Against Citizens Tomorrow Night

KEEPIN' SCORE

With Scott Marshall

THE BIG "TASTE" TEST—The Florida State University baseball team will get a taste of professional ball tomorrow night when they face the Tallahassee Citizens and it'll be perhaps their biggest test of the season.

Although many baseball authorities consider college ball the equal of Class D, of which the Citizens are a member, the Semi-Nole will be up against a hard game club. In this department, Coach Charlie Armstrong's charges will probably hold their own. Their team batting average is .300.

The big question will probably turn out to be: Can Bob Whitmer hold the Citizen bats quiet? Likewise can Amery "Pope" Pettis quell Florida State's heavy hitters?

Whitmer, a big right hander, will be making his first start of the season for the Seminoles. Press, a 25-year old hurler, has seen action in two of Tallahassee's six exhibition games this year, getting credit for one victory. He was impressive in his first start, hurling 5-hit ball over five innings. Sunday he relieved in the ninth and had trouble finding the plate.

In the field the Seminoles will probably hold a slight edge. With Jim Smith, Lee Bailey, Bob Trowbridge and Augie Pompella in the outfield, FSU could stack up almost some of the better Class D clubs.

The Citizens, however, are a little loose in the infield. They have stars at first and third, fair second, and weak at short. Ed Howe and Bill Landers, the third and first basemen, respectively, have been pacing the debut thus far this season for Tallahassee.

Both teams are about even in the outfield, with the Seminoles a little faster afoot. Wayne Benson, and weak at short. Ed Howe and Bill Landers, the third and first basemen, respectively, have been pacing the debut thus far this season for Tallahassee.

Both teams are about even in the outfield, with the Seminoles a little faster afoot. Wayne Benson, and weak at short. Ed Howe and Bill Landers, the third and first basemen, respectively, have been pacing the debut thus far this season for Tallahassee.

Both teams are about even in the outfield, with the Seminoles a little faster afoot. Wayne Benson, Lee Mullen, and Glenn Denham will be following the fireball for FSU and John Evanjack Bob Tomchak, and Nick D'Alessio will be working for the Citizens.

Evanjak, who is hitting at a near .500 in the Citizens most dangerous slugger. Hitting in the clean up slot, Evanjak strokes a powerful ball into the outfield for extra bases. He now leads the outfielders at the plate with a .368 mark.

That would leave the situation in the hands of the pitchers. Whitmer and Press, if needed, Citizens will probably use either Bob Hartman or Ed Sessions in relief, and Quimby will more apt to slowly call on lanky Lou Rand.

Following the exhibition tilt with Tallahassee, the Seminoles move to Daytona to DeLand where they are scheduled to play the Stetson Hatters a two-game series beginning Friday afternoon.

Hartman or Sessions will probably start the contest with Bunky Lockard the starter for the second contest. Lockard leads the Seminole mound staff with three victories in three starts. He also has a strikeout with 16 and has walked the most men, 21.

Hartman has won two and lost none. Sessions is credited with the Seminoles' other three victories, and has lost one game.

Bailey leads the Florida State batters in four categories—Most hits, 12; most runs scored, 15; most runs batted in, 14; and most doubles, 4. Smith is tied with Bailey for most triples and several members of the team have blasted single home runs.

Batting .360 or better are Sessions, .700; Trowbridge, .405; Bailey, .400; Meion, .368; Bennett, .368; and Mullen, .360.

FSU Relay Teams Get Two Thirds In Annual Meet

Florida State University placed third in two relay events in the college class of the annual Southern Relays in Birmingham Saturday.

The Seminole quartet of Mize, Parker, Poston, and Arnold took third in the sprint medley relay behind Howard-Payne and Loyola of the South.

Florida State's Poston, Parker, Pearson, and Mize finished third in the mile relay behind North Texas State and Howard-Payne.

Four records were broken in the meet with Don Lee of Illinois setting a pole vault mark. Buddy Fowlkes of Georgia Tech establishing a new broad jump standard, LSU's half-mile relay team erased an old mark, and Herb Neff of Tennessee set a new high jump record.

Lee, one of three men in track history to clear 15 feet, broke his own Southern Relays mark when he cleared the bar at 14 feet, 8 ⅞ inches.

Fowlkes leaped 23 feet, 9¾ inches in the broad jump, the LSU relay team ran the half-mile in 1:27.8, and Neff cleared the high jump bar at 6 feet, 5⅜ inches. Florida's J Hall finished second with a leap of 6 feet, 5⅜ inches.

Seminole Gymnasts Work for SEAAU

Florida State University's national champion Gymnastics team is receiving international fame.

At present the national champs are preparing for the Southeastern meet this weekend.

The Princess, heavy favorites to cop the Southeastern, are pointing for the National AAU championships to be held in May. In this meet Bill Roetheim will seek his third AAU national all-around title.

He already can claim four national and two international crowns including the Pan American All-Around title.

The Seminole NCAA triumph is being filmed throughout the world by the International Universal news reel. A recording of the meet in which Bill Roetheim led FSU to a triumphant spot victory has been broadcast internationally by the Sports News.

Paramount and Fox Movie Tone are presenting the NCAA film throughout the United States.

Seminole Volleyballers Edge Albany YMCA

The Florida State University volleyball team squeezed out a hard-earned victory over the Albany YMCA aces here Friday night by taking three out of the five games played. As an added feature of the program, members of Florida State's national championship gymnastic team performed between games.

The Florida State volleyballers, who captured the Florida AAU and Memphis Mid-South titles earlier this season, had to battle all the way to defeat the scrapping Albany Y-Men.

Albany swept the first game 5-1 as the Seminoles seemed to be having trouble getting organized. The Indians rallied, however, to take the next two contests, each by scores of 15-12.

Albany had another hot streak like its opening game, pounding out a 15-6 win to tie the match up again and set the stage for the best game of the night. The final and deciding contest was tied up seven times and went ons extra frame before the Seminoles squeaked by, 18-14.

Jim Clark was individual high scorer for the evening, personally accounting for 13 of Florida State's points. John O'Brien got eight markers for Albany and George Edmiaston seven for the Seminoles.

Florida State Captain Danny Hobbs was credited with 27 spikes in the five-game set to lead in that department, followed by Edmiston with 19, Clark and Charles Floyd with 17 each.

Alligator Harbor Waters Mapped by Geology Majors

One and one half square miles of water covered area in Alligator Harbor has been mapped by 24 Florida State University geology majors. The field course is the first of its kind to be undertaken by the geology department, according to James B Cullison head of the department.

Dr Harold Wanless, director of the FSU Marine Laboratory at Alligator Harbor, said the bay waters of the harbor are becoming one of the most investigated areas of the state through the work being done by Dr Cullison's students.

The mapping project will continue with special field courses each semester for several years, the department head reported. It will eventually include the entire harbor water area.

Sounding and temperature readings were made and collected by the students with the aid of the FSU Marine Biology Laboratory. Some 800 sediment samples from the harbor bottom were collected to be used in making the contour maps and a study of the sedimentation of the area.

Data for the maps, sediment samples, and the water temperatures accumulated will serve as a source of information of the Alligator Harbor area.

The information gathered by the students will help determine locations of both shallow and deep waters for people living in the harbor area. It will also help form them of the nature of the water.

Geology students working on the map projects will benefit by the practical experience they will be able to determine their location whether on land or in the water of the harbor through the maps they prepare.

Dr Cullison stated that the field courses offered as a supplement of classroom work for the geology students is a sound combination of academic and practical training.

Assisting Dr Cullison in the Alligator Harbor project has been Dr Ernest Lund, who joined the FSU Department of Geology last fall.

Information obtained on the field trip will be prepared in a detailed summary report with complete maps of the area by graduate students.

Newmanites Plan Miami Convention

Today at 5 p m is the deadline for reservations for those planning to attend the Newman Club convention in Miami April 27-28. Plans for the convention must be delivered to Margie Parker, club president, at the A O Pi House not later than this evening.

For those planning to stay at the convention headquarters, the Sherry Frontenac Motel on Miami Beach, the fee is $5.00. For those staying in Miami homes the fee is $6. These fees do not include breakfast and luncheon meals and the Friday evening meal. They do include all other convention activities.

There will be an important meeting of the executive council at 7 p m tonight in the Newman House. All officers and committee chairmen are requested to be prompt.

Psychology Forum Discusses Employees

Nicholas M Vincent, department of psychology, will discuss a study conducted among some 200 employers on morale, attitude and job-satisfaction in a Psychology Seminar Thursday at 4 p m. The seminar will be held in the Longmire auditorium.

The lecture is open to the public and a social hour will be held in honor of the speaker from 4:30 until 5 p m.

Mr Vincent was graduated from the University of Florida with honors, received his masters' degree in psychology from FSU and is at present working toward his doctorate degree.

Typewriting Used In 14 Departments

Students from thirteen departments besides those in the School of Business are busy pounding typewriter keys in typing courses, according to a survey made recently.

The other thirteen departments are art, English, chemistry, Spanish, elementary education, journalism, social science, economics, home economics, social work, science education, psychology and inter-American relations.

Series of Lectures Conducted By Garber

J Otis Garber, chief of the field service, Federal Bureau of the Budget, is conducting a series of 10 lectures this week in the School of Public Administration.

The federal official, a former professor at the University of Michigan and federal career man, will lecture on "Federal Budgetary Administration and Fiscal Policy" as part of a course on "Administration and Management in the Federal Government." Prof Michael Balwan is conducting the course.

Publication Devotes Space to FSU Writers

A full page each month in the Restaurant Journal, a national publication covering the restaurant industry in the south, is now devoted to articles of current interest written by students in the Department of Restaurant and Hotel Management at Florida State University.

The current issue of the magazine contains an article on Tropical Fruit, written by H Lewis Dorn and future issues will have other articles of interest to members of the Restaurant Associations of Florida, Georgia, North Carolina, South Carolina and Virginia, according to Dr Donald E Lundberg, FSU department head.

Two Senators Go To Stetson Meet

Senators Betty Rich and Mary Ruth Summers will leave tomorrow to attend a convention of the Southern Intercollegiate Association of Student Governments for Women at Stetson University.

Scheduled for Thursday, Friday and Saturday, this convention will receive delegates from colleges in seven different states. The states which will be represented are Virginia, Kentucky, Texas, Louisiana, North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Alabama Florida, Tennessee and Mississippi.

Many of the problems confronting the proper administration of government for college women will be discussed, with the various delegates exchanging ideas on the subjects. "We hope to acquire some new ideas and insight concerning the numerous problems that we here at FSU face with regard to women's government," said Senator Summers.

Lundberg Speaks At Dietetic Meet

Dr Donald E Lundberg, head of the department of hotel and restaurant management, spoke this week end in Columbia, S C, by special invitation of the South Carolina Dietetic Association and Child Care Institution Directors.

Dr Lundberg spoke Friday on "How to Give Orders," and Saturday on "Management and Leadership."

He has also received word from Walter O Voegele, editor of the trade publication, Hotel Management, that the program of FSU's hotel and restaurant management department will be held in with an article Voegele is preparing on Miami Beach hotels. Voegele spoke to Dr Lundberg's class in personnel practices in institutions last week.

'Graduate Planning' Topic of Seminar

A Vocational Guidance forum on "Planning for Graduate Work" will be held April 25 at 7 p m in the Longmire Auditorium.

Speakers will be Dr M W Cathers, Dean of the Graduate School, who will talk on "The Why, the What, and the How of Graduate Work," and Mr G E Tully, director of Vocational Guidance and Placement, who will speak on "Financing Graduate Work."

Osteopathy Talk

Pre-medical fraternity Alpha Epsilon Delta will be addressed on a "Career in Osteopathy" tomorrow night according to the Office of Vocational and Guidance Department. The address date has been changed to tomorrow night from the former announcement set for Thursday.

coach of any sport to claim national crowns at more than one institute.

Before coming to Florida State University in 1946, Price, a true gymnastic wizard, led the University of Illinois to seven national titles.

Bill Roetzheim's outstanding one man show still has the big men in gymnastics raving. Bill personally accounted for 23 of his teams 26 points. Carmine Regan's third place in the High Bar rounded out the Seminoles victory margin.

ROETZHEIM'S brilliant performance is further magnified since the University of Illinois and the University of California, pre-meet favorites, garnered 23½ points each.

Now being termed "The Greatest All-Around Gymnast in U S History," Bill placed, first in the all-around; first on the high bar; second in calisthenics; third places on the side horse; long horse and parallel bars; and a sixth on the flying rings.

Skating Party

A skating party will be held at the Mercury Skating Rink in the Tallahassee Armory on North Monroe Street from 7 to 9 p m on Wednesday, April 18.

Admission is 30 cents per student and free refreshments of doughnuts and cokes will be served.

Bob Jones and Fred Anthony are on the committee for the party.

Students Discuss Supper for Solons

Plans for a buffet supper to be given in honor of the Florida legislature, the Supreme Court, the Governor, and his cabinet were discussed last Wednesday at a meeting of the Florida State students from the various counties.

The University students and faculty have made honoring the members of the Florida government a biennual affair. This year, in place of a formal program, an informal buffet supper will be held, followed by attendance at the circus performance at Campbell stadium, April 19.

Two students, a boy and a girl from each county, have been chosen to act as host and hostess to the , representatives and senators from their county. For legislators-at-large there will be student hosts from neighboring counties. A total attendance of 800 is expected to attend the affair.

Band Picnic Slated

All those planning to attend the band picnic, Sunday, April 22, are requested to sign on the Music School bulletin board immediately.

The group will meet at the Music building at 1 p m Sunday afternoon and will leave from there in cars.

141 Candidates in Race For Class Officer Posts

Primary To Be Held Tuesday; 3 Precincts Open . . . Chairman

A ballot containing a near-record total of 141 names will be presented to the student voters in the class primary elections next Tuesday, it was revealed by Paul Garrison, elections chairman.

In addition to the class offices to be filled, officers will also be elected in the University Recreation association and the student Traffic-Safety Court. These offices will be listed on a separate ballot from the class offices and will be voted upon by the entire student body.

CHAIRMAN GARRISON emphasized the fact that second semester seniors, graduating in June, will not be allowed to vote for next year's senior class representatives. But a student who is only a first semester senior and will be enrolled as a senior next fall will be allowed to vote for the senior class officers, he said.

Those students now enrolled as freshmen will elect sophomore officers, sophomores will elect juniors, and juniors will vote on senior class officers. All students, including graduating seniors, will be allowed to vote for the University Recreation association officers and the Traffic - Safety Court officers.

PRECINCTS WILL be open from 9 a m to 6 p m. They will be in the Union Board of Westcott and in the dining hall on East Campus, Garrison said. The West campus precinct will be located in the post office building on the West campus.

Students who have qualified as candidates are:

SOPHOMORE CLASS: President: June Conyers and Bob Woodruff. Vice President: Nancy Shaw, Pat Shafer, Pat Hall and Jackie Wimpee. Secretary: Peiree Campbell. Emily "Sue" Coleman, Aida Rivera, Mac Hancock and Claire Kenyon. Treasurer: Leslie Ann Fraser, Helen Ruth Westcott, Kendall, June McKenney, Audrey Oliver and Helen Prince. Parliamentarian: Marvin Morris, Norma Jean Praters and Celeste Rodgers. 849'ers Reveal Reynolds Hall As Sister Dorm

At a dance held by 849 dormitory Friday night in the Y.C. Hall Carey, dormitory vice president, announced that freshman dormitory, Reynolds Hall was chosen as their sister dormitory. Roy Horton, dormitory president, said that Broward hall ran a close second.

The decision for the sister dormitory was made by secret ballot at a meeting on Wednesday, April 11, according to the dormitory reporter. He said that the 849'ers failed to have to select just one among the 4's dorms. They could have liked to have had them all sister dorms.

HORTON reported that Reynolds sent in more letters with 4th and originality than any of the other dormitories. Broward had some good suggestions for the 849 group too, however, he said. Reynolds' winning letter was written up in an imitation panchmoic paper similar to a scroll.

Plans are now being made for a big week-end for the newly elected sister dorm with other plans in the future such as dances, softball and swimming at Camp Flambeau. All the girls will be out to cheer for the 849'ers at the intramural softball game, Horton concluded.

Staff Tryouts

Tryouts for Flambeau senior staff positions will continue this week, according to Earl Dobert, editor.

There will be a compulsory meeting tonight of all prospective staff members who are trying out on next Tuesday's issue. The meeting will be held in the Flambeau office at 5:30 p m.

Baker Says Series Won't Be Elaborate

Speakers To Be Featured In Music Auditorium Here

Word received yesterday from John Newton Baker, chairman of the Artist Series committee, revealed that because Westcott auditorium has been condemned, no elaborate events will be scheduled for next year's Artist Series program. A program of speakers will, however, me presented to the student body in the Music Hall auditorium.

A meeting of the Artist Series committee is scheduled for Monday afternoon when further discussion will be held on the matter.

Only 210 votes were cast for next year's program. Rodgers and Hamerstein Nights and Ballet Russe led in the first group with 115 votes each. Boy's Choir and Thomas L Thomas talkthe the lead in group two. Odzen Nash polled 115 votes in the third group with Jean Dickenson, Drew Pearson, and Ernestine Carey polling over 90 votes.

Hop Will Feature Shipboard Theme In Lafayette Room

Anchors, portholes, and gaily colored ship flags will spell out the theme of the Sophomore Hop to be held Saturday night in the Lafayette room from 9 until 12 pm.

The theme of the annual formal dance will be "SOS" or in the language of the landlubber, Sophomores on Shipboard," according Jo Nell Proctor, social chairman of the sophomore class.

MUSIC WILL be furnished by Georgie Bee and his orchestra, and the dance is open to all who wish to attend.

Although there will be no admission, everyone who attends may contribute something to the Campus Chest fund with collections being made at the door.

The highlight of the evening Sophomore Hop king, queen and court. The court will be composed of four boys and four girls from the sophomore class.

THOSE WHO were on the final ballot which was voted on Wednesday were Ellen , via, Lorene Bates, Barbara Brewton, Judy Ellis, Sally Kennedy, Margaret Krasemann, Jo Nell Proctor, Mary Helen Speed, Mary Ruth Summers, Helen Claire Wnest, Tommy Bowen, Bill Hess, Jim Landry, John Morris, Edward Pipkin, Bud Robinson, Jerry Sellers, Jim Skipper, Ted Steinmeyer and Dick Wells.

EVERYTHING'S UPSIDE DOWN—Two Florida State University coeds perform aerial feats high above the ground. This is one of the attractions which students may see tonight and tomorrow night at the "Flying High" performance.

Drama Closes Three-Day Run

Composer Accompanies New 'Song Dialogue'

The final curtain closed last night on Carlisle Floyd's drama Susanna, the opera which had its premiere in the Florida State University Music hall.

The musical production, which had a three-day run, was both directed and accompanied on the piano by Professor Floyd himself.

IN THIS new dramatic production, Floyd uses the unique type of "song dialogue" or "music conversation" where the actors sing their lines instead of speaking them. It is believed that he is the only author-composer who uses this means to overcome what he considers the false devision of the theatre into a music department and speech department.

The drama, which is largely psychological, shows the consequences of a mother's death upon her son and a rich young girl who becomes interested in the boy.

According to the author, the production showed "human loneliness both conscious and unconscious, the effect of violent, unreasonable refusal to accept such a condition of existence, but to substitute for it a sense of being and sharing with another human whose need is the same."

THE FUGITIVE featured as leads Barbara Manford as the teukenia attempt to murder and David Love as Dan, the mediative, dependent lover. In the role of Clara, the rich young girl who finds her ideal in Dan, is Mary Helen Warner. Jim Purdy takes the part of Josie, the young mute with Virginia French as the mother.

Those who assisted in the production were Rosalyn Curry as the over-all production mana.er; Antonio Tremonti, of the art department in charge of set design, and Jim Harris as director of set construction. Ben Kirn and Doris Clemmons worked on costumes while Joan Owen was head of the properties committee. Julie Storm was in charge of the house.

Scholarship Bill Passed By House

By STAFF WRITER

A bill requiring that state scholarships be granted only in fields of study in which a teacher shortage exists was passed by the Florida House of Representatives yesterday after a limited debate.

The bill will have to win approval by the Senate before it goes into effect.

Opponents of the bill claimed that a new type of measure will lead to state regimentation in all areas of study, but Representative Bryant of Marion county countered by stating that it is more foolish to train teachers in fields of education where they are not needed.

House Approves Lowering of Legal Voting Age to 18

By Staff Writer

A proposal to lower the legal voting age in Florida was passed by a 77 to 12 vote in the Florida House of Representatives yesterday after a long debate. The bill was carried on by almost every member of the lower house. It now goes over to the Senate.

Under the measure, all persons past their eighteenth birthday will be able to vote. This also means that 18-year-olds could sue, be sued, and make contracts and deeds.

The bill will have to pass the senate and be ratified by the voters at the next general election before it can go into effect.

Representative Williams, who is on leave from the air force reserve in the legislature, led the fight for the bill. He stated that an 18-year-old was "old enough in the eyes of the Army and that they are fighting and dying in the war, "They should have the priority of vote."

Representative D C Jones of Collier county called 18-year-olds impractical and said that if they could vote they can not drive.

Representative Burned of Baker county carried on this point by saying that the people "are going to find that many of the potentially most mature citizens of the state are going to become involved in local petty politics. That should be put off as long as possible."

But Williams heavedly denied this. "They are not going to run for the legislature or be president—they are going to die for you. What else can a man give?"

Placement Records?

Students who expect to receive bachelor's or master's degrees in June or summer school and who have not established a placement record are asked to come to the office of the Director of Vocational Guidance and Placement, 202 Westcott, immediately.

Board Closes Westcott After Crack Widens

West End of Building Is Declared Hazard; Edifice Is 40 Years Old

The recent condemnation of the west end of Westcott building after 40 years after the building had been erected. University engineer H D Mendenhall declared the rest of the building to be safe.

Since 1909, according to the experts, Westcott Building has been slowly settling downward because it was built upon a vein of fuller's earth which runs thru the campus.

The north part of the ancient structure had to be rebuilt a few years ago, and new foundations were put under the Education Building in 1935 for the same reason.

The doomed auditorium has been nailed shut since the condemnation was issued. The section will be razed as soon as the Board of Control gives the order. What happens after that—whether a new auditorium will be constructed—also depends on action of the board.

THE University Space Committee, with Dean Elizabeth Greenlaw, the Graduate School as chairman, is now considering the problem of what to do about evens already scheduled for the first auditorium. Members said that anyone with a problem of this kind should contact the Registrar's office. There is little space remaining for gatherings of any size besides the Florida Conradi Theater, the Music Hall, and Longmire Auditorium. All three are crowded much of the ready, and none of them approach the seating capacity of Westcott. Earl Emerson of the Physical Engineer's office explained that when the building was first constructed no one knew about the section of clay which lay a few feet below the surface.

THE foundations were laid right on top of the underlying clay-bank, and since then, whenever there has been a very dry spell followed by a very wet spell the structure has "skidded" a little. This was first noticed fifteen years ago. Last year a guage was installed. If the crack got any bigger, the engineers said, Westcott must go. So it went.

Now where will the Freshmen be welcomed?

ROVING REPORTER

Student Opinion Is Slight By Truman-MacArthur Issue

After much controversy over MacArthur's dismissal from the Korean war, the roving reporter has chosen for today's question. "What is your opinion of the MacArthur affair?"

Evelyn Bench, senior, 133 Landis—I had liked Truman up to this time, but now I'm through with him.

Margaret Powell, junior, 308 Landis—I think it's the smartest thing Truman has ever done.

NOAH STEWART, senior, 511 WC—It's just a product of the confused world.

John Schuster (Phd) 704 Reynolds—I think it's a good idea that he's coming back for two reasons. First, he can be useful in an advisory capacity, and second, they can switch his suggestions without losing the moving finger.

Red Barnes, sophomore, 206 N Woodward—I think it's a situation in which politics are deeply involved.

Neil Fogarty, junior, 128 Brevard—I don't think Truman would have done it unless he thought it was right and had a good reason, because he certainly wouldn't get rid of all his men if he was a cowards to him.

STARS AGAIN—For the third consecutive year Charlie Floyd and Bobbie Jones are featured as stars of the big top. Here they are shown performing their daring French rope act.

National Charter Presented To Frat

Twenty-six former Boy Scouts now students at Florida State University, will be initiated tomorrow into Alpha Phi Omega, national service fraternity.

After petitioning the national fraternity almost a year, the group will be initiated by a ritual team from the University of Florida chapter at 1:30 p m tomorrow. At 7 p m. a banquet will be held at the Tallahassee Elks club, where the charter will be formally presented. The FSU group will thus join the roll of 226 other schools who have chapters of the service fraternity.

A TEAM of four will receive the charter at the banquet from Frank D. Wood, national treasurer of the fraternity. Wood will present the charter to FSU President Doak S Campbell; Lloyd Turner, Tallahassee attorney who is also scout executive of the Suwanee River council of Boy Scouts; Professor William Leap of the School of Social Welfare who is chairman of the local group's advisory committee, and Jimmie Evans, president of the petitioning group.

Alpha Phi Omega was founded in 1925 at Lafayette College.

Pennsylvania, to carry out service programs for the benefit of the campus, community, and nation itself, and the nation. Only former Boy Scouts are eligible for membership. The FSU chapter will be the third in Florida, the others being at the University of Florida and Miami.

JIMMIE EVANS was elected president of the group at a meeting last Wednesday night. Elected to fill the other vacancies were Willis Tyrell, vice president; James Lohmeyer, corresponding secretary; Tommy Bowen, recording secretary; Kinnon Williams, alumni secretary; Bob McKinnon, treasurer, and Tommy Simpson, historian.

Members of the petitioning group who will be initiated tomorrow are Jimmie Evans, Bill Hess, Don Albritton, James Kirk, Vernon Peeples, Tommy Bowen, Bob McKenzie, Frank Birt, John Newland, Richard Coleman, James Lohmeyer, James Turvaville, Willis Tyrrell, John Graham, Frank Gibson, John Buckley, Rev. Bin Askew, Ed Pipkin, Kinnon Williams, Raymon Minx, John Sandiford, Ted Steinmeyer, Tommy Simpson, Pete Williams, Richard Yeazer and James Short.

Second Flying High Show Slated Tonight at Stadium

FSU Students Present ID Card For Admission to Performance

Students may attend one or all of the performances of "Flying High" by simply presenting their "ID" cards at the entrance, according to a statement by Coach Jack Haskin, director of the four-year-old Circus.

This announcement reverses the earlier declaration that students would not be admitted to the first performance without admission charges.

THIS YEAR'S circus, which had its first performance last night, is being given in the Doak S Campbell stadium. Coach Haskins reports that comfortable seats are available for every spectator this year.

The circus is showing to the west side of the stadium, providing 7,500 seats for each performance. Nine hundred seats are reserved each night.

FSU's two-hour show this year ranges from acts of tumbling and hand-balancing to intricate aerial acts of the trapeze and high wires. One of the added attractions includes an actual professional lighting system along with the hundreds of flying pennants which give the circus the atmosphere of a professional show.

THE FSU show has many new acts. Included among these are such numbers as an "aerial ladder" act, "Spin the Web," a new "French act," the "high pole act," and a comical act known as the "flying down with love."

Along with the new additions to this year's show is the return of many favorites. Excitement will be provided for every age in the audience as the "iron jaw act," the "Spanish web," and several whirling trapezes add ladders.

New fluorescent costumes are being featured throughout the circus this year. Red, white and blue bikhs are being used on the stage to bring out the "new look" of the circus costumes worn by the FSU co-eds in the show.

ALSO DRESSING up the performance are two huge backdrops, 40 feet wide and 20 feet long, secured for this year's show. A 35-piece circus band is placed on a platform between these two backdrops giving the impression of a bandstand, around which dancing girls perform and comical clowns from "Clown Alley" frolic.

Months of rehearsals have gone into the production of the circus plus months of planning and hard work on the part of Coach Haskin, Jack Haskin, Charlie Leiole, FSU chief electrician, and others. Also a group of student assistants, the circus band directed by Bob Brainard and others.

Members of the State Legislature and capitol correspondents association were special guests of last night's performance. Acting as special host and hostesses for the invited guests of the party were members of FSU's Mortar Board and Omicron Delta Kappa, women's and men's honoraries on campus.

Two students, a boy and girl from each county, also acted as host and hostess to the representatives and senators from their county.

Thespians Give Saroyan Play

FSU Speech Department Stages Jim Dandy Show

The cast of Jim Dandy has gone into final rehearsals for the Saroyan play which will open next Wednesday night at 8:15 p m in the Conradi theater for a four night performance. The play, directed by Carl Zerke, will be presented by the speech department.

Tickets will be on sale at 75 cents and block section tickets will sell for 90 cents. The block sections will seat groups of 20 or more.

WILLIAM SAROYAN, author of the play, says that the time of the play as "any time," the place, "any place." The play features scenes such as stairways which l.ad nowhere, and "booze woogie" music during a love scene.

Saroyan says of the play, "The play must be a large and steady enchantment for the players first, so that it will be the same for the audience. It is a new kind of play, and in order to be a success as art, it must proceed on the presumption that it is actually as old as experience itself.

"The play is gentle but strong, full of wisdom but also full of generosity. It is severe with things that are low and hate. It knows truth even when truth is ugly, but it also knows and accepts the necessity for living to have illusion and dreamina.

PLAYING the part of Jim Dandy is Lee Hildmso. Other characters are Jim Crow, played by Ben Rulery Johnson; Jim Martin: Flora played by Eunice Thompson and Margot Naralilah; Little Johnny by Jack Hamlin, Pushin, by Allan Thomson; Jock, by William Upshaw; Molly, by Claudia Powell, and a letter carrier by George Carr.

Thomas Wright of the School of Music faculty is in charge of the music. William Kinner, speech instructor, is set designer and technical director. Miss Rebecca Grimes, instructor, is designer of costumes.

Junior Counselors Select Officers For Dormitories

Three presidents and six vice presidents were elected from among the new junior counselors to serve in the three freshman dormitories next year, at a regular meeting of the group last Monday evening in Jennie Murphree parlor.

Frankie Clark was elected president of Jennie Murphree. Ellen Ann will serve as president of Bryan Hall, and Jitter Rose received the top office in Reynolds.

The nine newly elected positions as vice presidents of the three dormitories are Reynolds, Barbara Thomas and Pat Comer; Bryan, Barbara Zuver and Arlene Amend, and Jennie Murphree, Terry Porter and Joan Webb.

During the meeting Monday, talks were given to the future JC's by Miss Anne Pope, head residence counselor, and Miss Genevieve DeArmond, head dual director. The talks some of the more practical aspects of counseling were given.

Present UGA Senate Set-Up Needs Book Review Power

The Legislative branch of the University Government Association needs more power. The present set-up is a jumbled mess of well-we-got-it-now-what-are-we - going - to-do-with-it.

The first suggestion we can offer for our unicameral Legislative system is that the Constitution afford a section devoted to a system of standing committees similar to those now in existence in University council.

Needless amounts of wasted effort have been displayed this year because that system has not been employed. It would work the same way standing committees in the Florida Legislature or the United States Congress are operated.

When a bill is introduced in the Senate it could readily be referred to a committee and it would fall to this committee to render a favorable or unfavorable report on the bill.

Secondly, we suggest that the power of budgets and appropriations be given to the Senate. That power now rests in University council and no say-so whatsoever is given to the Senate on how money should be spent. We suggest that the President of UGA in consultation with the cabinet present to the Senate a budget each year for the approval of the senate.

Definite rules of procedure should be formulated by the senate. It is a farce to sit in on some of the sessions and watch the members flounder around. They are not aware of the many parliamentary rules which would tend to make the meetings go faster and in so doing be more efficient. Half-hearted attempts have been made to correct this but so far nothing concrete or reliable has resulted.

It is not necessary to include the above suggestions in a new constitution since the framework of this body in the present constitution is strong enough. Yet it would be wise if these changes were made promptly by the Senate so they could start working on a more efficient level.

The way the constitution is at the present time, however, gives more power in the hands of the University council than to the Senate. This situation should be remedied by taking away exclusive power of the budget in Executive council.

The constitution now states that "The University Senate shall be responsible for legislating rules and regulations for the student body and for considering constitutional changes." Within this framework the Senate is empowered to pass all legislation. The Executive council has usurped this power in the past to the detriment and disrespect of the Senate.

This should be changed.

● CONTROLS or NOT

...mbers of the Tallahassee Junior ... ...ommerce are planning to cir... ...roughout County ... election to decide if the ... ...nskey legally. The Jaycees ... ...mendation and praise for trying to do away with the ... ...ntered voters want ... ...nty to be wet or dry.

The organization itself has made it clear that they are backing neither the wet and are only circulating the petitions so an election can be held to let the people decide in a democratic manner.

To us the issue never has been whether the county should be wet. Better, it is a question to see if the county should be legally wet. Hence, we will decide whether it is better to drink with controls or without controls.

We will cast our vote for control.

We are now living in "dry" Leon county. It is a dry county without controls and any person including minors may at any time purchase as much intoxicating beverage as he may need. This is the system without controls.

With controls an entirely different picture is painted. People who want to buy alcoholic beverages enter a packing store and make their purchase Minors are not allowed to do this as they can with a bootlegger.

Wet and corruption are necessarily cut down to a minimum with controlled sales of alcoholic beverages.

This has not been the case in "dry" Leon county.

● LETTER AND SPIRIT

The University Court handed down a just decision last week. They decided that although James Ball had not actually studied the year's experience-on-the-Court qualification set down in the constitution, he had fulfilled the intent of the qualification.

The decision brought to a halt several weeks of talk on the Jennie Adams vs James Ball case. After James had been elected as Chairman of Judicial Court in the recent UGA election, Jennie asked the University Court study the legality of a person holding that office who had not fulfilled qualifications as set down in the constitution.

Wrangling followed at every session of the court. Everybody and his brother put in their two cents . . . all to no avail. Finally, last week, after James's case was presented clearly and concisely by Dal Albritton, the court made its decision.

The Court held that justice calls for consideration not only of the letter but of the spirit and intent of the law. Since the one-year qualification was put in the constitution for the purpose of insuring experience on the court, the judges decided that Jim had fulfilled the spirit, o f the law by serving on the Court for less than one year, but missing only one case. The intent of the constitutional provision had been fulfilled.

The student body official, may now take office legally, as judged by the University Court.

● HARD DAY?

So you think you had a hard day.

Your schedule today would have been a breeze to Thomas Jefferson, great American humanist. Over the third cup of coffee, hundreds of Florida State University students are heard each day telling their tales of woe regarding "such a long days work."

What's an active day to you? Three morning classes—each just one hour long? Four cups of coffee and one lunch later, you amble over to your afternoon class if you haven't decided to take a "cut" to see the legislative circus.

Then your chin for a parachute jump. An active day of nineteen hours for Jefferson was nothing unusual even after he was much older than the average college student.

Just to get a picture of his day, let's take a look at his record. Once when someone asked one of the Secretary of State for an appointment to see an experiment on the distillation of fresh water from salt water, he suggested any time—"from five in the morning to twelve at night, all being equal to me."

It is said that Jefferson's normal day when he was a student of Rev. William and Mary College was something like this. It began several hours before eight o'clock in the morning, with reading books on agriculture, chemistry, zoology, botany, ethics and "natural religion", Latin reading of Cicero's and Seneca's philosophical treatises, religion, and natural law. The four hours before 8 o'clock were spent reading law. From twelve to one was devoted to the study of books on politics and economics.

It would appear that the seven solid hours of reading would constitute a full day's work. But Jefferson spent at least two hours on "the Greek and Latin originals and translations and books on ancient, as well as English and American history. And that's not all. From dark to bedtime, he read poetry and prose and oratory such as that of Demosthenes and Cicero.

And 50 years later, in 1814, Jefferson recommended this same schedule to any student who hoped to become an efficient lawyer and politician. Any eager beavers left?

Dear Editor

Campaigner

Dear Sophomores:

I'd like very much to be your next class secretary and if elected I'll work very hard for you.

I feel qualified to hold this office because of my experience in high school where I served as secretary of my Sophomore class, secretary of the Youth Fellowship and sub-district in the church for two years and secretary of the student council my senior year. My senior year I also worked as secretary for the agricultural department of the high school.

Here in college I was secretary-treasurer of the Freshmen class of the Wesley Foundation last year. I'm on Sophomore council port of those people in the college now and am also the representative to the Home Economics club on which I seek is the President of the Senior Class. Your senior year is your last year here at Florida State—it should be your best year and your most remembered year if I shall make it my responsibility to make it just that.

For a better Senior Year,

Sincerely,

BILL HAYES.

Campaigner

Dear Voter:

I want to thank all those who voted for me in the UGA elections last month and those that were with me in my stand concerning my election as Chief Justice. Once Again I would like to ask the support of those people in the coming Elections. The position which I seek is the President of the Senior Class. Your senior year is your last year here at Florida State—it should be your best year and your most remembered year if I shall make it my responsibility to make it just that.

For a better Senior Year,

Sincerely,

BILL HAYES.

Campaigner

Dear Sophomores:

On Tuesday, April 24, you the sophomore class—will go to the polls to elect your class officers. Your choice will be one of the most important decisions you will make during your college career. Your class officers will be responsible for the success of your class activities during your junior and senior years. Your choice should be based on the candidate's ability to lead and to get things done.

I am a candidate for the office of President of the Sophomore class because I feel that I have the ability to lead and to get things done. I have had experience in high school and college which I feel will be of value to me in this office. I was president of my high school class my junior year and was elected president of the Student Council my senior year. I was also president of the Wesley Foundation my freshman year and am now serving as secretary-treasurer of the Florida Student Christian Association. I am a member of the Florida Flambeau staff and am a member of the Student Religious Council.

I have a sincere interest in the welfare of the sophomore class and I feel that I can serve you well in the office of President. I will appreciate your support.

Sincerely,

BILL HAYES.

AMONG OTHER THINGS

TAKE A MAJOR IN AMERICANISM

By EARL DOBERT

We may soon have another department on campus if this Americanism bill now in the Legislature is passed by the solons. Taking its place along with the English department, the political science department, the philosophy department and the speech department will be the Americanism department.

They will have courses in United States history, the United States Constitution and the Bill of Rights, American heritage, American way of life compared to ways of life in other lands, American government, biographies of American statesmen and patriots and the contribution of those who have served in the armed forces of the United States.

Of course, after you take all these courses you can settle down and raid work on your major which, after all, you came to college for. Then throw in your general education courses and after six or seven years you can have a degree.

Now don't get us wrong. The teaching of Americanism (not Americanism, there are too many isms as it is nowadays) is essential. But we're afraid to get all of the above material would take a great deal longer than the proposed three hours a week for two semesters.

Why, we now have courses in the university similar to the ones listed above which require three hours each. We would not expect to get very much from a three hour course if it had to include the constitution, history, American heritage and American government.

I suspect the idea for this bill would be to let students learn about America. Student minds will be filled up with a bunch of generalities about America if only three hours were required. "A Little Knowledge is A Dangerous Thing" would be the apropos phrase describing a course of this nature.

In other words, the bill might create more harm than it would good. Students without adequate and extensive preparation in a course of this importance would go off with some half-cocked theories on the real meaning of the democratic way of life.

One must realize that government as we know it today is an intricate system. The ramifications of a governmental act are far-reaching. It is unlikely that only tenuht generalities would benefit the students ifhe had a knife in the back.

At the present time students are free to take any political science courses they desire. They are free to take any history courses they desire. May do they have to be coerced into taking them? There are enough courses in this university now that a student must take without adding any more to the number.

And as another thought. The Senate will probably—or may have already, depending whether or not they act before this column appears—pass a constitutional amendment allowing 18-year-olds to actively participate in the government of this state by extending the voting privilege to this group. The House has already passed the measure by a 71-13 margin.

If this amendment successfully navigates this session of the Legislature, we would presume that the Legislature thought students knew enough about America and democracy or they would not allow them to vote.

In the case the American canism bill will not pass. If the measure does pass it shows that America is quite consistent. I wander which one it will be?

RUMOR ABOUT CIRCUS NOT JUSTIFIED

By BETSY BLANTON

"Flying High" is featuring its second performance of 1951 tonight. Last night's show was tops according to most reports.

Rumor has it that a movement concerning the circus was the rumor that students would be permitted to use their ID cards for admission at last night's show only. Another rumor, if it was impossible for them to attend the first showing, students would have to pay the 75 cent admission charge in order to see the circus.

After we had gotten all excited about the rumored injustice, President Truman, Stalin, Gen. Jack Haskin informed us that the rumor was news to them.

Uncle Hasbrouck said that last night was "student night" but that ID cards would be sufficient admission for any other night's showing.

STUDENTS NOT RECEIVING ACTIVITY BENEFITS

By JEANNE O'ROURKE

It seems to me that students on this campus are not receiving the benefits of the activity fees paid by student activity fees.

Where is there on campus such as the Junior-Senior prom and the May Day dance are allowed a reasonable amount of money to use for decorations, flowers, an orchestra and refreshments.

The May Day dance, for instance, will climax the year's end. Sponsored by the Student Union Organization, the affair will run from 9 p.m. to 12:30. The band will cost from $60 to $100. The hall is usually decorated effective bucks to decorate the Student Union, buy corsages and boutonnieres for the king, queen and court, and have ballots printed for the voting. In addition, there are always miscellaneous costs that pop up.

When the students try to plan a dance with such a budget, they really have to slice

WORK OF 'ART' SOLD TO ARTIST

By EMORY KING

The Student Union picked up 460 for the Art Exhibit on Monday night through an art auction. One of the pieces sold was a pink, abstract canvas called "The Pole Vaulter." While the members of the club were in the art department looking for pictures to sell, one of the members of the group noticed this canvas in the wastebasket.

Immediately one of the students grabbed it. "What's this," he asked the professor.

"That's an canvas I wipe my brushes on after I've finished using them."

The canvas sold at the auction for $4.75 to another member of the art department.

There will be four showings of a film today called "You can beat the A-Bomb" at the Conrad Theater. Probably the onrus of the matter is to live in or around Tallahassee. LEGISLATURE

SPOTLIGHT TO BE SHARED

By VERNON PEEPLES and BILL PATTERSON

Indications are that when the Kefauver committee returns to sunny Florida to beat the palmetos for more information on gambling and corruption in politics, Governor Warren is going to have a share the spotlight of unfavorable publicity with one or two of his predecessors in office, unless political influence halts the probe into Florida political history at the time of Warren's inauguration.

Actually, organized gambling has been going on in Florida for about fifty years. But until 1941 it was pretty well centered, of local underworld elements.

In that year the Velasco syndicate, part of an international crime organization, muscled in on the hush Tampa hotels rakers after law enforcement officials had conveniently closed the way for it by putting the local Charlie Wall gang out of business.

In the words of the famous S and G syndicate came into power on the lower east coast and was quickly and locally operated until recently.

Both the Tampa-Mafia syndicate and the S and G had firmly established themselves before the present governor assumed office. Also, well before 1949 they had thoroughly spread their corrupting influence through the local and possibly the state governments.

At least they operated wide open, unmolested by local or state governmental agencies. Including the two previous governors. In brief, you have the worst gambling rigns in the country came into power before 1948; in Tampa in 1941 and in Miami a few years later.

Word has it that the Kefauver Committee will return to Tampa as Florida again, will ask some questions which it did not ask before.

Especially will more questions be asked about the Tampa situation and the political associations and alliances in that area. There is a long, long history that is not widely known, which if made public, may seriously implicate a number of unblemished Florida political figure.

CONCLUSION: Gambling in Florida has grown progressively for many years, and really became big-time in 1941. All through the 40's it flourished, and only began to diminish about two years ago under the pressure of more stringent law-enforcement spurred on by reform elements. Represented nationally by the National Reporting Bureau, New York City.

"REBELLION OF A POET"

By Jim Couch

This is a poem of atrocious rhyme,
Through the middle and end of time.
'Twill not be remembered with other jewels
For 'tis made from bread and cruel rules.
And though you say, "What a pig, what a cad.
What kind of schooling could he have had."
'Tis I, the poet, who say
And leave the rest for you to say.

Who thought of all these rhythms complex,
That make poems miserable wrecks?
Who's to say what is right
And pick out the poems that delight.
Surely each man should write as he chooses
And let the critic critics and "Hoity Toises."
For each man has, in his own small way,
A method of writing to suit his mood.
And for God's sake, who knows better than he
What he wishes to express in his poetry.

So when you read some little bit
Don't read some hidden meaning into it,
For what you do is visualize
That which the poet did not devise.
The poem is there for you to read
And not to measure for its speed.
Enjoy it or not, what's done is done
And you'll not change a poet with whip or gun.
Because it's not your rules of strict program,
Most poets simply just don't give a damn.

Americanism 101 (?)

There is a bill before the Florida Legislature providing for the compulsory teaching of Americanism in the public schools. But Americanism be taught by an instructor or sold at the bookstore?

Schools and colleges are filled to the neck with unnecessary courses with scholarly, impressive titles. Most of these spend four months on what was formerly a microscopic segment of one chapter in a textbook—and the rest of the course might be a better choice of words. . . .

With all this talk of spying and pin-dropping one wonders about independents. Do they live in sin?

Speaking of spring . . . Not the time of young love, grass-stains and stuff but the time when sweaty classes, dull young men teaching dull old subjects and starvation are beginning to lose the enchanting quality lent them by the catalog. (Wonder who writes that and how he sleeps at night?)

There's a story going around the local brass rails about a young man who fell out of an upper bunk in the West Campus and broke his foot. He was flown into the Infirmary where he was refused admittance. Seems he didn't have his I. D. card . . .

Professor Levandowski has done it again. For the third month in a row he is filling the new University Club with an interesting exhibit. This time he has arranged with the Ringling Museum for a display of 32 of their paintings here. The paintings are by the old masters. For the first time, the students of FSU can look at some of the world's most famous paintings. The exhibit is valued at half a million bucks, and will be heavily guarded during its stay here. The club is to be a guard and sit in a room with the paintings at night.

NATOR LeRoy Collins, who the fight for the adoption of tax, pointed out "the eyes of tate are upon Florida."

The measure is expected to in- crease revenue by $17.5 million.

"They are looking for us to supply ourselves with adequate educational facilities that are the sign of a progressive state," Col- lins said.

Collins pointed out "It is our moral and legal right to give ade- quate facilities for Negro educa- tion. We have 800,000 Negro citi- zens in Florida and Florida A and M is the only institution of higher education where they can pursue their studies."

"THE BOARD of Control rec- ommends four new schools for Florida A and M, but that will still not be adequate," he said. He ended his arguments by stat- ing: "We definitely ned this money to carry out the educational ob- ligations that the state is taking upon itself."

Senator W A Shands, Alachua county, said, "By law a youth needs a college education in or- der to practice the professions of pharmacy or law. I wonder if the opponents of this appropri- ation measure are saying to the youth: 'We are going to deprive you of your right to practice the profession you desire'"

SENATOR HENRY S Sayrard of Pinellas County lead the oppo- sition against the appropriation measure. He continuously assailed what he called the "inconsisten- cies" of the bill. He attacked the measure on the grounds that "it exempts films to theater and equipment replacements to radio and television stations yet it taxes newsprints and newspaper pro- duction machinery replace- ments."

Gymkana Performs For Legislature

Dr Hartley Price's PSU Gym- kana troupe performed Tuesday night for the state legislature members at the Lambda Chi Alpha house.

The highly entertaining pro- gram was well received by the law makers as they marveled at the gymnastic abilities of the troupe.

Varsity gymnasts who took part in the program included: Scotty Stanton, Beana Stephens and Jack Miles.

Members of the Tallahassee Tumbling Tots included were Betty Wheeler, Mary Cummins, Kathy Regna, Nancy Lamb, Linda Carswell, Jack Carswell, and Jim- mie Sue Williams.

The highlight of the evening was the Scotty Stanton, Jack Miles comedy act. It provided the rare chance for the Legislature to laugh and they certainly took advantage of their opportunity.

Campus Chest Drive Ends Tomorrow With Soph Hop

The Campus Chest Drive will end officially with the Sophomore Hop tomorrow evening in the Lafayette Room of the dining hall. The informal dance will be- gin at 9 o'clock and end at 12.

Jo Nell Proctor, dance chair- man, has announced an "SOS" theme — "Sophomores on Ship- board." She added that it was also an SOS for help in carrying the drive over the top. The dance is open to the entire student body without charge, though a collec- tion will be taken as couples leave.

At the height of the evening the King and Queen of the soph- omore class and their court will be revealed. Jo Nell said. The royal event will be voted on Wednes- day, and their identity will re- main secret until they are crowned.

Traditionally this dance has been left to sophomores only, but this year the event was opened to all the students for the bene- fit of the Campus Chest. Bill Hess, Chest chairman, estimated the contributions Wednesday at one-third of the goal, and he expressed the hope that the dance would help a great deal.

Though the charity drive ends officially tomorrow, pledged con- tributions will continue to come in for some weeks, Hess said. The Faculty Auction, with Bookstore Council in charge, will take place next Thursday, April 26, and the Village Variety Fashion Show will also be held next week, since it was postponed because of the condemnation of Westcott Audi- torium.

Half-Million Dollar Exhibit Opens Sunday

Twenty-two paintings worth over a half million dollars have been loaned by the John and Mabel Ringling Museum at Sarasota to the department of art. The famous, world renowned paintings are now being placed in the University Art Gallery under the supervision of Prof Edmund Lewan- dowski, Gallery director, and nationally famous artist.

So great is the value of the paintings by famous old masters that they were transferred to the Art Gallery from the Museum in Sarasota under armed guard by the State Highway Patrol. The paintings have also been placed under an around-the-clock guard at the University.

INCLUDED among the paint- ings are "Christ on the Cross" by El Greco, "Ferrari Head of Young Monk" by Rubens, "Portrait of a Cardinal" by Titian, and "St. And- drew, the Apostle" by Van Dyke.

A formal opening program will be held from 2 p m to 5 p m Sun- day. The gallery is located on the second floor of the former dining hall building.

DURING the month long exhi- bition of the rare collection, the Art Gallery will remain open daily to the public from 12:30 p m to 5:30 p m Monday through Fri- day; from 7 p m to 10 p m Thurs- days and from 2 p m to 5 p m Sundays. Art groups may view the paintings in a body, according to Prof Lewandowski, by making arrangements with the Gallery, extension 290.

The collection of rare paintings for the exhibit, one of the most impressive of its kind ever held in this area was selected by Prof Lewandowski and Dr James Mc- Donough of the Art Department.

"WE ARE very grateful to Mr Everett Austin, director of the John and Mabel Ringling Mu- seum, for the opportunity to allow the University art students to study the composition of these fine works of the old masters and for all patrons of art in this area to view the paintings," Prof Le- wandowski said.

"We have been working closely with the Museum at Sarasota for many years in a mutual program of greater appreciation and devel- opment of art in Florida, and the loan of these paintings to the University is indeed a wonderful gesture of such spirit of coopera- tion."

Junior Class Meets In Alumni Monday

There will be a meeting of the junior class Monday, April 22, in the old museum room on the fourth floor of the Alumni build- ing, according to Will Pennell, president.

The important business of the evening will be a political rally at which all candidates for senior class offices will be allowed to speak.

There will also be a report of the junior-senior prom and a dis- cussion of a free movie project as well as consideration of any other projects.

Biological Research Papers Read At UA

Several papers dealing with scientific biological research will be presented by Florida State University faculty members dur- ing the 12th annual meeting of the Southeastern Biologists asso- ciation today and tomorrow at the University of Alabama.

The faculty members who will present papers are Dr Harold J Humm, director of the FSU Insti- tute of Oceanography; Dr Ken Wagner, of the botany depart- ment; Dr Ruth Breen, also of the botany department, and Dr F R Hunter, of the physiology depart- ment.

Seminoles Face Stetson, Slam Citizens

KEEPIN' SCORE

With Scott Marshall

IT MAKES NO DIFFERENCE—Your favorite baseball team may be high school, college, semi-pro, Class D, etc, but it actually doesn't make much difference when they go onto the field and display plenty of talent and spirit as did the Florida State University Seminoles in Centennial Field Wednesday night.

Grant you, a ball player in Class AA is better than one in Class D, but when you get nine D men all "fired up," it'll probably take plenty of hustle on the part of the AA nine before they'll come out on top. Then again, pitchers in the high classes wouldn't be there if they couldn't hurl. But, what's a guy going to do when he faces seven or eight batters who are hitting near or beter than .300?

That was precisely what Manager Chuck Quimby and his Tallahassee Citizens were up against when they ventured into a "lower class." Although they lost 16-6, the Citizens had played only one exhibition game prior to the FSU game, and were not organized afield, that's for darn sure.

The Alabama-Florida loopers hooked them it hurt, allowing the Seminoles to score three runs which they would have otherwise had to work for.

Ahh? Nix. Tallahassee just didn't have the ball club Wednesday, to whip Charlie Armstrong's swatting Indians. Perhaps they weren't expected to live up to their .323 team batting average, but the .392 average against four Citizen moundsmen was more than enough. And, one pitcher, Indio Jiminez, is the Citizens' number one hurler. 'Nuff said.

In making his first appearance for the Tribe baseballers, Bob Whitmer quickly proved that his two year 14-4 hurling record at Purdue was no farce.

His cracking fast ball and slow curve were too much for one Citizen in particular. Outfielder Nan Lieb earned five Wednesday morning and had not hit a ball all winter—he still hasn't. Lieb fanned five times, going down three times without moving his bat from his shoulder.

Even though Whit did give up 14 hits, he kept them scattered during the majority of the game and Tallahassee got no more than three blows in any one frame.

Big Bob will probably get his second bit of mound duty either next Friday or Saturday when the Seminoles meet Georgia in Athens.

After Whitmer blasted a 340-foot homer into the left field bleachers off starter Indio Jiminez, it appeared as though the blow broke the Citizens' hearts. Then, in the seventh one probably thought that Armstrong had some of his 415 student fans circling the bases as FSU dented the plate eight times. That was definitely the ball game.

Today at Stetson another fastballer, Ed Lockard, will go to the hill against the hard hitting Hatters. In DeLand the Seminoles will run up against a ball club whose number one hurler, Walter Jasinski, tossed the only shutout ever recorded against an FSU baseball team. And Jasinski will twirl one of the two games.

Bob Hartman, the cunning curve baller, will probably get the nod in tomorrow's tilt.

From good to still good, Dub Kendrick and Bill Dawkins, two of Coach Don Veller's top line-men during the undefeated, untied 1950 football season, have received mention in Who's Who in Sports, recently compiled and edited by Stanley Woodward, veteran sports authority.

Woodward's magazine, now on the news stands, contains pictures and sketches of Kendrick and Dawkins. Kendrick was named the most valuable player on the 1950 clever, and Dawkins was elected captain for the 1951 edition.

Coach Bud Kennedy, upon returning from his trip through the north and mid-west, following the Seminoles' playing in the NAIB cage tourney, said that he "greatly appreciates all the wins that were sent to the boys at Kansas City."

The 'grams evidently did their work, as the un-seeded Florida State five knocked off two good teams and then fell to powerful Millikin.

The Seminole gymanstics team will be defending its Southeastern AAU title tomorrow in Atlanta. NCAA champions, Florida AAU champions. Oh hum! These athletes!

Kappa Alpha Takes 'Mural Volleyball Title

The Kappa Alpha fraternity has won Florida State University's intramural double-elimination volleyball playoffs, beatine the Theta Chi's 17-15 nad 15-3 in the finals.

Theta Chi reached tie finals by outlasting the Pi Kappa Alpha's in the semi-finals 16-14, 6-18, 15-10, after beating the same team in the first round in another three-game match. The Kappa Alpha's won in the first round over the Delta Tau Delta's 15-3, 15-8, then moved into the finals by handing the Theta Chi's their initial defeat 12-15, 15-3, 15-10.

The Delta Tau Delta's were eliminated in the second round by the Pi Kappa Alpha's 15-4, 15-13.

AFTER the final game an all-fraternity volleyball team was chosen by officials which included the following players: Captain Bob Schmels ('TC'), Co-captain Bob Johnson ('KA'), Bill Falcone ('KA'), Bob Albertson ('TC'), Joe Lester ('KA') and George Partin ('PKA'—all spikers; and net-men Kim McKay, unanimous 'TC', Gil Aldridge 'KA', Jack Phillips 'PKA' and Ted Sikes 'DTD'. Honorable mention went to Dick Berndt ('TC'), Ben Conely ('KA') and Curt Vontritter ('TC').

The Fraternity All-Stars will play the Florida State varsity team in a challenge match at the Coliseum gymnasium next Tuesday night.

Collegians Serenade

Sorority girls were entertained by the campus serenaders, the Collegians, Wednesday night. The Collegians were promoting the Men's Glee Club spring concert which will be given next Friday, April 27, at 8:15 in the music hall.

Lockard Hurls Opener Today; Pros Fall 16-6

With a 16-6 victory over the Tallahassee Citizens safely tucked away, Florida State University's baseball team moves into tougher competition today when it battles the strong Stetson Hatters in the first contest of a scheduled two-game series.

The second game will be played tomorrow, and both tilts are slated for the DeLand park.

Jig Ed Lockard is expected to get the hurling nod for today's game with either Bob Hartman or Ed Sessions on tap for mound duty tomorrow.

BOB WHITMER, playing his first game for Coach Charlie Armstrong's Seminole nine, pitched and batted his mates to the one-sided triumph over the Class D Alabama - Florida loop team here Wednesday night.

Whitmer, although he gave up 14 hits, was rough with men on bases. He aided his cause with three singles and a booming home run in five trips to the plate. The homer came in the second with Wayne Benner on base and was hit of Indio Jimines, the starting Citizens pitcher.

The Seminoles added one in the fourth, and two in the sixth, while the Citizens were getting one in the first, second, and fifth frames.

With a 7-3 lead, the Tribe bats shelled sway at Lou Ballard and Mike Jimines for eight runs in the seventh on six hits, three free passes, and one error.

THE BOTTOM had dropped out and there was almost nothing the Citizens could do about the situation. However, they did manage to tally a trio in the seventh and Florida State tacked on another in the eighth.

The game was played before 793 fans, 415 of which were FSU students.

Freshmen to Defend SEAAU Gym Crown

By TOM CONKLING

The Florida State University's National Champion gymnastic team will defend their Southeastern AAU crown Saturday at Atlanta, Georgia.

The Seminoles took the Southeastern AAU meet last year with little trouble.

Missing from competition will be the big four, national all around king, Bill Roetzheim; Carmine Regna, Joe Regna and Bill Vretton, who made up the victorious NCAA Seminole squad last month.

While resting his four top performers for next month's AAU national championships, Coach Price will use his strong freshman team in an attempt to bring back another trophy.

The freshman squad consisting of Pat Signarelli, Jack Miles, Jack Sharp, Scotty Stanton, Dick Gutting, Joe Gusic, Dick Platt, Jim McCaughy, Beans Stephens, Bill Wagner, Larry Weston and Ben Kinard is rated a heavy favorite to successfully defend their title.

Not only is Price able to rest his veterans by using his other top gymnasts in the SEAAU, he affords his reserves valuable opportunity to gain self confidence for the big one next month.

Bill Vretton and the Regna twins will make the trip to Atlanta where they will put on an exhibition before the meet.

Once again Dr Price urges all potential rope climbers to attend the practice sessions every Monday through Friday in the East Campus gymnasium.

The practice sessions, open to the public, are from 3 to 6 p m. All students interested in seeing FSU's National Championship squad in action are welcome to watch the champs work out.

The Pricemen are performing phenomenally as they prepare for the second straight national championship.

Bill Roetzheim, the United State's top gymnast, sums up the AAU national meet as follows, "The Athletic Clubs have it over the college squads. By not attending school they have more time to devote to practice."

Netters on Road; Golfers to Face Rollins Tomorrow

Florida State University's golf team will battle Rollins College here tomorrow morning and afternoon while the netters will be at Jacksonville today and Macon, Georgia, tomorrow for road tilts.

The Seminole golfers, who tied with Rollins in Winter Park earlier in the season, have won six, lost but two, and tied with the Tars.

The Florida State tennis team will battle the strong Jacksonville Navy netmen today and then move up to Macon to meet Mercer tomorrow. The Seminole netters have won four of 10 matches this spring.

The top match of the day in the Seminole-Rollins golf fracas is expected to develop between Florida Intercollegiate champion Billy Key of the Tars and Florida State's crack freshman star Eddie Johnson.

FSU Host in Opening Tri-Angular Meet

Florida State University's track and field team will be the host in the first tri-angular track meet to be held at the Florida State athletic field here tomorrow afternoon at 2:30. Also participating in the meet will be the Emory University team of Atlanta and Davidson College of Davidson, N C.

The FSU team, which is coached by Ken Miller, has broken even in two dual meets this spring. The Seminole trackmen lost to Duke University here, then defeated Mercer University in a Dixie Conference start at Macon, Ga. Miller's Seminoles are favoring Dixie champions.

Outstanding performers for the Tribe this season have been Captain Max Watson in the high jump with two firsts and two thirds, Tom Sebring in the discus and javelin throws with two firsts and a second, John Poston in the sprints with two firsts and a third, Pete Fraschetti in the mile and 880 with two firsts and a third and Joe Pracsai in the pole vault and low hurdles with two firsts and a third.

Setzing, Fraschetti and Pracsai have all bettered current Dixie Conference records in meets this year.

Campus Interviews on Cigarette Tests

Number 17... THE OWL

"So I'm a wise guy —so what?"

"Spectyto cunicularia" — Speo, for short, majors in the classics. But in this case, he's dropped his Latin leanings and slings American slang with the best of them. He comes right out "cum loudly" whenever he voices his opinion on these quick-trick, one-puff cigarette tests. They're a snub to his high I.Q.

He knows from smoking experience there's just one intelligent way to judge the mildness of a cigarette.

It's the sensible test . . . the 30-Day Camel Mildness Test, which simply asks you to try Camels as a steady smoke — on a pack-after-pack, day-after-day basis. No snap judgments needed. After you've enjoyed Camels — and only Camels — for 30 days in your "T-Zone" (T for Throat, T for Taste), we believe you'll know why . . .

Chest Drive Total At $1,000 Mark

Chairman Bill Hess Says Drive Over, But Auction, Fashion Show on Agenda

More money has been collected for the Campus Charity Chest this year than in any other year announced Bill Hess, chairman of the drive. The drive is officially over, but contributions are still being accepted.

Totals will be announced next week and, according to Hess, contributions collected are nearing $900. The Village Vamps fashion show tonight, and the faculty auction scheduled for May 2 sponsored by the Sophomore Council, will donate their proceeds to the Chest drive.

THE CAMPUS Charity Chest, an innovation on the campus, combines four drives into one. The Heart Fund, Cancer Crusade, and Student Service Fund also assists Welfare.

The goal of this drive is $1,000 and in order to accomplish the purpose of the drive, we must raise five times as much money as has been raised before in a single drive." Hess stressed. "Four drives are being combined into one. Students who are accustomed to giving 10 or 15 cents to each drive, once a year, must realize that this is their only opportunity to give. If each student does this we will meet our goal," he said.

EVENTS IN the past two weeks which have contributed to the Chest were an "all" club picnic Supper Sunday afternoon last week at women's dormitories at which seven students were picked at auction, "Flying High" circus and the Sophomore Hop.

Individual organizations such as sororities and fraternities, WFSU, and men's barracks have also contributed.

OTHER OFFICERS in charge of the drive are: Jo Hall Proctor, secretary, and Bill Cornelius, treasurer. The committee chairmen include: Caroline Whitmire, publicity; Carol Henderson, women's dormitories; Marianne Odle, church groups; Milton Polk, men's dormitories; Dame McNeil, campus organizations; Milton Struthers, faculty; Bill Ford, solicitation; Edna Mae Hendricks, and Margaret Kraseman, ways and means.

Americanism Bill Passed

House Votes By 75-9 Margin; Goes to Senate

The highly controversial bill requiring the teaching of Americanism in Florida's public schools was passed by a 75-9 margin in the House of Representatives yesterday.

According to the bill, courses in "Americanism" must be required of all students in the public schools of the state who are in grades from the sixth to the twelfth. The course will include American history, a study of the founders of the country and the constitution.

DURING THE debate preceeding the final voting on the measure, Rep McWilliams of Citrus county stated that there is a definite need to teach democracy in the public schools. WWII is over. In leave from the army, argued that 'many soldiers today do not know why we fought in a war. The way to get a stronger America is to teach the youth Americanism."

Rep T Dowda of Putnam county disagreed with McWilliams idea that the legislature should enact the bill. "I think that we are getting hasty in dictating the Department of Education what should be taught in the schools. I feel that we are out of our territory," Dowda argued.

But the stage was set for John Bollinger, eloquent representative from Palm Beach, to add the clinching argument which assured the passage of the bill.

"I HAVE been asked to read the communistic books which relate how they will attempt to infiltrate the schools of the United States. They plan to move into our school system inch by inch and teach their propaganda to our youth," Bollinger said. He concluded by stating that "we must do something to counteract such a program."

The bill must go to the Senate for their approval before it goes into effect.

A similar bill that would require the teaching of Americanism in the states' institutions of higher learning will probably come before the lower house in the near future. The measure is now being discussed by the committee on education.

These measures were advocated by Governor Warren in his speech to the Legislature earlier this month.

22 Rare Paintings Exhibited Sunday At New Art Gallery

An exhibition of 22 rare paintings valued at over a half million dollars was formally opened Sunday at 2 p m at the Art Gallery, Broad floor of the former dining hall building.

The art treasures have been loaned to the University Art Gallery for a month by the John and Mabel Ringling Museum in Sarasota. The paintings include "Christ of the Cross" by El Greco, "Portrait of Cardinal Guillaume du Prat" by Titian, and "St Andrew the Apostle" by Van Dyck.

THE EXHIBIT may be viewed daily by the public from 12:30 to 5:30 p m, Monday through Friday, from 7 to 10 p m Thursday, and from 2 to 5 p m on Sundays.

Special art groups who wish to view the paintings in a body may make arrangements by calling extension 296, according to Prof Edmund Lewandowski, gallery director.

This priceless collection of rare paintings was transferred from its home at the Ringling Museum in Sarasota to Tallahassee under a special armed guard of 50 state highway patrol. It will remain under 24-hour guard at the university.

Dr Merrill To Speak To Health Ed Club

Dr Charles Merrill of the Health Education Department will be guest speaker at the Health Education Club tonight, 6:30, in the Seminole building club room. He will speak about the recent national convention of the American Association of Health, Physical Education, and Recreation which he attended.

New officers for the coming year elected at the last meeting are: Janice Brown, president; John Lutz, vice-president; and Jimmie Turvaville, secretary-treasurer.

Faculty Auction Set

The Faculty auction, which is being held for the benefit of the Campus Chest, will be held Thursday, May 3 by the Council directors. It is being sponsored by Sophomore council.

Stadium Jam Packed By 20,000 Circus Fans

Nearly 20,000 circus fans from all sections of Florida crowded the west stand of Doak S Campbell stadium this weekend to see Florida State University's spectacular show, "Flying High."

A 35 ACTS of this two-hour show this year won unanimous acclaim from the huge audience packing the stands for the three performances.

The colorful fourth edition of "Flying High," showing for the first time in the stadium, featured daring and thrilling feats throughout the show.

Everything from sensational aerial ballets to ferocious maneating "lady-tigers" were viewed Thursday through Saturday nights by young and old alike. Each of the acts was preceded by the big-nosed gayly-dressed clowns from "Clown Alley." As they paraded through the audience and frolicked with their galloping lalopy

WINNING WIDE approval were circus stars, Dorie Kittrell and Bob Johnson, in a breath-taking "Stratosphere Act." Suspense filled the audience as this team accomplished unbelievable feats of equilibrium in another act, "The Rola-Rola."

Variety was prominent in the 1951 show in such numbers as the Bicycle act, backgrounded by a combination of grace and beauty on the swinging ladders. Also receiving large applause were such numbers as "The Skating Whirlwinds," comical "Madam Fifi's Charm School," and "The Golden Pair."

One of the most artistic acts of the circus was the "Cloud Swing," featuring Seminole Princesses on Parade.

MUSICAL FAVORITES were played throughout the entire show as background music. Set the acts by the 35-piece Circus band, under the direction of Bob Brumagi of the Florida State Music. Feet were neard tapping to such numbers as "Jericho," and humming began as the band swung into the musical favorite, "A Pretty Girl Is Like a Melody."

Spectators throughout Florida are in agreement this week that the FSU world-wide acclaimed circus, "Flying High," has gone beyond its purpose in education and progress with the 1951 edition.

Curtain Rises Tomorrow On Saroyan's Jim Dandy

The opening performance of William Saroyan's "Jim Dandy," will be presented by the department of speech tomorrow in the Augusta Conradi Little Theatre at 8:15 p m. It will run through April 28.

Play director Carl Zerke, speech instructor, says that Jim Dandy is things, rather than imitating things. Saroyan sets the time of the play as "any time," the place, "any place." The play has no character, no imitations of people and no plot.

"JIM DANDY" features such unusual scenes as stairways that lead nowhere, and unusual music such as "boogie woogie" during a love scene.

Music director for the production is Thomas Wright, School of Music, who also directed the music for the Greek production of the play at the University of Indiana several years ago.

Parts in the play are taken by Lee Hildman, Ben Husley, Ken Martin, Sunny Thompson, Margot Nasrallah, David Veterans, Alan Thompson, William Upshaw, Claudia Powell and George Cory.

All FSU Students Will Vote Today For May Day Court

Voting for king, queen and court of the May Day dance will take place today in lower Westcott and during the dining hours in the Suwannee Room. All students may vote.

The May Day Dance will be held Saturday night at 8 at the Student Union, West campus with Jerry Kohler and his orchestra furnishing the music. The open dance will be sponsored by the Student Union Organization and will be formal.

ANY STUDENTS interested in helping decorate the Union for the dance should meet Saturday at 1:30 p m or anytime afterwards at the Union, announced Woodley Grizzard, chairman of the decorations committee.

Jerry Johnson is in charge of elections of royalty.

Collegians' Feature Popular Selections In Spring Concert

Popular selections will be featured in the Men's Glee Club spring concert, to be given in the Music Hall next Friday evening, April 27, at 8:15.

"The Collegiana," directed by J Dayton Smith, will sing selections from "Funny Face" and "Of Thee I Sing" by George Gershwin, and from the Rodgers and Hammerstein smash hit "South Pacific."

"THE GROUP will also sing a series of American sea chanteys and work songs, including "Bimbam Jail" and "Waiting for the Robert E Lee."

"The Carnival Song," by Walter Piston will be presented for the first time in Florida. For this piece, written for men's chorus and brass instruments, the Glee Club will be assisted by the FSU Brass Choir, directed by William Cramer.

THE CONCERT will climax a busy week for the Collegians. An advance publicity the "Collegians" have been spreading the women's housing units on campus and the sororities.

Soloists for the program will be Blair Hennessey, Bill Dalrymple and Jack Watkins. Jim Harris student conductor of the group, will lead the Glee Club in one number.

Professor Studies State Employees

A study among 200 state employees on morale, attitude and job satisfaction conducted by Nicholas M Vincenti, psychology department professor, ranks job security first among nine major items of morale.

The main objective of the study, according to Professor Vincenti, was to determine what factors the state employees consider most important among the nine items to be ranked.

Employees listed the items in the following descending order: job security, good boss, fair pay, promotion on merit, interesting work, credit for work done, good working companions, understanding and appreciation, and opportunities to use their own ideas.

Gold Key Meeting

There will be an important meeting of Gold Key Thursday evening at 6:45 in room 403, Alumni building, according to Bill Conklin, president.

Plans will be made for a picnic and members will discuss projects on the agenda for the rest of the year.

Frank Wood Gives Frat Its Charter

Alpha Phi Omega, service fraternity, world national this weekend and received its charter from Frank D Wood, national treasurer of the organization Saturday at a banquet at the Talahassee Elks Club.

Twenty-six students, former Boy Scouts, were initiated into the FSU chapter which joins 226 other schools who have chapters of the fraternity for former Scouts.

Receiving the charter from the national treasurer were President Doak S Campbell; Lloyd Turner, Tallahassee attorney who is a Scout executive; Prof William Leap, of the Social Welfare School; and Jimmie Evans, president of the chapter.

A rituals team from the University of Florida chapter initiated the group before the banquet took place.

Ballot Cast Today For Class Elections

141 Candidates in Running; Only 3 Precincts Operating

Polls opened at 9 a m today for class officer primary elections. A ballot containing a near-record total of 141 names will be voted on, stated Paul Garrison, elections chairman.

Precincts will be open until 5 p m today and are located on the first floor of Westcott, in the East campus dining hall and the West campus post office.

IN ADDITION to the class offices to be filled, officers will also be elected to the University Recreation association, and the student Traffic-Safety Court. Thewa offices are listed on a separate ballot from the class offices and will be voted on by the whole student body.

Chairman Garrison emphasized the fact that second semester seniors, graduating in June, will not be allowed to vote for next years senior class representatives. But a student who is only a first semester senior and will be enrolled as a senior next fall will be allowed to vote for the senior class officers, he said.

THOSE STUDENTS now enrolled as freshmen will elect sophomore officers, sophomores will elect juniors, and juniors will elect senior class officers. All students including graduating seniors will be allowed to vote for the University Recreation association officers and the Traffic-Safety Court offices.

Students who have qualified as candidates are:

Local Jaycee Petition Asks City Election

Junior Chamber Group Submits Wet-Dry Issue To People for Voting

A petition which will be circulated to the citizens of Tallahassee regarding the wet-dry issue has been drawn up by the Junior Chamber of Commerce.

The Jaycees have emphasized the fact that they are not taking sides on any issue. They are merely presenting the issue before the people which will be the first vote on the subject since 1937.

UNDER THE existing rules at Florida State University, the passage or defeat of a "wet" bill will effect only men students since women students are not permitted to drink.

The petition will only give the voter the alternative of voting to have an election on the issue. If 25 per cent of the registered voters sign the petition, an election to determine whether the county will remain dry will be held immediately

ONE OF the proposals submitted in the event that the citizens vote for the county is that of a county owned package store. It has been pointed out by the advocates of this measure that such a provision would eliminate the possibility of bars from being too numerous in the county.

It has also been announced that the county would receive approximately $150.000 from taxes if liquor sales were made legal.

A meeting of the Junior Chamber tonight will determine when the final petition will be presented to the authorities.

Leadership Society Will Initiate Soon

Alley Reveals Standards For Membership in ODK

Omicron Delta Kappa, men's national leadership society, will tap new members in the near future, according to Doug Alley, president.

Qualifications for membership are based on the five major phases of college life: scholarship, athletics, publications, government, and speech, music and dramatic arts.

Members must hold one major office and two minor offices to be eligible for membership. Scholarship requirements must be met, which means the prospective nominee must be in the upper 35 per cent of his class.

THIS SCHOLARSHIP requirement has excluded a few men who had all the other qualifications, Alley said.

Though based upon a point system in which every office held in the university activities is given a rating, ODK uses this only as a guide. A unanimous vote of all ODK members is required for selection of each new member.

FOR THE FALL TERM, ODK has had nearly 40 men under consideration. At the present time two men have been voted into the society with 17 others to be considered tonight at the regular weekly meeting. Of those 40 men, 20 were disqualified because of scholarship.

For the first time, the leadership society will tap an outstanding public servant in Florida. The Floridian will be made a member honorm casus and will be presented with his key and certificate at the annual membership banquet next month.

Skipper, Krasemann Are Royal Couple At Sophomore Hop

Bill Skipper and Margaret Krasemann were crowned king and queen of the Sophomore Hop Saturday night. Dr Otis McBride, dean of men, crowned the royal couple.

Theme of the annual formal dance was "Sophomores on Bingo Board." The Lafayette Room was decorated in a nautical atmosphere with the bandstand like a portholes and anchors. Music for the dancers was furnished by Georgia Boy and his orchestra.

THE HOP was the climax of a week-long drive by the Campus Chest which had as its goal of $1,500 to be divided between the World Student Service Fund, the Cancer Crusade, the Heart Fund, the Red Cross and the Student Welfare Fund.

Members of the Sophomore Hop court were Ellen Avis, Sally Kennedy, Jo Nell Proctor, Mary Ruth Summers, John Morris, Bud Robinson, Jere Salyers and Ted Steinmeyer.

U S Civil Service Has Scheduled Test

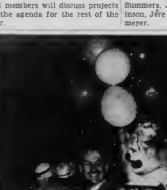
The United States Civil Service Commission has announced an examination for Substitute Clerk to will positions in the Postal Transportation Service of the Post Office Department in Florida.

Appointments to these positions are restricted by competitive rules to veteran preference and, according to the Commission, the Post Office Department prefers men for these positions.

Basic rate of pay is $1.41½ an hour. Full information and application forms may be obtained from the Commission's local secretary, Mr Wade Hampton. All questions interested may contact the Office of Vocational Guidance and Placement, 203 Westcott.

Geologists Needed By Civil Service

Civil service examinations have been announced for filling geologist positions in Washington, Washington, D C, and throughout the United States, Engineer and physicist positions at the Naval Aid Development Center, Johnsville, Pa. will also be offered.



Salaries for all these positions range from $4,600 to $7,600 a year. No written test will be given to applicants for the positions.

All further information may be obtained at the office of Vocational Guidance and Placement, 203 Westcott.

Forum Will Discuss Graduate Work Plans

A vocational guidance forum, "Planning for Graduate Work" will be presented at 7 p m tomorrow in the Longmire auditorium. Dr M W Carothers, dean of the graduate school, will discuss "The Why, the What and How of Graduate Work". G F Tully, Vocational Guidance and Placement director, will speak on "Financing Graduate Work".

The program is open to the public and especially those interested in graduate work.

STUDENT LEADERS PLAY HOSTS—On the first night of FSU's "Flying High" performance, student leaders on campus played hosts to the 1951 legislators. The visitors were feted with a buffet supper after which they were entertained by the daring feats of the circus aerial artists.

News Editor Calls Reporter's Meeting

A compulsory meeting of all Flambeau reporters and assistant news editors will be held this afternoon at 5 in the Flambeau office.

All students who are interested in becoming reporters or who have worked for the paper at any time are urged to attend by Jeanne O'Riordin, newly appointed news editor.

Problem of Fact In Truman-MacArthur Issue

"The President shall be commander-in-chief of the army and navy of the United States . . ." Article II, Section II of the U S Constitution ordains. Did irresponsible politicians and commentators should incite a state of near hysteria because of a President's exercise of this constitutional duty is a shocking revelation of the extent to which the democratic faith is misunderstood or rejected in high places today.

The Truman-MacArthur conflict may be approached either as a problem of fact or as a problem of theory. Our government's policy is to try to limit the war to Korea and to focus our primary effort on Europe; the government's policy is to extend the area of conflict and to commit the hulk of our forces in Asia. Our government, although joined by every democracy in the world, may be wrong and one of its generals may be right, although the refusal of Roosevelt and Churchill to respond to similar persuasive from this general appears to virtually every military historian to have been vindicated in World War II. Nor does the coincidence of Russia's primary current aim—to push us into a total war with China in order to create a power vacuum in the valuable industrial lands of Europe—with that of the general speak well for his as a global policy.

But on the factual wisdom of these conflicting policies there is room for honest disagreement.

Even if MacArthur were right and the President wrong, however, the general had to be dismissed in order to maintain the civilian, politically responsible control of governmental policy without which there is no democracy. The personalities involved are irrelevant. MacArthur, as an active seeker of political office, ran a poor race in the Wisconsin presidential primaries in 1948 and Truman was elected our President.

MacArthur's demagogic speech merely reinforces these arguments by emphasizing the claim that his military expertise should be obediently followed by our President he demonstrated blindness to the facts (a) that in a democracy the "expert" is "always on tap, never on top," and (b) that a nation can no more predicate its overall foreign policy on purely military considerations than it can on purely geo-political, diplomatic, economic, or ideological considerations.

When a Caesar-like ego and a persecution complex add to all this a martyr's halo replete with scrambled eggs, it is almost more than we can stomach.

Our constitution now calls for a complex system of judicial structure embracing a University court, a judicial court, house councils and a traffic court.

A congressional with the Constitution of the United States shows that this document calls for only one court—the Supreme Court. The rest of the court structure in the United States has been a result of legislative action since the U S Constitution says that inferior courts may be set up by Congress as they are needed.

This system of establishing courts should be instituted in our student constitution. The traffic court is a good example of how this could work.

Instead of delaying the setting up of a traffic court by waiting for students to vote on a constitutional amendment, the power could have rested in the UGA Senate and the court would be operating now. The only time if there were a need for a court, this long, drawn out, cumbersome process of establishment would be cut in half. The constitution should just make provision for the University court and outline the jurisdiction of that court.

In addition, it would be wise for a system of procedures to be adopted by the court for judicial review and handling of cases offensive to the honor code. There has been a crying need for these procedures. The cases have noted from cases that have come before the court this year.

Lastly, we suggest removal of the clause restricting the number of persons that can run for Chief Justice of this court. We can plainly see that it is necessary in the State Supreme court to have experience requirements for holding a justiceship. But the cases have many years in which to garner this experience.

At Florida State University, the number of people who can run for Chief Justice is limited to two. Students are in school for only four years at the most and if they decide to run for any other office they cannot run for Chief Justice. This example has been classicly illustrated this semester.

And from our observations, we have noticed that a year's internship on the court

This year's Junior class has set a fine example and there is no reason why our Junior class of next year cannot set an equally fine example of achievement on our campus. Dear Sophomores:

Next Tuesday you will vote for your officers to represent our class in elections for the coming year. I am one of the candidates seeking the office of Junior representative to the University Senate.

Through a separation of student government work in high school, I believe that the most important part of the job is the publicity platfor for this office should be one of organization. And I promise to do my best in carrying out the will of the students by the improvement of our student government and through better relations between the administration and the student body in such a way as will make for a better university.

Your consideration and support will be appreciated.

OLD ENOUGH TO VOTE-OLD ENOUGH TO DRINK

By EARL DOBERT

The most vehement argument used in the House of Representatives on the question of whether or not to lower 21-year-old-to vote was "if they are old enough to carry a gun, they are old enough to vote."

The amendment was passed in the House two years ago before the Senate. If that body passes the amendment it then goes before the electorate in the next general election before it is inserted in the constitution. It is almost a certainty that the people of political office, ran a poor race in the Wisconsin presidential primaries in 1948 and Truman was elected our President.

By passing this measure, the claim is that 18-year-olds will be all right for 18-year-olds to vote in local and state and to be responsible for their debts. But a few things were left out.

1 Why can a child can vote at 18 why cannot he enter a package store and make purchases of intoxicating beverages? If he is old enough to carry a gun, he is old enough to drink whiskey.

And the measure also provides that women will be allowed to vote. They are not carrying guns.

In other words, the argument used by the proponents of the bill is not valid in every respect. If they are going to give the voting right to people of 18-years-old then it stands to reason that all other privileges should be bestowed upon him.

The right to vote carries with it the responsibility of exercising that right intelligently. Eighteen year olds have not yet reached maturity for placing this responsibility with any degree of maturity. They are more interested in fun-eating, and other activities not related to the serious business of government.

Of course they are old enough to carry guns. Generals have said on 18-year-old makes the best soldier. They have also qualified this statement by saying an 18-year-old makes the best soldier because he is more physically fit and is not mature enough to know what fear is.

In addition, soldier is given extensive training before he is allowed to carry that gun into battle. As an 18-year-old given training in how to pull down the voting machine lever with any degree of intelligence?

Yet to come up in the 1951 Legislature is a bill providing for the teaching of Americanism from the sixth grade to the twelfth grade and for the permanent display of the Constitution.

This columnist, fast becoming known as the "conservative Senator," has advocated that this bill not pass in either house simply because we are teaching Americanism everyday in our classrooms. If such a bill is passed, however, the legislature will have provided for teaching a subject which most voters theoretically should know.

They will allow 18-year-olds to vote without knowing about the thing called Americanism. The only answer we can get from this two and two is five. If both bills are passed it stands to reason that they contradict each other.

The only conclusion we can draw is that the 18-year-old amendment was passed for the purely political purpose of gathering votes.

VOTING, VOTING AND MORE VOTING

By BETSY BLANTON

After a brief breather from UGA elections, class elections are upon us. From a letter box to the tiery and don't provide so much wear and tear on the nerves as do general campus elections.

Some of the candidates have been put up by the prospective candidates are next to profession-al levels. The character sketches and general attitude of the candidates make these elections more amusing than the entire campus.

Debate was formerly made less bitter for candidates when the DCC was in existence. This was an "organized" way for defeated candidates only. If by some terrible bit of luck a member should pened to be unfortunate enough to be elected to an office, he was excommunicated from the group.

If a student ran for the office of secretary of the senior class and was defeated by another candidate, the loser actually held the position for a year.

It might not be a bad idea if the DCC were re-activated . . . It sort of takes the sting out of losing.

Voting for the king, queen and court of the May Day dance is slated for today. This column urges all students to vote in this election, since there is a tendency for many not to have a voice in selecting this annual campus event.

Precincts will be set up in Westcott and in the dining hall during dining hours. The dance will be held at the Student Union Building.

Another ballot will be presented to those voting in class elections today . . . that concerns the Miss Who Who on campus.

Each student will have three alternatives in casting his ballot. One, he can vote to maintain Who's Who on this campus only; two, he can advocate that FSU join the national Who's Who organization and three, he can vote to abolish the organization from this campus.

The issue has arisen since the University Senate last year passed a resolution to abolish Who's Who here until the student body voted to re-establish it.

University Council went ahead with plans for Who's Who this year without consulting the students, and that's where the controversy arises.

It is imperative that a representative number of opinion be obtained in this election.

If it is the will of the majority that Who's Who to be maintained, then all well and good. But it is proven that the organization will add nothing to campus life, then the decision will have to be abided by.

This corner sincerely hopes that all students will weigh both sides of the issue and vote accordingly.

None of us like to have others make our decisions for us. That is the basic reason why everyone should vote. If only a small number turn out and vote, it is the same as the decision, those who somehow manage to find their way to the polls will have no justification for complaining.

BASEBALL-- HOT SUMMER DAYS, PEANUTS

By JEANNE O'RIORDEN

Warm weather is finally here and with it comes changes in temperature between my deadline and the time this column appears). Basilica has moved its retreat from dorm to barracks to local 500 Block.

Baseball . . . the word brings to mind hot summer afternoons, the smell of hot dogs and peanuts, the Yankees, the Phillies (my sports enthusiasts friend says the Phillies aren't going to win the series, but I can always hope).

It doesn't matter whether you're watching the big leagues or the local boys' game, the spirit everywhere is the same. Soma games are always more exciting no matter who is playing.

Last week when the Semicoles were playing the Tallahasee Citizens, some students sitting in back of Citizen rooter really got excited. They yelled and cheered and created a general disturbance at the Seminoles on. The Tallahassee fan turned around and said

"Why doesn't your team stay in their own clans . . . with the rest of the Fan Club Set?"

It looks as if all the Artist Series' have already been booked for nothing. They spent much time wondering what attraction who could appear here next year. Then they released the information on the Fantasy and blanks were printed so that students could indicate their choices.

Evidently, not more than 210 students voted. Whether such a kind of Artist Series is planned for next year. This shows that the Artist Series is not popular as has chosen in the past has been unfavorable to the majority of the students.

So the committee planned a couple of big programs for next year and some smaller ones. Then came the crack in Westcott . . . the result . . . the cancellation of speakers will be presented on next year's series in the Music Hall auditorium.

They tried, anyway.

We're got to stop teaching social science at Florida State University. Many at the students are beginning to believe that Negroes have a right to eat, sleep, live, work, have the same educational opportunities as everyone. In a recent poll taken by Bob Mason and Roberta Alford, published in Smoke Signals, 84 students said they approved of Negroes going to FSU's Gradate School.

Now, we all know that if this happened the cream of the Southland, the KKK, would be up in arms. They would not approve of the flower of young womanhood would be in danger. Probably would be burning crosses, and hooded figures all over the campus. The Legislature might even pass a bill. Well, we must never give the Negro a chance. His might prove himself too good.

That brings to mind the incident that happened a few years ago in South Florida.

A certain civic club had rented a hotel dining room for their regular meetin. When they assembled, however, they were told that the management had refused them the room because one of their guests was a Negro. The club immediately moved to another hotel, taking their guest—16-year-old Negro girl with them.

It seems they were going to give her a $25 prize for writing the best high school paper on "Why I Love America."

Dear Sophomores:

Without trying to apply the many terms and phrases promising good government, I will say that I would, nevertheless, like to express to you my desire to be elected one of your representatives in the coming elections.

You and I both know that our school government system is open for entirely too many improvements for the person in charge himself to amend. To be a senator, or for that matter, any officer of the UGA should primarily have his classmates' interest at heart, not only for individual prestige, but try and see the viewpoints and ideas of those he represents.

To me a senator has perhaps one of the most important offices in our UGA. Knowing the school's needs and being aware of the student body's opinion, I feel the senator of each class must at times act as a delegate and think in terms of the student, the group and as an individual.

I couldn't possibly make any promises as to doing this or that in the senate, or putting such a thing into effect. However, such a thing is my sincere desire and I will use all my influence that those who might support me in this election can feel certain and rest assured that my duties as senator will not play the much criticized role of the "two-bit" college politician. I will try in the most earnest effort to speak for and represent the students during the way they expect him ter realizing they are individuals and that they have minds and ideas of their own.

I would sincerly appreciate being chosen your senator for next year.

Though most of my fellow students are probably aware that my platform has been for years, I would like to enumerate briefly its main planks:

1—The creation of a student budget committee, so that students may know just where their money goes.

3—More competition between U of F and FSU.

I know that these are big propositions, but I think we can find out just what can be done and then do it.

Knowing that with your support we can really have a strong student government, I am

Dear Editor:

As I look over the list of candidates for Senior offices, I can easily see that they have not worked hard to select one of those running for the office. All they are known, show interest and are qualified. No matter who are elected, I am certain of some real action from them. But if must make these choices. In such a situation as this we should know as much as possible about the candidates so that we can feel we have used our voting power well.

Factors in electing a secretary should be based on the extent and variety of her extra-curricular activities which have contributed to her general competence and personality since her highly special work is required. Therefore, I would like to take this opportunity to give you an idea of how I have used by extra-curricular time: Parliamentarian, sophomore class; Sophomore counselor; House counselor, dramatic chairman, Sigma Kappa; Worship chairman, Ruge Hall Vestry; Registrar of the Youth Conference.

I have tried to have experience in the main fields of college life: scholastic, dramatic, religious, service—besides class work. In addition I have worked and am working on campus as a student secretary.

I would very much appreciate your support.

Fellow Students,

I would like to take this opportunity to announce that I am a candidate for the office of president of the senior class. I have always felt that the senior class should exert a real influence upon the UGA by assuming a greater degree of leadership in several phases of our campus life. We should undertake to make a real contribution by leaving behind us an enriched while university wide project in class meetings and carry it out in accordance with the best that we can do much to begin a tradition of active participation in student affairs on the part of the senior class as a unit. If I am elected to the presidency I will do my utmost to carry on such a program.

I promise you that as your president I will make the activities of the senior class my primary goal and I will strive to make our last year one which we can look upon with pride and enjoyment.

Journalism Students Find Stapp Friendly

Fulfilling a temporary position as instructor in four different classes in the school of Journalism, Mr. Robert R. Stapp gave an unusual twist to his usual line of duties that of reporting and feature writing for the Denver Post and told his 118 Mass Communications class to interview him.

Mr. Stapp's purpose in this turn of events was primarily to give prospective journalism students a bit of experience in what they would no doubt encounter in the newspaper field.

The students' interest in a piece of practical work that they would later doing was stimulated immediately. Pencils and paper were whipped out of notebooks, and in no time at all, Professor Stapp had questions fired at him from all parts of the room. These varying facts about his career were cleaned by the students.

ROBERT R. STAPP was born in Iowa, though he now resides in Denver, Colorado. His position on the Denver Post has been that of a staff writer, and he has done quite a bit of feature writing on the paper. He graduated from State Dame in, 1936 with a BA degree, majoring in English.

In his nineteen year in college he attended the Seminar of the American Press at Columbia University, where he gained invaluable information for his present line of work. He has been in the newspaper business about 11 years, and has been affiliated about five years with the Denver Post. Mr Stapp has written several articles for various small magazines, and he plans to resume his work on the Post at the end of the semester.

He says he came to FSU for a diversion from reporting, but says he is a little bewildered at teaching, since he has never had the opportunity to teach before. When asked why he chose journalism for his career, he said that he had always been interested in writing, and added, "To be a capable journalist, you must also have a fund of knowledge in various fields."

FOR A BIT more personal side of his life, he gave the class this information: He is 34 years old, married, and has an eight-year-old boy. He is a former naval pilot in the past war, and held the rank of lieutenant. His favorite newspaper columnist is Robert Ruark, and he thinks the FSU campus is very pretty!

Cavaliers Tap 14 Following Tryouts

Fourteen men were tapped as pledges by the Cavaliers, men's dancing honorary, as a result of two recent membership tryouts, according to David Panos, secretary.

The new taps are Jim Arnold, Ted Baker, Thomas Edwards, Jim Jindra, Bob Johnson, Bid Latchem, Herbert Mayerhan, Wm. O'Neal, Harold Perkins, Joe Regna, Dave Smith, Rudy Spoto and Carlos Stone.

These taps will be introduced to the active members at a meeting tonight at 7 p m in the Social Work building, after which they will attend an orientation meeting in 214 Education building.

Phones Installed With Dial System By First of June

Installation of new dial telephone equipment for the university should be completed by June 1, according to Blair Stone, telephone company general manager, and word from President Doak S Campbell.

"We are making avery effort to meet a June 1 date in having the new dial system at the university in full operation," Mr Stone said. "We expect to be able to start testing the new system in a short time."

At present, FSU operators handle all calls between the university departments, incoming and outgoing, through a manual operated switchboard. With the new dial system the operators will handle calls from the outside.

The phone calls between departments on the university campus along with calls from the university to outside phone stations will be handled by the caller dialing the number himself, having to place the call through the FSU switch board as it is done now.

The new dial system represents the newest type switchboard and telephone equipment obtainable.

FSU Freshman Recalls 22 Months in Japan

After 22 months in an American high school in Yokohama, Japan, 18-year-old Joan Austin entered Florida State University this semester.

The daughter of Lt Col Ivan Austin, now an American Eighth Army supply officer in Korea, Joan said, "My father thought it was best for our mother, my sister, and myself to return to the States when he was transferred to Korea."

AFTER HER arrival on the FSU campus, Joan met Sue Archer D Lea, Episcopal Bishop, who was in charge of an English school in Japan for many years. She reported that they talked together, the bishop in fluent Japanese and Joan in a somewhat limited "GI Japanese."

Joan recently was visited by one of her former school mates at the Yokohama school. She is Ann Wiley of Jacksonville, also the daughter of an American officer in the Eighth Army. She returned to Florida after the Korean war broke out. Ann plans to enroll at FSU next fall also.

The two girls regaled many of the quaint Japanese customs such as bowing when they met on the street and the discarding of shoes outside the front door to avoid marring the soft wood floors. "The Japanese are very fond of baseball, swimming and tennis," the beautiful freshman stated. They compete with American and other teams in sports."

A "GI JAPANESE" is learned by Americans to make themselves understood. Joan said she went into a shop and spoke in her very best Japanese to the shopkeeper who replied to her in perfect English. "Made me feel kinda silly," she grinned.

Since her return from Yokohama, Joan has received notice of a course she will follow in Japan for meritorious service in Japan in Korea.

Electron Scope Use Described By Prof
The operation and use of the Florida State University electron microscope was described by Dr Kenneth L Yudowitch, of the physics department, recently in a special program of the Sigma Xi club, physics honorary.
The electron microscope is an instrument capable of magnifying minute particles up to about 60,000 times their original size. It operates through the use of a ray of electrons instead of a beam of light.
The FSU machine was the fourth built commercially and was acquired by the university only several weeks ago, according to Dr Yudowitch. The present cost of the electron microscope is $18 300.

Armstrong Called Back to Air Force, to Serve Here

KEEPIN' SCORE

PICKS UP HIS BELONGINGS

Charlie Armstrong, the fellow who said Florida State University could beat Wofford College, will pick up his belongings and at the West campus athletic office May 14 and head for another hitch with Uncle Sam's Air Force.

Armstrong, popular head baseball and assistant football coach, is scheduled to report for active duty at Maxwell Field, Ala., and then return to FSU with the ROTC unit. A captain during the last war, Armstrong is a reserve.

Although Charlie will be at Florida State next fall, he probably won't be able to continue his coaching career. It'll definitely be a big blow to Dr Howard G Danforth's athletic staff, for Charlie was one of Don Veller's top right hand men in the Seminoles' football program.

Doleful Don, who's been crying the blues a lot the past week, will really have something to cry about now. Armstrong teamed with Bob Harbison to give Veller a top line coach combination, and now the burden will probably fall upon Harbison.

Veller, who wound up the third week of spring practice Friday says, "we're almost certain to have freshmen playing first string ball at the defensive tackles and at the defensive ends.

"We haven't uncovered anyone in the workouts that appears capable of winning starting positions at tackle and end. And with the 1951 freshmen we have lined up still susceptible to the draft or be changing for school they're not a bad spot."

Veller has been changing backfield linemen in an effort to develop another one of his outstanding lines. He hasn't been successful yet.

FSU, unbeaten and untied last season, was scored on only twice in their 26 games under Veller, lost his first two backs and all of the wing-flight ends in one swoop.

Veller's end problem, of course, figures to be diminished somewhat by big Bob Whitmer, former Purdue University freshman who is one of the baseball squad and is not taking part in spring practice with the football squad.

Whitmer, who has one season of eligibility remaining, has told the Seminole coach that he will report in the fall. It is likely, however, that Whitmer will be used chiefly on defense and especially on offense unless the manpower remains as critical as it appears right now. Little Jimmy Arnold, 154-pound defensive ace, is on tap for another year at the end post.

At the tackles the veteran Vic Szempanuk has looked good on offense. Lettermen Mac Huey and Bob Wodrich and newcomer Gil Cawn rank as the top prospects defensively. Huey is taking his first fling at tackle after a season at quarterback. Big 220-pound Ferd Neary, who was hurt the second day of practice, could be a "sleeper" at tackle.

At guard the picture isn't so gloomy in fact, it's bright. Captain Bill Dawkins has been assisting the line coaches and done little actual playing, but he is one of the hardest-hitting linemen in the south and a fixture on the defense.

Earl O'Neal and versatile Bob Schmelz both lettered at the post last year, and Charlie Booth, a freshman transfer from the University of Florida, looks like a good prospect. Bob Tully is back after a year's absence and improving steadily and converted back-end Don Linton appears to have taken to the switch to the forward wall.

Steve Kalenich, last year's number one offensive center, is back at the pivot. Tommy Owen, 17 pounds heavier this spring than he was as a reserve last fall, has been coming along fast. Ed Lockard, a letterman last year, is pitching with the baseball team.

With practically all of last year's first three backfield units back intact, Veller hasn't been too perturbed about his attacking forces. His one-two punch of Nelson Italiano and Mike Sebera is still clicking. P E Bradley, reserve fullback who has moved to blocking back, is the most improved back on the squad.

Newcomer Rocco Browning has looked extremely good on defense at times, and returnees Gary Polsom and Phil Alvers have improved considerably over their 1950 performances.

Among the newcomers Al "Crazylegs" Woodham, a transfer from Auburn, Ronald King who entered here from Tulsa and Bobby Fiveash, a Georgia college transfer, have caught the eyes of the coaching staff with their play.

Three of Veller's veteran backs won't out. Wayne Benner and Henry Bringer are playing baseball and Tommy Brown is on the golf team.

Florida State, which will begin

Netters Split On Road Trip, Blast Mercer

The touring Seminole tennis team bounced back on Saturday to defeat Mercer in a Dixie Conference game after dropping their Friday match to Jacksonville Navy.

Coach Ralph Matherly's netters fell before Navy by a count of 6-2 on Friday, with Jack Berry winning the only single match for the Seminoles and Berry and Jack Egan combined for a victory in the doubles to score the only points for FSU.

The closest contest of the day saw FSU's Larry Dickson and Navy's Les Smith battle three and one-half hours before Smith copped the third set 12-10.

THE SEMINOLES came back strong on the Saturday in Macon to trounce the Mercer Bears 7-2 in a Dixie Conference match. The Seminoles have won all five of their conference games this year, but have been in each of their seven non-conference matches.

FSU took five of the six singles matches from Mercer and two of the three doubles events for their seventh win.

Summaries:

FSU-MERCER

Singles: Larry Dickson, FSU, defeated John Schumpert 8-2, 4-6, 8-1; Sellers Walker, Mercer, defeated Jack Egan 6-3, 6-3; Ted Cooper, FSU defeated Gus Rice 6-3, 6-4; Jack Berry, FSU, defeated Bill Bell 6-2, 6-2; Dan Roda, FSU, defeated Scott Schwarz 6-4, 6-4; Bill Graham, FSU, defeated Sonny Thigpen 6-4, 6-4.

Doubles — Chalmers and Williams, Navy, defeated Dickson and Egan 6-3, 6-2; Berry and Jack Egan, FSU, defeated Curtin and Bill Graham 4-6, 6-4, 7-5

FSU Linksmen Whip Rollins

Florida State's golf team copped its last home match of the season Saturday afternoon on the local golf course, scoring a 15½-2½ victory over Rollins. Earlier in the season the Seminoles had placed the Tars to a 9-9 tie in Winter Park.

The victory was the sixth of the season for Coach Bob Harold's crew with Off two bases against them, and the aforementioned tie with Rollins.

Bud Marmer was low man for the Seminoles Saturday with a two-under-par 70. Dick Mooney posted a 73.

The remaining matches for the Seminoles with the scores:

The summaries:

Ted Johnson (F) 73; Billy Key (R) 77—2½

Dick Mooney (F) 73; Larry Bensley (R) 75—1½

Johnson and Mooney (F) over Key and Bensley, 3-2.

Ted Hewitt (F) 76, Al Peterson (R) 78—2½

Bud Marmer (F) 70, Carl Nesler (R) 74—3-0

awarding football scholarships next fall, has approximately 30 boys out for the spring drills who will get the grants. The other 25 will probably be given out to freshmen and transfer students who are scheduled to arrive in September.

On his recent trip through Indiana, Pennsylvania, Ohio, etc. Veller has talked with a number of prospective high school linemen and a few backs and probably talked a few into coming to FSU.

Anyway, he evidently has some pretty good material lined up if he expects some of the freshmen to win starting berths on the Seminole eleven next fall.

The Florida State University track team has canceled Saturday's scheduled meet here with Florida Southern College and doesn't see actior again until May 5 when they meet Mississippi College here.

In the trackmen's victory over Davidson and Emory here Saturday afternoon, little John Poston flew around the rough track to take the 100-yard and 220-yard dashes.

Poston posted new school records in both events, running the 100 in 9.6 and the 220 in :21.8 He's a 22-year-old junior from Jacksonville

Both gymnasts hail from Philadelphia, are married, and are close friends.

FSU Trackmen Top Davidson, Emory

Coach Ken Miller's tracksters edged out Davidson College in the tri-angular track meet here Saturday afternoon, scoring 80 1-3 points to the vistors 73 1-6. Emory, the third team in competition, scored only 8 1-2 points.

The meet was still undecided up until the final event, the mile relay, which was copped by the Seminole team of John Poston, Pete Franchetti, Woody Parker, and Dick Mize with a time of 3:40.3.

Woody Parker of Lake Wales was the big point getter as he captured the 440-yard dash with a time of 51.6 seconds.

Poston set two new school marks—one in the 100 yd dash and another in the 220. His times were 9.6 and 21.8 respectively.

Jim Arnold also set a new school record in the two-mile run by posting a time of 10:29.4.

Other track records were set during the meet by McNeely of Davidson in the discus and White of Emory in the Javelin.

Florida State University's peerless gymnastic team successfully defended their Southeastern AAU title Saturday evening at Atlanta, Georgia.

A full house witnessed the Seminoles amass a total of 54 points, Georgia Tech finished second with 33 points and Georgia Military Academy rounded out the team scoring with eight markers.

The win was the fourth championship victory for the Pricemen this year, More remarkable is the fact that the FSU National Collegiate Championship squad of Bill Roetenbaugh, Ike Berna twins, and Bill Vrettos did not compete.

Jack Miles was the outstanding individual performer, winning the flying rings and all around events. Miles clinched the all around afternoon trailing former national all around champion Paul Pina till the final event. Two points behind with only the flying rings left, Miles displayed near perfect form on the rings to clinch the title by eight-tenths of a point.

OTHER SEMINOLE firsts were Pat Signorelli on the side horse and Dick Gutting in the tumbling event.

Former Seminole ace Joe Calvetti, performing unattached, copped first place on the high bar.

Jack Sharp finished third in the all around with Seminoles Signorelli and Joe Quic fourth and fifth, respectively.

Medal winners were Miles with four, Sharp three, Gutting two, and Weston one.

Lawrence Weston, a Florida boy, placed third in the tumbling directly behind Gutting. Weston who had no previous gymnastics experience before coming to FSU has amazed even Coach Price with his remarkable performances as of late.

Gutting, upon popular demand, put on his Gymkana trampoline routine for the audience. His clownish antics and uncanny mastery of the trampoline climaxed the evening of competitive gymnastics.

In Miles and Sharp, Price has two of the best ring men in the country. There are many times even in Price's efforts to add next AAU national title to his ever growing list of championships.

processed Armstrong will return to FSU and will be attached to the ROTC unit on temporary duty.

It is unknown whether the veteran Seminole mentor will be here May 18 when the Seminole nine plays a two-game series with the Stetson nine.

Armstrong, who is in the Air Force reserve, says that he will not be able to serve in the athletic department upon his return to Florida State from the Alabama

Hotel for Day Set for May 4 At Wakulla Springs

The first annual "Hotel for a Day" project is being inaugurated by the FSU department of restaurant and hotel management will be held on May 4.

The events of the day will be centered around a tropical setting. The site of the "Hotel Tropicana" will be the Wakulla Springs Lodge.

The entire program is being planned by FSU students studying restaurant and hotel management and is designed to give the students addition work experience in actually carrying out such programs.

Mr Howard Dayton, president of the Howard Dayton national hotel chain, will be the guest speaker at the banquet and will discuss hotel development and expansion. Other FSU faculty will include some of the state's leading hotel operators and officials of the Hotel and Restaurant association.

The Tarpon Club and divers from the swimming team will be used on the program.

The major league's longest inning was the seventh of a Chicago-Detroit game in 1883. Chicago had 23 men at bat and scored 18 runs

Hopes to Report At Maxwell May 14

Charlie Armstrong, head baseball and assistant football coach, announced yesterday that he has been called to temporary active duty by the Air Force.

base. However, the situation is not yet settled.

THE CLUTCH hitting of Buddy Lowe and fine mound performances by Walt Jasinski and Louie Grasso took the two-game series for the Hatter baseballers.

Lowe drove in all three of Stetson's runs in the Friday 3-0 win and blasted a double and two singles, Jasinski tossed a fine three-hitter at the slugging Seminoles, and shut them out for the second straight time. He had previously won a 1950 decision at DeLand 5-0.

In the Saturday tilt Lowe's 375-foot double in the eighth off Ed Lockard drove in the Hatters winning run in the 2-2 contest.

Grosso was touched for eight hits by FSU but he kept them well scattered. The Hatters bunched five blows off Lockard and the Seminole ace down to his first defeat of the season.

In Friday's game wrastin Bob Hartman was the victim of a 10-hit Stetson attack. Lowe doubled in the first inning after two Seminole errors to give Jasinski a 2-0 lead, and he doubled again in the eighth to score Marvel Smith with the final run.

HARTMAN, suffering his first setback of the season, walked two and fanned one. Jasinski passed one and struck out six.

After trailing through the first five frames, the Hatters got to Lockard for two runs in the sixth and then punched the ultimate marvin of victory across in the eighth.

The two defeats left FSU with a record of nine wins and three losers. The Seminoles move up to Athens, Ga., Friday for the opener of a scheduled two-game series against the Georgia Bulldogs.

The double triumph gave Stetson a record of six wins in the last seven starts and clean sweep over two state powerhouses. The had previously taken a two-game series from Miami, the only team which had topped the Seminoles prior to this Hatter tilts.

Columnist Try-Outs

All students wishing to write a column for next year's Flambeau are requested to submit trial columns for Friday's paper, editor elect Bob Griffin informed today.

Deadlines for columns will be Wednesday at 12 noon. Political, humor, feature, human interest, society, sports, and theatre reviews are among the columns suggested.

Reporter try-outs will be announced in Friday's paper.

Jim Dandy Begins Third Night Show

ALLEN DOWNES

Jim Dandy, the speech department play now showing the Augusta Conradi Theater, has already excited considerable comment in its audiences, as predicted by the ector, Carl Zerke. The controversial drama will continue through tonight and Saturday evening at 8:15.

The play is decidedly different on any stage drama ever seen, of heard of by this writer. ny public has access around to plays in the style of asperare: true romances, ue mysteries, happy endings, endings—all the plots of pretty es, and, judging by box-of-, receipts, the public still eats ay stuff up.

Recently William Saroyan ded up. He decided not to have plot, but instead to let the dience use their brain for a ime. While this plan is timid, thinking of the difference beween sports and a symphony, man composed a "speech ntation" of human emotions, nd no story, no charac-ters, no ctions, only feelings and ughts.

Into the audience would not ect "character" in this drama. e was under the stage lights ould not be true to life, but with ment various ways of looking ings. One should go to this play g the intention of looking at ion himself for a change, and ing it a little hard to see at

Some of the best talent, not of the speech department of the whole university, has ed to make this play a success dy. First there is the direcNeil Zerke of the speech deartment, whose brilliant control ceeded in forming a whole ble production which has the ateur actors often failed to ntrived.

Of importance to the performance itself is the work of Thomson Fiorello. As the ment, Thomson seems to be only one of the actors who s an understanding of the as a whole and knows exactly hat he must do to let his ter and give it meaning. No ment could be more actively ristic.

The same buoyancy is displayed Bill Upshaw in the part of the young man, Jim Dandy, Thomson, and the dancer Claudia ell) goes credit for keeping the ay alive.

Rebecca Grine's costumes and Dr. Knorr's scenery were undeby the most meaningful that could possibly be designed. Technically the production had of the best traditions of the speech department — lights, sets, costume, music and staging perfect.

18-Year-Old Voting Amendment Killed In Senate By 28-9

By STAFF WRITER

The Florida House of Representatives' resolution calling for constitutional amendment to lower the voting age from 21 to 18 was turned down in the Senate Wednesday by a 28 to 9 vote. Senators J Min Ayers of Trenton and Newman Brackin of Live Oak were among those who voted to set the resolution adopted.

AYERS AND BRACKIN maintained that the proposed constitutional amendment is the pollitter educated in the politics of government than are many men. The bills adopted limit the right to vote to married people and also to those graduates are denied voting privileges because they have reached their twenty-first birthday.

Proponents of the resolution brought up the argument that if man is old enough to die for his country he is enough to vote.

SENATOR L C TUCKER of Jacksonville countered the argument by stating that "there's a old enough to fight does not mean that he is qualified to part in an election. I told my son how to vote. I told my

Senator Lloyd Boyle of Sanford with Tucker by saying that he was under twenty-one he came back from the World War, and "despite experience I don't believe I old enough to vote."

I think any 18-year-olds make best soldiers because they act as they are told to do so," he concluded.

Speech Contest Set for May 1, Says Dr Phifer

The second annual intramural speaking events will be held the first of May according to an announcement made by Dr Gregg Phifer of the Speech Department. Headquarters for the tournament will be in 201 History Building with all events scheduled for 7 p m Tuesday evenings.

IN THE DIVISION of after dinner speaking to be held on Tuesday, the contestant will deliver a five minute speech on a subject of his own choosing. The finals will be May 7 before the Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Preliminaries in original oratory will be held on May 8. Each contestant will deliver an original oratory on a subject of his own choosing, also in ten minutes in length. Finalists in this division will appear before the Tallahassee Optimist club on May 15.

The contest in public speaking which will be from five to seven minutes in length is the informal topic "Campus Problems at FSU." Preliminaries will be on May 8 with finals on May 14.

Any students wishing to enter these contests are asked to contact Dr Wayne Minnick or Dr Gregg Phifer in 201-A History Building as soon as possible.

Dr Phifer has been elected secretary of the Southern Region of Tau Kappa Alpha, national forensic honor society recently established on campus. Dr Phifer also was appointed to the editorial board of "The Speaker," TKA quarterly magazine.

Forum on Medical Careers Scheduled

The Vocational Guidance department and Alpha Epsilon Delta, pre-medical society, will conduct a forum on medical careers on May 6. The forum will begin at 7 p m in the lounge of Jennie Murphree Hall.

Dr Paul Bowden, assistant dean of the College of Arts and Science and adviser to pre-medical students, will be another those leading in the discussion. Dr Paul J Coughlin, Tallahassee physician, and Miss Leland White, president of Alpha Epsilon Delta, will also lead in the discussion.

The forum is designed to acquaint students with premedical course, including dentistry, nursing and medical technology with the demands of the profession.

ROVING REPORTER

Voting Turnout Discussed

Because of the lack of participation of students in voting in campus elections, the question has been chosen for today's question, "How can we bring about greater student participation?"

Margie Gupton, Freshman, 324 Reynolds: There is no forces students into voting if they're not built to vote.

George Wadjowicz, Freshman, Phi Kappa Sigma: I suggest that the natural politicians have all graduated and the students remain. I just don't have the "know how" to get the vote out.

Jennie Murphree: It might help if the candidates could be introduced to the student body before elections, because people aren't interested in voting for or against people they don't even know.

E G Davies, Senior, 701 East College: First, cut out 50% of the elections; second, cut the number of candidates in half, and last (but not least) give the student officers some authority that doesn't have to be cleared through Otis McBride and Kathryn Worrell.

Jane McMillan, Freshman, 43 Reynolds: I believe we could get more people to vote if we gave them more time. Then they couldn't use the excuse of "I didn't have time."

Pat Temple, Sophomore, 317 district: In order to bring about a greater student participation in voting, there should be greater emphasis on campus rallies and perhaps a precinct set up in each dorm.

Shirley Wheeler, Senior, 238 Gilchrist: Students would have more interest in the candidates and their qualifications had more days of becoming better known to them.

Jackie Forman, Freshman, 47 Reynolds: I don't think there is any better way to get students to vote than we already have—the opportunity is there for the whole school. I think the students should be interested enough to WANT to vote instead of HAVING to vote.

Earl K Hoag, Junior-Senior, 840 West campus: Set up a two-party system and have convocations to let the students see and hear the candidates. As it is now, you haven't the slightest idea of what they are like; and a poster, in my estimation, is a very poor excuse for them. The people, no interest; no interest, no votes.

Doris Hayes, Junior, 245 North Cawthon: The candidates should let the students know who they are, then we can stop going redmessy, mixy, mo.

Jane F Orr, Senior, 542 Landis: Make each student feel that he and not some select group, is responsible for the student government and affairs. This can be done by seeing that each student has a chance to be well informed on all issues.

Mary J Swan, Junior, 347 Landis: Publicize the voting days more and make the polls more prominent so that everyone will pass at least one on his daily rounds.

Sally H Roberts, Junior, 412 South Cawthon: Give the students more information about the qualifications of the candidates.

Sam Pyles and Bob Richard, graduate students, Prince Murat Inn: Find the cause of the lack of voting interest and remove it, or: pass a bill making voting obligatory or: Just face the existing fact that people don't give a darn about school politics and stop bothering them.

New Staff Runs Today's Issue

Positions Temporary; New Columns Slated

Temporary senior staff members for the 1951-52 Florida Flambeau have been chosen by editor elect Bob Griffin.

Paying positions will be held by Jenet Pierce, managing editor; Hazel Morrison, news editor; Warren Cobb, sports editor and Virginia Smith, business manager.

Also on the senior staff are Jane Atchley and Bill Dunn, associate editors.

Temporary junior staff members are Mary Jane Corne, feature editor; Frances Cawthon and Emory Kins, assistant editors; Betty Jo Woods, assistant news editor; and Barbara Henry and Betty Jean Schoeppe, assistant managing editors.

Today's issue of the Flambeau has been put out by the new staff. However the former staff will resume office for the next few issues after today.

The editor-elect for 1951-52 has announced that columnists may still submit original columns on any subject for next year's Flambeau. Columnists selected so far are Allan Head, who will write Frankly Speaking, and Emory Kins, who will continue writing Campus Carousel.

Students wishing to report are asked to contact Hazel Morrison, acting news editor. Several positions as advertising solicitors are also open, acting business manager, Virginia Smith reported.

Professor Speaks

Associate professor of social work, Gordon J Aldridge, spoke recently on Du Bois Island at the Institute and the operation of clinic, Aldridge, who is director of the clinic, spoke to the Tallahassee Optimist club.

The social work associate will speak next Tuesday before the ministerial association upon the same subject.

"Collegians" Present Spring Concert at 8:15

"The Carnival Song," an Italian song about the wine-god Bacchus and his youthful maids, will have its Florida premiere at the Men's Glee Club spring concert tonight in the Music hall at 8:15.

Popularity called the Collegians, the Glee Club will feature seven chanties, folk and work songs of early America, and hit tunes from Broadway musicals.

Dayton Smith, director of the singing group, stated that such favorites as What Shall We Do With a Drunken Sailor, Juanita Bound and Waiting for the Robert E Lee will be on the program.

First number for the Collegians will be Northern Lights. Stella Palmgren's musical impression of native Finland. Included in the first section of the program are To the Great Pyramid, and the Carnival Song.

The university brass choir, directed by William Cramer, will assist the Glee Club in Walter Piston's Carnival Song.

Student director Jim Harris will lead the Collegians in Juniata Bound, an American work song of Pennsylvania canal frazmen arranged by Harvey Gaul. Blair Hennessey will be soloist for this number.

Bill Dalrymple will sing Birmingham Jail from Appalachian Suite, by Jack Kilpatrick.

George Gershwin will be represented on the program by songs from his hit show Funny Face and Of Thee I Sing. Other hit songs will be There Is Nothin' Like a Dame from South Pacific and The Things I Love based on a melody of Tchaikowsky. Jack Watkins will sing the Collegians serenade number, I Dream of You in the third section of the program.

The concert will be accompanied by Mac Cauthen.

Senior Hall Plans Large Open House

Open House will be held in Senior Hall Sunday from 2 to 4 pm in celebration of the Hall 1951 banquet and faculty members are being made to entertain approximately 200 guests.

Special invitations have been sent to Governor and Mrs. Fuller Warren, members of the Legislature, the Cabinet and the Board of Control and faculty members. All residents of Tallahassee and members of the student body are also invited to attend.

Tom Underwood, social chairman of the dormitory, is general chairman, and Jim Lohmeyer will have charge of the refreshments. Committees, made up of boys who live in the dormitory, will conduct the visitors on a tour through the building.

Visitors will be welcomed by a receiving line which will include President and Mrs. Doak S Campbell, Dean Carroll Brown, the lady housemother; Mr. George E Hellman, assistant Dean of Men; Hall Patron, sponsor and Mrs. Underwood.

Non-Frat Men Denied Rooms Says New Paper

"Decent housing has been denied non-fraternity men," protested a mcmeographed publication called "Youthtime" circulated over the campus Wednesday.

The publication held that "non-fraternity students want to know why eight new dorms are being exclusively leased to fraternities instead of students at large."

THE MEMEOGRAPHED sheet also attacked rent boosts as compared in the 1950 and 1951 school catalogues.

"The Village and Parkside rents have increased from $54 to $68, Jennie Murphree from $54 to $78.50, and Landis, Cawthon, Magnolia, Gilchrist, Bryan and Reynolds from $54 to $76.50," the publication stated.

The anonymous publication also attacked FSU as "building private fraternity houses with state funds."

Business Manager Rod Shaw stated that no state money is being used to build any of the present buildings under construction.

"THE MONEY is supplied by self-liquidated revenue certificates," Shaw said.

Dean Otis McBride stated that only 1,000 men students were in residence on campus. The "Youth-Time" publication stated that there were 2,386 men enrolled in school.

The new men's dormitory, now under construction, will house 572 men students.

In a statement to all men students Dean McBride stated that Magnolia, the Village and the Lodge will house men students and that Reynolds will be the only dorm for men students from Pi Kappa Phi to West Campus, but if enrollment increases next year, we will con-

Rabbits, Dinners, Trips Featured in Auction

The annual Faculty auction is set for Thursday night at 8, according to Sophomore council representative, June Tate. The auction is being held for the benefit of the Campus Charity chest this year, she added.

The auction will be sponsored by the Sophomore council and auctioneers presiding will be Lorene Bates and Del Albritton.

Dr Lincoln Canfield, professor of modern languages, has contributed a live rabbit for the auction. Bids for a dinner with President Doak S Campbell, Dean Otis McBride, or Miss Elizabeth Grim will also be taken at the auction. Dean Katherine Warren has promised to offer a coffee for 25 people.

Twelve pictures of the Florida State University picture will be given by Coach Jack Haskin for sale. Dr Janet Smith, professor of home and family, has given a bracelet and belt to the cause. A water painting has also been contributed along with a special potted plant donation.

Frederick Harrington, assistant professor of art, has made a wall hanging which some sorority or fraternity might like to have for their house.

Four people can buy a trip to Wakulla With Miss Mary Titus, instructor of physical education of women. Two others can buy a dinner at the Seven Seas restaurant with Mr Sidney M Conlin, English instructor. Some one can buy an Odd cap with a spiro dra, embroidered by Miss Eleanor P Kinz, women's instructor in physical education. Cookies have been donated by Mr William C Kirk, jr, assistant professor of Classics department, to correlate the two.

Miss Tallahassee Contest Announced

An announcement has been made that the Tallahassee Junior Chamber of Commerce and send a representative to the state finals of the Miss America contest in Miami Beach, according to Mr Earl Yancey, head of the committee.

The contest for Miss Tallahassee will be held on the stage of the State Theater with three Tallahassee citizens as judges. The Hon. Bids for a Date, Miss Charm, polio, intelligence, character, and personality in a bathing suit are the things taints through the scholarship offered to the winner of the Miss America title.

Talents recognized by the judges will be singing, dancing, dramatic reading, or a three-minute talk on the career she wishes to undertake. The Tallahassee winner will be sent to Miami Beach with all expenses paid for a week of activities.

Anyone interested should call or write L'Avant Studios.

Co-Education Is Legalized

Flash: Florida State University may now admit women students. A bill introduced in the Florida House of Representatives Wednesday would provide that FSU be officially made a co-ed institution.

The University actually was made coeducational in 1947 when it was abolished as a college for women, but as the provision conflicted with another statute, the House committee on Statutory Revisions introduced the new bill

EDITORIALS

● DRAFT CONFUSING

The selective service headquarters has not helped to assure the confused draft-eligible college student with its announcement of the forthcoming aptitude test. The student is just as confused as ever as to how he stands now or as to how he will stand after the test.

When the test was first announced the selective service attitude was that a student might take the aptitude test or might depend entirely on his scholastic standing.

In a recent radio broadcast, though, Brigadier General Louis H Renfrow, deputy director of the selective service, said that each eligible student "must take the test and have it in his file." He said the change of one word—"or" to "and"—may require the use of both standards instead of one or the other. In that event the draft board, which has not seen score for a student seeking deferment, will have to order his induction.

To further confuse the issue the House version of the new draft bill specifies that draft boards are not to be bound by the results of the aptitude tests, which are sent to the draft boards and not to the students.

Therefore, even if the students do pass the aptitude tests and are in the upper half of their class they have no assurance that they will receive a deferment for the coming year. It is practically impossible for a draft-eligible student to plan ahead for the coming year. He may not know until the aptitude whether or not he will be able to enter school in the fall.

The definite standard for deferment to be adopted by the selective service should hardly seem fair for some students to be allowed to continue school while with just as high scholastic standards are called because their draft boards are unable to meet their quotas otherwise.

● ES, DIXIELAND

Because students need the classical and modern in music, much the same as in art, FSU's Artist Series program should be spiced with a variety of offerings.

Art, in all its expressions, is described as warm, hot, cold, brutal, sympathetic heavy, light. All the forms of expression in art are recognized by educators as professing quality, deserving exhibition to students.

Likewise, music is described in adjectives . . . some of which should rate a undeserving of a college student audience.

Jazz has been considered by modern American composers as the only true American musical art form. To many students it is as important as an Italian Grand Opera or a French Classical Symphony. The importance is relative to the individuals' tastes and tastes.

It would be an excellent move to include a jazz concert or two in next year's Artist Series program.

● 'HIGHEST' PRAISE

The 1951 circus performance has surpassed all previous shows on the basis by the student performers. FSU has seen the amateur show as presented four years ago in the University gymnasium grow into an seven worth professional and national recognition over the radio, press and newsreels.

The 20,000 fans represented from all over the state sat awed at the daring of the 200 amateur students during the three night performances last week-end.

Coach Jack Haskin has developed a circus "hobby," as he calls it, to the fullest in our campus and deserves credit for his direction and willingness to accept responsibility. This past year he has increased the 22 acts of last year to the 35 "thrilling and chilling" acts.

This year's "Flying High" has not only surpassed previous shows in its daring feats in such numbers as the "rolla rolla," rope acrobatics, and tight wire walking, but will also be remembered for its beautiful costuming and the 35-piece band of Bob Brauncgel. The 1951 "Clown Alley" comedians have also surpassed previous year's comedy acts.

The advantage of the new stadium has also been an aid to the success of the "big top" performance this year. Future years may see both sides of Campbell Stadium Jammed for a view of the performance.

The tenseness and excitement of a real circus could also be seen more breathtaking than FSU's "Flying High."

As try-outs for the 1952 show begin, here's luck to its new stars. May they make the show go even "higher."

● MINORITY RULE

Voting in the class election totaled 915 students.

There are 3071 juniors, sophomores and freshmen enrolled, based on the April report of the Board of Control. This means only about 40.7% of the entire student body marked a ballot for class officers.

Why didn't 70% of the students vote?

It couldn't be that the campus lacked the election spirit. Colorful posters decked every hall with the plea—get out and vote.

It couldn't be that there weren't enough precincts. The 3 precincts were open for 10 minutes walk from any spot on either campus. The balloting was quick and efficient.

It couldn't be that 3033 students don't have five minutes free from the hours of 8 and 6, when the polls were open. Anybody can find five minutes.

It couldn't be that the election wasn't important. Each freshman, sophomore and junior will be directly affected by how well his class is run or how his senator votes next year.

Everyone was eligible to vote. Students in the infirmary even had the chance to cast a vote for their choice. This was through the efforts of the election committee.

It couldn't be that the candidates were unknown. With 141 names on the ballot, surely somebody must have been known.

What happened to 2133 students—the 70% that failed to vote?

● NEEDS AUTHOR

One American standard is that when you have something to say in which you sincerely believe—speak up and say it. Anonymity usually results when a person or group has something to hide.

A recent publication on campus stated a view, well written, but full of error. If the writer or writers of the publication were known, the error could be explained.

Perhaps there is no disciplinary action to students printing or saying what they feel. It is an individual's right to print or say what he believes is true, subject only to enforced responsibility of this right.

When false accusations are made somebody should be responsible, but it should be student action that determines responsibility.

In this case of the 'publication-in-error' needs an author.

FRANKLY SPEAKING

ANTIPATHY TO NSA EXPLAINED

By ALLEN HEAD

The word "Communist" is again being used as a "scare-word," this time by those who would rather not see our student government affiliate with the National Student Association (NSA).

Communism is not the real reason for their antipathy to NSA, but they are using it to hamper intelligent discussion of the benefits are would gain from an affiliation with this nation-wide association.

The attitudes of these people is this, "Even though that NSA is NOT Communistic . . . This seems rather unrealistic to me. For it is impossible to prove such a negative assertion. Naturally, example, would you go about definitely proving to anybody that YOU are not a Communist—especially when he doesn't particularly care whether you are or not, but merely that you cannot SEEM to be one. You would perhaps quote some of the things you have said that were unfavorable to Russia or to Communist line propaganda. Then he would say that that is the answer that all communists are taught to lie about their true allegiance and belief.

By that time you would probably be found across the figure-on the whole fallacy in his attack, and tell him, "I'm innocent until proved guilty." Then he would say, evidence that I AM a Communist!" And he could not do, and neither have those who attack this smear about NSA attempted to show any evidence that it is red-tinted.

There are also certain posi-

RESPONSIBILITY

By ROBERT GRIFFIN, JR.

Senator Allen J. Ellender threw just plain Jim for the rest of the week. After reading the senator's one year representing the freshmen class in UGA senate, Jim had to resign to keep from losing his studies.

His resignation has two affects. One is that the student senate has lost one of their strongest leaders. Jim, besides being a senator has been a negative duty. The old ol' Jim, given I'll mosey up to Senate, and bring deal. To Jim, it was a responsibility, and he gave time and energy.

The second, and perhaps more hidden affect, is that the old demon fact . . . too few students are trying to carry out their student responsibility.

When a student with heavy responsibility neglects his primary education then somebody isn't earning his keep.

In a well-aimed series recently Flambeau editor Earl Dobert pointed out that many of the best students run all students affairs.

This is not healthy. It is a misplaced ambition on these stu-

ARE MIDDLE AGES BEING REPEATED?

In his "History of the Modern University," Bmoc G Restless had this to say about the beginnings of today's institutions of higher learning.

"In the early Middle Ages, the basis of education was derived from the Latin meaning 'those who study'—now essential; and the first faculty professors around the countryside listening to their lectures. At the end of the course students dropped a trifle into the proffered hat. The good pay became wealthy men, but the mediocre ones—well you can see what happened.

"However, evils soon crept into this ideal situation. One group of students decided that the profes-sed that outranged their social station. So they elected one of their middle—and from then on had their presidents—to collect and pay the fees of the entire group. The newly elected president soon saw the possibilities of such an arrangement. He collected and raised as much money as the profession would bear.

"So much for that bit of historical larceny. You will remember that all the early students were many half-baked Phi's wandering around Europe looking for work. Probably the most half-baked of these was one General of Vallon a retired army man who had lost the battle of the Middle Age bulge. He also effectionately known as "Old Left Arm Sap Nothing."

Being an "Old Talk Alot" had a wonderful idea. If the students could band together to beat the profs, they could get rid of them altogether and take the students for a long ride.

The more reputable professors wouldn't hear of it. It was only the lower professors out of an education, they contended. But alas, they were outnumbered by bad profs and students. The out-of-work boys had a convention, elected their leader, ran and won on same. From castle to castle town to town, and kingdom to kingdom they went selling their hands Bible packages of education.

WYLIE FAN, IMPEACHMENT, OBSCENITY

By EMORY KING

One student had an interesting comment on things in general.

"I think" he said, "that the average student is conscious to God. But I wonder if the average God believes in the American class.

Another gem comes from a Phi Wylie fan here. He says, "Wylie's not only trying to make us from barbarism to chaos without experiencing civilization."

Now that school is about out, the University still has time enough to be aware that the time has come—and gone—to start work on the constitution. The passed three Constitutional amendments at their last meeting and some others are in the maktive factors that make us believe that NSA is an American and democratic one or I.

(1) The National Executive of NSA has consistently recommended that the organization not join the International Union of Students (IUS) because of its domination by a Communist minority. The National Congress has consistently upheld this recommendation.

(2) The Attorney General of the U S has listed as an anti-American organization which has printed the names of subversive organizations in this country. He has said that, and NSA is not on it.

(3) NSA has been publicly commended by the President of our nation as a worthwhile organization contributing to the growth of democracy in this country.

(4) The NSA works constantly with the U S Department of State in its relations with the United Union of foreign countries. These relations are mostly in the direction of aiding foreign students and overseas trips for groups of students.

(5) NSA has consistently avoided causing trouble and confusion, by affiliating with communist-front organizations. This was the case at the association's veto of the Prague Congress, composed of delegates from more than 300 schools in NSA.

dents part. This is not as it should be and should change.

The idea is to get shy Janes, and lot-of-time-for-nothing Joes into the students activity machine.

It will require more than when each individual student realizes that by his ideas and efforts the university will progress. Senator Jim deserves mention for his part in making FSU's student government take the steps of progress.

Today is column-tryout for the Florida Flambeau. This is a solemn day for the newspaper staff, and is the time when untried hopefuls will flock on the light of unexpressed genius.

However, with sincere reluctance, I must say there will be no "flicker column" next week. Is someone asking, what the flame is a flicker column?

After extensive research, I found the answer in a dusty, gray 1927 annual in the Florida State library. FSCW faculty members all regularly contributed to Flicker, and a stale joke column with reprints from other state publications. One joke I'll quote:

One boy, "My girl think I'M a wh..."

Second boy, "Well she's half right about it."

"Suffered enough? Moses was shaking his rattle when that joke was born.

And for reference, this hilarious display of facial unintelligence was found in the Florida Ranger. Understand the long horns can sell anything.

What characteristics would a college give a freshman?

To psychologists and a sociologist at Bard College, N Y, set out to find the answer. After extensive survey then came up with what they think are the answers. Here are the 10 they list as the most important.

1. Ability to think objectively — moral and intellectual honesty; use of knowledge—the ability to apply it; tolerance; open-mindedness and attitudes; self-reliance interpersonal competence; motivation progress — individual improvement; emotional stability and open-mindedness.

"The duller students loved it. Now they could get an education Grandma' school never gave 'em. General Ed was the rage of Paris.

"Of course you know the rest. The good people of the Holy Union Card or lose their students. Parents all over Europe were sweatin' easily, saying, 'My son will get his education from the mighty General.'

The General had long since died but he had left the business in the capable hands of Union. Fiscal Ed. Fiscal Ed was a good businessman like his father, and he soon realized that the students would rather play than study. So, today we have Phi Beta Kappa corruption Ed.

Gradually the ideas took great shape. Buildings were erected and funds broun to pour in. Soon the profs made deep, deep money. Somebody had to take care of it. An enterprising young man named Fly Bi Nation (Bi Nation) applied for the job."

The next chapter is entitled "How Mother Learning Came in America."

Dear Editor...

Everybody Vote

Dear Fellow Students.

I wish to take this opportunity to heartily thank those of you who supported me in the recent primary election.

I shall appreciate your continued support in the forthcoming election and although I have made a few promises, I will endeavor to represent you fairly and honestly.

BOB DRAKE,
Candidate for Junior Senate

Everybody Vote

Fellow Sophomores:

I should like to take this opportunity to thank you for voting me into the finals for Junior vice-president. I hope that you will continue to support me in the election next Tuesday.

If elected, I shall act in the best interest of next year's Junior class. We're a great class, and we can prove it.

PELHAM CORRY,
Junior Vice-President Candidate.

Everybody Vote

Fellow Freshmen:

I am taking this opportunity to thank each of you for your response to my candidacy for the second term as your class treasurer.

I urge each of you to continue your support in the election next week and in doing so I am confident that you will judge each candidate on the basis of his experience, platform, and general qualifications.

JOYCE WHIDDON
Sophomore Senate Candidate
Sophomore Treasurer Candidate

Everybody Vote

Dear Editor:

I would like to take this opportunity to thank all of my good friends who voted for me in the primaries. The efforts of those people have helped me to a very great extent in this, my first race for an office at FSU.

I know that my friends will stand behind me again next week when yes, the voting citizens of FSU, go to the polls and select your Sophomore Senator.

For those of you good citizens of FSU who are thoroughly sick and with my platform, let me say that:

1. A new Constitution through amendments.

2. Six senators elected from every class—not necessarily those men with three women.

3. More school spirit.

3. A better understanding between faculty and students.

GENE TURNER

Everybody Vote

To the future Senior Class:

I want to thank those of you who indicated your confidence in me by voting for me in the primaries.

It is only fair that I elaborate on my reasons for running for Senior Senator. In the past, I, as many others, have had complaints and reason to argue about Student Government at FSU. But talking to others, I have found that my feelings are common in the feeling of dissatisfaction. Talking has been a waste of energy and effort which could have been used in making the students better satisfied.

I feel that you as voters will feel justified in giving me the opportunity to exert my energy and efforts too and furthering my desires for better Student Government.

Your vote in Tuesday's final election will be appreciated.

What is a dream but an escape
Made deep in the soft darkness of the heart.

A dream is Life, a dream is Love,
A dream is a soul from whence we part.

The dream of a child is innocent, pure
Stained not by the doubts and lusts of Man.

The dream of a youth is friendly lure,
To be a Man, a lover, explore.

The dream of a maid is soft and sweet
Of the gallant youth laying love at her feet.

The dream of the aged in peaceful yet seeking,
Reviewing the past with which he has wrought
Have become his symbols of worldliness and truth.

Spring Retreat

More than 40 Baptist students will meet at the Baptist Student House this afternoon at 1 p m to leave for their spring retreat at Camp O'Leno. The camp meeting is specifically for council members of the BSU, but all other BSU'ers are encouraged to attend the council affair, according to Mary Elizabeth Ainsworth, BSU student secretary. The students will return for church services Sunday night.

Representatives to the Southeastern province of the Newman Club Convention, being held in Miami, left yesterday. According to Marge Parker, the Catholic students will remain for the weekend returning Sunday afternoon. Convention headquarters will be in the Sherry Frontenac Hotel on Miami Beach.

WESLEYAN PLANS for the week-end include an after-dinner coffee tonight from 6:30 until 7:30. The group will then board a bus for an operetta at the Tallahassee Heights Methodist Church. The operetta will be given by the Children's Choir of the Church. A party tomorrow will be held at 7:30 in honor of relatives. At the family party, everyone will come dressed as their favorite relative. Sunday morning a special speaker will adress the group at Sunday School.

LUTHERAN STUDENTS LEAGUE reports that its six representatives and Reverend Donald R Boernke attended the 1951 Gamma Delta Convention, an International Lutheran fraternity for university students. The convention was held at the Alabama Polytechnic Institute at Auburn, Alabama. Those representing Florida State University Lutherans were Ruby Burnke, Ruth Bodie, Anna Hendren, Bob Bolin, Fred Darkow and Ed Kucera.

AT A SPECIAL MEETING Sunday, the Lutheran League decided that the FSU League would affiliate with the international Gamma Delta. Plans are being made to welcome Lutheran students from Auburn this week-end. The visitors will be honored at a picnic at Lafayette Park Sunday afternoon.

Official spokesman for Rupe Hall, Dick Yeager, has announced that spring cleaning will take place tomorrow from 2 until 4 pm. Yeager said that a winner roast would be enjoyed by all who want to join in the clean up at 4 p m. He also mentioned that plans for the Episcopal week-end of May 19 were being made. Students interested are asked to contact Yeager at Rupe Hall. After Sunday night supper, a meeting of the Canterbury club will be held, he concluded.

Geology Students Discover Ancient Natural Bridges

Florida State geology students have found in Georgia what might possibly be the world's oldest natural bridges.

The bridges were found by the student geologists on the Chattahoochee river at Fort Gaines, Ga, and were estimated to have been formed approximately 30 million years ago, which is a "long time ago" in comparison even with well-known natural bridges.

DISCOVERY of the phenomena were made by the advanced historical geology class which has just returned from a trip through western Florida and Southern Alabama and Georgia. Ralph Heath, Wendell Roberts, Prof Lyman Tanfield, and Prof Stephen Winters made the trip.

The bridges, which are buried under hundreds of feet of earth, were uncovered when the Chatahoochee river cut its channel below the floor of the old cavern.

THE DATE of the cavern's formation has been closely established as being formed in limestone of the Paleocene Age. The presence of sea shells in the rock composition prove that the area was later covered by the sea.

FSU Gallery Opened With Art Exhibition

The Florida State University art gallery held its formal opening Sunday with an exhibition of 22 rare paintings. Among the more than 400 persons present were some of the state legislators and their families.

The group of old masters, valued at more than half a million dollars, is a part of the Ringling collection which has been gathered from all parts of the world.

Professor Edmund Lewandowski, gallery director; Dr. James A. McDonough, and Adolph Rain were on hand to greet the visitors on the occasion of the opening.

The exhibit will be open to all for the next month. The gallery is open daily from 10:00 am to 5:30 pm. Monday through Friday and from 2:00 pm to 5:00 pm Sunday, and also from 7:00 pm to 10:00 pm on Thursdays.

Arrangements may be made for special groups of students, clubs and other organized groups who wish to attend the gallery as a unit.

Arnold Air Society Elects Officers

The Arnold Air Society, honor fraternity of the Air Force ROTC unit, last Wednesday evening in the Louisiana lounge. A group picture was taken for the FSUAN. Ho and refreshments served to the members and Col B S Barr, faculty advisor and commanding officer of FSU's AF ROTC unit.

The major event of the meeting was the election of officers to serve next year. Those elected were Silas K Hodges, commander; Bryan Fuston, executive officer; Ernest K Kirby, secretary-treasurer; Curtis Campbell, operations officer, Paul J Carey, publicity officer and Herbert L Smith, unit guardian.

Plans are being formulated by the group to hold a social function in May to further promote goodwill and friendship which is one of the major objectives of the organization.

Committee Rejects Patton's Bill On Americanism

The Florida House of Representatives' Education Committee rejected a bill that would require the teaching of "Americanism" in Florida's colleges and universities Wednesday by an 8 to 4 vote.

Rep Davis Atkinson of Leon county cast the sole affirmative vote for the measure.

A two-thirds majority vote of the House is now required before the rejected bill can be placed on the calendar for discussion by the full membership of the lower house.

Rep Ralph Turlington of Alachua, chairman of the subcommittee studying the measure, reported that there were too many phrases in the bill such as "the American way of life" and "the American heritage" that were subject to disagreement in interpretation.

The bill was originally presented by Rep B O Patton of Franklin county.

Another bill presented by Patton that will require the teaching of Americanism in Florida's public schools was passed in the House earlier this week.

Turnbull Resigns From UGA Senate

James Turnbull, freshman senator, resigned his seat in the University Senate last Tuesday. He stated in his letter of resignation that he must devote more time to his studies.

EASTER in the session he had seen his three proposed constitutional amendments accepted by the group. When the meeting was extended to allow Turnbull to speak, he expressed gratitude for having been able to serve and his sorrow at leaving. He has plans on for an office for next year.

The drama of the leave-taking scene as Turnbull left. No sooner had the door closed behind him when Dick Yeager, joked, "Old soldiers never die they just fade away." In response to the general laughter of the senators, Charlie Curtis, freshman president and fraternity brother of Turnbull, rose angrily and spoke in defense of the departing senator, lashing the group for its thoughtlessness. Thoroughly chastened, the senate was quiet for the remainder of the meeting, and it accepted Turnbull's written motions suggestions without comment.

TDI Investigates Chances for House

A reliable source reported today that members of the Theta Delta Iota fraternity are investigating the possibility of their group obtaining one of the new fraternity houses now under construction on the campus.

The informant, who asked that his name be withheld, stated that the TDIs considered themselves a legal fraternity, in all ways, even to the provision that they belong to a national organization.

The Thetas, a newly organized organization on FSU's campus, were the first of their kind ever to receive a national charter, complying with regulations which they, as originators, prescribed.

CORRUPTION IN SPORTS

By WARREN COBB

Last week the seventeenth college basketball player to be accused of fixing games in Madison Square garden was apprehended and hauled into Manhattan courts.

With everyone suddenly crime-conscious throughout the country as a result of the Kefauver investigations, the spotlight has been focused on corruption in sports.

Probably this was the inspiration of the bill now before the state legislature. The bill, which has passed the house and is currently before the senate, would send anybody to the state prison for offering or accepting a bribe to throw an athletic contest. The penalty set forth in the bill is from one to five years in Raiford.

THIS BILL, if passed, should make any of the likes of Salvatore Sollazzo think twice before interfering with athletics in Florida.

Another bill, this one affecting boxing, is also on the senate calendar. This bill would make the present law prohibiting title matches in this state. The new law would also permit city regulation of matches.

Jasinski shut the Indians out in the first day's game 3-0, and the Hatters went on to take the second day's tilt also. This marked the second time in FSU baseball history that the Seminoles have suffered a shutout. The other? You guessed it. Jasinski blanked them last year.

Tampa University has decided to field a football team next year. Yes, and what's more, Frankie Sinkwich will be back to coach it.

AFTER LONG indecision on the part of the school officials in regard to football, Sinkwich announced his resignation last month. But financial disagreements have been worked out and Sinkwich was made athletic director in addition to serving as football coach. His record of five wins and four losses last year was quite an improvement for a team that had won only two games in the two preceding seasons.

Tampa isn't the only school in the state that's been entertaining doubts as to its athletic program next year. Besides dropping about one-third of the faculty, Rollins College down in Winter Park dropped football altogether. Stetson was also in doubt for awhile, but in the end decided to toss their green derby into the pigskin ring in '51.

The draft situation is hitting the smaller colleges especially hard, and some have already folded. It is also having its effect on the smaller pro baseball leagues. Many independent clubs in the minor leagues have been forced to call its quits, hence the re-appearance of six-team leagues.

The intra-mural softball league is now in full swing and the competition is keen. In the dormitory league only the Oilers and the Married Men were still undefeated in through Wednesday's games. Three fraternity teams —Sigma Nu, Kappa Kappa, and ATO—remained undefeated.

Pitcher Bill Lanigan of the Theta Chi's pulled a Frank Merriwell in a game with the Lambda Chi's the other day. With his team trailing 4-3 in the last inning with two outs and two strikes on him, Lanigan swatted a home run over the left fielder's head with a runner on first to win the game.

Maybe it's not generally known around here, but FSU was represented—at least, unofficially—in the recent "Open" Chess Championship Tournamenat Charlotte, North Carolina. The representative was George Jackson, Jr., a student living on West campus. George had one of his games selected as best game (out of 160) by a pro-prize winner. For this honor, George was awarded a wooden chess set by the RFD Distributors of New York.

Although chess is not one of the most popular sports on campus, we feel that this was a noteworthy achievement in view of the fact that several of the contenders were outstanding chess players.

Side-Glances . . . Ben Hogan's recent victory in the Master's Tournament in Augusta, Ga. was a fitting sequel to the recently-finished movie of his life, Follow The Sun. Little Ben had won all of golf's top prizes except this one, and it had eluded him in nine previous trys . . . The University of Florida's J Hall, who hails from Tallahassee, last week set a new SEC track record in the high jump. Hall jumped 6 ft. 6¾ in against the U of Georgia. . . . Travis Tidwell, a football great at Auburn for four years and last year with the New York Giant pro football team, will play baseball for Panama City in the Alabama - Florida League. If Travelin' Travis can pitch baseball like he pitches football, the rest of the league is in for rough sailing.

Varsity Defeats Frat All-Stars In Volleyball

Followers of the much criticized FSU varsity volleyball team watched in the east campus gym as they defeated a fraternity all-star team last Tuesday night.

The fraternity team, made up of selections from the four team finalists in the fraternity championship play-offs of a week ago, included Kappa Alpha's Bob Johnson, Bill Falsone, Gil Aldridge; Theta Chi's Bob Schmeltz, Bob Albertson, Kim McKay, and Pi Kappa Alpha's George Partin and Jack Phillips.

The varsity, playing without Charlie Ford and George Edmiston, took the first game 15-8. The all-stars came back to win the second game 15-4, but lost the deciding match by a close 17-15 count.

Playing for the varsity were Captain Dany Hobbs, Jim Clark, Bob Greene, James McFatter, Charles McDaniel, Emerson Kramer, Bill Crook, Jim Cutch, and Dick Lapp.

The all-stars have challenged the varsity to a return match, which will be played Thursday May 3 at the west campus gym.

The Seminole six will journey to Jacksonville this Saturday to play the Jacksonville Naval Air Station. FSU has previously beaten the Navy team twice, winning the State AAU title from the sailors in the finals at Tampa last March 3rd.

The Seminoles may have more trouble this time as they will be without All-State spikers Charlie Floyd and George Edmiston. Floyd has a broken bone in his foot and Edmiston is interning this semester.

Dean Speaks to Alums

Dr. J. Broward Culpepper, Dean of Student Welfare, spoke last night at a meeting of the Dade County Alumni Association.

Dr Culpepper outlined the rapid growth in the FSU student body since the change from a women's college to a state university.

Veller Ends Spring Drill With Scrimmage in Stadium

Florida State University's grid squad will close its four weeks of spring praetice with a scrimmage in Doak Campbell Stadium at 5 p m Tuesday.

This will not be a regular game because of lack of depth in material, but rather a short scrimmage. The public is invited to attend.

Coach Don Veller has indicated that "we do not have the personnel, the big squad necessary for a regular game."

Veller has expressed dissatisfaction with the spring drills.

"WITH THE squad we had this spring, and including several boys who missed the Spring drills because of participation in other sports, we have only a few we are counting on as starters for next Fall," said Veller. "Maybe three boys now in school, maybe four, will be in our starting lineup for the first game in September—unless I see some surprising improvement. That means that seven or eight first team positions are still wide open and probably will be filled by freshmen entering school next year." Veller declared.

Next year will be FSU's first with a program of subsidization for its athletes. Scholarships are being awarded on the basis of performance in these drills.

Magazine May Go Monthly Next Year

Plans to have a monthly Smoke Signals magazine are being made by the new 1951 business manager, Edwin Pipkin. Pipkin is making plans to increase the advertising of Smoke Signals according to Joel Bowers, editor for 1951 editor of the magazine.

Jerry Copeland, present editor of this year's magazine, Joel Smith, and Edwin Pipkin are submitting a budget to the board that are requesting funds for the monthly magazine.

Smith said that Pipkin is also devising a new art scheme for the advertising layout for the next issue, "He has really done some wonderful work," he commented.

Pipkin, now a sophomore, has previously worked on the 1950 Pow Wow and was editor of the Lewis High Life. The ambitious business manager is also secretary of Sigma Nu social fraternity and is also a charter member of the national honorary service fraternity, Alpha Phi Omega.

Golfers Travel To Pensacola For Tri-Meet

An FSU four-man golf team, composed of Eddie Johnson, Dick Mooney, Ted Hewitt, and Burl Mabree, leaves this weekend for a triangular match in Pensacola with Pensacola Naval Air Station and the Pensacola Country Club.

The match will be held Saturday and Sunday and will consist of 54 holes of golf. Thirty-six holes will be played at the Pensacola Country Club course and the remaining 18 holes will be played at the Naval Air Station course.

The team with the lowest all-medal score will be the winner.

US Civil Service Announces Exams

The United States Civil Service Commission has announced an examination for Physical Science Aid and Engineering Aid.

To qualify, all applicants must pass a written test. Applications must be received in Washington not later than May 15. Full information and application forms may be obtained from Mr Wayne Seavey, secretary USCS Board of Examiners, Tallahassee.

Professors Attend Sociological Meet

Dean Coyle E Moore, School of Social Welfare, and Professors Robert C Bristol, Gordon J Aldridge, and William L Leap are attending the annual meeting of the Southern Sociological society in Atlanta today and tomorrow.

Professor Aldridge will speak on "Development of a Mental Health Service in a Southern City." Professor Bristol's talk will be entitled "A Social Work Internship Program for Undergraduate Students."

Have Won 38 Straight Games

The Florida State University tennis aggregation will face powerful Miami U in a match here Saturday afternoon, beginning at 1:30 p.m. The match will be held on the East Campus courts, which are located behind the women's gymnasium.

Miami, which is in its third undefeated season and has 38 consecutive victories, will be a heavy favorite. They were the second-ranking team in the nation last year, and have a chance for the number one spot this year.

Seminole Coach Ralph Matheson reports that the competition will include either five singles and two doubles matches, or six singles and three doubles.

DEFINITE starters for FSU are Jerry Dickson, Ned Cooper, and Jim Berry.

Schwartz, Robinette, Schriber, and Kaiser are the top guns for Miami. Schartz was at one time National Indoor champion at New York.

So far this season the Seminoles have posted a record of six wins against seven defeats. They have yet to meet defeat within the Dixie Conference. Last week the Miamians, coached by Bill Lufler, are not in FSU's conference.

Last week the Miami netters bested the Florida Gators team 6-2. The Hurricanes have also defeated Rollins, Stetson, and Tampa in interstate matches.

Dr Howard Danford Elected Chairman Of AAHPER

Dr. Howard Danford, Florida State University's athletic director and head of the physical education department, was honored recently at the annual meeting of the American Association for Health and Physical Education and Recreation which was held in Detroit.

Dr Danford was elected chairman of the national organization's recreational division for the year 1953.

Chairmen are elected well in advance so that they may have time to prepare their programs for the year in office.

Danford and track coach Ken Miller attended the meeting.

Seminole Baseballers Face Georgia There

Coach Charlie Armstrong's nine takes on the University of Georgia today in Athens, with pitcher Ed Sessions likely to get the starting assignment. Sessions has a 3-1 record.

The Seminoles, who now have a record of 9-3, will meet the Bulldogs today and tomorrow in an attempt to regain their winning ways after a double loss to the Stetson Hatters.

Bob Wittmer, with a 1-0 record, will probably get the call tomorrow.

The Seminoles met the Georgians earlier in the season here and trounced them 9-4.

Coach Armstrong has announced that Bob Hartman, one of his best hurlers, has been ruled ineligible because of scholastic reasons.

Commerce Pro Frot Has Donce Tomorrow

The annual spring dance of Commerce professional fraternity, Gamma Lambda Chapter of Delta Sigma Pi, will be held tomorrow from 8:30 until 12 midnight at the Tallahassee country club.

Bob Cole and his orchestra will play for the dance, al which the Rose of Delta Sigma Pi will be announced. Corsages are banned.

Members interested in helping with decorations are asked to contact Cecil Knowles before tomorrow so that transportation may be furnished the decorators.

Number 18 . . . THE RACCOON

Shades of the roarin' Twenties! All duded up in his ancient benny — but he has modern ideas on testing cigarette mildness! He's tried every "quickie" cigarette test in the book — and they're not fooling him one bit! He knows for dang-sure that cigarette mildness can't be determined by a cursory sniff or a single, quickly-dispatched puff. He doesn't have to go back to school to know that there is one real test — a test that dispels doubt, fixes fact.

It's the sensible test . . . the 30-Day Camel Mildness Test, which asks you to try Camels as your steady smoke — on a pack-after-pack, day-after-day basis. No snap judgments needed. After you've enjoyed Camels — and only Camels — for 30 days in your "T-Zone" (T for Throat, T for Taste), we believe you'll know why . . .

More People Smoke Camels
than any other cigarette!

The movies to be shown are Model Houses, Finger Painting, Stars and Stripes, Human Beginnings and Throwing in Clay.

Training Group In Meteorology Stationed Here

Florida State University has been selected as a national training center in meteorology for Air Weather Service officers of the U S Air Force, according to Doak S Campbell, University president.

The program will begin with the 1951 Fall term and will run the full calendar year including the Summer session, FSU is the only Southern University for meteorology training of young officers as basic forecasters.

THE INITIAL group to enroll under the new meteorology training program will include a group of about 30 officers, most of them Air Force second lieutenants, just called to active duty upon completion of their undergraduate work. They will enroll as regular graduated students for the catalog courses in the department of meteorology, headed by Dr Werner A Baum.

"The training program will enable FSU to be of further service to the armed forces of the nation in meeting the greatly increased need for meteorologists in the Air Force," President Campbell said.

ONLY SIX universities in the country have been chosen by the Air Force to participate in this program. In addition to FSU, they are Pennsylvania State College, New York University, University of California at Los Angeles, University of Chicago, and the Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

Dr Baum, who will direct the program here is editor-in-chief of the Journal of Meteorology and was formerly professor of Meteorology at U of U of Maryland. He received his professional training at the U of Chicago.

Earl Vance Slates Flounder Expedition

The annual "flounder party" given by Mr. Earl Vance, professor of journalism, for his students is scheduled for Friday, May 4. The group will meet at the journalism building at 4 p m before going to Alligator Point for the fishing expedition.

Mr Vance has honored his students with the "flounder party" each year for approximately 20 years and it has become one of the highlights of the school year.

Penny Pennington is in charge of the food for this year's outing.

Dr Flory To Speak To Kiwanis Members

Students Get Who's Who Ballot in Today's Election

JOHN NEWLAND AND DICK BRADLEY, finalists for the office of senior class president, discuss their prospective plans for projects next year. One of these men will be elected in today's finals.

Finalists Compete for Posts In Next Year's Classes, Too

The fate of Who's Who on this campus will be decided along with the class officer election for next year in today's final voting. Today's voting follows last week's class elections primaries.

The Who's Who ballot will offer the student three alternatives to expressing his opinion. One choice will be that of abolishing the organization from this campus. A second one will be that of confine the organization to the FSU campus. The third alternative provides that the local group must join the national one and recommends that standards for membership be set up.

THE SECOND primary for the election of class officers was set off by a political rally for all finalists which was held in the music amphitheatre last night.

All major candidates were given five minutes on the platform in which to present their qualifications. Minor office candidates were allowed three minutes time. The rally was sponsored by the junior class.

FINALISTS for senior class president are Dick Bradley, Bradley and John Newland. In the race for vice-president of that class are Jerry Gregory and Bobby Mackstroth.

Katrine Austin and Eunice Barnes will vie for the secretary's position, while Bill Cornelius and Eric Weigand are in the finals for senior class treasurer.

Junior class president seats are being contested by Jean Flynn, Eunice Thompson, Dorothy Tapman, Nancy Dance, Jane Knight and Sue Beasley. The three men's senior senators were elected in the primaries. They are Walter Jardine, Ignacio Sived and Joe Bundrick. Carolyn Bardin was elected senior social chairman.

THE JUNIOR class president's run-off will feature Jan Schramm and Jimmie Barnes, while Pelham Cory and Joan Powell will vie for vice-president.

Still in the running for junior secretary are Barbara Brereton and Doi Douglas, with Joan Webb and Dotty Bridges opposing each other for junior class treasurer.

Social chairman will either be Leah LaPlante or Eleanor Green, while Marilyn Hart and Charlotte Hartwell are in the finals for class parliamentarian.

BOBBY DRAKE and Robert Ross will vie for the third junior representative to senate seat. Pete Mack and Jim Lamb were elected to the other two seats in the primaries.

Women's junior senators offices are being sought by Mary Ruth Summers, Mary Helen Speed, Rita Nyberger, Carolyn Sherman and Pat Temple.

Sophomore class officers elected in the primaries include Juna Conyers, president and Marcia Morris, parliamentarian. Charlie Milford was chosen sophomore representative to traffic court.

American Panorama Plans Summer Tour

A tour of eastern United States will be offered this summer for public school teachers, prospective teachers, and interested students provided by the American Panorama, sponsored by this university.

DEADLINE for applications for the tour is May 15. Applications accompanied by a deposit of $50 must be sent to the business office by that date.

The tour will open with an orientation seminar on campus, June 18 to 23. The month-long trip through U S cities will leave Tallahassee June 23 and return July 24. Educational institutions will also be visited, including the cities of Washington, D C, and New York City.

Further information may be secured by addressing Miss Florence Tyson, or Mr Burtis Vanderhill, faculty counselors.

Auction Features Rabbits, Paintings

Rabbits, paintings, and dinner dates will be open for student bidding at the annual Faculty auction slated for this Thursday night in the Augusta Conradi Theater at 8.

Sponsored by the Sophomore council this year, the auction will be held for the benefit of the Campus Chest drive, June Tate, Sophomore council representative has said.

Presiding auctioneers will be Jerry Bates, Sophomore council member and Dal Albritton, graduate student and past senior president.

BIDS FOR a dinner with President Doak S Campbell as guest will be the offering this year. Dinner dates with the Dean of men, Ola McBride and Miss Elizabeth Lynn, assistant dean of women, will also be for sale. Past bidders at the faculty auctions have recluded dinner dates with Glenn Terrell, all professor of psychology and Betsy Blanton, Flambeau staff member, recalls a dinner date with Miss Olive H Cross, English instructor.

This year, Frederick G Holcahuh, assistant professor of art, has made a wall decoration with some sorority or fraternity might like to have for their house. In the past, Dr Holschuh has also contributed a painting and a statue.

A LIVE RABBIT has been contributed by Dr Lincoln Canfield, professor of modern language but is not guaranteed to speak a foreign language.

Twelve pictures of the Florida State University circus will be given by Coach Jack Haskin. This is an opportunity for students to add to their scrapbook collection of circus memories.

Four people can buy a trip to Wakulla with Miss Mary Titus, instructor of physical education of women. Two others can buy him a dinner at the Seven Seas restaurant with Mr Sidney M Couling, English instructor. An Odd cap with a spirogira emblem has been donated by Miss Eleanor P Kirg, women's instructor in physical education.

Dem School Gives 1951 Performance

The traditional May Day celebration presented annually by the Demosthenian Literary Society will be held Friday morning at 9 in the Music building amphitheater.

Theme of this year's celebration will be "Traditional May Day" with the children taking the parts of goblins, elves, gypsies, wee folk and Morris dancers.

Coronation will be held from candidates in the various grades and will be crowned and placed in a bower of flowers. Two May Poles will be used Friday, one for the younger children and one for the older ones.

Other planned activities include Camdon Bridge" through flower-decked arches and a hoop-rolling contest.

They will also hold a mock parade which will include goblins, elves, gypsies, balloon, animals with flowered harnesses, milk maids, a hobby-horse dancer with accordian player and drummer, "Jack-in-the-green" leading chimney sweeps and a girl leading a bear.

Confield To Speak In Longmire Lounge

"Athens to Paris, Rome to Madrid; Excursions Through Light and Fire," is the title of a talk to be presented Thursday, 8 p m, in the second floor lounge of the Longmire building by Dr D Lincoln Canfield, head of the department of modern languages.

This is the third in a series of four lectures sponsored by Eta Sigma Phi, classical honorary. Prior to the meeting, the group will hold initiation at 7 p m for three top Greek and Latin students here: Ann Hendon, Frances Clark and Shirley Drake.

Alleged Kidnapping Is Declared Hoax

An alleged kidnapping here has kept the campus in an uproar since last Friday night. However, authorities have announced that the entire affair was a hoax.

The policeman in front of Bryan got a call about 11 o'clock Friday night stating that a girl had been kidnapped near the tennis courts. When he arrived on the scene, he found six FSU girls holding two pairs of a torn slip. The garments seemed new, and on examination was found to contain no laundry marcs or other marks of identification.

THE GIRLS said they had been playing tennis and had heard a girl scream. They testified they saw a man throw a woman into a car and drive away down Woodward avenue going south.

An FSU bus driver, reported that a blue Plymouth, license number 23-198, had passed him on the West campus road heading toward Seminole manor. The car, he said, was driven fast and recklessly. The driver of the car, Garner reported, drove with one hand and held the other down in the car.

FSU AUTHORITIES were called in and an all night bed check started at midnight. Dean J Broward Culpepper, Mr Rod Shaw, Sheriff Frank Stoutamire of Leon county, and a bevy of city and campus police were at Bryan hall until shortly after 4 a m. Other reports that a woman's dress had been found on the road near the stadium came in, but none had been located.

Several FSU girls were brought into Bryan to try to identify the dress and slip.

By 4 a m the room check said only two girls were unaccounted for. These two girls were then terminated as possible abductees by 9 o'clock.

Both girls say they were in different dormitories or rooms other than their own, without signing out.

The fraternity is considering member pledge class which would begin in the near future. All members are urged to attend the regular meeting next Thursday to discuss this matter.

Holland, Askew Reign as Queen, King of May Day

Betty Ann Holland and Rube Askew were crowned queen and king of the annual May Day dance held at the Student Union last Saturday night. President Doak S Campbell performed the coronation ceremonies in the club patio.

Court attendants were Barbara Gillelle, Jean Sayer, Cass Yonge, and Faye Patterson, Walt Granger, Bob McKay, John Newland and Charlie Floyd, were in the boys court. Crown bearers were Nancy Hoffman and Kary Johnson and flower girls were Judith Morris and Cora Wayne Pugh, all are pupils at the nursery school.

KING, QUEEN and court members were nominated and elected by the student body at large last week. Mickey Johnson was in charge of elections and also was master of ceremonies at the coronation.

Woodly Grimard headed the decorations committee. The dance was sponsored by the Student Union organization.

Florida House Kills Americanism Bill

By BILL FALCONER

The proposed bill that would require the teaching of Americanism in Florida's colleges and universities was rejected in the House of Representatives yesterday. Proponents gather the two-thirds majority necessary for the bill to be placed on the calendar for debate and final voting.

Rep B G Patton of Franklin county, original sponsor of the bill, made the motion that the bill be placed on the calendar overriding the unfavorable committee report it received last week. Such a motion must carry by a two-thirds majority. Patton's motion received a 58 to 28 vote

THE OPPOSITION to the bill kept hitting at one of its clauses which states that the American way of life would be taught in contrast to the way of life in other countries— particularly totalitarian countries.

Rep T Beasley of Walton county said that this clause would "open the way for people with communist leanings to teach communism in the universities." When asked by Rep John Bolinger of Palm Beach County if he was aware that the teachers in Florida schools were required to sign a non-communist oath, Beasley countered by saying that "I believe that we have teachers with Communist leanings in this state."

FURTHER agitation against the bill was aroused by the inability to define many of its clauses such as "the American way of life" and "the American heritage." Beasley stated "I doubt if the gentleman from Franklin (Patton) could define 'Americanism.'"

Several members of the House who were advocating the bill did not feel that its passage would assure the teaching of Communism in Florida's colleges and universities. Rep Glenn Summers of Liberty County pointed out that "I had to take a course in college in 1947 called 'humanities' and in this course I was required to read the Communistic Manifesto."

"Then that instructor should have been fired," Beasley retorted.

Collegians Annual Spring Concert Features Sea Chanties, Hit Songs

By BETTY JO WOODS

Th Collegians, Men's Glee club, presented its spring concert Friday evening in the Music hall with a program of lively and familiar music.

Under the direction of J Dayton Smith, the Collegians offered their final program with enthusiasm and finesse. Variety in the program was divided into three parts and featured an arrangement by William Reddick. Soloist was Blair Hennessee.

Jim Harris, member of the Collegians, stepped down from his baritone part at this time in order to direct the group in his arrangement of Take Your Finger Out Of Your Mouth, and an encore was given.

WILLIAM Dalrymple was soloist in Birmingham Jail from Appalachian Suites by Jack P Klipatrick. The last two numbers in this group were Waiting for the Robert E Lee and Drink to Me Only With Thine Eyes with Davis Lowe featured as soloist.

Part three opened with It's Wonderful from Funny Face by George Gershwin followed by I Dream of You by Richard Leibenschius and Edna Osser with Jack Watson as soloist. A short and snappy number by George Gershwin was Wintergreen for President. The last number on the program were The Things I Love based on Tschaikowsky's Melody, Marchela by Victor Seberzincer, and There Is Nothin Like a Dame from South Pacific by Oscar Hammerstein and Richard Rogers.

AT THE close of the concert, the Men's Glee Club presented Mr Smith, and Miss Mae Gautier, accompanist, with gifts in appreciation of their work for the year.

The group's encore was Take Your Finger Out of Your Mouth.

English College Prof Addresses Faculty

"When a Scotch comes to London, he buys a one-way ticket. They never go back!", was the humorous statement made by Dr J N Long, principal of Westminster Technical College in London before a group of Florida State University faculty members and townspeople Thursday night.

The dry wit which has made the English famous was portrayed by the lecturer throughout his review of the educational facilities in Scotland, Ireland and Wales.

IN THE discussion held in the Longmire auditorium, Dr Long said that more students are now enrolled in the higher institutions of education in England than ever before. The speaker attributed this rise of enrollment to the fact that British universities are largely financed by the British treasury. The British treasury is under the supervision of the University Grants and the Ministry of Education.

He also mentioned that higher education in British Technical Colleges is free for all students up to 19.

THE LABOR Government in England has done an immense amount of work to further education, Dr Long stated. The British authorities are now more concerned with the fact that too many young people under 18 are leaving school to work despite the free education offered.

English students at present are required to attend school until 15, the lecturer said. The majority of students are found in the secondary grammar schools and technical schools today.

COLLEGES IN England now get probably four times as much for income as they did in the twenties, the speaker said in reviewing the financial school statuses. Yet, he commented, they still cannot entirely balance their accounts.

But the state meets the necessary deficiency since education itself is the most important thing," Dr Long said.

Vet Writer Praises Journalism School

Editorial staff member and political writer for the Denver Post, Robert Stapp, praised the Florida State University School of Journalism for bringing the practical side of journalism education into the classroom.

Mr Stapp is now on leave of absence while teaching the remainder of the current semester in the FSU Journalism School.

The veteran writer said the policy of bringing visiting professors into the classroom actually engaged in journalism, in addition to the textbook material, gave students more knowledge of professional journalism.

The newspaperman believes that although reporters will be called upon to write factual material, news interpretation will also be included. Reporters will write material somewhere between editorials and factual coverage of the stories to give readers a better idea of what the story is all about, the journalist stated.

MR STAPP, Navy veteran and graduate of Notre Dame, has "covered" the Texas City disaster, the Colorado Legislature and written special articles on city government reorganization.

While in the Navy, the newspaperman was much impressed with future possibilities of Florida. He spent considerable time in the Miami area.

The experienced writer commented that newspapers remain the principal source of public information with local, state and national services. He admitted that television and radio have also become national and international supplementary sources of keeping the public informed.

Author Criticizes Using Dull Texts Because of Technical Phraseology

(The following article does not necessarily reflect the views of the Flambeau.)

"I might have learned something in that course if it hadn't been for the textbook."

This flip remark uttered by a young sophomore seems to be nothing more than a usual student gripe. Yet so often it seems that the usual student gripe results from what a student is learning in the classroom; or rather, what he is not learning in the classroom. This remark also gives basis to a popular criticism leveled against modern techniques of teaching, particularly the use of the textbook. Let us illustrate.

JOE DOAKS is assigned chapters nine and ten in "Man and Society," written by Horatio Boddikin, Ph. D, a professor at Great Northern U. Joe struggles with the dry, wordy and complex sentences. He tries to get some meaning from pedantic rhetoric and technical phraseology. He pours over facts, facts, and then more facts. If his mind, meanwhile, is not diverted in any manner from this classroom bible during the reading, (a possibility which is extremely unlikely), then Joe will come to class with a general picture of what Boddikin was trying to get across.

"Well!," Joe exclaims as he enters the classroom, "now we can discuss those dry facts and put some life into them. Besides, I think that Horatio Boddikin has the wrong slant on man and society, I'll give the teacher some of my ideas."

CLASS BEGINS. Joe is burning with fresh ideas and quotations. Teacher begins to lecture. Joe's eagerness changes to disgust and then to boredoom as he hears the instructor read back to him exactly what he had poured over the night before. Teacher has before him a few little notecards culminating the two chapters in the text. Joe's mind wanders from the class hour as the teacher parrots back to him facts he has already accumulated. Then Joe makes a cry before the bell rings.

"Professor Burdstone? I disagree with this guy Boddikin. He's all wrong about a static society. Let me tell you what I — Joe is politely interrupted by the professor. "Now Joe. Dr Boddikin is a specialist in that field. He has years of experience. You'll understand him a little more clearly as we get on through the course."

JOE UNDERSTOOD Boddikin. He merely disagreed with his ideas. This perhaps is the basic criticism of textbooks. They are monotonously dry, unfascinating reading, but, more important, they only express the ideas of one man. And the harm lay in the fact that a student will accept the text as the supreme and final authority. There is little if any diversity of ideas expressed in the classroom. Disagreements with orthodox doctrines and ideas are heavily frowned upon.

It is natural, however, for the teacher to assume that his brand of teaching is the right brand, and that sometimes the student becomes confused when he learns that there may be twenty sides to an issue instead of one.

AGAIN, SOME teachers believe it is dangerous for a student to be exposed to so many ideas, some of which might be considered radical by orthodox standards of education. Yet it is the function of the teacher to instill into the student the habit of impartial inquiry, lay before him all the ideas and opinions on a given subject and discuss them freely in the classroom.

Dogmatists believe that though they know the truth, others will be led into false beliefs should they hear more than one side of the argument. It is the student's prerogative to have access to all of the facts and ideas on a subject. It will only harm the student if he is denied this free inquiry and expression, regardless of how it may conflict with existing opinions and attitudes.

SOME TEACHERS would be lost without a text; others thoroughly dislike them. But in nearly all classrooms the text is required.

What price education, if the student is given only one set of facts, one opinion, and one truth?

(Editor's note: What is to prevent the student from using the library?)

University Council Decides To Send Observer to NSA

The University Council has decided to send an observer to the fourth annual National Student Congress in Ann Arbor this summer. This Congress, the governing body of the United States National Student Association (NSA), will be participated in by representatives from approximately 300 of the leading colleges and universities of the United States.

In spending a week at the Congress, observing these student leaders working together in the interests of the student community of this country, our observer will be free to pick up all available information he can be used in improving student government here and the welfare of the student body.

The main reason this year's Council has decided to send an observer is to find out whether Florida State University should affiliate with this national student organization. In our state, the University of Miami already a member and the University of Florida's committee appointed to study NSA has turned in a report recommending affiliation. Whether we do or not will probably be finally decided by the report that our observer brings back with him from the National Congress, and will be the decision of next year's council.

We would have much to gain from being a member of NSA, and would also be putting ourselves in a position where we could cooperate with our fellow students throughout the nation in working out the answers to common problems. NSA's aims and purposes are outlined in the preamble to its constitution in which the association is organized to:

"Maintain academic freedom, stimulate and improve democratic student governments, develop better educational standards, further student welfare, promote international understanding, guarantee to all people equal rights and possibilities for education and foster the recognition of the rights and responsibilities of students to the community, humanity and God, and to preserve the interests and integrity of the government and constitution of the United States."

To fulfill these aims, the National Congress has set up various commissions and programs. In the field of better student governments, the NSA is continuously making surveys and studies of the student governments throughout the nation. The results are reported and are available to members at a nominal fee.

For student welfare, the Commission on International Affairs handles the administration of the NSA Student Discount Service (SDS). This is a program designed to help the individual student by providing him with a discount on the merchandise he buys from merchants in the university town. Now this is a national program, a student with an SDS card can receive the same benefits on other university cities where they have this program in effect. (New York, Miami, etc.)

On the international scene, the student bodies of member schools are participating actively through their representatives in a search for mutual understanding. To date, USNSA has consistently refused to join the World Student Union on the grounds that it is Communist dominated and thus puts a political ideology before the common interests of the students of the world. NSA has, however, worked with the U S State Department in arranging student exchanges with other nations, and in supporting student tours of foreign countries. It also provides cheap trips overseas to participate in "work-camps" where students in other countries helping to build up war-torn Europe.

These are all active methods for increasing the international understanding so necessary in today's divided and suspicious world.

(An editorial approaching the negative point of view will be published in the Friday issue of the Flambeau.)

● SUGGESTION NO. 4

In previous editorials we have decried the needs we believe should be included in the proposed west student constitution. Three of the editorials have dealt with the Executive, Legislative and Judicial sections of that document. This editorial shall be devoted to the loose ends which we believe should become a part of the student constitution.

During the past year many graduate students have shown a great deal of interest in the University Government Association. We believe that graduate students should have a voice in student government as much as the undergraduate students. Their more mature outlook and vast experience would greatly benefit the entire student government structure.

The semester hour requirements for holding office should be explained in greater detail in the constitution and a maximum number of hours should be set which all will be voting.

And the Florida legislature worries about the 18-year-old franchise. . . .

One of the most difficult realizations that human beings have to face is the fact that they are not indispensable.

This was brought to the attention of the "old" senior staff when the new journalists put out their Friday's paper . . . and did a pretty good job of it, too.

Of course, with the many duties and near hysteria at times when a story didn't develop, we can't blame you but this column wishes to commend them on their first publication.

We know we were on the way out when a young reporter stopped us and asked, "Would it be all right if I went down to the Democrat tonight?" This exhilarating experience was worn out attitude of "Do I have to go to the Democrat tonight?"

FUROR OVER UNSIGNED PUBLICATION

By JEANNE O'RIORDEN

A great furor has arisen since the publication of Youth-Time, a student newspaper for the student session distributed all over campus last week.

The zest of the publication was to let the students know that fraternity men are going to obtain the lease of the eight new men's dormitories limited of students at large being allowed to live there.

Non-fraternity men are mad—they don't want to spend another year living in a dorm. As far as what is affectionately called "Worst" quarters. Some of the fraternity men themselves have been heard to say that they think it's a dirty deal.

But seriously, the non-fraternity men are mad and discriminated against. Next year, men will be moved into Magnolia and the Village, which are the worst at the present time. Also an eleven story dormitory is going to be built. It won't be finished until approximately a year after the eight smaller men's dorms are finished, but this is unavoidable.

And according to Dean of Men McBride any fraternity man group could have signed up for the dormitories. This is what the fraternities did.

But the point of this column is to disagree with an editorial in last week's Flambeau. The editorial entitled "Youth Time" was written and put out by the new staff—the students who will publish the paper next year.

The editorial was entitled "Youth Time" and included items that was full of holes. The editorial stated that "We believe there is something should not choose anonymity in expressing his ideas. Editorial writer, old friend, I disagree. If that paper had been signed, the articles would have been called immediately to Dean Culpepper's office, then to Dean McBride, then to the Student Dent Campbell's office. He or she would be given a thorough talking to and would have been chastised.

Speaking of unsigned papers, remember the Spectator?

AMONG OTHER THINGS

AUTHOR REAFFIRMED IN DEMOCRACY

By EARL DOBERT

My faith in the American democratic system has been reaffirmed by the Florida legislature.

In two deft strokes it killed the 18-year-old voting amendment and the bill requiring the teaching of Americanism in schools of higher learning.

The first destroyed its fight in the Senate where it was voted down to the tune of 28-9. It had previously been killed in the House by a convincing margin and was expected to counter little opposition in the Senate.

The Americanism bill, sponsored by Representative Bryan Paton of Jacksonville, was crucified in an education committee by an 8-1 count. Leon county Representative Davis Atkinson was the sole member in favor of the bill. It would have take a two-thirds vote af the lew-er house to put the measure on the calendar for debate.

An Americanism bill is now pending debate in the Senate calling for courses in Americanism to be taught in public schools, however.

As this column pointed out, the passage of the 18-year-old voting amendment and the passage of the Americanism bill would have been in direct conflict with each other. On one hand they would have been saying that a person DID know enough about America without having to have courses in it and on the other hand they would have been saying the student didn't know enough about American ism.

We are glad the Senate and the House saw through this discrepancy.

This thing about getting students interested in voting in school elections has reared its ugly head around here. There can only be one solution to this sad apathy and aversion to voting and that is the party system.

We have explained how this would work. The parties—or more—could be established on campus. This would parallel the system now in use at the University of Florida.

Natural rivalry would necessarily result between the parties making all concerned eager to get out their votes to vote for their slate of candidates.

Students are naturally concerned about this thing called politics. To the majority of students it is a science. This is as true of campus politics as of state or national politics.

If the rivalry and competition were keen there would be no necessity of crying about the low figures recorded in elections.

And now is the time to start the party. There will be elections coming up all next year starting with the Freshmen elections and ending with class elections. A party could start getting their plans laid now and the machinery would be well in motion for winning some offices next year. The first one started has the best chances of winning the most offices.

CAMPUS CAROUSEL

EAVESDROPPING IN THE SODA SHOP

By EMORY KING

It was one of those dreary days in Tallahassee. The rain came down with a vengeance. The soda shop in the Alumni building was filling up with wet, dripping students.

One student came in and sat down alone at the corner table. He was a graduate and of during his stay at FSU he had been told by other students that the soda shop was the place to find out all the doings inside the campus.

While he sat, he drank a cup of coffee, and listened to the various student conversations.

To his left, one student was saying, "I'm glad they were sorry that there will be no Student Union building to the 50-year plan."

"Of course not," says another, "they don't want to create a central meeting place for all the students. As long as they can keep us in isolated little groups, they can control us."

Three girls on his right were discussing the student government, "Now that we've got the new constitution, we can't have any more politics in student government."

"Yes," says another girl, "I'm glad that we've got the new constitution. Now we can get down to business."

"Oh," said the second, "what's going to be the first business?"

"Why, to get rid of the Student Welfare."

"If the students don't vote," commented a third, "they'll never get anywhere."

The student shrugged his shoulders and looked across the room. The enrollment has dropped off," he decides. It must be the draft. He finished his coffee. "Do you know that the village has closed its restaurants, and the girls are leaving it seems. Well, with some of these mid-Victorian rules around here, I don't blame them. If my folks would let me, I would go too."

Someone mentions state politics. It's all so confusing, the student tells himself

"You know," says one intellectual looking boy, "what we need is scholarships for athletics."

And now is the time to start the party. There will be elections coming up all next year starting with the Freshmen elections and ending with class elections. A party could start getting their plans laid now and the machinery would be well in motion for winning some offices next year. The first one started has the best chances of winning the most offices.

Also an eleven story dormitory is going to be built. It won't be finished until approximately a year after the eight smaller men's dorms are finished, but this is unavoidable.

And according to Dean of Men McBride any fraternity man group could have signed up for the dormitories. This is what the fraternities did.

But the point of this column is to disagree with an editorial in last week's Flambeau. The editorial entitled "Youth Time" was written and put out by the new staff—the students who will publish the paper next year.

The editorial was entitled "Youth Time" and included items that was full of holes. The editorial stated that "We believe there is something should not choose anonymity in expressing his ideas. Editorial writer, old friend, I disagree. If that paper had been signed, the articles would have been called immediately to Dean Culpepper's office, then to Dean McBride, then to the Student Dent Campbell's office. He or she would be given a thorough talking to and would have been chastised.

Speaking of unsigned papers, remember the Spectator?

Any of you who missed the Collegians concert Friday night really missed some fine singing. The Collegians, who are the men's glee club, sang some from "The Carnival Song" all in Italian to "There's Nothing Like a Dame" from South Pacific.

Directed by J Dayton Smith and accompanied on the piano by Mr. Goulet, the Collegians wowed the audience with "Take Me Out to the Ball Game" and arranged by one of the singers.

Unfortunately, the Collegians have only one concert a semester.

Poetically Yours

TAXES

Tax is head, tax his inde—
Let the Government officials ride;
Tax his cow, tax her calf,
Tax his horse and tax his laugh.

Tax his house, tax his lands,
Tax the blisters on his hands;
Tax his Ford and tax his car,
Tax the road that he must pass.

Tax the pay roll, tax the sale,
Tax his hardy-earned paper sale,
Tax his pipe and tax his smoke—
Tax the money he has to poke.

Tax the water, tax the air,
Tax the sunlight, if you care—
Tax the birds that sing, at the dawn,
Tax the unborn ere they're fed,

Tax his coffin, tax his shroud—
Tax his body and tax the cloud,
Tax them all and tax them well,
Tax them to the gates of hell!

Almighty God
And our Federal,
State, County and City
Governments, have mercy upon us!
Taxes withheld by request.

like the book co-op, which we can build and use while we are still in school.

There is no end to the possible accomplishments of our class and to the bond of friendship we build in doing them. I sincerely want to serve you as a president in making our last year together a full and happy one.

DICK BRADLEY.

Has Experience

Dear Sophomores:

I would like to thank those of you who indicated your confidence in me by voting for me last Tuesday. After having served as your Freshman and Sophomore senator I feel that I gained a great deal of experience which will help me to carry on the task asked of me during the coming year. In spite of all the committee work, etc. connected with Senate I enjoyed my job two terms tremendously. I sincerely hope that you are satisfied with the job I think it worth supporting me again for another bigger and better year.

I can assure you that I will do my best because I want more than anything else to serve you. As you know good officers depend on your vote but no matter how you vote —vote—and take an interest in student government because your officers need you as much as you need them.

Margret Krasemann
Jr Senate candidate

Soc Chairman

Fellow Freshmen:

First, I sincerely like to thank each of you for your support in the Class primaries last Tuesday and assure you that every vote cast was sincerely appreciated.

Secondly, I would like to relate to each of you my motto in this campaign for Freshman Social Chairman—"There's Fun in Store. For Each Sophomore with Jean Wechsler as Social Chairman." Your continued support in the finals will be appreciated and I shall do my utmost to carry out the duties of Social Chairman.

Again, I should like to urge each and every one to go to the polls and vote for whatever your choice of candidate is, for each candidate is aspiring to represent YOU.

Jean Wetherell
Candidate for Sooh
Social Chairman

Fair, Honest

Dear Fellow Students:

I wish to take this opportunity to heartily thank those of you who supported me in the recent primary election.

I shall appreciate your continued support in the forthcoming election and although I have made no "promises," I will endeavor to represent you fairly and honestly.

BOB DRAKE,
Candidate for Junior Senate.

She Was Shocked

Dear Editor:

With this letter I would like to thank everyone of you who voted for me in the primary election for Sophomore Hop dance. I cannot tell you how surprised I was when I was told about this great honor. It really came as a shock to me, because I didn't, and still don't, feel as if I deserve this recognition. There are so many other wonderful girls in our class who surely have done more for FSU and our class and who are more outstanding than I am. I just don't know how to thank all of you, because I never thought of being a dance queen. I always will remember this day which will mean more than ever to realize how wonderful American students are to foreigners.

With many thanks again,
MARGARET KRASEMANN.

Reminder

To the Class of '52:

A REMINDER

. . . . that Tuesday is election day.

. . . . that your vote counts

. . . . that as a class officer I serve you. I offer my time, interest and enthusiasm

. . . . that I would like the privilege to serve you as vice-president of our senior class.

Sincerely,
Marjorie Meckatroth.

Privilege and Honor

Fellow Sophomores:

I wish to think all of you who voted for me in the primary elected and made it possible for me to be in the run-offs.

I sincerely hope that you will continue to give me your support in the final elections today.

We have a wonderful class, and I would consider it a privilege and honor to serve you as its secretary.

BARBARA BREWTON.
Candidate for Junior Secretary.

More Class Spirit

Fellow Sophomores:

This year's graduate class promises to be a fine one. However, the achievements of our class will depend largely upon the interest and cooperation of each of its members. One way in which you

Dear Editor . . .

Bow Wow

Dear Editor:

Before my pilgrimage to Panama City to take the armed forces physical examination, I planned to meet a fellow exserviceman from Florida A & M College. I am not sure, but I think that his name was Thomas. Jefferson Jones. Anyway, we struck up an amiable conversation and shortly he invited me to pay a visit to Florida A & M at my early convenience. Happily I accepted the invitation and said that I would be out. But as yet, for one reason or another, I haven't done anything about my acquaintance. I picked off of my roommate's dresser the 1950-51 Bow-Wow and I know, I'm new here) and, being nosing-by-nature, so do unashamedly browsed through. Eventually I came upon the Rules and Regulations section and under the topic "General" conduct for all students I read my interpretation, "Students are not permitted to visit the Florida A & M campus unless accompanied by their parents."

Now I am from Miami and parents live in South Bend. To them, the trip would be rather costly, and besides, daddy's car-sick. Mother works on the final line at the Studebaker Corporation, making about fifty-six an hour, and she'd have to miss overtime, which is, at best, three twenty-five hourly. You see, it is a matter of transportation and economics.

So why couldn't I go out to Florida A & M—ALL BY MYSELF? Although Bow-Wow makes me from most dangerous, has lured me that the builders and promoters are taken off the premises at six each evening, and secondly, at 7 o'clock, I'm myself, I'm twenty, blue-eyed and blonde, and American in no way. If Bow-Wow has stipulated other standards requiring personal or relative references, I can assert without an aside of mention that I come from a good family, of moderate means. Father is a sand hog and has never made over twelve grand a year. You know about mothers. A sister has a broken nose and a brother has scars, fortunately, to read Bow-Wow. One brother is married and another was injured on the left side until he had an operation to fix him.

Tom Keiser.

A Fond Memory

Dear Editor:

I intend to be leaving FSU in June and I suppose I am expected to carry away with me scores of fond memories of my college days. There is, however, one memory I will carry away which I do not call a fond memory. That is the memory of my experiences with an academic counselor.

When I was transferred to this university I had already decided on the major I wanted and the work I wished to follow. But I was assigned to a counselor who seemed to think otherwise. This counselor's main interest was obviously in sociology and apparently said to himself, "Here is a freshman who ought to be just as interested in the subject as he was several times I had my schedule made out but had to change it because it did not meet with his approval. Apparently he did not want me to take what I wished but what he thought I ought have. Also at intervals he would say something like, "You should take sociology," or "You will need sociology," etc.

Well my counselor, against my will, put me into a course in sociology. I was not interested in it and did not like it and I am not exaggerating when I say I like it less now than I did before I took the course.

I have since then had very little to do with counselors. I have been assigned to one sometimes but for my own good but I do object to counselors being shoved down my throat as this counselor and course were (this counselor did not teach at FSU) and I will add that not all counselors are like the one I had at FSU. I was under the impression that counselors were supposed to help the student decide on a schedule, not to decide for him. Counselors are supposed to be respected by students, but if mine had been more of a counselor and less of a dictator I'm sure he would command the respect a student is supposed to have for him.

DON MANDEVILLE.

Concrete Plans

Fellow Juniors:

Several of you have asked me to present more than qualifications. Here are some specific and concrete plans for next year that could be achieved through monthly class meetings which are varied and lively.

1—Events for seniors well planned and arranged, and especially well publicized.

2—Art as a political unit to aid Will and our senators on issues in student government.

3—Increase the use of the placement bureau's facilities.

4—More "living" class projects.

Campus Characters

By Stan Schmidt

Youthtime . . . all the time

Last week's issue of the publication of a pamphlet called Youthtime which braced the administration on the housing question on campus. Since the information was factual and the writing excellent I wonder about the million objections being aired. The only thing wrong that I can find is the strip and crossword puzzle around off at his own expense. When that privilege is denied we might as well go back to the days of Westcott Town.

Some say, "Why didn't he sun his name?"

How many an they get? Since the people in huts are his superiors, I can see no reason for publication in the lack of signature—you don't have to be Phi Beta Kappa to figure that out.

P S. Many people seem to have the idea that this reporter was the writer of the pamphlet. Regretfully the charge is denied . . . .

Rugged Earl O'Neil will probably catch some kidding since he's joined the sex-cup-balancing Casaliers . . . .

Basketballer, are but for this plan to have them play some exhibitions in Cuba in May?

Skiers copped another first the other night when they serenaded their monitor Glenn (mother) Moore . . . .

There's a movement to buy Jackie Robinson for Dan Rasevich so he can get to more tables at the Mecca . . . .

PA Department Sad, Auditorium Crack Makes Them Move

"It's not funny to us," laughed Dean Doyle, head of the School of Public Administration, when asked how the Department felt about the crack in Westcott, which runs just above its offices.

"WE'RE GOING to have to pick up, lock, stock, and telephones, everything, to move over to Jefferson Street," he continued, "The School might have to up to its neck in work connected with the legislature. The telephone system will have to be uprooted, the buzzer system disconnected, filing cabinets dismantled, and and various and sundry other details prepared to move in toto."

The new building which will house the journalism, social welfare, and public administration schools is high on the priority lists for construction, but no definite date has been set.

Monday day for the faculty and personnel now occupying the back part of Westcott has been postponed because of current repairs underway at Parkside where the new offices will be temporarily located.

V-day, vacate day, had originally been set for Monday of next week. According to reliable sources the move will probably be made at the end of next week, that is if there is anything left to move by then.

University Doctor Addresses FSU Club

Dr T J Brooks, university physician, traced the history of the amateur radio operation showing how this amateurism led to discovery of short wave in a talk last Thursday at the Industrial Arts club meeting.

He explained the regulatory measures for radio operation and suggested the possibilities for inclusion of amateur radio work as one of the activities of the club.

Members planned a welcome for returning Industrial Arts majors who have been teaching this semester and made arrangements for a square dance.

Summer Artist Series Lists Dance Fantasy

A Dance Fantasy program has been scheduled by the Artist Series for a summer program on June 26, according to word received from Mr John Newton Baker chairman of the committee. Featured on this program will be Marylin Vance, Kerry Conrad and Pittman Corry, Broadway dance stars.

Marylin Clare, Coleen Nash, Cecil Brown, Gerald Wendt, and Drew Pearson have been contacted by the committee for lectures for the summer program.

Because Westcott Auditorium has been condemned, no elaborate events will probably be scheduled for next fall's program The present politic for next year's Artists Series revealed only 213 votes cast for the three groups.

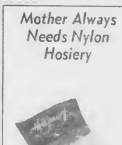
In group one the following were cast: Rogers and Hammerstein Nights, 76 votes; Bobby Russe, 69; Patricia Munsel, 24; La Traviata, 23; and Kirsten Flagstad, 20.

In group two the Norwegian Boys Choir led the poll with 124 votes, followed by Thomas L. Thomas 14, The Buzzi, 69; Igor Gorin, 39; Franklin P Adams, 30; and Fibber McGee and Molly, 29. Dean Baker chairman of the committee, presided in group three with 131 votes with Ernestine Carey receiving 98 votes. Bert Pearson and Jean Dickinson, 160, Marquis W Childs, 25; Quincy Howe, 20; Helen Hayes Nile, 21; Cecil Brown, 10; Louis Fischer, 9; Gerald Wendt, 6; Gerald Drew Pearson, 4; and Schuyler, 3, and Ronni Wheeler, 1.

The Artists Series has been scheduled for seven programs for next fall's program. Plays, Lectures and Ballets.

"Live Christ" Theme Of BSU Retreat

"The Christ" was the theme of the annual state BSU spring retreat held at Camp O'Leno last weekend.



Busses students from Stetson University, University of Miami, University of Florida, Florida Southern, Florida Normal and Industrial College, Tampa University and Florida State University met in a planning conference. The students shared ideas and suggestions regarding the work of the Baptist Student Union on each campus for the 1951-52 school year.

State President Harrell Cushing from FSU presided over the conference.

Speakers at the conference included Rev J. C. Weir, Dr Malcolm Knight, Dr Earl Edmiston and Dr Harry Philpot in addition to student speakers.

Joan Walters will bring a report on Memories of O'Leno tonight at the weekly vesper services.

can display interest in your class by helping to elect your class officers today.

The class class takes a prominent part in the Junior-Senior Prom and most of the other university activities. I would personally like to see our class activities become very successful. If elected as your Junior vice-president, I shall try to create more class spirit and interest in the activities which all Juniors should participate in. I would certainly appreciate your support.

Class Unity

Dear Sophomores,

I would like to thank all of you who supported me in the first primary. I repeat that if elected I will carry out my duties to the best of my ability in promoting greater class spirit and unity. I would appreciate this opportunity to say that if not elected I will still work whole-heartedly for the Junior class.

Evidence of our class spirit and willingness to participate will be shown by our participation in the voting today so please come out and vote

Opera Booked By Music Heads

Pickering to Direct Menotti's Medium

The Medium, a modern opera by Gian Carlo Menotti, will be presented by the School of Music May 30. Woodrow Pickering, instructor of voice has announced.

Although this opera was originally a music class project, Mr Pickering said that it has aroused so much enthusiasm and outside interest that it has become a large scale production and will include outside participation. Mr Pickering will be music director for the production and Nelle Bond Dickinson, instructor of modern dance, will stage the dances.

The plot of the drama deals with a medium who charges exhorbitant prices for bringing back the "spirits of the dead" for their loved ones. Finally the spiritualist begins to feel cold hands on her neck during seances and tries to return the money she has made. However, her clients want her to keep on bringing back the spirits.

The opera which is written in English and utilizes "musical conversation" has a cast made up of members of the School of Music. All girls in the cast are voice majors. The part of Baba, the Medium, is double-cast with Barbara Manford and Eloudie Truett. Helen Bell will portray Monica and Mrs. Gates, her clients Monica and Viriulia French will both play Mrs Nolan and Patricia Chapman will be Mrs Gobineau. Mr Gobineau will be played by Harry Persse and Don Rand will portray the part of the mute Toby.

Kobres Writes Story For "Jack And Jill"

Dr Sidney Kobre, associate professor of Journalism, and Mrs Reva Kobre are authors of "Barry Makes the Headlines," a story in the May issue of Jack and Jill, national magazine for children.

Formerly a newspaperman, Dr Kobre recently revised Backgrounding the News and is now writing a social history of the American newspaper.

Teachers Offered Chance on Summer Educational Tour

Deadline for applications for the summer educational tour which will offer teachers an opportunity to study first hand many cities in the Eastern States, is May 15. The tour is sponsored by the American Panorama tour at Florida State University.

A total of six semester hours, graduate or undergraduate credence credit, is being offered for the month long tour. It will take place during the first FSU Summer School Session. The tour will end July 22 and an evaluation and summary seminar is scheduled on this campus for July 23-27.

While on tour, the teachers and prospective teachers will have a chance to see and study the different problems, social and economical, to be coped with. They will also visit points of historical, governmental and educational interest.

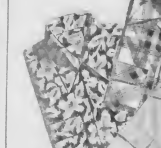
Miss Florence Tyson of the School of Education, and Mr Burke Vanderhill of the department of geography are faculty counselors for the tour. They stated that they hoped this tour would help those on the tour to become more effective teachers.

Applications must be accompanied by a deposit fee of $50. Further information may be obtained by writing either faculty member in care of the American Panorama tour at FSU.

The campus of Florida State University will be the site of the 1952 convention of the Southeastern Province of Newman Clubs, Catholic student organization, Marge Parker, regional president of the FSU Newman club, was elected chairman of the 1952 convention at the province meeting this past weekend in Miami Beach.

The convention was held at the Sherry Frontenac Hotel April 27-29, with the University of Miami Newman club as hosts. The province is composed of Newman clubs on the campuses of 18 colleges and universities in South Carolina, Georgia and Florida.

TWENTY-FOUR students from FSU attended the three-day convention which was highlighted by an address by Father James Keller, director of the Christopher Movement. Topic of Father Keller's talk was "Careers that Change the World."



Other convention speakers were Charles Doran Tharp, dean of the School of Liberal Arts of University of Miami Campus and talk was given at the Sherry Frontenac hotel on Sunday.

Officers for the 1951-52 year of the FSU Newman club are: Ruth Haberkorn, president, who was also elected regional secretary for the Southeastern Province; James Wilkie, vice-president; Joan Gregory, recording secretary; Carolyn Gola, corresponding secretary; Mary Ann Gates, freshman advisor; Bo Tebo, senior representative; Fred Reiter, junior representative; Delores Bates, sophomore representative, and Molly Parker, parliamentarian.

New Queens Rule Over Local Dances

Jackie Morris and Juliette Demetree are the most recently-crowned queens on the Florida State University campus.

Jackie, a sophomore was crowned "Sweetheart of Sigma Chi" at the fraternity's annual ball given by the local chapter of Sigma Chi fraternity Saturday night in the Lafayette Room.

JULIETTE, also a sophomore is the newly-crowned Rose of Delta Sigma Pi, commerce fraternity. She reigned as queen over the annual spring dance of the fraternity given Saturday night at the country club.

Jackie represented the Sigma Chis in the two Homecoming Queen contests. She is co-chairman of "Jubilee" for the Kappa Alpha Thetas and played the lead of Alice in the 1951 production of Showboat.

THE SIGMA Chi Sweetheart is majoring in Music Education and plans a teaching career. She is also a member of the University Singers.

Juliette has been active in dormitory activities.

FROM THE SIDELINES

By WARREN COBB

Flambeau Sports Editor

A lot of tennis fans in these parts missed a great opportunity by observing some first-rate net play Saturday afternoon when the Sun-flying Miami squad was here. Only about 50 persons turned out to see the Hurricanes swamp the Seminoles 8-1.

Admittedly, the match was no great shakes as far as close competition goes. But there was some mighty good tennis seen as the Hurricanes, one of the best teams in the country, racked up their 20th consecutive win.

ESPECIALLY impressive was the by Sydney Schwartz, Miami's No 1 man. Schwartz was at one time Eastern Indoor champion at Nes York and it wasn't hard to see why. Schwartz, who was paired against FSU's Jack Cooper, gave an exhibition of how tennis should be played. Little ted brought a burst of applause from spectators at one point in the match with his deadly shots of Schwartz, with a powerhouse serve and a deadly backhand, left no doubt as to who was the best player on the courts.

Miami, of course, goes in for golf in a big way and has a 36-hole intercollegiate program.

Gainesville Sun Sports Editor Whitey McMullen recently went out on a limb and predicted that the University of Florida will make ern its 1951 grid season against FSU.

Said McMullen: "Once the football game is lined up, competition in all sports will begin and a new rivalry which can grow into the hottest in Gator history will officially be under way."

"IT'S INEVITABLE that the schools will meet eventually, and old boys like the best time to get athletic relationships started."

Sounds good to us.

Last Friday's column, entitled Corruption in Sports, mentioned the college basketball scandal in New York. Saturday, ie Miami, ree Al Klukofsky, whom detectives had chased all over Florida, was arrested on a charge of bribing participants in amateur basketball contests. Klukofsky was the sixth "fixer" to be arrested for the basketball scandal broke.

The incident lends further support to the bill now before legislature that would send anyone offering or accepting a bribe to throw an athletic contest in this state to Raiford for a term of from one to five years.

The game, which presents top senior collegiate gridders in their final showing for pros, has been tentatively set for Nashville, Tennessee, next January 12. We're glad to hear that the Senior Bowl will continue, for the game in the last two years has one of the greatest were ever seen. . . . Joe Louis meets Cuba's Omelio Agramonte tomorrow night in his 54th comeback appearance. Louis is gunning for another shot at Champ Ezzard Charles, recently on a ten-round decision from Agramonte in Miami. Seminole Baseballers Split With Bulldogs Over Weekend

The FSU baseball nine split its weekend series with the University of Georgia, winning Friday's game 6-6 and booking to the Bulldogs on Saturday 7-0.

The Seminoles copped the first game behind the steady seven-hit pitching of Ed Sessions. Sessions also contributed a triple, a double, and two singles at bat.

FSU jumped to a three-run lead in the second inning and were never headed, although the Bulldogs rallied for five runs in a wild sixth inning.

The Georgia nine came back strong the following day and shut the Seminoles out 2-0 with their captain, Charley Kell, tossing a neat four-hitter. It was the third time an FSU baseball team had suffered a shutout. Walt Jasinski of Stetson is the only other pitcher to have turned the trick, having done it twice.

WHILE KELL was handcuffing the Seminole batters, the Bulldogs lashed seven hits off the offerings of big Bob Whitmer and tallied in tre fourth and sixth innings.

The Seminoles meet Florida Southern here in a two game series Wednesday and Thursday afternoon.

Workout Ends Spring Drills

The Florida State University Seminoles will conclude their spring football practice with a scrimmage in Doak S Campbell Stadium tonight, beginning at 8 p m.

It was announced earlier that the scrimmage would be held in the late afternoon, but Coach Don Veller said that due to the recent warm weather the game would take place in the evening.

Because of the shortage of material on hand tonight's affair will not be an elaborate spring practice game, but rather a scrimmage with both sides given a chance to work offensively and defensively. Play will be stopped from time to time for instructional purposes.

"We have lost at least 20 boys from our original spring practice squad of about 60 for no particular reason at all," said Veller. "I guess they just saw they didn't have it and quit. Injuries, mostly minor in nature, to other players have cut our squad to the point of over 30 able bodied men for the scrimmage Saturday."

VELLER HAS expressed dissatisfaction with the results of spring practice. He has indicated that probably about seven or eight positions on next year's team would be filled by freshmen.

The Seminoles, undefeated and untied in 1950, will have a much tougher schedule for 1951. They open with Georgia here, then on successive weekends tangle with University of Miami, Delta State, Sul Ross State of Texas, Stetson University, Jacksonville Naval Air Station, Auburn, Georgia, Tampa University, and Bradley University of Peoria, Ill. The nine games will be played in the state.

Tonight's scrimmage will be open to spectators, with no admission charge.

Netters Fall to Miami For 39th Straight Win

The FSU tennis team fell before the powerful Miami team here Saturday afternoon by a score of 9-0. This marked the 39th straight victory for the Hurricanes, one of the top ranking college teams in the nation.

Larry Dickson was the only Seminole player to win a set all afternoon, taking the second set of his singles match against Meek Robinette by a 6-2 count.

The Seminoles next match will pit them against Florida Southern here tomorrow night.

SUMMARIES:

Singles—Sid Schwartz, Miami, defeated Ned Cooper, 6-2, 6-1. Meek Robinette, M. defeated Larry Dickson, 6-3, 2-6, 6-3. Don Kaiser, M, defeated Jim Berry, 6-2, 6-6. Frank Keister, M, defeated Jack Egan, 6-0, 6-0. Jerry Slabin, M, defeated Richard Bradley, 6-1, 6-2. Sam Wrisht, M, defeated Georgs Newman, 6-2, 6-3.

Doubles—Schwartz and Kaiser, M, defeated Cooper and Dickson, 6-1, 6-1. Robinette and Keister, M, defeated Berry and Egan, 6-0, 6-4. Slabin and Wrisht, M, defeated Dan Boda and Bradley, 6-1, 6-1.

UGA Senators Represent FSU At Convention

Mary Ruth Summers and Betty Rich, Women Senators, represented Florida State University at the Southern Inter-Collegiate Association of Student Government Convention, held at Stetson University, Deland, Florida. The meeting was held on April 19, 20, and 21.

"Purposeful Leadership" was the theme which portrayed the main purpose of the college conclave, according to the senators, who made their report to the ...en's Senate meeting, held ...esday.

...ording to Senator Summers, ...attended a panel discussion on Honor Systems, there are many colleges which share our problems concerning this important question. In many cases a motivating force was what was needed. The news of the FSU Emphasis Week was favorably received.

Senator Rich led a group discussion, covering the different fraternity policies and also concerning spend-the-night in town after a dance. She found out that most of the colleges represented did not advocate this policy. At present, Betty is acting vice-president in Charge of Women's Affairs, in the absence of Cass Young.

It was disclosed at the meeting that the votes for next year's Sophomore Counselors have been compiled, and the results will go to the selection committee. Those that voted are freshmen, junior counselors, and residence counselors.

Miss Anne F Pope has contacted the dormitories, notifying them that May 9 is the date set for the election of house officers for next year. Nominations will be made from the floor.

PARTICIPANTS IN THE SIGMA CHI DERBY hastily dig ammantionables from their suitcases in an attempt to capture the derby crown. The derby was held last Saturday afternoon at the Doak Campbell stadium.

Kappa Alpha Thetas Take First Place in Annual Sigma Chi Derby

Kappa Alpha Theta captured first place and three gold trophies in the first running of the annual Sigma Chi Derby here at Florida State University, Saturday afternoon in Doak Campbell stadium.

The first event listed in the "racing forp" as a water relay, got under way around 1:30. The Thetas won first place in this race and then sat back to watch Ardie Bourdland, their entry in the second event, come bounding across the wire first in the potato sack race, givin. Theta first place in two events.

DELTA ZETA accumulated six points, only one less than Theta, giving them second place in the meet. Third place went to Pi Beta Phi and Delta Gamma who held five points each.

The most hilarious event on the program proved to be the clothes changing race which was copped by Delta Zeta. First place in the banana feed went to Delta Gamma.

Pi Beta Phi finished in front of the rest of the field in the fourth race which was a soda sipping contest. The announcer triumphantly proclaimed that the best drinking sororities on campus had just been determined in one, two, three order. However, the quart bottles which the three girls on each team worked so hard to empty were filled with good old water, the conclusion being that there is obviously a distinction between "drinking fraternities" and "drinking sororities."

THE HIGHLY ADVERTISED secret sixth and last race lived up to advance notices and proved quite a surprise. As the sixteen sorority entries stood at one end of the stadium field, sixteen fat white hens were released on the fifty yard line. Each chicken had the colors of a sorority around its leg and at the starter's gun bedlam broke loose as the girls attempted to find and catch the chicken wearing her sorority's colors. Dorothy Robertson of Alpha Chi Omega, Sally Kennedy of Pi Beta Phi and Polly Lassiter of Phi Mu looked like were farmer's daughters as they quickly grabbed their respective chickens and ran for the finishing line in that order.

The first Sigma Chi Derby was held at the University of Georgia seventeen years ago. Since that time the Derby has become a traditional affair annually staged by Sigma Chi chapters all over the nation. It is patterned after the famed Kentucky Derby, according to the Sigma Chi's and takes the form of a comic track meet. Sororities are limited to campus sororities.

THE COMPLETE RESULTS of the FSU Sigma Chi Derby are as follows: First race: Water Relay: Kappa Alpha Theta, Delta Zeta, and Kappa Delta; Second race, Potato-sack: Kappa Alpha Theta, Delta Gamma, and Gamma Phi Beta; Third race, Chance Clothes: Delta Zeta, Alpha Gamma Delta, and Kappa Alpha Theta; Fourth race, Soda Sipping: Pi Beta Phi, Phi Mu, and Sigma Kappa; Fifth race, Banana Feed: Delta Gamma, Alpha Omicron Pi, and Delta Zeta; Sixth race, Chicken chase: Alpha Chi Omega, Pi Beta Phi, and Phi Mu.

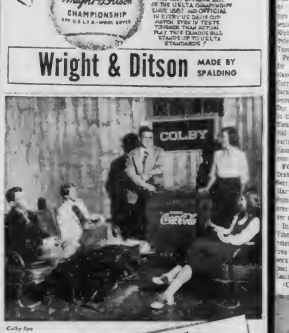
Frosh Find College Adjustment Difficult

Freshmen find the matter of adjusting to college work the most serious problem they encounter. This is one of the findings which Miss Colleen Martin, graduate intern in the Office of Coordinator of Guidance and Counseling has made in her recent investigation of freshman problems.

Says Miss Martin—"The term 'problem' is used lost to designate the pathological 'problem' case, but the normal type of difficulty arising every day. I held personal interviews with 250 students who were selected by a random sampling procedure."

PROBLEM AREAS in the fields of educational, vocational, personal-social, and health adjustment were encountered. The students listed friends, educational counselors, roommates and junior counselors as those they went to for assistance most often.

This study seemed to point that men rank financial problems as of second importance, while women put difficulties dealing with future vocational and educational planning in second place.



EXAMPLES of typical problems are: adjusting to school work—learning to study effectively, taking notes in class, budgeting time wisely, future vocational— uncertainty as to what course to follow and not having accurate information was opportunities and their scope, finances—not being able to budget wisely, finding it difficult to get jobs to co-ordinate with the school work.

There are also older students finding it difficult to adjust to different age groups. "And," Miss Martin added, "day students have special problems."

The over-all results of the study now being prepared in literary form and will be used by members of the Area of Student Welfare in the general planning for freshmen who are enrolling in the fall of 1951.

House Committee Trims FSU Budget

Slashed $4.5 Million From Original Request of $11 Million; Campbell---'No Comment'

By BILL FALCONER

Florida's public schools, colleges, and universities received a major setback Wednesday when the House Appropriations Committee presented its proposed budget that would severely cut the funds requested by the educational institutions.

Florida State University has been allotted $7,100,000 for the next biennium beginning July 1, 1951. This is a $4,442,666 cut from the $11,542,464 originally asked by the University.

PRESIDENT Doak S Campbell stated that he would like to look at the proposed appropriations bill before he made any public comment. But University of Florida President J Hillis Miller was not quiet about the matter.

Commenting on the $10,000,000 budget that the Appropriations committee has allotted the University of Florida, an Associated Press dispatch quoted Miller as saying, "There would be no way for us to proceed except to operate a smaller or an inferior institution."

"THE UNIVERSITY of Florida has been trying desperately to meet the demands made upon it by the people of the state and under difficult conditions has gained in prestige and stature among the colleges of the nation. It has been short on space and it has had too few faculty members for its 10,000 students and scarcely enough for the $500 expected in September. Its one source of dent for instructional purposes has been low," Miller concluded.

The University of Florida was cut $5,000,000 from the $18,000,000 it originally requested. The Appropriations Committee stipulated that none of the money could be used to plan or build a U of F medical school.

FLORIDA'S public schools also received a setback when the Appropriations committee allotted only $112,000,000 for the Minimum Foundation program. This is an $8,000,000 cut from the $120,000,000 the committee requested.

State School Superintendent Thomas D Bailey was quoted as saying that the House Committee's $8,000,000 cut from the requested $120,000,000 allocation to county schools would mean the counties would either have to take a 7 per cent cut in school operations or dig up the money locally.

Bailey was further quoted as saying "Since more than 70 per cent of the funds in the Minimum Foundation program is allotted to instructional salaries, any reduction would be felt directly by the teachers. At a time when their purchasing power grows less each month, we already have the problem of the better teachers quitting for higher paying diverse jobs unless provision is made for the high cost of living.

"THE plain fact is that the teachers were better off last year than they are this year and that any reduction in salaries will make a very bad situation much worse," he concluded.

It is considered that the economy-minded House of Representatives will add any substantial increases to the recommended allocations when the appropriations bill comes up for discussion in the near future. But the heads of the various state institutions still have the hope of getting more money when the Senate Appropriations committee introduces its bill next week.

THE SENATE is much more liberal in its philosophy on spending, and it is expected that their

New Class Officers Chosen As Balloting Is Completed

Bradley and Barnes Take Presidency Of Senior, Junior Classes, Count Shows

Dick Bradley has been elected president of the senior class over John Newland in run-off finals held last Tuesday. Bradley won his office by 29 votes.

By a 60-vote margin, Jimmie Barnes was chosen to lead the junior class for next year. He won over Jan Abogast.

The scheduled referendum on the controversial Who's Who was not held, according to Elections Chairman Paul Gorman, because one copies forgot to include the three alternatives on the ballot. Gorman said the question would be asked in a constitutional amendment election scheduled in the next two or three weeks.

BE ALSO stated at the same time an election would be held to fill the vacancy for Chief Justice of the Honor Court. Bill Hayes was ruled ineligible for the office by the Honor Court after he had won the election in the UOA balloting.

1,000 students participated in the finals of the class elections.

For vice-president of the senior class, Shirley Gregory defeated Barbara Mecklenburg by 182 to 104. Marjorie is at present secretary of the UOA. The secretary-ship of the senior class was won by Eunice Barnes over Katrina Kurlin. The count was 177 to 154.

TREASURER of next year's senior class will be Bill Cornelius who triumphed over Pat Weinard by 148 to 131. The three Senators elected from the incoming senior class are Jean Flynn, Myra Klein and Nancy Miller. Those elected from the junior class, Orby Harvel and Eunice Thompson.

Pelham Green won a close race for vice-president of the junior class by edging out Joan Powell by only 10 votes. Barbara Barnes Brexton won the race for secretary of the junior class over Ora Douglas. Joan Webb will serve as the capacity of treasurer and Jo Young Hall will be the junior class chairman. A close race for Parliamentarian of the junior class saw Marilyn Hart triumph over Charlotte Hartwell.

FOR MEN'S offices, Bobby Drake was elected over Bobby Wynn and Maynard Cracraft. Mary Helen Speed and Mary Ruth Summers—all incumbents—will serve Clare Cornelius, Jean Nydegger and Pat Temple.

In the sophomore class Pat Tims trimmed Pat Slater by 29 votes for vice-president and Peggy Campbell beat Arra Mae Hancock for secretary. The treasurer's job went to Joyce Whiddon over Lucie Ann Fagen. In the closest

Annual Faculty Sale Given to Campus Chest

Everything from a dinner to a live rabbit and water color paintings went on the block last night at the annual faculty auction held in the patio as Conradi theatre to help the Campus Chest.

The auction, sponsored by the Sophomore Council, had as auctioneers Dai Albritton and Lorene Hall. Faculty members who offered dinners to the highest bidder included President Doak S Campbell, Dean Otis McBride, and Miss Elisabeth Lynn. Dean of Women Catherine Warren offered a coffee to be served to a group.

COACH JACK Haskin offered a dozen PSU circus pictures while Dr Janet Smith contributed a bracelet to the auction. Professor Frederick Bolochuh made a set decoration for a sorority of fraternity house which the highest bidder obtained.

A live rabbit was contributed by Dr Lincoln Kelly, professor of modern languages. Four people placed a trip to Wakulla with Miss Mary Titus, instructor of women's physical education. Two dishes brought a dinner at the Seven Seas restaurant with Mr Sidney M Couling, English instructor.

AN OLD cap with a spring-in condition was auctioned by Miss Eleanor P King, women's physical education. Cooking were donated by Mr William C Kirk, Jr, assistant professor of chemistry. Paintings by Mrs Lucie Ann Herndon, restaurant association vice president, and Mrs Ruth Bell, executive vice president of the Florida Hotel association.

Wright Gives Music Program Here Tonight

An all-Gershwin program featuring Thomas Wright of the School of Music faculty as soloist will be presented tonight at 8:15 in the Music hall.

Wright will be assisted in the performance by Carlisle Floyd and Donald Rand, pianists; Ramona Cruikshank Beard, organist; Mary Helen Weaver, soprano, and Herman Gunter, Jr, baritone.

ALL THE major works of Gershwin for the piano will be included in the two-piano team of Floyd and Rand.

During the Rhapsody in Blue, Wrisht will be accompanied at the Hammond organ by Mrs Beard in a special transcription of the orchestral score made by the organist.

Other Gershwin music presented will be two Preludes for piano, An American in Paris, 1951, Rhythm, and five songs from Porgy and Bess.

WRIGHT HAS gained a wide reputation as an interpreter of the Gershwin piano works. He has been chairman of the Florida Governor's conference.

Wright's recent talons have been released concerning further plans for graduation.

Senator Kerr Will Address '51 Graduates

FSU Ceremony to Mark Centennial Anniversary Of Higher Education

An announcement made yesterday afternoon revealed that the speaker for commencement exercises here will be Senator Robert Samuel Kerr of Oklahoma. Kerr is also former governor of Oklahoma.

FSU President Doak S Campbell said he received a wire from Senator Kerr yesterday afternoon accepting the invitation to address the 1951 graduating class.

DEGREES will be granted to approximately 638 graduates by the university president. Honor guests who have been invited to attend the service include Senators Spessard L Holland and Millard Smithers of Florida and Congressman Bob Sykes.

The 1951 ceremonies will commemorate the celebration of the centennial anniversary of higher education in this state. It was in 1851 that the first act of the legislature was passed creating institutions of higher learning.

SENATOR Kerr is a lawyer and banker. His higher education was at the University of Oklahoma. He is on the board of trustees of numerous industrial concerns and is president and contractor of an Oklahoma oil company.

In 1944, Senator Kerr was the favorite speaker for the National Democratic convention. He is president of the Oklahoma Baptist Convention and of the Baptist Orphans Home. He has also been chairman of the Oklahoma Governor's conference.

Alpha Lambda Delta Initiates Thirteen

Thirteen freshmen and one sophomore were pledged into freshman honorary, Alpha Lambda Delta, yesterday afternoon and will be initiated Tuesday afternoon at 5:15 in the lower lounge of the Rowena Longmire building.

Faculty advisor, Miss Olivia Two sophomore students from Dunham of the classics department, and the dean of women, Katherine Warren, will be present at the initiation.

ALPHA LAMBDA DELTA tapped twice a year, Frances Clark, president of the honorary, said. "Students tapped have maintained a 2.5 average for the three quarters of last year, or the past three quarters of high school term," Frances stated.

The students were tapped Tuesday afternoon at a compulsory convocation for freshmen girls in the Music amphitheater.

last year were also installed with the group, making a total of 16 students tapped, Frances reported.

A PLAQUE from Morton Board president, Doris Harding, was presented to Jean Escott for having the highest average of the students tapped. Jean had a 3 point average.

Students who make a bish enough average this semester so that when added to last semester's grade will average a 2.5 will be tapped next year, the president said.

THE GRADES for this semester's group were compiled by the registrar's office. Any students they had a 2.5 average and were not tapped are asked to see the registrar, and then to contact Frances Clark in South Cawthon, Tuesday are Shirley Allen, Manuela Crespo, Dorothy Conover,

'Brown Jug' Sing Set At 1 PM Sunday By Music Honorary

The time of the "Little Brown Jug Sing" has been moved up to 1 p m Sunday in the Music Amphitheater, announced Miss Mary Kerley, president of Sigma Alpha Iota, music honorary for women.

The 32 groups who will sing two numbers have been asked to limit their singing to eight minutes, according to Mary. "Each group should judge their time of appearance by the number who are on the program. The groups should be there and should be prepared to go on immediately. Mary stressed.

Judges for the event will be Miss Betty Jane Grimm, assistant professor of voice; Miss Gladys Koch, associate professor of voice and theory; Dr Warren D Allen, professor of musicology, and Herman Gunter, assistant professor of voice, and Dr Ernest Mitchell, dean of the School of Music.

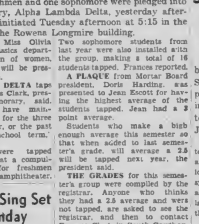
Trophies will be presented in the women's and the FAL and Phi Mu Alpha, men's music honorary, will present a trophy to the winner in the men's group.

New Phones Readied June 1 Says Campbell

New Dial Phone Testing Slated to Benin Soon Reports FSU President

President Doak S Campbell has announced that the Southeastern Telephone company officials will begin testing the new dial phone system soon in preparation for June 1 operation.

At this time the new dial system on campus should be installed and ready for use. The new service will improve the antiquated system now in use here and, in addition, will provide for enlarged future telephone needs of the University.



THE PRESENT system of operation is manually controlled. Operators handle all inter-departmental calls as well as outgoing and incoming calls. The new dial system will enable operators to concentrate on long distance calls and incoming calls only.

General Manager Blair Stone of the Southeastern Telephone company says the company has overcome some "spots" of deliveries and anticipates no further delay in completing the installation by June 1. Much of the equipment was already on hand at the company, he reports.

After June 1 calls emanating from the campus to outside phones will be handled by the caller dialing his number without having to go through the University switchboard.

Mrs Cecile Bingelacy, chief operator, said "We want to thank the whole campus community for the patience and cooperation we've shown us during the difficult period after dial telephones were installed in Tallahassee. We promise to reflect this gratitude by personalized service after June 1."

THE COST OF the new equipment is over $80,000 reports the telephone company. Tallahassee has had dial phones since September of last year.

Garnet Key Fetes Foreign Students

Foreign students will be entertained by the members of Garnet Key, women's service honorary, at a banquet from 6 to 8 p m May 15. The tea will last from 7:30 to 6:30 p m and will be held in the Longmire lounge.

Dr Lincoln J Canfield, professor of modern languages, and sponsor of Garnet Key, will address the group at approximately 6 p m. Members of Garnet Key, the corresponding men's honorary, have been invited to serve as hosts at the affair.

Faculty honor guests will include University President Doak S Campbell and Mrs Campbell and Miss Katherine Warren, dean of women.

Chairman of the tea is Mary Ellen Tavel. She is being assisted by Eleanor Graves, invitations chairman; Alice Jackson, refreshments, and Myra Kight, chairman of the clean-up committee.

All faculty members and all foreign students have been extended an invitation to the party.

Committee Finds FSU Space Shortage Is Great Problem

Finding space on campus for offices and classrooms formerly housed in the commodious auditorium wing of Westcott is the main problem confronting the space committee.

This committee designated by Doak S Campbell, university president, is faced with the task to find a problem has been holding meetings since the condemnation when the auditorium was reclosed and Fisher was discontinued.

HOUSED IN the wings and beneath the auditorium were offices of the Florida Public Administration, art department studios and offices of the College of Arts and Sciences, these and including history, math, political science, classes and others.

Dr Milton Carothers, committee chairman, said a cottage formerly housing a group of students studying Spanish has been placed into use to relieve the space problem. He said the studies will now been placed in some of the women's dormitories.

Also a temporary measure the art studios of Prof Frederick Babcock have been moved to the former storage space in the dining hall on East campus.

Three Girls Win Cigarette Contest

Betty Turner, Jean Landrum and Jane Haberkorn are this week's winners of the Chesterfield Question Contest. Each received two packages of Chesterfields.

The contest is conducted each week by the campus representatives who will continue making telephone calls and giving Chesterfields as prizes until May 28.

Cheerleader Tryouts

Cheerleader tryouts for all freshmen will be held Tuesday, May 8 and Thursday, May 10 at 3:30 p m. They will be held in the men's gym on West campus.

There will be three freshmen chosen from the group to represent the sophomore class of next year on the cheerleading squad.

Roving Reporter Queries Students About Magazine

PAUL H BURR, under, 529 W College—Sounds like a good outlet for local literary talent, and since there doesn't seem to be any, it would, perhaps, be logical to fill the vacuum with a pictorial magazine.

Barbara Foster, senior, Alpha Chi Omega house—The only satisfactory magazine as I see it would be a combination of the ridiculous and the sublime, but nobody wants too much of either.

GRACE Thompson, junior, 219 Gilchrist—If we started that, we could get Life magazine.

Herbert L Kurzar, freshman, Judd 845, West campus—I think that establishing a monthly magazine for the Smoke Signals would be fine, provided the expenses aren't too great.

Sue Saxon, sophomore, 336 Gilchrist—I think it would be really good and would increase prestige appeal to a lot of the students.

Reed Gillis, junior, 529 W College—Since various unsuccessful attempts have been made to revive Smoke Signals, I think it would be wise to discontinue same and begin anew with a more desirable magazine as you stated.

RAY SENN, senior, 505 West campus—Well, I never did enjoy the Talaria or Smoke Signals, saying "Since more than 70 per cent of the funds in the Minimum Foundation program is allotted to instructional salaries, any reduction would be felt directly by the teachers. At a time when their purchasing power grows less each month, we already have the problem of the better teachers quitting for higher paying diverse jobs unless provision is made for the high cost of living.

"THE plain fact is that the teachers were better off last year than they are this year and that any reduction in salaries will make a very bad situation much worse," he concluded.

It is considered that the economy-minded House of Representatives will add any substantial increases to the recommended allocations when the appropriations bill comes up for discussion in the near future. But the heads of the various state institutions still have the hope of getting more money when the Senate Appropriations committee introduces its bill next week.

Joining NSA Would Mean Overriding FSU Constitution

To join the United States National Student Association would be to subscribe to a constitution that would, in effect, supercede our own student constitution. The constitution of the USNSA states that in order for any institution to join that body, it must adopt the constitution and preamble of the USNSA. Furthermore, the institution asking for membership must subscribe to a regional USNSA constitution.

This means we, the students, will be asked to divide our sovereignty (what little the faculty leaves us) among three constitutions. If this be the case, the student constitution no longer becomes the fundamental campus law.

To say that we would not derive any benefits from the National Student Association would indeed be misleading. They have formulated a student discount service which eases the cost of living for students, they have been active in student rights for student political organizations and they have begun physical welfare programs on campuses.

But the core of the NSA problem is this: How does it help the student?

It helps them in the above ways. But to achieve these many benefits of the National Student Organization, student government must be strong and powerful. They cannot be strong and powerful until two objectives are reached. First, a student constitution that is subordinate to a greater constitution cannot be powerful. Secondly, we could not support the aims of NSA until complete cooperation of the administration is guaranteed.

The objectives of NSA at the present time, in terms of our student constitution are out of reach because the FSU has certain problems in which the policies are on our administrative level and not on our student government level.

This can be shown in the Basic Policy Declaration of NSA. The first states that "The USNSA will seek to secure and maintain equal rights of all people and secure equal opportunities for education at all levels regardless of race, national origin, sex, creed, and political belief or economic circumstance, especially by securing the eventual elimination of all forms of discriminatory educational systems everywhere in the United States, since the USNSA is opposed in principle to such systems."

The second declaration states: "The USNSA encourages wide investigation and discussion of the problems of segregation and discrimination which exist throughout the United States in order to help secure their elimination . . . it shall be the policy of USNSA to support and stimulate legislative and legal action on the national, regional and campus levels to seek the elimination of statutes and laws which are used to perpetuate discrimination and/or segregation."

Writing on "Organizational affairs" for the USNSA Congress Report, Frederick D. Houghteling, treasurer of NSA, said, "In actuality, therefore, the student government of NSA can do little more. Declarations would make it seem that the NSA is a lobbying or resource group for situations that do not fall into the hands of student government."

NSA may be a good thing but we do not believe that the student government at Florida State University is ready to take up the problems of student governments all over the United States when they cannot even handle their own. Until such time as our own house is in order we should not consider setting policies that first, are not within our jurisdiction, and secondly, are not adaptable to our environment at the present time.

to cut a stencil to that effect and run off a thousand copies.

We cannot condone the apparent procrastination displayed by the elections committee toward settling the Who's Who controversy.

● WANT A TAN?

How to get a sunburn in four easy lessons . . . . that's the course offered on the campus come the first day of Spring.

First of all, you can do the trite old trick of going to camp on the coast, lie spread-eagle in the blazing hot sun for five or six hours, go around for a few days afterward smelling of vinegar and what have you got to show for it? Not much. After you play sun worshipper for three or four weekends, your golden tan begins to show.

If you want that sunburn to kind of sneak up on you, you can sit around on the grass on campus with fellow class-cutters and acquire a pink glow before too long; that is, if the intrepid campus cops let you engage in loafing.

Class field trips you go on to dig up old fossils, algae and mastadon skins give you enough sun to sizzle while you work. And think of the Marine Biology lab students who spend a hard day at Alligator point working feverishly in their bathing suits diving in and out of the water. It must be Hell! And they get a tan, too.

Then there are the capitalists who drive around in open convertibles stopping here and there to sip suds and soak sun. There's a vicious rumor going around that this type of student isn't getting all he should out of his college career.

These lessons on how to get a sun-burn are studied regularly and untiringly by FSU students, eager to get an education.

Dear Editor

Pepper Opposed

Dear Editor:

In the Friday, April 13 issue of the Flambeau, Miss Jeanne O'Rourken in her column "Fancy This" erroneously stated that former U.S. Senator Claude Pepper was "all for socialized medicine."

On the contrary, he is absolutely opposed to Socialized medicine or any plan that would work an undue hardship upon the doctors.

Under a system of Socialized medicine, the doctors all work as salaried employees of the federal government. No such system is advocated by Senator Pepper.

The National Health Insurance plan, advocated by Senator Pepper, simply means insurance required on the nation-wide scope but local in administration, pooling resources to pay for medical care. Under this proposed system, the present voluntary health insurance plans would not be put out of commission. They would continue to play a prominent part in supply health services.

Under the proposed health plan the private relationship between patient and doctor is unchanged. Only the financial relationship would be changed, because the patient would not pay the doctor anything. He would be paid out of the insurance fund to which the patient had contributed.

The doctor would be free to serve in the National Health Insurance plan or stay out of it, to accept or reject patients as he likes and in accordance with his own judgment and standards.

The Federal Government's role is merely collect the insurance premiums in the states, and establish broad, general standards with the states arranging the actual administration.

In general, the plan advocated by Senator Pepper would do these things for the American people: (1) Train more doctors, dentists, health insurance plans would not be put out of commission. They would continue to play a prominent part in supply health services.

WE HATE TO COMPLAIN, BUT . . .

By BETSY BLANTON

Within the next few days the final ballot to be presented to the student body has been carefully rearranged and designed.

But it has been discovered something was missing when students went to the polls Tuesday. The Who's Who ballot was left off the ballot from the other issues which were voted on.

Elections Chairman Paul Garrison tells this columnist that the typist neglected to include the Who's Who alternatives on the ballot which was mimeographed. Paul also added that constitutional election is due to fall in a couple of weeks, so the Who's Who issue will be voted on at this time.

We hate to complain, but it appears unusual to us that members of the election committee were not present when that the Who's Who problem was to be voted on when we talked to them the day before the election. This also happened to be our publication day.

And people wonder how newspapers get misinformation.

Also to be voted on in the constitutional election will be

SKIN COLOR MAKES NO DIFFERENCE

By JEANNE O'BORDEN

Vivacious and beautiful students left for the University of Florida for the Florida Intercollegiate Press Association, Florida Collegiate and Florida Intercollegiate Press Association Convention.

The U of F is a first this year set a precedent. Never before has Florida A&M, Florida State and Webb Nexro and while students been held on a state university campus. Traditionally the conventions are held at Tampa, Miami or Daytona.

Students from Gainesville decided that since they were working for the convention, the super press and through these, a democratic way of life, since the skin should not even be brought into consideration.

They may have refused to play us in football, but by taking the step they did for the convention, they showed that they're not bad people after all.

Students will be present in the Flambeau at the convention are Janet Pierce, next year's managing editor, and Jeanne King, columnist and also on next year's staff. These two students will attend meetings, press conferences and methods in putting out a newspaper and will take part in workshops for typography and editorial copy.

When they return to FSU Sunday, they will have much to offer in the way of bettering the Flambeau.

PREVAILING SOCIAL RULES AT FSU

By EARL DOBERT

I have before me a copy of the social rules prevailing on the Florida State University campus. Want to hear some of them?

In a chapter entitled "What is wear", under a section marked "Don'ts" he says "Clean attire for women consists of shirts, sweaters or blouses, and dresses. For men it includes sport shirts." Now men are going to have to wear shirts, as the class marked only by sport shirt. What is that supposed to mean say?

Under "Don'ts", the document reads "Bare-shouldered sundresses should be worn only when made for the sun and not for the classroom." A girl usually walks to class in the sun sometimes, unless, of course, she is a female mole.

"Jeans, shorts or abbreviated shating shirts are not worn to square dances or formal functions." Whoever heard of wearing a skating shirt to a skating rink?

"Women going to and from camp or the country in shorts or dungarees with a raincoat; when using back dormitory entrances or in the classroom." In other words a girl can scoot all over campus in shorts without a coat.

LEGISLATURE

ECONOMY MINDED SOLONS?

By VERNON PEEPLES and BILL PATTERSON

The House Appropriations Committee won plaudits this week when it released its recommendations for the next biennium. The state press, always eager to find economy in government, is helping hand, spontaneously broke into applause at the praise of the committee's tight-fistedness.

Especially singled out for commendation was the decision to cut appropriations which would be drastically reduced by the committee's recommendations are accepted: education and welfare. The committee, we were told, had acted soundly in trimming expenditures in these non-essential areas.

Just what areas are not essential is difficult to define. There is, obviously disagreement on this point between us, lay observers, like breathing a lot, getting polluted, professionally astute at making such a distinction between the necessary and the unnecessary expenses of government.

TAKE THE members of the Committee, for instance. They believe that expenditures for education is non-essential. Children and for aid to the needy are just too much a drain place on the tax-paying citizenry.

On this we disagree. And we also disagree with members of the committeemen who approve such items of expense as were incurred and reading of the House chamber for business this session.

Take the case of the new floor for instance. Now, the House had for years a maple floor which was functional, durable and quite impressive. But the legislature decided to redecorate. The chairman of which is a member of the appropriations committee which approved the new floor, the economy block, thought otherwise.

THEIR AESTHETIC senses, appalled by the appearance of the old, horrid maple, compelled the legislative expense committee-men to decide that a floor of a more attractive floor was needed. So they decided to cover it with some think is a "cork" floor and others, an "oak-bark floor." No one however, seems to know how much it cost the people of Florida.

The best estimate we could get was $9,000.

Besides, the "best laid schemes of mice and men often go astray." And so did part of the legislative expense committees.

Complications set in. One was that the floor, when it arrived, went completely hay-wire due to the humidity of Tallahassee and the desks in order to install the lovely floor. We couldn't even get a glance at the floor in order to repair this system, but we did notice that the repair men stayed at the modern new Hotel Duval at state expense.

Another complication was, alas, that legislative mobility had been impaired—the solon's chair would not roll on the "cork" and/or "oak-bark" floor.

THEREFORE, in this situation, rubber chair mats were purchased so that the legislature could keep their mobility and popularity cost of $765.

But the confrontation set in. Now that new floor just didn't match some of the older chairs.

So the committee came up with a per with that of the floor, twenty-two (22) chairs were purchased for the tidy sum of $4,350.60.

And the committee became so enamored of beauty, they decided they had to do more. So the committee room the appropriations committee so as to make the atmosphere "conducive" to "economy mindedness."

ACCORDINGLY, they made two improvements: (1) To separate the sheep from the goats, they purchased one Bullaster rail Cost: $495. (2) To insure comfort of the sheep they bought 140 (40) theater chairs. Cost $1,150.60.

From the above discussion, it is patently clear that the advocates of economy march on—or rather roll on. In the walnut chairs, over the rubber mats, on the "oak-bark" floor. "Damn progress! Full speed ahead!"

Seen in the capsial lobby were the session was the passing of the memorial" to Congress requesting that a constitutional convention be called for the purpose of placing a tax limit of 20 percent on income. It is evident who this would hurt—the backbone of American free enterprise —the little man.

The House of Representatives has passed Re version of congressional re-apportionment that creates eight districts from current seven. North Florida to the fourth district. Dade county would have 1/1 with a population of 320,000. This would be better than no re-districting at all.

Class Visits Plant On Moultrie Trip

Students majoring in the department of institution administration visited the plant of Swift and Company at Moultrie, Ga. Wednesday. This is an annual event for seniors in the marketing course of the department.

They observed the complete process from the killing of beef and pork from the live animal to cuts ready for sale. Pricing is also considered in the purchase of meat from a wholesaler for an institutional food service operation as demonstrated by the specialists in the various units of the plant.

Accompanying the students on the tour was Mrs Joan Coleman, institution administration professor.

Thespians . . . a breed apart.

What makes people in college level so dedicated? English majors have been known to pick off tidbits from little known earned-wellers and back dated magazines but don't expect a Theatre to run a class in Shakespearean Stage Management. Seems to me I read somewhere that the average pay of an actor (which includes the great and the hungry) is somewhat under 600 dollars a year. Would that be the profit motive if it wasn't that the hopeful bit of egotism that keeps us all simmering and the actor boiling.

It's not just glamour either. Have you ever noticed their work and practice sessions? Have you ever seen a dress rehearsal in sipping a cool one or hand-standing at the Law? Maybe several and bows go together in the Theater, too.

Take the Shakespearean though, the actor should leave his mark at the stage door . . . .

Gilbert and Sullivan 'Shall Return' To FSU

Gilbert and Sullivan fans will have a rare treat in store for them when the FSU Light Opera Guild produces one of the most popular operettas by the famous team. The Pirates of Penzance will be staged under the direction of Dr. Ernest L. Briggs on May 17, 18 and 19, in the Music hall.

The Pirates of Penzance deals with the plight of Frederick, the slave of duty, who at the age of 21 was apprenticed to a pirate instead of a pilot, due to the fact that his nurse was hard of hearing.

AT THE age of 21, Frederick's premature contract is completed, and he plans to leave the pirate band only to discover that he was apprenticed till his twenty-first birthday. And since he was born on Feb 29, he still has 16 more birthdays to go.

The production is being sponsored by Phi Mu Alpha Sinfonia and Sigma Alpha Iota, music honoraries for men and women, respectively. The assistant director is Prof Betty Jane Grimm. Professors Briggs and Grimm directed the production of The Mikado last November, which played to "standing room only" in the Music hall.

ADRIANNE Norton will sing the leading feminine role of Mabel with Bill Dalrymple as the hero, Frederick. Other principals will be Tommy McMullen as Major-General Stanley, Bill Upshaw as the pirate king, Stan Frank as his lieutenant, Samuel, and Bruce Kirksey as the Sergeant of Police. Elouise Travis will sing the part of Ruth, Frederick's erstwhile nurse, and Anna Pittman, Patricia Gunnoe and Doris Clemons will be General Stanley's daughters.

Delegates Attend FISGA, FIPA Convos

Ten student delegates left yesterday for the joint Florida Intercollegiate Student Government association and Florida Intercollegiate Press association convention held at the University of Florida in Gainesville this weekend.

Representing Florida State University's student government are Jere Salyers, Dick Bradley, June Conyers and Allen Hesd. Others attending are Joel Smith and Edward Pipkin, Smoke Signals; Janet Pierce and Emory King, Flambeau, and Bill Skipper and Gail Kelly Allerton, Tally-Ho.

The students will attend meetings to discuss different phases of government and publications. Several social events have also been planned.

Graduate Assistant To Sing in Opera

J Dayton Smith, graduate assistant in the School of Music and director of the "Collegians," will sing the role of Radames in a production of Verdi's opera Aida at the University of Nebraska May 8.

The performance will take place under the direction of Dr Arthur E Westbrook, director of the School of Fine Arts at the university.

Smith, one of several singers who have been invited to take part in the performance, has appeared in opera and oratorio throughout most of the United States. He is a member of the FSU faculty vocal quartet, and sang the tenor solos in the Messiah, presented last Christmas season by the University Chorus and Orchestra.

Grads to Register For Employment

The Florida State Employment Service has extended an opportunity to June graduates for registration for future employment. The closing date for registration is May 14 and applications may be secured at the Office of Vocational Guidance and Placement.

A card may be filled out for each city in which applicants are interested in seeking employment, and an additional copy is to be prepared for the state office. The college placement program of the Florida State Employment Service was inaugurated only recently.

Graduates who register through this agency may learn of a desirable job and are urged to take advantage of the opportunity, said Clover E Tully, director of the Office of Vocational Guidance and Placement.

FROM THE SIDELINES

By WARREN COBB

Flambeau Sports Editor

Like many other football fans, we went out to Campbell Stadium Tuesday night to get a line on what Coach [illegible] Veller and his assistants have in store for the 1951 season.

On the offense it was still big Mike Sellers and Nelson Italiano, with Eddie Gray, Ronald King, Bobbie Fiveash, and passing ace Gary Folsom looking good.

The extra point' trys in the scrimmage were woefully inaccurate, but Ernie Sturgest, who officiated, will be around next year to perform this chore.

Coach Veller's biggest losses from the powerful undefeated 1950 squad were at the end and tackle slots. At the end posts Ted Hewitt and All-conference Norm Eubanks were lost by graduation. Dwight Osha and Cliff Powell are also missing.

GONE FROM the tackle slots are massive Sam Baker and Capt. Mike Mallory. Gone also is Dub Kendrick, last year's most valuable player.

The situation is not as black as it might at first seem, however. At the tackle posts Veller will have returning lettermen Vic Sacsepanik and Bob Woodrich. Promising newcomers are Gil Cawn, Tom Edwards, and Ernie Nagy, a 220-pounder.

With several first-rate guards —notably All-southern Bill Dawkins, next year's captain-elect, Earl O'Neal, Bob Tully, and George Spurlina—versatile Bob Schmela might take up some of the slack at tackle.

The situation is more critical at end, however. Especially for the offense. Curt Campbell is the only receiver that has shown promise of filling the shoes of Norm Eubanks. Last year's No. 1 quarterback, Bill Driver, has been shifted to end to strengthen that spot, and he snared a TD pass Tuesday night. Clint Thomas also looked impressive on the receiving end of Folsom's heaves.

LITTLE Jimmy Arnold will probably team with Whitmer to form a speedy defensive duo at the flanks.

At center Coach Veller has the same men he had last year in lettermen Steve Kalenich, Monte May, and Ed Lockard. Both O'Connell and Tommy Owen will also be back at the pivot slot.

The backfield is virtually unchanged, except for the addition of several promising newcomers.

Sellers and Italiano still hold sway at the fullback and tailback slot, respectively, with Tommy Brown, Harry Bringger, and Eddie Gray back at the wingback slot.

With Driver at end, Mac Hugg and Preston Bradley have been filling the bill at blocking back.

Dick Turk, Ronald King, Crawleys" Woodham, and Bobbie Fiveash are versatile performers in this star-studded backfield.

WAYNE BENNER and Gary Folsom will also add depth to the tailback slot.

The punting chores will probably fall to Brown and Benner. Brown and Benner are also defensive aces.

Sellers, Hugg, and Dawkins make up a trio of linebackers that would be hard to excel anywhere.

All in all, it looks like another powerhouse crew for '51. But it must be remembered that the schedule is also a lot tougher. The Seminoles meet such Top State here, then tangle with the University of Miami, Delta State, Bul Ross State of Texas, Boston University, Jacksonville Naval Air Station, Wofford College, University of Tampa, and Bradley University of Peoria, Ill.

The big game, of course, is that second one with the Miami Hurricanes in Miami. Seminole-ish prediction: Andy Gustafson's crew is in for a tough battle.

Gold '11' Wins Scrimmage Fray BY 45-6 Count

In the football scrimmage in Campbell Stadium Tuesday night, the "Gold" team trounced the "Garnet" by a 45-6 score. This scrimmage terminated the spring practice for the gridders.

Two familiar faces to Seminole football fans of the past few years were present in the "Gold" lineup, Hugh Adams and "Bo" Mansel. But play was dominated by big Mike Sellers and his running mate Nelson Italiano.

The Golds pushed down the field early in the game, but Sellers fumbled as he went over the goal and the Garnets recovered. After the Garnets had punted out, Little Eddie Gray fed and Bill Driver in pay-dirt for the first six points of the fray. Sellers missed the attempted conversion.

The next score came shortly after with Sellers and Halfback Bobby Fiveash working the ball down the territory and Gray again hitting with a wobbly pass this time to Sellers. "Iron Mike" bulled his way across after pulling in the toss. Schmels missed the conversion and the Golds led 13-0.

THE GARNETS retaliated with Gary Folsom of Jacksonville tossing to Clint Thomas for three consecutive first downs. Alvers and King picked up two more running to put the ball on the Gold 20 yard line. King carried to the one. Folsom hit over tackle for the score. King missed the kick.

A blocked punt by Sacsepanik that was recovered by Tully on the Garnet 13 set up the next Gold score just before the half ended. Fiveash went on a reverse to the two. Italiano scored on the next play. Sacsepanik missed the try for the extra point.

SECOND HALF

The Golds came back to score 20 points in the second half. A bad pass from center and a blocked punt gave the Golds the ball on the Garnet 46. Italiano got 15 yards and Gray 10. Sellers drove to the seven on two plays and Italiano went over tackle for the score. The center for the extra point try was fumbled, but Sellers scooped the ball up, stiff-armed a would be tackler and pounded over for the point.

Linebacker Bob Tully set up the next Gold score after the Garnets took over with a spectacular interception of one of Folsom's passes and a long runback down the sidelines.

In three tries Sellers plunged over for his second TD of the night. Schmela's attempted conversion was blocked.

The next Gold tally was the result of a pass in the left flat from Italiano to left end Curt Campbell who took the ball in full stride, reversed his field, dodged several tacklers, then slipped and fell on the Garnet six for a 22-yard gain. Gray scored on a reverse. Sacsepanik missed the extra point.

SELLERS WAS the big gun in the final Gold drive down the field although the tally was made by Ronald King. Don Linton made the extra point to give the Golds their final 45-6 victory.

Seminole Linksmen Face Georgia There This Afternoon

The FSU golf team faces the University of Georgia linksters at Athens this afternoon and then will take on Mercer University tomorrow. The Seminoles have previously defeated both of these weekend opponents.

Probable representatives for the Seminoles in these matches are Bud Morse, Tom Cumbie, Eddie Johnson, Dick Montney, Tommy Brown, and Barber.

Last week the FSU team won the 54-hole invitational team and individual titles in Pensacola. Coach Harbison's crew turned in an 883 total to down the Pensacola country club by 30 points. The country club squad had a 913. Pensacola Naval Air Station had 933, and the Osceola Country club was fourth with 974.

FRESHMAN Eddie Johnson paced the Seminoles by posting a 69 on Saturday following up a 73 with games of 71 and 71. Sunday with a 73 and a 74 for a 54-hole total of 218 and the individual crown.

Ted Hewitt with scores of 75 70, and 75 was second with a total of 220.

Dick Montmer of FSU tied with Ed Peck of the Navy at 221. Montmer played on an evening

FSU Rally In Last of Ninth Nips Florida Southern By 6-5 Score

The FSU baseball nine pushed over two more runs in the last half of the ninth inning to trip the Florida Southern Moes 6-5 in a thrilling ball game played yesterday on the West Campus diamond.

This was the third win in a row for Coach Charlie Armstrong's nine over the Southern outfit. The Seminoles had previously crushed the Moes 11-6 and 13-3 at Lakeland late in March.

Bob Whitmer pitched masterful six-hit ball in winning his second game of the season against one loss. Florida State has now won 11 of their 18 games this season.

The winning runs yesterday were batted in by shortstop Augie Pompetia and centerfielder Les Mullen. Mullen's blow came with two out in the last of the ninth inning after it looked as though the Seminoles were going down to defeat.

First baseman Ken Smith of the Seminoles was removed from the game after a dispute with Coach Armstrong in regard to a Florida Southern bunt play. A meeting of the players was called after the game.

THE NINTH INNING:

Gresham grounded out. Trowbridge walked and stole second. The throw was wild and the runner went to third on the play. Mellon fanned for the second out. Pompelia singled to center to score Trowbridge with the tying run. Pompelia then stole second base.

Then, with two out and the winning run on second, centerfielder Les Mullen rapped a single to left to score Pompelia with the winning run.

Tracksters Compete With Miss. College

Coach Ken Miller's Seminole tracksters face Mississippi College here tomorrow afternoon in a Dixie Conference meet. This will be the first meet this year between these two teams.

The Seminole harriers have lost to Duke, but defeated Mercer, Emory, Davidson, and Florida Southern.

Eight of the 13 members of the Duke University basketball team are juniors.

FSU Champs In Nat'l AAU

Coach Hartley Price's gym squad, which holds the National Intercollegiate championship, left this week to participate in the National AAU meet in Detroit, Michigan, tomorrow.

Outstanding man on the Seminole team is Captain Bill Roesch-heim, who recently represented the United States in the Pan American games at Buenos Aires. Roeschheim was picked on the AAU All-American gymnastics squad for All-Around competition and on the parallel bars. He was the only man on the team to be picked for two events.

Roeschheim also excels on the side horse, the high bar, the flying rings and tumbling.

Alternate Captain Bill Vreton is an outstanding performer on the high bar and the parallel bars.

The Regna twins, Joe and Carmen, are versatile gymnasts. Joe, who was Metropolitan AAU Junior All-Around champion, performs on the side horse, the parallel bars, and the rings. Carmen, who is now Florida AAU champion performs on the parallel bars, rope climb, high bar, and rings. Joe Calvetti, former National High Bar champion, is still another top-notch Seminole star.

Dick Gutting is a champion tumbler and trampoline performer. Eddie Fernald is another specialist in these events.

Frank Leone excels on the side horse, while Dick Platt is a tumbling champion.

There are several other outstanding performers on the team. These include Jack Miles, Jack Sharp, Joe Guzic, Bill Wagner, Jim McConley, Scotty Stanton and Pat Signarelli.

Miles was the Philadelphia all-around champion last year. Sharp was the Big Ten flying rings champ. Guzic was the Chicago All-Around champion. Stanton lettered at Western Illinois University and Signarelli is considered a good Olympics prospect.

Senate Submits Larger Budget for FSU

Would Give $10 Million More To University Than House Bill

The Senate Appropriations committee introduced a proposed $277,321,069 biennium spending program yesterday which would give greater financial allocations to Florida's schools than the House of Representatives' appropriations bill which was introduced last week.

Under the Senate bill, Florida State University would receive $10,900,000 with which to operate for the next two years. The House appropriations bill allocated only $7,-100,000 to FSU.

THE UNIVERSITY of Florida would also benefit under the Senate measure—receiving $15,000,000 as compared with the House proposal of $10,000,000.

It is expected that the two appropriation bills will pass their respective houses in approximately their present form. A compromise will then be worked out when the two appropriations committees meet in a joint conference.

The Senate also voted to earmark $7,902,75 in cigaret tax collections for new state buildings including four at Florida A & M college.

THE BUILDINGS for which the funds are earmarked at A & M include an engineering and mechanical arts building, $900,000; an ROTC building, $100,000; a science and pharmaceutical building, $900,000; and a library and law building at a cost of $400,000

Florida's public schools would also receive greater benefits from the Senate bill which calls for $117,000,000 to be spent on the Minimum Foundation program. The lower house allocated only $112,000,000 to the public school system. The Senate has already planned for the additional expense by lifting certain exemptions on the present sales tax.

THE SENATE will begin an item by item consideration of their financial bill tomorrow. The lower house began a similar procedure yesterday and the economy-bloc scored an immediate victory.

The conservatives voted in a resolution that would not allow any amendments to an item after that item has been considered unless the sponsor of the amendment can gather a majority vote for his proposal. This would mean that if a representative wanted to offer a revision to an item calling for additional fun.., be would have to prepare and present his amendment while the item is being considered which is an almost physical impossibility. His only other alternative would be to receive a majority approval to present his revision—and the conservatives hold the majority

Although the House has begun item consideration of their appropriations bill, it is not expected that they will get to the part concerning FSU's allocation for several days as this item is well down on the list.

Frosh Meeting Will Be Held Thursday at 7

Introduction of Officers For 51-52 on Schedule Announces Class Prexy

Officers of next year's sophomore class will be introduced Thursday night at 7 during the only freshman class meeting this year. The meeting will be in the Augusta Conradi theater.

"All freshmen are urged to attend," Charles Curtis, freshman president, stated. "This will be a very important meeting."

Recently elected officers are: President, June Conyers; vice president, Pat Vines; secretary Petria Campbell; treasurer, Joyce Whidden; parliamentarian, Marcea Morris, and social chairman Betty Sue Pryer.

NEXT YEAR'S PRESIDENT, June Conyers, was one of the freshmen class senators this year.

At the meeting Thursday, discussion will be open concerning the selling of rat caps by next year's sophomores. The rat cap project was put into practice by the present sophomore class this year They have been working on a rat cap court to enforce the wearing of rat caps for next year

"The wearing of rat caps is just something to build up spirit," Jere Salvers, this year's sophomore senator has formerly stated.

REPORTS FROM class officers and standing committees will also be presented and results of the freshmao carnival will be giveo The budget for the year will be explained also. Curtis has announced.

Officers of the freshman class this year have been: President, Charles Curtis; vice president, A... Bourland; secretary, Arra Mae Hiscock; treasurer, Joyce Whidden, parliamentarian, Marcia Morris, and social chairman, Patricia Corry

The agenda for Thursday night's program will be arranged tomorrow night at a cabinet officers meeting Curtis has asked that each cabinet officer be sure to be present at 7:30 in 403 of Rowena Longmire building.

MY MUMMY DONE TOLE ME that I could purchase a real mummy at the Faculty Auction last Thursday night. Dal Albritton presents to Jean Flynn the mummy case which cost her $8.60. Albritton is the one wearing the tie.

Faculty Sale Brings $100 for Campus Chest

A mummy case and a plywood sculpture for a wall decoration brought enthusiasm and high bids from students attending the annual Faculty auction last Thursday night at the Conradi theater.

Lorene Bates, sophomore council representative, and Dal Albritton, graduate student and former senior president, auctioneered the event sponsored by the sophomore council.

ARTICLES for the auction were donated by the various faculty members. Everything from cookies to a live rabbit and a dress that was worn in the faculty play were auctioned.

The mummy case, battled over between two women students, sold for $8.60 to Jean Flynn, recently elected senior senator for next year. The plywood sculpture brought $9. Also bringing high bids weer a coffee at the home of Dean Katherine Warren, for $5.75 and a painting, "Waiting for the Concert" for $8.50 A gold identification bracelet was sold for $5.61.

CIRCUS PICTURES brought in $3.25, dinner with President Doak S Campbell, $3.25, and a dress worn in the faculty play, $3. The faculty play dress was modeled by a Sophomore council member. An outline of English literature sold for $2.

Dinners donated by Dean of Men, Otis McBride, and Miss Elizabeth Lynn, assistant dean of women, brought $2.50 and $2.30 respectively.

Approximately $100 was collected from the aticles and will be turned over to the Campus Chest fund.

'Rascals' Hold Confab Here

"Rascals" from the states of Florida and Texas will take over the Florida State campus next weekend when the Spanish honorary fraternity, Los Picaros de Lope de la Vega, hold here the third annual convention of picaros.

The weekend, May 11-13, will include a banquet for members and dates at the Floridan hotel Friday night with general meetings taking place Saturday at the Alumni building. A formal dance with the crowning of a queen of the picaros will climax the convention oo Saturday night. A Pan-American theme will be used for decorations and Georgie Bee's orchestra will provide the music.

Delegates representing Florida State at the conventioo will be Ruth Engle, Gavina Alvarado, Eladio Comis and Elsie Ulmo. The University of Florida will be represeoted by Joe Gonzalez, Manuel Fernandez, Daniel Martinez and Olga Rita Rivera. Delegates from the University of Tampa and Texas have not yet been announced.

The picaros, from which the honorary derives its name, means "rascal" in Spanish and is taken from a type of character of old Spanish oovels who got through life living by their wits.

Honorary Taps 24 FSU Women In Ceremony

Garnet Key Members Are Selected on Basis Of Service to School

Garnet Key, women's service honorary, last night tapped 24 women students who fulfilled the group's requisites for membership, service, spirit and leadership.

The tapping occurred after light flash, and the new taps were serenaded by the old members. The taps were also honored with a breakfast in the Suwannee room this morning.

AT A LATER date the taps will give a party for the active members. The party precedes initiation ceremonies which will be held after the interns return to school

Other activities planned by Garnet Key this month include the annual Foreign Students tea which will be held May 15. Gold Key, men's service honorary, has been invited to act as co-host at the affair.

Those tapped last night include the following: Senior, Jennie Adams; juniors and sophomores, Catherine Hamby, Marianne Gillen, Gail Kelley Albritton, Virginia Lee, Mary Louise DeWolfe, Frances Clark, Jett Munroe, Sue Saxon, Peggy Moore, Doris Jean Smith, Jitter Rose, Caroline Whitmire, Jo Nell Proctor, Til Lomaistro.

SHIRLEY GREGORY, Betty Rich, Nancy Rettie, Mae Gautier Ellen Avis, Margaret Krasemann, Mary Stuart Smith, Mary Ruth Summers and June Tate.

Prof Chester Field Contest Scheduled To Start on Campus

Who is Prof Chester Field? Is he that chemistry professor? Or, is Field's field psychology? Maybe Professor Field teaches prep for marriage and maybe he teaches a music course, but whatever he teaches and whoever he is students have a good chance of winning some Chesterfield cigarettes by asking all their professors, "Are you Professor Chester Field?"

THIS CONTEST sponsored by Chesterfield cigarettes and carried on by the campus representatives, will continue for four weeks The rules and regulations of this "Prof Chester Field" contest consist of one easy step—to ask as many professors as possible if they have been chosen "Prof Chester Field" this week.

If someone asks the right professor he (or she) will give them a slip of paper entitling him to five packages of Chesterfield cigarettes. And if the students happen to have a pack of Chesterfields with them, the prize will be seven packages.

ALL STUDENTS can enter this contest and winners will be published in the Flambeau Each Tuesday will befin a new phase of the contest with a different professor unless the previous Prof Chester Field has not been contacted.

Class of '51 Graduates 638 Here June 9

Approximately 638 students will receive degrees at graduation, which is scheduled for Saturday, June 9, at 8 p m. The place has been tentatively set at Doak S Campbell stadium.

The last issue of This Month stated, incorrectly, that graduation would be held June 4.

The breakdown of those graduating, by schools, is as follows: School of Education, 167; College of Arts and Sciences, 153; School of Business, 93. The remaining 225 are distributed over the other schools and departments on campus.

Dr Venila Shores, chairman of the faculty committee planning graduation and baccalaureate says that definite plans for graduation will be announced early next week

Letters will be sent to all candidates for degrees, explaining the details of graduation.

Forum to Discuss Career in Medicine

A Career in Medicine will be the subject of a forum conducted by the Office of Vocational Guidance and Placement tonight at 7 p m, in the Longmire lounge.

Taking part in the forum arranged by Mrs Margaret Blair and Miss Leland White, are Dr Paul Reynolds, assistant dean of the College of Arts and Sciences and adviser to pre-medical students; Dr Paul J Coughlin, Tallahassee physician; and Miss White, president of Alpha Epsilon Delta, pre-medical fraternity.

The purpose of the forum is to acquaint students with the demands of the medical profession.

FSGA Okehs Race Resolution

Annual Editor States FIPA Did Not Ballot

The Florida Student Government Association has called for the end of segregation in the colleges and institutions of higher learning in Florida. The action came in a resolution passed unanimously at the spring meeting of the FSGA at the University of Florida.

Gail Kelley Albritton, editor of the 1951 Tally Ho, has stated that the resolution was not acted upon by the Florida Intercollegiate Press association which met at the same time as the student government group. She said that news items appearing in papers throughout the state gave the impression that the FIPA acted on the same resolution.

NO MEMBER of the student press group voted on the resolution.

The resolution was proposed by Aram Goshgarian, past president of the student body at the University of Miami. The student delegation of Florida State University voted for the resolution.

In full, the resolution states: "We, the leaders of Student Government of the State of Florida, desirous of seeing democracy become an actuality, are in common agreement that,

"Whereas, the peoples of the world look to America for democratic leadership; to race and religion as determining the American ideal;

"Whereas, the darker peoples of the world are in ratio of 3-1 with other peoples;

"Whereas, free education is the greatest weapon for force; do hereby resolve that segregation should be abolished in institutions of higher learning in the State of Florida."

Formal ROTC Parade Honors FSU Executives

Second Review Fetes Graduating Students To Get Commissions

Florida State University's Air Force ROTC unit will conduct a formal parade today at 12:30 in honor of the FSU executive council, Col B S Barr, commanding officer, has announced.

This will be the first review for university officials given by the unit which has been on the campus for two years

Next Tuesday, the cadets will stage a second formal review honoring the 38 graduating students who, on June 9, will receive their commissions as second lieutenants in the U S Air Force Reserve.

SATURDAY, MAY 19, the FSU unit will join other Tallahassee military forces in the Armed Forces Day parade along Monroe street.

Col Barr emphasized that drilling is only a minor feature in the ROTC program. "Main emphasis," he said, "is placed on the academic classroom work"

The students are trained in every phase of duty which they, as officers, might be expected to perform. While special stress is placed on the more strategic subjects, a thorough understanding of every job is required.

UNIVERSITY CREDITS are authorized for courses taken under this program, varying in number with the courses taken.

This unit, which now composes 340 cadets, has this year added a marching band to accompany the parades The band is under the direction of Capt G V Fory, of the military department, and Mr Robert Braunagel of the FSU school of music.

Delta Sigma Pi Plans Business Show

Preparations for the second annual business shoa, to be presented by Delta Sigma Pi, international business fraternity May 17-19, are being completed.

The show, which will be held in the Lafayette room of the East campus dining hall, will include displays of business machines from most of the Tallahassee distributors. Pi Omega Pi, national honorary fraternity for business education majors, and the Futura Business Leaders of America will provide operators for the show.

Special events such as a movie and possibly a speed demonstration in typing will be presented through the courtesy of the various distributors. There will be no admission charged for the showing which is being given for the general interest of all and particularly for those students who in the future will be dealing with any type of business machines.

Nineteen FSU Coeds In Beauty Contest Tomorrow at 6 PM

Nineteen coeds have entered the Miss Tallahassee contest sponsored by the Junior Chamber of Commerce. Preliminary judging of talent will take place at L'Avant Studios tomorrow at 6 p m

Entries include Donna Blackketter, Pat Boone, Patricia Gunnoe, Joyce Browne, Patsy Gates, Rena Boynton, Peggy Pelot, Ernestine Hunt, Pat Cole Sally Peacock, Betty Ball, Jane Adkicks Gale Tomlinson, Jackie Sebring, Fay Miller, Bobbie Pettit, Jackie Morris, Ruthie Garst and Adrianne Norton.

FOR THE preliminary talent judging, a committee from the Jaycees will act as judges. Preliminary beauty judging, both in bathing suits and evening dresses, will take place at 8 p m at the State Theater Friday, May 11.

Seven finalists will be chosen and will be judged for both beauty and talent Wednesday, May 16, at 8 p m at the State Theater.

Guidance Approved By National Group

The office of Vocational Guidance and Placement has been approved as a vocational counseling agency by the national association, stated President Doak S Campbell.

The approval certifies that the National Vocational Guidance association has investigated the local office and has found satisfactory adherence to the standards set by the association.

The office assists the individual to choose an occupation, prepare for it and enter and progress in the vocation. Glover E Tully is director of Florida State University's office, and Mrs Margaret Blair and Dr Wesley Verdenberg are professional counselors.

Wright Presents Concert Before Packed Music Hall

By FRANCES CAWTHON

An audience which overflowed the Music auditorium was presented Friday night with one of the most enjoyable faculty recitals held this year, an all-Gershwin program by Thomas Wright, pianist and assistant professor of music.

Wright was assisted in the program by Ramona Cruikshank Beard, associate professor of organ; Herman Gunter, assistant professor of voice and director of the Choral Union; Mary Helen Warner, soprano; Donald Rand, pianist, aod Carlisle Floyd, instructor in piano and composer of Slow Duck and The Fugitives.

Mr Wright opened the program with Three Preludes for Piano and An American in Paris. This was followed by Concerto in F, with Mr Wright playing solo piano, Mr Floyd, second piano, and Mr Rand, third piano.

The audience was especially given a treat when Herman Gunter, baritone, and Mary Helen Warner, soprano, sang five selections from Gershwin's very famous Porgy and Bess. Miss Warner sang Summertime and My Man's Gone Now in a voice and with an expression that left nothing lacking. Mr Gunter, singing I Got Plenty of Nothing and It Ain't Necessarily So received hearty applause for his humorous treatment of the selections. Miss Warner and Mr Gunter ended the vocal part of the program with a duet of Bess, You Is My Woman Now. They were accompanied by Mr Wright at the piano.

Mr Rand joined Mr Wright again on the piano for variations for two pianos of Gershwin's I Got Rhythm. The program ended with an arrangement of Rhapsody in Blue with Mr Wright at the piano and Mrs Beard at the Hammond organ. Mrs Beard transscribed the orchestral score into one for the Hammond organ, giving the old favorite a fresh new touch.

For an encore Mr Wright played a Fantasy he had written containing selections from Gershwin favorites.

This recital, perhaps due to the fact that it was on the music of someone like Gershwin whom almost everybody likes and because, as his biographer said, he had "one foot in Carnegie Hall and the other in Tin Pan Alley," had the audience giving nothing but praise.

Free Movies to Run Friday Night at 8

Free movies will be presented for all students in the Music amphitheater Friday night at 8. Will Pennell, junior class president, has announced. In case of rain, the pictures will be shown in the Augusta Conradi theater, he said.

Because a school this large needs more entertainment than a city of this size can provide, the junior class will begin sponsoring these free movies weekly, according to the junior president.

Movies shown Friday night will be "Pennies From Heaven," starring Bing Crosby, and selected shorts.

BETTY ANN PIERCE, Gamma Phi Beta representative, and Dennis Deiscure, of Sigma Chi, are shown with the silver cups their groups won in the Little Brown Jug Sing Sunday afternoon

Donald Rand Gives Recital Tomorrow

Donald Rand, pianist, will present a solo recital in the Music hall tomorrow evening at 8:15. The recital, which will feature the famous "three B's" of music, will be open to the public.

The first half of the program will include the Toccata in D Major, by Bach, the Moonlight Sonata, by Beethoven, and three short works by Brahms, a ballad, an intermezzo and a rhapsody. The second half of the program will be the Carnaval, by Schumann.

Rand, an instructor in the School of Music, received his musical training at Syracuse University, New York.

Finol Skoting Porty Scheduled Tomorrow

The final skating party of the year is slated tomorrow night at the Mercury Rink, according to Mrs Paula Distelhurst, director of social recreation.

The party will begin at 6 p m, and admission will be 30 cents.

Contests and prizes will furnish the entertainment for the evening, and free refreshments will be served.

Leadership Conference Will Review 1950-51 Problems

For the first time in the history of this university, newly-elected officers will get a first-hand preview of the problems and responsibilities facing them in their new jobs next year.

How? Through the Leadership Training Conference being sponsored by Mortar Board. Old as well as new officers will take part.

From many comes the question of whether or not a leader can be trained in two days. Or even, can a leader be trained?

The assumption that a leader cannot be trained in two days is absolutely correct. But Mortar Board is giving the students of this university credit for having chosen officers who have already displayed leadership qualities. And that these students would be more capable of carrying out their duties next year as a result of this conference.

Through this training conference new officers will have the opportunity of reviewing the experiences and problems of the old officers. By so doing, they will have a greater advantage in trying to avoid the mistakes made this year. Perhaps a number of these errors can be averted as a result of the conference.

Let's take the question of whether or not you can train a leader. We definitely feel that all leaders are not just born. We agree that it's a process resulting in leadership qualities developed or acquired over numerous years of self-discipline. But merely training a leader is not the purpose of this conference.

Again, Mortar Board stresses that the purpose is to let the new officers benefit by becoming familiar with the past experiences and problems of the old officers. If only one past mistake can be missed in next year's record, Mortar Board will not feel the conference was in vain.

And, too, another advantage might be the fact that incoming student government officers will have a better opportunity to know each other. During the two-day conference the officers will be able to get acquainted with each other. Perhaps more unity will be a result.

Mortar Board, in sponsoring this leadership training program is setting a precedent on this campus. Let's join with this group in making this a worthwhile occasion. Perhaps such progress on the SGU will be so evident next year that the affair will become a desirable annual event. The planning of the streering committee is almost over. The rest lies with you!

● BLOW TO EDUCATION

The Florida House of Representatives Appropriations committee will have dealt a serious blow to the advancement of education throughout the state if its "economy minded" appropriations bill stands.

By slashing $4,500,000 from the original Florida State University request of $11,000,000, the committee endangers the most important aspect of public life in the state. They have seemingly disregarded the fact that if such a large slice of funds are taken away from the institutions of higher learning the academic facilities will have to be reduced proportionately.

We are quite sure the appropriations committee does not want to hamper the education of the people of the State of Florida. They know that an uneducated populace is not beneficial in the long run to the welfare of the state.

We trust that the Legislature will reconsider the appropriations bill for state supported colleges and universities when the measure is brought on the floor for debate.

● LET'S PAY COUNSELORS

For several years now there has been much discussion about the question of whether Junior Counselors should be paid.

Dear Editor . . .

Deplorable

Dear Editor:

For well over one year I periodically mentioned in my column Among Other Things, the deplorable condition of the driveway surrounding the campus post office and the alley which encircles the hospital area.

I even took my plea to certain members of the administration, explaining to them that the dust which was "dug-up" by passing motorists was nauseating and that it prevented the more residents in that area from keeping their rooms clean.

My plea as usual was to no avail. I presented to the administration another problem that they wished to overlook because it presented no problem to them and because it would cost funds to seek housing on West campus, like men students.

This past Friday I noticed that the drive surrounding the Women's campus post office was being repaired. So, I naively thought was "thank heaven that the Legislature is in town."

This particular problem exemplifies quite conclusively the little regard that the administration has for student consideration, and further represents the "sugar" they are now spreading around while the Legislature is convening and considering FSU appropriation.

JERRY THOMAS.

(Editor's note: Paving roads at the state institutions is not within the jurisdiction of the FSU administration. Paving projects are within the province of the State Road Department and the University administration can see that the department has the equipment available to do the work. Ed. represents needed around campus.)

Questions

Dear Editor:

I was much interested in the accusations leveled by the anonymous author of "Among Other Things." Naturally, I was also interested to see if the official reply would vindicate him.

The official statement completely failed to do so. The reply made by Tooth Tune, instead, it answered in euphony and circumlocution, and was evasive. I was quick to point out that it was a case of an answer to questions that excuses himself accuses him self.

But what was said to placate the aroused indignation of the university student body?

"The eight small dormitories were planned for use of small homogeneous groups of students including fraternity groups." Does this mean that the buildings were designed for fraternities from the beginning?

"The University could get somewhat lower contracts by building in a group than would be possible if the various student groups undertook to build for themselves." This means that the fraternities found it cheaper to have the state act as a contractor for them. It doesn't explain why these minority groups were given precedence over the men at large.

"The most important [point of the official] reply, however, was this: "... the funds for constructing housing units do not come from tax funds of the State of Florida but from funds to be derived from the use of housing . . . must be self-liquidating." This means that some sort of bond issue has been floated and that instead of the taxpayers, the students will eventually pay off the $4.5 million debt.

Visited Dr Campbell over two weeks ago. He requested that while the state legislature was in session I kept certain facts confidential. However, since everything was finally worked out and announced by Tooth Tune or the administration, I feel relieved of my obligation. I should like, then, to summarize what he told me.

1—That the eight small dormitories were open to any group of 40 men.

2—That the fraternities were small groups, and that in order for it was announced to the university students at large.

3—That the funds in every three belonged to a fraternity is pure coincidence which he regrets was large enough!

4—That the buildings were being constructed in this room rather than individuals because the administration thought it could not fill the 320 new beds created.

5—That perhaps the non-fraternity students have not had the advantages but that the university had to be assured it could pay off the bonds.

Why were fraternity men informed of the new housing plans before others? Why didn't the administration open the new buildings to any individual mat, fraternity or not? Then if 320 beds could not be filled the remainder of the houses could be turned over to "responsible" groups."

BRUCE GALPHIN.

John Boda Is Guest At Symphony Concert

Prof John Boda of the music faculty was guest conductor of the University of Alabama symphony orchestra in a formal concert this week. The concert, a program of all contemporary American composers, was presented on the University of Alabama campus Tuesday evening, May 1.

Boda was invited to conduct the symphony when the regular conductor of the orchestra, Otokar Cadek, became ill. Boda took his place with only one week's notice. Prof Boda was formerly apprentice conductor with the Cleveland Symphony Orchestra.

AMONG OTHER THINGS

'TAKE CARE OF MY LITTLE GIRL'

By EARL DOBERT

A picture to be released this summer will make good looking and listening for the co-ed element on campus.

We refer, of course, to that much debated 20th Century-Fox film, "Take Care of My Little Girl" which delves into the sorority problem and campus snobbery. Based upon the typical of sororities here at Florida State University but it could happen on any campus at other colleges and universities.

The technicolor film stars Jeanne Crain, Dale Robertson, Mimi Gibson and Evelyn Varden. The story goes substantially, like this:

Lis (Jeanne Crain) and two other Freshman arrive at Mid-western University and crash sorority rush week. They want to be taken into Tri-U sorority. In registration Lis meets and falls for a war veteran named Joe and he helps her arrange her schedule. She tells Joe she came to college because she is too young to marry and too old to play around with high school snob.

Chad, a fraternity wheel tenders Lis sheet her attention for Joe, a non-fraternity "barbarian" and then persuades Lis to take Chad to the dance for him and talks her into accepting his frat pin.

For helping the campus play-boy to cheat on the exam, Lis is tassed because of the sorority and a cinch to make "Queen of the Fresh Prolic."

The movie pokes fun at such sadistic shenanigans as breaking an egg over the head of a pledge and hell week, where the members of Tri-U have the pledges sit on the floor and eat the scraps of food thrown to them by the actives.

Lis's girl friend has a rough time keeping up with her pledgeship and the president of Tri-U tries to talk Ruth into quitting Tri-U because the president knows Ruth will be blackballed at the end of the week. Ruth refuses to quit because Tri-U is her main ambition while in college.

Lis gets disgusted at sorority life and sneaks off to Joe's cabin for the weekend. Joe has a question to ask.

What ever because of the rulling that forbids sorority and fraternity seniors to be exempt from exams? Could it be that sorority life had maintained a B average?

The regulation was finally left up to the individual departments. Perhaps this columnist has happened to attended the courses that have rejected the idea, but we don't know of any that have installed it.

Perhaps there is discord on whether the seniors should, or why not just give them their exams early? As the general calendar of the 1950 calendar these senior grades are due just one day before graduation. Should a senior fail an exam, he must suffer the embarrassment of telling parents, relatives and friends to go back home. "I'm not graduating."

Surely, the faculty and administration would want to spare the student his embarrassment. Surely, the faculty would not want to be guilty of developing poor public relations throughout the state.

FANCY THIS

FLOUNDERS, LETTERS, JAZZ BAN

By JEANNE GRIFFORON

Sorry, Mr. Ripley, but Ann Abont 35 students drove down to Alligator Point last Friday night for the annual floundering party sponsored by Earl Vance, journalism professor.

The object of the party is to move quickly through the shallow water, searching for a greyish flat fish and catch it. For this sport, you use a long handle of a rod and reel. A gig is a long pole with a sharp pointed head on the end, which is thrust into the flounder like a spear.

Friday night, the students crept along the water, looking closely at everything moving to see if it was a flounder. The fish are still there, walked along concentrating on each other, forgetting all their attention to what was in the Gulf.

Lacy happened to see something and gave a yell. Everyone in his gig end came the biggest flounder anyone has seen this night. His prize was a copy of CAPTAIN ADAM COMICS.

These stories have been going on annually for 20 years. When FSU was a woman's college, the students would have to pull 20 or two hours of the morning, then have to be up at 5:00 to have supper for a breakfast of their catch.

Virginia Spencer, FSU senior who is interning in West Palm Beach this semester, won a national letter writing contest end an all-expense paid trip to New York.

Virginia, who ur majoring in English, had to write a letter to a famous star by the Betty Crocker radio show. Her letter to Bert Lahr got us the best of hundreds submitted.

During her three-day trip to New York, she appeared on the radio show and was interviewed on the Ed Sullivan television show.

An article in last month's Downbeat jazz music magazine aimed at jazz lovers, told of the banning of jazz concerts at the University of Kentucky.

It seems that the policy of the pres. of K. U. was considered the taste instead of lowering it with that horrible stuff, jazz. Evidently, that's the music that is fit for the ears of educated people.

They seem to have ignored the fact that Igor Stravinsky and Aaron Copland thought jazz was worth serious consideration.

The reasons given by the U of K are the usual unreasoned narrow-mindedness. ". . . Jazz' music has no place in the university program," announced the head of the music department and the dean of students.

"Although it is played copiously at university dances, the university faculty does not believe it is a fit subject for serious study. It is the university's duty, however, to attempt to elevate the tastes of its students and the people of the commonwealth."

The conflict began when a Lexington, Kentucky, newspaper carried a news release saying that some of the musical productions of the concert were playing in various bars and lounges. The administration's statement read:

". . . No member of the music faculty in any jazz band or has ever played in any bar or cabaret," they stated. "Furthermore, the [illegible] has never approved the assembly of its students in any taproom in this or any other city."

This attitude taken by the University of Kentucky seems so unrealistic that it's almost impossible to imagine. When Jazz has been played in Carnegie Hall and the Metropolitan Opera House and some university-sponsor lectures each year on the subject of Jazz, I began to wonder, "What's with these people at Kentucky?

CAMPUS CAROUSEL

IT HELPS TO BE CRAZY

By EMORY KING

Ye old columnist has been down in Cloisterland all last week interviewing members of all Florida Intercoloniate Press Association.

At Stone nothing (?) journalists look just like all other students, except for the name from Miomi. They were their usually bop-glasses, flashy shirt and tie setup.

What a campus is Orville. There are no hills there, but you just walk and walk and walk. There seems to be millions of buildings on the campus. Besides the buildings, fat buildings, thin buildings, tall buildings, short buildings, flat buildings, round roofs, buildings with flat rooms, army buildings, modern buildings, and even a few buildings that don't have a place to walk around too.

In Tallahassee you see a car with free girls in it and sometimes one girl. One fellow said, "There are so many boys at UF, if they were all laid end to end there would be a legislative investigation."

Here, when a girl goes by, the boys follow her with their eyes. In Gainesville, they follow her with their cars, their clubs, their fraternity houses and their tommee hanging out.

Rose Ann Carr, our president, stayed up til 2 a m to tell two delegates that they couldn't stay at the DPH because the beds were all filled. The two boys didn't come in until 4:30, however, and volunteered for bed. They spent the next hour looking for on empty bed. Finally they found one and went to a dormitory for the rest of the night.

The campus of Rollins stayed up til 2 a m to tell the same two guys where to sleep that night. He got there around 3:30 a m. The next morning he found out that the two fellows had been in bed since midnight. They had been sleeping in their beds.

Sign in the Florida Alligator office: "We don't care what you have done. It's who you are that counts." and "Stupidity is the only tool with which to fight insurgence of new ideas."

Sis McDonald spoke about the apathy of student bodies in Florida. "The average student wouldn't come out to see the 'Last Bugler' if the original cast were appearing."

There's an odd adage in the newspaper business (you will find this same adage in all other businesses) and it goes: You don't have to be crazy to be a newspaperman, but it helps."

The Florida Flambeau press association proved it last week. A guy from Miami named Howard Rosenberg, our other-boating glass, stein, or burg—take your pick. was the convention. His supporters surrounded him and rana "Green (?) for president," while the Miami delegation stood at the opposition. He was elected unanimously. Call Albritton, from FSU, won the convention's "Ego" by pouring water on the flaming delegates.

Allan Mead, FSU, took the president's office in the Student Government convention. He used the back slapping, hand shaking, smiling, you're-a-jolly-good-fellow technique. That is, he gave the people what they wanted—and they always win him what he wanted. It's wonderful.

Want to Visit Europe? Join Traveling Group

There are still many openings formation about the student trips for students to join a group going abroad this summer, according to a bulletin issued this week by the Council on Student Travel.

WHETHER a student wants to bicycle through Europe, use his muscles in an international work camp, study economics and social conditions, or study art, he will find a wide variety of organizations prepared to meet the kind of experience he is looking for.

The Council is sponsoring two low-cost student ships which will carry more than 3,500 students and teachers to Europe and back this summer for a minimum fare of $118 each way. In addition to a large number of organized groups, the ships will carry several individual students and teachers traveling to Europe for summer school sessions or for other purposes.

The ships will sail from New York on June 25 and July 5 to Le Havre, Southampton and Bremerhaven, Westbound sailings will leave for Southampton and New York August 25 and September 7.

LISTED in the Council's bulletin are travel opportunities offered by the American Automobile Association organizations and two foreign governments. There are semi- and short-term study groups which participants may receive college credit; work camps for students and adults to help solids schools, playgrounds, or other community facilities; and individual travel during the summer on tour, studying the particular fields of interest for which they have obtained credit.

Prospective travelers may obtain the Council's 1951 student travel catalog by writing to the Council at 179 Broadway, New York 7, N. Y.

Copies of the Bulletin and information about the student ships and student travel in general can be secured from the Council on Student Travel, 93 Broadway New York 6, New York.

The Council is the coordinating body for over 50 organizations in the student travel field. The Executive Committee of the Council includes representatives of American Friends Service Committee, American Youth Hostels, Carnegie Endowment for International Peace, Experiment in International Living, Institute of International Education, Jewish Agency for Palestine, Youth Department, National Student Association, Parsons School of Design, Presbyterian Board of Foreign Missions, SITA Adventure Trails, Students YMCA and YWCA, World Council of Churches, Youth Department, and World Student Service Fund.

Gymnasts Take First Place In NCAA

Roetzheim Paces Seminoles To 'Grand Slam' Victory

Florida State University's intercollegiate gymnastic team next year's World Olympics, also tied for first places on the high bar with Navy's Lewis and on the side horse with Rabbitt of Syracuse.

Jack Miles, FSU's freshman champ, scored the most stunning victory of the meet by winning the national flying rings championship. Miles' form earned him 9.5 out of a possible 10.0 points.

Other Seminoles who figured in the scoring were Jack Sharp and Joe Regna, tied for third on the rings; Carmine Regna notched third on the parallel bars and fifth respectively in tub swimming.

AT THE CONCLUSION of the meet the joyous National Champions hoisted their mentor, Lawrence Roetzheim, on their shoulders and carried him to the ladders stand where he was awarded the team's second national championship trophy within a year. The Seminole athletes and fans then paraded throughout the gymnasium waving Confederate flags as the organ played "Dixie."

For Price it was his second "grand slam" and eighth national title. The Doctor was named to the United State's Olympic gymnastic board in a meeting prior to the meet. The returning champions will arrive in Tallahassee by bus at approximately 9 a.m. Wednesday.

Track Team Downs Miss. College Here

The Florida State University track team defeated Mississippi College in a dual track meet here Saturday afternoon in their next to last appearance before the Dixie Conference meet at Clinton, Mississippi, May 19.

The Seminole tracksters amassed a total of 82½ points to the Choctaws' 48½ in cropping another Dixie Conference win. New records were made in the pole-vault, the 220, and the mile run.

FSU'S JOE FRACASSI smashed his former school record of 12 feet in the pole vault by clearing the bar at 12 feet 7 inches for a new track and school record. Fracassi narrowly missed clearing the bar at 13 feet.

John Poston set a new school record in the 220 with a time of 21.6. Poston also copped the 100 yard dash with a 9.9.

Woody Parker of FSU edged teammate Dick Mize in the quarter mile with a time of 52 seconds.

Most impressive competitor for the visitors was Sailer Haimon miller who copped the two-mile run and set a new track record in the mile run of 4 minutes 39.1 seconds.

A strong wind blowing from the west hampered the efforts of the runners during the meet.

Coach Bud Kennedy's crew will face Howard University in a dual meet here next Saturday afternoon before defending their Dixie Conference championship in Clinton.

Florida State University 82½, Mississippi College 48½.

Seminole Linksmen Lose Friday Match Then Defeat Mercer

The Florida State University golfers bounced back from a defeat Friday at the hands of the Georgia team to down Mercer University on Saturday, 19-8 This was the seventh win for the Seminole linksmen against three losses and a tie.

The University of Georgia ran away with Friday's match, winning 23-4, and thereby ending their ninth straight victory. Earlier in the season Coach Harbison's crew had trounced the Bulldog here in Tallahassee to the tune of 25-2.

BUD MARSEE was the only Seminole golfer in the individual matches to come out victorious of Georgia's golfers broke par on the Athens course.

Saturday in Macon the Seminole crew came back strong, with freshman Eddie Johnson leading the way with a one under par 71.

Marsee was second high for the day with a 74.

FROM THE SIDELINES

By WARREN COBB

Flambeau Sports Editor

According to the reports prior to Saturday's track meet out at West Georgia, the 440 was scheduled to be a three-way thriller between Woody Parker and Dick Mize of FSU and Jimmy Stribling of Mississippi College, with the standing track and school records in jeopardy. Such was not the case, however. Stribling, who holds the conference record from 1949, is now in med school, and a strong wind hindered the efforts of Mize and Parker to establish any new records.

Mize beat Stribling by a step in last year's conference meet at Macon, Ga, and looked like FSU's No 1 man in the quarter mile at the start of the season. Then along came Parker, a freshman from Lake Wales, to upset the dope bucket in the triangular meet against Davidson and Emory two weeks ago by setting a new school record in this event with a time of 51.6 seconds. The conference record set by Stribling was 52.5. Parker has since hit 51, no mean feat.

SATURDAY MIZE AND PARKER, true form, pulled away from the rest of the field and were neck-and-neck with about 50 yards to go. With both boys straining to win, Parker had a little more track and broke the string a couple of steps ahead of Mize. The time was 53, but the long haul on the northern side of the track was against a strong wind.

Right now it looks like Parker and Mize will have things pretty much their own way in the Dixie Conference meet coming up May 19 in Clinton, Mississippi.

We did get to see a couple of new records set Saturday, though. Joe Fracassi cleared 12 feet 7 inches in the pole vault for a new track and school record. Fracassi narrowly missed with the bar resting at the 13-foot mark.

John Poston, the speedster from Jacksonville, flashed to a new school record in the 220-dash with a sizzling 21.6.

For future reference—a skinny lad from Leon High named West ran with the college entrees in the mile event and finished third behind two Mississippi College men. West pushed the number two man to the finish, and was left ahead of FSU's entry.

THE BIG TRACK NEWS of the day, however, was made by another Tallahassee boy down in Gainesville. J "Papa" Hall highjumped a fantastic 8 feet 8½ inches as the Gators slaughtered the Miami tracksters 87-39. Hall's record leap of 6 feet 6¾ inches placed him eighth in the nation among the colleges. This ought to bring his standing up considerably. Best in the collegiate circles is a leap of 6 feet 9⅜ inches made by Charles Holding of East Texas State.

Unique Basket Display Held in FSU

A display of all types of baskets, from the collection of Miss Mary Lee Taylor, pioneer Florida family, has been loaned the Florida State University museum for a public exhibit from May 1 to 15, FSU President Doak S Campbell said.

Public exhibition of the baskets, collected by Miss Lewis as a hobby over a period of years, is part of President Campbell's program to introduce the new FSU Museum and Art Gallery as an attractive center of culture and education.

DISPLAYED will be baskets from British Columbia, used as water bottles; Seminole Indian baskets used to sift and catch grain; egg and yarn baskets from Mexico, and other baskets from Peru, Barbados, Siam, Egypt, Jerusalem, and China. Each is handmade, and reflects the customs of the countries from which each came.

Also on display at present in the FSU Art Gallery, adjoining the Museum, is a priceless collection of 22 rare paintings by old masters loaned the University from the John and Mabel Ringling Museum of Art of Sarasota.

HALE G SMITH, Museum director, said the exhibit of the collection is open to the public daily from 12 30 p m to 5:30 p m; from 2 p m to 5 p m Sundays, and from 7 p m to 10 p m Thursdays.

There is no charge for admission. Special arrangements can be made by organized groups to view the displays by contacting the Museum Director Smith said.

Leoch Elected Veep Of Southern NABI

Dr Fred H Leach of the department of philosophy and religion faculty is new vice-president of the Southern Section of the National Association of Biblical Instructors.

He was elected recently at a meeting held at Emory University, Atlanta, and will have the duty of preparing the program for the next annual meeting which also will be held at Emory.

Neil Jacoby Wins Speaking Contest

Neil Jacoby was first place winner in the after dinner speaking contest. He addressed the Tallahassee Junior Chamber of Commerce on the finalist contest.

SECOND AND third places went to Polly Lancaster and Ralph Hiers. Other students who participated in the preliminaries were Jan Vanture, Shirley Blake, Kay Stein, Vincent Locicero and Earl Rass.

The next contest on original oratory is scheduled for tonight at 7. Those who are participating include Dick Bradley, James Lohmeyer, Arlene Amend, Clara Comellas, Ron Holloway, Neil Jacoby, Harold Raines and George Sims. Finalists in this division will deliver their addresses before the Tallahassee Optimists club on May 15.

Miss Kawa Receives Three Art Awards

Miss Florence Kawa, member of the art department, has recently been honored with three awards for her art work.

"The Flower Garden," a painting by Miss Kawa, was selected for a cash award by the Gainesville Chamber of Commerce as being the most outstanding painting submitted by a member of the Florida Artist Group during their recent meeting.

She also has just been notified that the Brooklyn museum has selected another color work, "Birds in the Rain," for its international exhibition to be opened soon.

A third honor that has come to the art instructor is that several of her paintings were chosen by the director of the Bonestell show The Moon Is Blue to tour the country with the stage success when it hits the road. Her pictures will be used for various stage sets in the play.

Jayne Gardner Wins Barter Position

"Tally's Tallulah," Jayne Gardner, has just won herself another star in her already-glittering crown of dramatic successes that she has acquired here at FSU. Twenty-one-year-old Jayne has been notified by Robert Porterfield, managing director of the Barter Theatre with headquarters in Abingdon, Virginia, that her tryouts with the theatrical group have won her the role of ac apprentice.

Jayne will travel with the group from June 11 to September 8, playing at various colleges and universities through the country, then return to FSU in the fall to resume her studies.

HAILING from St Augustine, and majoring in speech and dramatics at the University with ambition to become a dramatic actress, Jayne expressed excitement over her new position.

"It means that will have the duties of everything from helping to move the stage properties and sweeping up the stage to bit parts, but I am very thrilled to get a chance for the experience," she said.

JAYNE, who is the daughter of Mr and Mrs K E Gardner has appeared in several of the FSU Speech Department plays, including "Craig's Wife," "Ladies In Retirement," "Arms and the Man," and most recently, "Family Portrait."

FSU Girls Compete For Beauty Laurels

Women students from the Florida State University campus have been invited to participate in both the 14th annual Rose Festival and Festival of Greater Miami to be celebrated in Miami, June 3-10 and the selection of "Miss Florida" during the "Miss Florida Pageant" as a contestant for "Miss America."

CORONATION of the Queen will be held Saturday, June 9 at Miami Beach auditorium, with a reception for the Queen and her court before the ceremonials.

Previous to this, each day during the Festival Pageant, Florida's representative will serve as Queen for all events of the day with the reigning Queen for 1951 to be selected Friday, June 8, on the "Wheel of Fortune."

EARL VANCEY, Tallahassee who is local chairman for the Florida State Junior Chamber of Commerce in charge of the Miss Florida Pageant, stated that the Florida State Female for the selection of "Miss Florida" will be held June 7 in Miami during the annual convention of the United States Junior Chamber of Commerce. He also said that the pageant is planned as part of the National Jaycee program for their convention.

Prizes to be awarded will include several valuable scholarships which will be presented at the National Finals of the Miss America Pageant September 3-8 in Atlantic City.

CHAIRMAN Vancey said that any Tallahassee girls eligible to enter the contest, for "Miss America" and "Miss Florida" pageants may contact him at Avant Studios.

Home Ec Club Plans Week-End At Camp

The Home Economics club week-end at Camp Flastacowo is scheduled for May 12 and 13. Games and entertainment have been planned for Saturday afternoon ending with a square dance that night.

Members and guests are asked to sign up today and tomorrow on the main floor of the Science building. Cost will be $1.25 each for the week-end. This amount includes meals. Additional information will be sent to each member.

Business Honorary Will Hold Meeting

A meeting of Delta Sigma Pi, business honorary, will be held tomorrow in the main lounge of the Student Union building. West campus, at 8 p m.

Officers for the school term of 1951-52 who were elected at the May 2 meeting are Bill Wood, headmaster; Jim Cowan, senior warden; Bill Cornelius, junior warden; Dick Iacuzzi, treasurer; Howard Abel, scribe; Bill Dunn, chancellor; and Bill Myers, historian.

Business Machines To Be Demonstrated

Latest models of business machines used in industry, business and commercial centers will be on display and demonstrated during the second annual Business Machine show, May 17, 18 and 19, in the Lafayette room, sponsored by Delta Sigma Pi, business fraternity.

The show will be open to the general public from 2 to 9 p m daily. Paul Griffith is committee chairman with Jim Cowan in charge of publicity; Don Strickland is general liaison chairman; Clarence McIntyre is in charge of interior clearance; and Wiley Hicks is in charge of the machine operators.

Johnson to Discuss Liquid Helium

The behavior of liquid helium at 456 degrees below zero will be discussed by Dr Rowland Johnson of the department of chemistry faculty at 4:30 p m, Thursday.

The talk will be in the science lecture theater.

Dr Johnson, who several weeks ago trapped 7 minute particles of dust containing atomic radiation in Tallahassee after the New Mexico atomic explosion, will describe theories to explain why this unique material will flow simultaneously in opposite directions in a tube. He will also discuss why it will creep from a container like other liquids, but of its own accord, flow off the sides of the inside of the container and spill over.

Discussion Group Meets Thursday

The faculty-student discussion group on current affairs will meet Thursday night at 8 p m at the home of Dr Marian Irish, 231 Miami Circle.

James White, graduate student in political science, will act as moderator.

Topic of the discussion will be "The Gibraltar of Western Civilization." All faculty and students interested in attending are asked to contact Dr Thursby in 236 Westcott, or Dr Marian Irish, 231 History building.

ODK Chooses Twelve Men

Honorary Taps Richard Ervin

Twelve men, including Richard Ervin, Attorney-General of the State of Florida, were tapped yesterday for membership into Omicron Delta Kappa, honorary leadership society for men.

In impressive ceremonies on Doucet steps scheduled at noon, Gerry Ball, Richard Bradley, Jerry Copeland, Robert Griffin, Alan Head, Bill Koeghinn, Wilson Lhahaw, Dr Thomas Brooks and Richard Ervin received recognition for their services to FSU and the State of Florida.

Lee Bailey, Charles Floyd and Jerry Thomas were tapped in absentia.

The tapping ceremonies were conducted by ODK President Doug Alley; Past-President Bill Gentry; Vice-President Bill Hamlin; Secretary J M Plant; and Treasurer Herb Quay. Other members of the fraternity were present for the ceremonies.

The names of the tags were not known until the time of the tapping. Initiation for the tapees will take place in complete holdness Tuesday evening at 9:30.

The Honorable Richard Ervin was tapped for outstanding contributions to the State of Florida, because of his sincerity and unassuming manner while carrying out the duties of his office in the best interest of the people of Florida." Doug Alley stated that it was common practice among other circles of ODK to tap outstanding public servants. Alley said Ervin "exemplified all the ideals of Omicron Delta Kappa."

DR THOMAS BROOKS—"Omicron Delta Kappa at Florida State University honors a member of the administration for the first time. To Dr Thomas Brooks, chief historian of the University Museum, goes our first membership honors cause. Because of his achievements in the field of medicine—because he represents the type of leader which is exemplified by the standards of ODK. Dr Thomas Brooks was nominated and voted into ODK."

LEE BAILEY—"For outstanding achievement in scholarship—for exceptional ability in athletics—for activity in speech for excellence of character and personality."

JAMES BALL—"Elected to the chairmanship of Judicial council—for achievement in government, in fraternity activities—for club activity and committee work—for excellence of character."

RICHARD BRADLEY — "For achievement in Athletics—for contributions to student government while acting as President of the Senate—for being elected to presidency of the Senior class —for achievement in speech and dramatic arts—for excellence of character and personality."

SENATE HEARS a report of the Florida Student Government Association convention held in Gainesville last weekend. The Senate discussed the resolution passed by the delegates that called for non-segregation of all colleges and universities in the State of Florida. In the background can be seen Dick Eradley, president of the Senate and Marjorie Mackworth, secretary at USGA. In the foreground with their backs to the camera are Gerry Bich, Jimmie Evans and Bill Skipper, senators.

Race Resolution Brings Kick Back

Reverberations over the non-segregation resolution passed by the Florida Student Government Association were quiet to come after its passage at the association's semi-annual convention.

In quick order, Woody Liles, student body president at the University of Florida charged that no University of Florida delegate voted on the resolution. That charge was later found to be incorrect, however.

THE UNIVERSITY of Florida executive council withdrew from the FSGA.

A resolution was passed by the Florida State University student council that denied that the segregation resolution reflected "the views of the FSU student body, student leaders or the administration of our school."

The resolution was introduced by freshman class president Charles Curtis and was adopted. The motion was seconded by Ted Steinmeyer, president of the Sophomore class.

THE RESOLUTION in full read: "Delegates at the Florida Student Government Association convention, in their capacity as delegates, were voting unInstructed by the Florida State University student body, student leaders or the administration of our school."

The FSU vote cast by student body president Rube Askew as he was the official FSU delegate to the convention.

Gail Keller Albritton elected vice-president of the Florida Intercollegiate Press Association which met at the same time as the FSGA said that the press delegates

Training Group Plan Session At Flastacowo

Camp Flastacowo will be the scene of the Mortar Board sponsored leadership training conference on May 19 and 20.

Invitations, which must be answered by Wednesday, May 18, are being mailed today to University Government Association officers, fraternity officials and organization presidents to attend the conference.

DURING THE two-day conference, various individual group meetings will be featured in the program. In these groups each new officer will have the opportunity to meet with the old officer and discuss the possible ways in which he can do an efficient job in the coming year.

A selected group of faculty will sit in with the students during the sessions to serve as an additional source of information. These faculty members will discuss situations that will be the new officer in his specific field.

A final meeting of the steering committee will be held at Camp Parker at 5 p m Wednesday.

FACULTY ATTENDING conference members include: Dean Katherine Warren, Dean Broward Culpepper, Miss Mary Alexander, Miss Juanita Gibson, Dr Joseph Goldsmith, Dr Lucille Ritchie, Miss Ruth Pyche, Dr Ralph Witherspoon, Miss Daisy Parker, and Dr Otis McBride.

Student steering committee members are Will Pennell, Jim Ball, Jim Kirk, Bill Albritton, Joel Smith, Alice Jackson, Stan Gould, Bob Griffin, Dick Bradley, June Conyers, and Jimmie Barnes.

Mortar Board members directing the conference plans include Anne Scudder, Doris Harding, Marion Doro, Montrell Sessions, and Leland White.

Phi Beta Kappa Has Initiation, Banquet Here This Afternoon

Seventeen new members of Phi Beta Kappa, national honorary fraternity, will be initiated this afternoon at 5 in the Longmire auditorium. Initiation will be followed by a banquet at 6:45 pm in the Lafayette room.

Dr George John Miller, professor of law and jurisprudence of law at the University of Florida, will be guest speaker at the banquet. His subject will be "Our Federal Octopus." Dr Miller is also editor of the Florida Law Review.

DR ANNA May Tracy, president of Alpha of Florida, will be in charge of the initiation at 5 p m in the main lounge of Rowena Longmire buildings. New members to be initiated include 14 seniors: Joan Buschmann, Bettyne Davidson, Katherine J Flanders, Francis R Furlow, Rita Rose Hall, Betty Lee Hubbard, Irene Jacobs, Dora Anne Mondon, Faye Patterson, Lawrence Patterson, Eleanor Robinson, Rita Simon, Mary Frances Strickland and Rita Zemani.

IN ADDITION three juniors will be initiated: Norma Crane, Dorothy Langston and Grace Dexter. All of these students are majoring in various departments of the College of Arts and Sciences and have maintained a high standard of scholastic achievement.

Phi Beta Kappa, national honorary society, is the oldest Greek letter fraternity in existence. Founded in the College of William and Mary on December 5, 1776, it has in subsequent years become the outstanding force in recognition for intellectual achievement in undergraduate college life. Test Application Deadline Is May 15

Applications for the selective service test must be in the mail before midnight, May 15. Application may be obtained from the Office of Personnel Records.

The tests will be given on this campus May 28.

Used Book Exchange

The used book exchange will be open Tuesday, May 15, from 2 to 6 p m for all students who forget to pick up their texts or money for sold books at the beginning of this semester. The exchange will be open on the ground floor of the Rowena Longmire buildings.

Singers Give Spring Concert Here Tonight

Folk Songs, Spirituals Will Be on Program As Well as Hit Tunes

American folk-songs, spirituals and compositions of present-day American composers will make up the Spring program of the University Singers to be given tonight at 8:15 in the Music hall, under the direction of Dr Wiley L Housewright.

FSU's Sidney Foster will be represented in his Four Ballads for chorus. Gurner Kennedy, a composer teaching at the University of Alabama, will be represented by two madrigals, 'Love in Truth is a Lover' and 'Kalia.' The words of the latter were written by Lucile Jury, a former music student here who is now the wife of the composer.

OTHER contemporary composers on the program will be Felix Borowski, Vincent Persichetti and Norman Dello Joio. A chorus from Howard- Hanson's opera 'Merry Mount' will be sung by the chorus, "Be as a Lion, Dread Jehovah."

One of the most unusual numbers on the program will be the 'American' by Randall Thompson. This is a set of five pieces for chorus, the words of which are taken from the 'American Mercury' magazine of the 1900's. The acts and articles have been set to music in a most whimsical fashion by the composer.

THE FINAL portion of the program will be comprised of folk

Business Machines To Be on Display In Lafayette Room

The second annual Business Machines show will be presented May 17, 18 and 19 in the Lafayette dining room, sponsored by the Delta Sigma Pi, business fraternity.

Latest models of business machines used in the insurance, bank and commercial centers will be on display and will be demonstrated during the three-day show.

OPEN FREE of charge to the public, the show will be open from 2 to 9 p m.

New officers of Delta Sigma Pi for the coming year are Bill Breland, head-master; Jim Cowan, senior warden; Bill Hamlin, junior warden; Dick Iacuzzi, treasurer; Howard Abel, scribe; Bill Dunnavant, historian; and Bill Myers, historian.

Collegians Hold Open Rehearsals

Men students interested in singing with the men's glee club, are invited to sit in on rehearsals of the Collegiates, Director J Dayton Smith has stated.

Wednesday, Thursday and Friday will be open rehearsals for persons who want to perform and serenade with the group next year, the director said. Rehearsals are held at 1 p m in 223 music building.

Membership of the "Collegians" is planned to be limited to 40 members. The group gives two concerts each year plus periodic serenading of the various dormitories and sorority houses.

New arrangements just received by the group include She Was Bred in Old Kentucky, I Wander Who's Kissing Her Now, She Is Here to be Filled Than Censured, King Jesus is a Listening, Ride the Chariot, If I Loved You, and Sexiember Song.

A group of college songs will be learned for the next serenading schedule.

Lower House Expected to Raise Appropriation for University

Florida State University's financial picture was greatly relieved Wednesday when the Senate approved an appropriation of $10,900,000 for FSU for the next biennium.

The appropriations bill authorizes that $7,572,2900 is to be spent an salaries, $2,127,610 for expenses, and $1,200,000 for building.

The lower house has not yet considered FSU's appropriation, but it is expected that they will act on it in the near future. The House appropriations committee has recommended a $7,100,000 budget for FSU. However, since the economy-bloc has had little success in checking increased appropriations it is expected that the $7,100,000 figure will be raised to some extent. FSU's final budget will be a compromise between the individual allocations of the House and Senate.

THE SENATE also approved a $8,750,000 appropriation for Florida A & M for the next two years. Included in this allocation is $2,500,000 for the purpose of building graduate schools of agriculture, engineering, pharmacy and law.

Supporters of the Minimum Foundation Program scored a major victory in the House of Representatives Wednesday when an appropriation of $118,500,000 was allocated to Florida public schools by an overwhelming vote of 71 to 41. This is $8,500,000 more than was recommended by the House appropriations committee.

THE HOUSE also earmarked $2,282,800 for a teacher school allocation for raises in teacher's salaries. All teachers who are receiving a salary of $3,800 or less will be given a $100 increase by Thomas Bentley of Walton county, a leader in the fight to get the Minimum Foundation allocation. He stated that this earmarking of funds would run the total appropriation for public schools.

"I don't believe the teachers are interested in seeing the Minimum Foundation Program wrecked just to get a $100 a year raise," Beasley claimed.

But the proponents of the plan in the House approved by claiming that earmarking funds would stop a lot of political graft.

THE RESULT of the increase in appropriations in both the House and Senate will mean more raises for Florida teachers. At present, proposed allocations are far greater than expected revenue.

The Senate, which has led in securing appropriations for Florida's schools, has already passed the tax bill that will bring in enough revenue to balance the state's books. The House, which has a stranglehold on certain articles, but will bring in about $30,000,000 additional revenue. The House has not yet acted on the bill.

In an unexpected move yesterday, the House acknowledged the non-segregation resolution adopted last week by the Florida Student Government Association.

By unanimous vote the House adopted an amendment to their appropriations bill which states that "None of the funds appropriated give any funds to any institution which operates in violation of Florida or Federal statutes on this subject."

REP MELVIN of Santa Rosa county, who sponsored the amendment, stated that "I introduced this doesn't develop into anything controversial—but when I see reports about mergers go to white schools and whites go to negro schools, then we are in a quagmire which could lead to such institutions."

The move is similar to one made by the state of Tennessee to defeat a ruling of the United States Supreme Court outlawing non-segregation in institutions of higher learning.

'Golden West' Tarpon Show Opens May 16

Using as their theme The Golden West, the Tarpon Club will present their second production of the year nn May 16. 17, 18 and 19, at 8:00 p m in the East Campus gymnasium pool.

The show will consist of three acts plus a grand finale. The first act which is divided into three parts is entitled The Golden Era. Marilyn Sigler is in charge of the Era. Marian Morrison, mistress chairman, is directing Gold, Gald, Geld, and the last part, Ghost Town is under the direction of Sandra Chance.

Elgin Baylor from the FSU swimming team will take part in the second Tarpon act which is called The Silver Dollar. Miss Jo Wade is directing this co-ed number.

The third act is entitled Pan Handle. Del Peters, president of the Tarpon Club, is in charge of the first part of this act. Rodonda is under the direction of Jean Rigell. Jean Purhan and Jeanne Vaughn were elected by the club to swim the show's duet, Cowboy and the Lady.

Los Picaros Confab Opens

Third Annual Meeting Begins at 5 P M Today

The annual Los Picaros convention will begin here today with the registratrain scheduled for 5 pm in the Floridan Hotel, according to Gavino Alvarado, president of the FSU Spanish honorary.

Delegates from the University of Florida and the University of Tampa for the first time are among the invited chapters this year.

AT 7 P M tonight a banquet will be held at the Hotel Floridan, and Dr Thomas Navarro, FSU visiting professor, will preside as guest speaker.

Meetings will be held to-morrow morning and afternoon.

Highlighting the convention will be a dance tomorrow night in the Longmire building. George Boldo and his band will furnish the music for the dance which begins at 8 p m.

CROWNING of the Los Picaros queen will also take place at the dance. The FSU candidate for the title is Caroline Picarrola.

At the banquet, the University of Florida delegation will present a skit, and Dr D Lincoln Canfield will also show slides.

Faculty sponsors for the dance are Mr and Mrs Graydon S DeLaney, Mr and Mrs Hernando Lacayo and Dr and Mrs D Lincoln Canfield.

A BREAKFAST Sunday morning will conclude the third annual convention.

Delegates from the Los Picaros chapter at FSU are Eladio Cama, Ruth Boado, Elsie Utmo and Gloria Alvarado.

Graduate Student Exhibits Painting

Guy Johnson, graduate student in art, was notified last week that one of his oils, "The Blue Table" had been selected for the John Herron Art Museum exhibit.

The picture was selected by a jury of three Americans artists out of a field of 800 pieces of art. Only 162 pieces were chosen for the 44th annual show in Indiana

Flambeau Reporter Samples Opinion on Segregation Ban

By PAUL REBEY

A hot issue around campus concerns admitting Negroes to institutions of higher learning. The roving reporter received a sample of the opinions of FSU students after asking the question: Should we admit Negro students to FSU and Florida universities?

William J McGarry, graduate student, 507 WC. Sure we should let the Negroes go to FSU. Our radio and newspapers blare about freedom and our buddies are dying in Korea for the freedom that we all talk about. Until the Negroes are given equal rights with whites, we are hypocrites to even talk about democracy and freedom. Before we can let someone else what to do, or an example, we had better practice what we preach.

John Marren, senior, 240 Lafayette Circle. I personally have no objection, but probably such action is inadvisable now. It seems to me that the attitudes of both students and adult citizens of the state are of the sort that would result in state-wide disturbances. Besides who knows that Negroes want to attend FSU? I haven't heard of any applications for admission.

John P Knudsen, graduate student, 816 WC. Yes, Negroes should be admitted. They are entitled to the same privileges as other citizens of the state. We admit Indians (American and Asiatic) and Chinese without question or argument. Any talk of admitting the Negro? The objection to Negro students is clearly not a matter of color, but of prejudice, which has no place in an institute of higher education.

GEORGE W Johnson, janitor, Route 2, Box 54AA, Tallahassee. I do not believe the south is ready to admit Negroes to white schools, but in another 50 years, we may be ready.

D R Lisle, janitor, 642 WC. Yes. The Constitution of the United States clearly states numerous reasons.

John Marren, senior, 526 WC. As long as the state provides adequate educational facilities for Negroes, I do not think that Negroes should be allowed to attend FSU. Florida A&M College is an outstanding Negro school and I believe that the education of the Negro in this state is provided for very well at the institution.

CHARLES H CARTER, senior, West Campus Trailer Park. Yes. You have to start letting them in sometime. Let's start right now. I believe that by screening them out and letting the best and most capable try to compete with the Whites is a good trial for them. I also believe that we should not let all that want to come be admitted at once, but let it be gradual and let the students be used to having them around.

ANGELO PARDO, senior, West Campus Trailer Park. No. Special cases call for special changes tend to be drastic. I believe that this matter will take time and therefore we cannot make a decision overnight. I believe that Both White and Negroes are not ready for this change yet.

ROBERT J WEBB, senior, 335 Beard Street. I think that Negro graduate students should be admitted to the universities to further their education in fields not offered in their own schools.

MARY ANNE WEHNER, sophomore, Kappa Alpha Theta house. I most certainly do not think we should let the Negroes in the White colleges any place in the South. They have several colleges of their own here in Florida. We are far from ready for the Union in with them that much.

V L GENTRY, graduate student, 670 WC. I am in favor of admitting Negro students to FSU. In an institution of higher learning, where we are supposed to discard intolerances, it seems that this is a very good opportunity to put these lessons into practice.

Claude Pepper Sees ROTC Dress Review

Claude Pepper, Tallahassee attorney and former United States senator, was a special guest to witness the ROTC review Tuesday afternoon on West campus.

The former review and parade was in recognition of the interest, cooperation and assistance the executive council has given the unit in its program of training and expansion at the university, according to Cadet Major Walter Erickson, adjutant of the unit.

FSU Faculty Performs At Stunt Night May 18

Florida State University's fun-loving faculty will join together in producing their fourth annual Faculty Stunt night next Friday, May 18, at 7:30. The professors in their new roles, and lines of wit, will perform in the Augusta Conradi theater.

Tickets for the stunt show may be purchased from members of any campus religious group and also at the door the night of the performance, Patti Mims, president of the Inter-Church Fellowship, has announced. Proceeds from the affair go to its sponsor, the Inter-Church Fellowship Council. The money will be used to help foreign students attending school at Florida State.

MEMORANDUMS have been sent by the Dean of Men, Olin McBride, and Dr W H Rogers of the English department to all faculty members urging them to begin planning stunts for Friday's show.

All participants have been asked to keep their acts under 10 minutes in length at most, so that the program will run at a fast pace.

In the past, faculty members have presented acts of wholesome fun and entertainment to the approval of large audiences of students.

"IN THESE trying times it is important that we remember to laugh and have some relaxation together," said Dr McBride and Dr Rogers, faculty members in charge of the program. "All indications are that with the co-operation of the faculty members we will have the best performance we have ever had."

The performance is open to the general public as well as all students and faculty members.

Service Frat Sells Concessions Here

Alpha Phi Omega service fraternity will handle concessions at the annual Boy Scout circus which will be held Saturday afternoon and evening, May 12, at Leon High school. This will be the first money-making project carried out by the group.

A chapter meeting has been slated for tomorrow evening at 7 in room 121, Social Work building.

FBLA Convention Slated on May 18

The first Future Business Leaders of America convention will be held on this campus Friday and Saturday, May 18 and 19.

Events that have been scheduled include a banquet at 7 p m Saturday with Dr Doak S Campbell as principal speaker and registration on Friday followed by a general session and picnic.

On Saturday a tour of the campus will be held and FBLA members will be guests at the Delta Sigma Pi second annual business machines show.

THE SECOND general business meeting is scheduled from 2 to 4 p m. Saturday. Formal presentation of the national charter to the local chapter will be made during the banquet Saturday.

Officers of the local chapter are Isabel Pugatsky, president; Dorothy Davis, vice president; George Parish, corresponding secretary, and Blotter editor; Katherine Dewar, treasurer, and Dorothy Kish, secretary.

Officer Installation Held for Newmanite

Formal installation of officers of the Newman Club will take place Sunday morning following 10:30 Mass at the Newman House.

FOLLOWING THE installation of officers a short business meeting will be held to plan a picnic at Silver Lake Camp.

Officers to be installed include Ruth Haberkorn, president; James Wilkie, vice-president; Joan Gregory, recording secretary; Carolyn Dela, corresponding secretary; Mary Agnes Hanao, treasurer; Raymonde Oates, freshman advisor; Bill Tabo, senior representative; Fritz Reimer, junior representative; Delores Bates, sophomore representative, and Molly Paniello, parliamentarian.

Canfield Will Speak In Gainesville Today

"It's An Old Spanish Custom" is the title of a talk by Dr D Lincoln Canfield, head of the department of modern languages, at 3 pm today at the P K Yonge School in Gainesville.

Dr Canfield, who speaks half a dozen foreign languages, fluently, will discuss Spanish language and tradition which have existed for many centuries.

Over 100 Students Will Be Featured In New Operetta

Over 100 students will present May 17-19 the Gilbert and Sullivan operetta, The Pirates of Penzance. The production, which involves a chorus of 45 and an orchestra of 22 in addition to the 19 singing lead roles, will be held in the Music auditorium.

DR ROBERT L BRIGGS, assistant professor of music, is directing the show. He is being assisted by Miss Betty Jane Grimm, assistant professor of voice. The show is under the same direction as was The Mikado, given last fall.

The leading female roles will be taken by Adrianne Norian, Anna Pittman, Pat Gunnoe, Doris Clemons and Elouise Truett. The male leads will be taken by Bill Dalrymple, Tommy McMullen, Bill Tbalaw, Sam Frank and Bruce Kirksey.

TICKETS FOR the production are on sale at the School of Music office and by members of Sigma Alpha Iota and Phi Mu Alpha, women's and men's music honoraries.

The Pirates of Penzance is one of the best-known and most successful of the Gilbert and Sullivan operettas. It was produced on April 3, 1880 at the Opera Comique theater in London. It had an initial run of over 400 consecutive performances all over the world.

Guest Speaker Here For Local Lecture

Dr Paul M Gross, head of the department of chemistry and vice president of Duke University, will speak on "The Role of Science in a Changing World" at the spring meeting of Sigma Xi, chemistry honorary, tomorrow night at 8:15 in its science lecture hall.

DR GROSS, president of the Oak Ridge Institute of Nuclear Studies and member of the Board of the National Science Foundation, is a renowned physical chemist.

He will illustrate how science and scientific influence current history, how scientists and their achievements affect our international policies, and how the actions of other countries are affected.

Alpha Delta Pi's Celebrate Centennial

Members of the Alpha Delta Pi chapter on the campus of Florida State University and local alumnae will be honored this week during the Centennial celebration of the sorority on the NBC show, "The Halls of Ivy," starring Mr and Mrs Ronald Colman, Wednesday, May 18.

Miss Maxine Blake, national president of the sorority, flies to Hollywood to appear as guest of Mr and Mrs Colman on their coast to coast broadcast. Miss Blake, in turn, will present Mrs Colman, who is an honorary member of Alpha Delta Pi, with a special scroll for her portrayal of First Lady of the campus, that of wife of the college president, embodying wisdom, understanding, wit and charm; for setting an example in private life as well as in her professional life of the ideal of Alpha Delta Pi to women throughout the world.

Alpha Delta Pi which celebrates its 100th anniversary May 13 was founded at Wesleyan Female College, Macon, Georgia, in 1851. The sorority returns to Wesleyan, the first chartered college for women, this June for its national convention.

erates did not vote on the resolution as was rumored.

IT WAS REPORTED that FSU might drop from the FSCA also.

Yesterday in the Florida House, Representative Melvin of Dade, Rona county, offered an amendment to the appropriations bill as a separate item, that said if the segregation laws of the state of Florida are disregarded the state legislature will withhold tax money from the institutions.

He said that contrary to whatever resolutions universities adopt or whatever actions are made by the United States Supreme Court, the legislature would withhold tax money.

The motion was passed.

First Free Movie Will Show Tonight

"Pennies from Heaven" starring Bing Crosby, and selected shorts, will be shown free to all students tonight at 8. Will Pennell, junior class president, has announced. The movie will be presented in the Music amphitheater. In case of rain, the show will be held in the Augusta Conradi theater.

Will emphasized that the movie was free and that all students are invited.

Sponsored by the junior class, the movies will be continued weekly with no admission charged.

Posters have been distributed about the campus to announce the show. WFSU has also announced the movie preview. Students are asked to watch for these posters and listen to the campus radio station to keep in touch with the coming movies.

The junior class felt the need for these free weekly movies, Will said, because a school this large needs more entertainment than a city of this size can provide.

A list of the movies to be shown the rest of the year may be ready for the benefit of students by the next edition of the Flambeau, Patti Mimms, this year's junior class treasurer, is the chairman in charge of the movie project.

Weale Has Article Published for NABTTI

An abstract of a study made by Dr W Bruce Weale, associate professor of marketing in the School of Business, has been published by the National Association of Business Teacher-Training Institutions.

The abstract dealing with a curriculum guide appears in the March, 1951, Bulletin of the NABTTI.

Prof Cooley's Article Featured in Magazine

Prof Henry B Cooley, associate professor of management in the School of Business, is author of an article, "Know Your Costs," in the May issue of The Modern Hospital.

The article deals with financial operations of a hospital and emphasizes the importance of obtaining over-all analysis of operating costs.

Statement By Head Explains Resolution

By ALLAN HEAD

I regret that the Flambeau misquoted an anti-segregation resolution of the Florida Student Government association.

Therefore, I would like to make the following statement to the paper:

This resolution was passed in good faith by the members of the convention, and it is unfortunate that the circumstances and intent of the delegates have been misrepresented in the newspapers throughout the state.

The convention was held at the University of Florida. The Florida Intercollegiate Press Association convention and the National Student Association regional convention were also held there at the same time. Delegates from the University of Miami, the University of Florida, the University of Tampa, Florida Southern, Florida A & M, Barry College, Florida State University and Edward Waters Junior College participated.

The controversial resolution came out of a discussion in which the main topic was the educational problems caused by segregation on the graduate level. The resolution as worded below was passed by a unanimous vote.

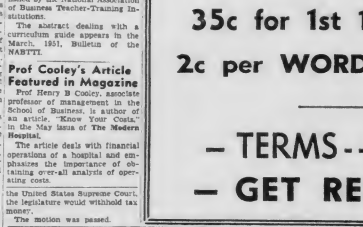
"We the leaders of the student government of the state of Florida, desirous of seeing democracy become an actuality, are in common agreement that:

"Whereas, the peoples of the world look to America for democratic leadership, and

"Whereas, segregation according to race and religion is detrimental to the American ideal, and

"Whereas, the darker peoples of the world are in racial or 3 with other peoples, and

"Whereas, education is the greatest weapon for peace



"Do hibitly resolve that segregation should be abolished in all institutions of higher learning the state of Florida."

It was made perfectly clear the FSCA delegates at the convention that they were not newspaperly representing the feelings either the administration or student body at their home schools. They were voting their convictions, as brought out by the discussions during the convention. This point was not made clear the AP story printed in many of the Florida newspapers. The AP story also did not print the full resolution and distorted the wording in several places.

Convention sites picked by the FSCA and FIPA for next year were Florida Southern for the Fall convention, and, pending approval by the school administration, Florida State University for the Spring convention.

The Art Exhibition committee has arranged to show Egypt, a photographic exhibition prepared by the editors of LIFE magazine, beginning at the Student Union last Wednesday and continuing through May 29.

Egypt contains the most recent photographs of remaining art monuments from an Egyptian culture that flourished for 3,000 years before Christ. The exhibition is based on the photographic essay," Art of Egypt," LIFE, January 19, 1948. It is greatly enlarged in scope, and includes much material not before published. The exhibition was assembled under the direction of W C Hayes of the Department of Egyptology at the Metropolitan Museum of Art.

EGYPT includes some 60 photographs by LIFE photographer Eliot Elisofon taken while on assignment in the Nile Valley. The subject matter is from the Old and New Kingdoms, and ranges from the majestic simplicity of the Step Pyramid of King Djoser (2780-2761 BC) to the Great Temple of Hathor at Denderа, which was built during the first century BC under the Roman Emperor Augustus.

A series of three panels is devoted to several reliefs uncovered in 1941, and not hitherto widely known.

Chamber Music Will Be Given By Students

Five outstanding instrumentalists of the School of Music will be featured in the special program of chamber music tomorrow evening in the Music Hall at 8:15. The program will be open to the public.

A student string quartet will appear in recital for the first time this year. The members of the quartet are Vernon Raines, violin; Dan Boda, violin; Don Langeller, viola, and Betty Brown, violoncello.

THE QUARTET was formed last fall when the members met to play chamber music "just for the fun of it." The program tomorrow night is not the result of a course of study but was conceived and prepared on the group's own initiative.

Joanne Byrd will be piano soloist for the program. She will play the Sonata in A major, Opus 101, by Beethoven, and will join the quartet for the Quintet in E flat, Opus 44, by Schumann.

Miss Byrd is a graduate student of Ernest von Dohnanyi in the School of Music. She was recently one of the top ten winners in the International Piano Competition sponsored by the National Guild of Piano Teachers.

Dr Hardee Explains Counseling Program

The counseling program offered here will be explained to the Lee County Alumni association of Florida State University at a dinner meeting tonight by Dr Melvene Hardee, coordinator of counseling.

Dr Hardee will explain the present program and the advancement of vocational, social-personal and health counseling which has been formulated for the best of any university in the nation.

Christian Home Week Theme Used By BSU

The theme of Christian Home Week was carried out this week by BSUers in their various activities. Tuesday evening Dr and Mrs J Broward Culpepper spoke on "A Glimpse Into a Christian Home." Yesterday a special program was given for YWA and this morning Lorraine Nottage presented "Let's Build a Home" at morning watch.

Activities on the schedule of events for the Wesley Foundation this week include an after dinner coffee tonight under the direction of Jackie Summers, a special Mother's Day program Sunday morning, and a fellowship discussion Sunday evening led by Alice Jackson on "The Symbols of the Church, their Origins and Meanings."

Father John J Keohane, Newman club chaplain, will speak to the members of the Disciple Student Fellowship Sunday night at the group's regular 7 o'clock meeting. Father Keohane's talk, followed by a question and answer period, will climax Disciple study of Catholicism. Wallace Dynes, DSF program chairman, urges all members and their friends to be present at the Sunday night meeting in the recreation room of the Capital Christian church.

This week Dune-a-Mite will be held at the home of Mr and Mrs J Spence Stone. DSF sponsors, on North Monroe street. The supper will be served promptly at 5 p m in order that students may return to the church in time to hear Father Keohane's talk.

Issue Raised Concerning Segregation Resolution

Another so-called "hot-bed of communism" seems to have been uncovered in the recent FSGA convention held at Gainesville. At least this is the opinion of a few arch reactionaries who believe that the race resolution passed by that body is an indication that it is "pink."

Despite the fact that the resolution was passed unanimously by the voting delegates of the convention schools, various attempts to withdraw the name of FSGA from the resolution have been made. These attempts have been quite unsuccessful.

With the result that the University of Florida has suddenly stricken its name from membership in the Florida Student Government association. And now our own University Council comes up with the classic move of the year. Disregarding the fact that its chairman cast the affirmative vote for FSU on the resolution, the University Council has issued a statement that the resolution in no way represents the attitudes of the student body, the administration, or anyone else they know of.

We think the non-segregation resolution was excellent in theory. However, it has many ramifications that are not apparent on the surface.

One of the first objections to be raised concerning the issue is the fact that it was poorly timed. With the legislature now in session and the appropriations bill pending, students at state institutions should have known that it is not in good taste to antagonize our benefactors.

Another objection to the race resolution is that, though the delegation emphasized that its passage was their own personal opinion, they attached the name of the FSGA to it as if it were sponsored wholly by that organization. That was not the case.

Another element which was present at the joint convention, a sort of unexpected guest, was the National Student Association delegation. It was a member of this delegation, from the University of Miami, who introduced the controversial resolution.

The Flambeau has fought the inauguration of NSA on this campus for just such reasons as this. NSA ideals and aims are dedicated to principles based on a student government level, but rather on an administrative or legislative level. In this way, they are using student bodies all over the country to further these ideals by pressure tactics.

The resolution passed at Gainesville was a good one in theory. It has no practical value since it was introduced during the wrong time. The ideas which it presented can be furthered only by legislative enactment.

Perhaps the race situation in the South would be improved if such legislation were in the hands of students like those who attended the FSGA convention. But it is not.

● SCHOOLS OF THOUGHT

There are two schools of thought on necking, states Lawrence Thompson in a recent article in the Miami Herald. The first school is Oklahoma A & M and the first thought is that the dean of women would not allow girls to kiss boys when people could see them. The second school is the University of Wisconsin and the second thought was that their dean of women vetoed the idea of faculty supervised petting.

Author Thompson was a student at the first mentioned university and as an editor of the student newspaper, he raised his editorial voice in protest of the dean of women's action. In his own words "I picked up the editorial cudgels and waged a long, protracted and very unsuccessful campaign in favor of girls being permitted to kiss their boy friends whenever and wherever they felt like it."

"Anyhow, any girls who got caught kissing any boys in public continued to be disciplined," he goes on. "On the other hand I was probably right. I imagine that the girls kept right on smooching with the boys, no matter what my college paper or the dean of women thought about it."

To get back to the University of Wisconsin, their dean of women, a hardy soul named Mrs Troxwell, has said she doesn't want any supervised smooching on campus. A most commendable project. At this point in the discussion ,we must point out that the University of Wisconsin is also a state-supported institution.

The idea was that faculty members would patrol the smooching area to see that everything was conducted according to Hoyle.

Said author Thompson: "I have a hate to agree with any dean of women, I must cast my vote with Mrs Troxwell.

"The theory was that benches would be set up in certain areas, with professors supervising things. When a girl felt like kissing a guy, she was supposed to drag him to one of the official benches and neck him with the teacher looking on."

This would never work at FSU. That many benches aren't made and who wants to be graded on the way they kiss.

● WISHFUL THINKING

An erroneous quotation from the president of the senior class a few weeks ago had the graduating seniors in a state of delirious joy. The class president informed a gathering of his constituents that all seniors having a 'B' average would be exempt from their final examinations.

Perhaps he was indulging in a bit of wishful thinking. However, the registrar's office has interrupted our reverie. The rude awakening came when we received a copy of the regulation from the registrar himself.

"A candidate for graduation may be excused by his instructor from taking the final examination in a course in which he has maintained without question a B average . . ." The decision as to whether a senior will be exempt lies wholly with the instructor.

We also want to commend the ruling which allows graduating seniors to take exams only on the first two days of examination week. This may seem an inconvenience for those who have a number of exams, but it will save the senior the embarrassment of being taken out of the graduation procession at the last minute in the event that he should not pass his finals.

● JUST AVERAGE

Your grades are too high.

That's a statement in relation made by a Faculty Senate special committee on grading practices which reported to the Faculty Senate this week.

Revealing charts prepared by the eight man committee say that "grades as a whole are higher than can be justified by the assumption that 'C' represents the quality of work of the average student in most classes." The committee also concluded that "grades vary widely from school to school, department to department, and from class to class."

All of which says that grades must go down.

The underlying reason for the committee functioning, we assume, is to raise the standards of the school. This can best be done by lowering the grades and making it more difficult for a person to pass a course.

'C' represents the average grade. The committee has found out that there are too many people on this campus above average and they recommend that teachers lower grades so that more average people will result.

So don't be surprised next time you receive your grade report. Instead of making an 'A' or a 'B' in that course, you may only have made a 'C'. But then you can content yourself by saying, "Well, I'm just an average guy after all."

● WORTHY SELECTION

Omicron Delta Kappa has made a wise choice in selecting Attorney General Richard Ervin as the most outstanding public servant in Florida for this year.

The "General" was selected for membership into ODK for his "outstanding contributions to the State of Florida—because of his sincerity and unassuming manner while carrying out the duties of his office in the best interest of the people of Florida."

Ervin has been instrumental in curbing much of the criminal practices in this state. He has championed the fight for legislation in order to more effectively carry on this campaign. As Attorney General, Ervin has capably and diligently carried out the duties of this office in all times. He is truly a statesman and worthy of the great honor Omicron Delta Kappa has given him.

ANALYSIS of FSGA ARTICLE

By EARL DOBERT

This is intended as an analysis of the article appearing in another part of this paper by Allan Head concerning the action taken by the FSGA at the University of Florida.

In the first place, in the second sentence, Allan passes the buck to newspapers in general. Anytime something appears in the newspaper and it is wrong, it is always the newspapers' fault and not the person telling out the information. "The circumstances and intent of the delegates" has not been misrepresented in the state newspapers.

The newspapers said that the FSGA called for the abolishment of segregation in the institutions of higher learning throughout the state. And they did. Therefore the newspaper is wrong for printing what happened.

The only reason for saying the newspapers misrepresented the story was in the fact that they reported that the Florida Intercollegiate Press Association was in any way in conjunction" with the FSGA convention. That means at the same time as.

Allan further fell into this category when he says "the FIPA and the NSA regional convention were also held there at the same time."

'PON MY WORD

POLL ON ISSUE SHOULD BE TAKEN

By BETSY BLANTON

Everyone seems to be standing on his own feet over the question which was passed at the recent Florida Student government convention.

Rumors are circulating that the legislature is going to cut our appropriations further, that the student government organization is "through" and that the FSGA delegation did not vote on the issue.

To my knowledge, none of these rumors are true.

Nevertheless, the University of Florida has withdrawn from the FSGA and the FSU University Council has issued a statement that they had no idea the delegates from this school represented the opinions of those people only. Rather, that it was the student body or of the administration.

It might prove interesting to find out how the student body and are just what opinions the majority does hold on the matter. So by the way, let the people on University Council have claimed that they know what the general feeling of the student body is. Since they obviously hold contradictory opinions, one of them must be wrong.

FANCY THIS

DUST RAISED OVER RESOLUTION

By JEANNE O'RIORDEN

The recent non-segregation resolution by the Florida Student Government convention at Gainesville and the subsequent denial by this university has raised the question of what was the will of the student body has really raised some dust.

Out of it, has raised the perennial question, should Negroes be allowed to attend institutions of learning where equal facilities are not given to their own universities?

According to the Constitution of the United States and the supreme court, the answer is yes.

But, legal or not, everyone has his own opinion, regardless of the constitution or the supreme court.

In several classes in the past few days, professors have taken polls to see how many people will vote on the question. It's about 50-50. Some classes have split others also believe that no matter what color the skin of a person is, he is entitled to equal education with a white person.

CAMPUS CAROUSEL

A VERY INTERESTING DRAG OF WOMEN

By EMORY KING

There is a very interesting drag of women in this state. It seems that she won't allow the girls to wear formal dresses because she says they are surrogate. In the same vein goes for off-the-shoulder dresses. She says that she has also that she absolutely will not allow them to wear patent leather shoes—it reveals their underwear she avers.

A man came into the art department the other day. Someone asked him what he did around town. He said that he was a painter.

"What do you paint?" they asked.

"I paint men and women," he said, "I'm a portrait painter." answered.

"No," he said, "I paint men on some doors and women on others."

Did you hear about the coed who walked into prep for marriage and told the professor that she believed that she deserved an "A" in the course. When the prof wanted to know why, she told him that the doctor had just announced that she was pregnant. Needless to say, she was married—what was needless to say wasn't it?)

BIGGEST JOKE OF THE WEEK DEPARTMENT: Now that the various political and faculty members and administration personnel have worked for months to establish a student traffic court, the Senate passed a bill to put campus traffic violations under the jurisdiction of the Tallahassee municipal courts.

A freshman girl confided in her girl friends: "I have a morbid fear of sex but I'll get over it."

"Who," they wanted to know, "told you that?"

"My boy friend," she said simply.

A buddy of mine tells me that while he was in practice teaching, as the case might be, to take a swim at Fisstacowo, his foot went through the rotten boards of the bath house.

"There I was," he said, "all undressed, and the coeds were looking at me through the doorways of peoples carved into the wooden partition between the little boys' rooms and the big girls' rooms. I was so embarrassed I grabbed my clothes and ran away."

And you know, they tell me that they house boats in that beautiful new concrete building out there.

SLAP at TAMPA TRIBUNE

(Editor's note: The portions of this column dealing with the Tampa Tribune do not at all reflect the opinions of the Florida Flambeau or any other edition of this state who is tired of having to publicly solicit the public of good government. The newspapers of this state are the only ones not afraid to combat this evil. More power to them.)

By BILL PATTERSON and VERNON WHEELER

Representative Saunders of Clay county performed a distinctive service this week when he introduced a resolution calling for an investigation of the State's most unethical newspaper, that political scandal sheet, the Tampa Morning Tribune.

Immediately after Saunders' act the press of the State rose as one in the defense of their brother in sin. This was to be expected and it became all the papers of Florida always piously stand together and shout to the high heavens "Freedom of the press is in jeopardy."

Undoubtedly, freedom of the press is one of the fundamental essentials to our democratic way of life. And it should be defended against any attempt to eradicate or stifle it.

BUT FREEDOM to exercise a privilege does not mean freedom to abuse it. Any editor of any newspaper could be more guilty of abusing its freedom than that paper now under legislative scrutiny.

A great Journalist, William Allen White, once watched newspaper publishers that the only people that really abused freedom of the press are the newspapers' owners and editors themselves.

The newspapers ridicule the charge of Representative Saunders that the Tribune is "Communistic." They point to the Tribune's record of anti-Communist editorial policy. But regardless of their political leanings, the truth is that it's Tribune does not want to be branded as Communistic. It should not use such despicable smear tactics. (Editor's note: The same kind the authors of this editorial use.)

The Tribune's penchant for presenting opinion in news stories we discussed in the last issue is the propaganda technique of that organ of Adolph Hitler's, the Pravda.

The Tribune apparently feels that it's media for one purpose alone —to sell newspapers and make money.

BUT IN A democracy a newspaper is vested with the fundamental obligation of presenting truthful information to the public so that it can formulate on a basis for making independent intelligent decisions.

The Tribune has forgotten its fundamental obligation to the people as it attempts scheming agent in a democratic society.

The only alternative to this is totalitarian push-button thought control.

Our recommendations on corrupt practices: The need for corrupt practices legislation is undeniable and to make public campaign spending has been made clear by the recent primaries.

Eleven bills, dealing with various aspects of the problem have been presented to the legislature, but as yet, none have become law.

However, we feel that there are two basic reforms which easily can and should be adopted.

IN EVERY case in the state the tax assessors are furnished by the federal government a photostatic copy of the income tax return of every individual filing income tax returns who resides within the county.

We recommend that the income tax returns of every candidate for public office, and every person who contributes any money or dollars or more to any candidates campaign fund be made a matter of public record. This would let the voters know the financial obligation of each candidate and of each big contributor. Any people could examine the campaign wealth of the successful candidate when he enters office and when he leaves office's note: And then people may scream to high heaven because the Tampa Tribune is probably be the first to investigate these records.)

Our other recommendation is that one person be made responsible for the money spent for advertising during a political campaign. This would mean that all expenditures by state or county committees by statewide candidates would have to be cleared through the central treasurer. It would be under obligation to perform his candidate of every penny spent in his behalf. And for violation of this provision would be extremely severe.

THE CHAIRMAN of Dade County Miami Crime Commission and special investigator recently publicly and openly charged former U S Senator Claude Pepper with complicity with Tampa in bringing the Kefauver Committee to Florida for its probe. Pepper immediately branded the man said that Senator Pepper is to be given all credit for the first to officially contact Senator Estes Kefauver in behalf of the Senate Crime Commission.

The Florida House of Representatives seems to be completely reversing its previous ultra-conservative and reactionary appropriations. Maybe more of the "want to be re-elected this fall" type.

Students View Bees At Campbell Home

Students at Florida State University had a chance to assist in the field of nature study last Sunday on campus.

Mrs Doak S Campbell, wife of the FSU president, has had for a number of years invited FSU students interested in bees to determine if one of the hive recently given to her by Florida Bee Keepers association.

Students will be able to watch busy bees through the observation windows around the bottom section of the hive. Honey is to be extracted from the hive about the middle of June.

Mrs Campbell said that if it occurred this week with Classmons, assistant Leon coach, and Lieutenant Colonel Ernest FSU students watched the bees determine if one of them seeing it for the first time.

There were no occurrances of "bee" stings and the students were instructed by Mrs Campbell not to brush a bee away from them, but to gently remove it "steel nerve," Lieutenant Colonel commented.

Those present for the honey collecting received a return guarantee that the honey bees found growing since the walk to the hive, while watching the honey extraction.

Faculty to Receive Doctorates in June

Three faculty members have completed their final oral examinations for their PhD degrees from the University of Indiana and will receive their decrees during the June commencement exercises.

They are Hale G Smith, acting head of the department of biological science and archaeology; Kenneth A Wagner, assistant professor of botany; and Miss Alice Deneys, instructor in the department of physiology.

EVOLUTIONARY STUPIDITY . . .

To man.

I have just read an article in Life magazine which brings to a head an idea that's been simmering in my foreconscious for a long, long time. The article tells how author James Jones, writer of the currently hot novel, From Here to Eternity. Previously the writer of this tough, realistic account of Army life had painted himself into a literary corner. He had written in this likable figure and in typical confession style reveal he is a lusty, sensitive manly-pamby who is driven by —you guessed it, a woman.

This sentimental slop is typical of the garbage handed out by radio, magazine, and on the main-stream of the type novel. The enthralled American in his favorite magazine is informed that Tyrone Power is a complex in the rare and that he's not a simple lug in pure bat milk. Most of life's problems are solved by our young women who push aside the stammering, ineffectual male when the crisis arrives, according to the radio. The modern novel portrays the hero as a curly-haired, wide-shouldered, narrow-hipped, boudoir crawler who spends most of his time peering ever so cute. He says unlikely things mostly with a crinkling grin and smiling eyes. Have you ever met anybody with smiling eyes??

The trouble is all this swill is gobbled up by the American literature. If this slow poisoning keeps up we'll wind up a nation of milksops who will probably carry the umbilical cord to the grave.

Track Team in Last Home Appearance Tomorrow

FROM THE SIDELINES

By WARREN COBB

Flambeau Sports Editor

Wednesday morning, amid loud tooting of horns and with a big brown banner on the back of the bus proclaiming champs, Florida State University's great gym team rolled back into Tallahassee with another feather in their much-decorated cap.

The gymnasts were just returning from their annual campaign in the National AAU Battle in Detroit. Not only did each Hartley Price boys, who did previously won the NCAA, complete a gymnastic "grand slam," but they did it in a most convincing fashion. The Seminoles amassed 83 points to 23½ for their nearest opponent.

FSU can well be proud of this great team, which Coach Price, one of the outstanding gymnastics coaches in the world, calls it "the greatest I've ever coached." And, brother, that really covers a lot of territory!

DOCTOR PRICE, who came to FSU from the University of Illinois, has won eight national championships, not to mention well over 100 dual meets. Price has guided these teams to "grand slam" victories in his brilliant career.

Hartley seems to have repeated itself for Price.

Besides chasing this team as his opponent, Dr Price went on record as classifying his star performer, Bill Roethlein, as "greatest individual collegiate performer of all time."

That may seem to be a pretty broad statement at first glance, but Roethlein's amazing record will seem to justify it.

"THE GYMNASTICS" has won the Pan-American Games twice and the horizontal bar title. He has won the NCAA and AAU all-around title for three straight years in three of the major cities in the country.

Last Saturday he successfully defended his AAU horizontal bar title and added the all-around championship to his laurels.

He is also the National Collegiate All-around champ and holds the title for the horizontal bar.

Furthermore, he was the youngest collegiate performer ever to make the Olympic team. Dr Price says he knows of no other athlete to whom he has seen four straight years as Bill has done.

This unbelievable record should make Roethlein a leading contender for the annual Sullivan award awarded to the nation's outstanding athlete. Right now we can't think of anyone more deserving of this award than the "greatest performer" on Dr Price's "greatest" team.

But Roethlein is not the only great performer on the Seminole team. FSU can also well be proud of such boys as Jack Miller, the national flying rings champion; Jerry Sharp, who took third place on the rings at the AAU; the celebrated Regna twins — Joe and Carmine; and Scotty Stanton, Pat Churchill, Dick Gutting, Bill Horton, Joe Guzic and Dick Cutting.

JOE REGNA, who was third in the rings at the AAU, is the Southern Inter-collegiate side-horse champ and is the 19th leading All-around gymnast in the U. S. His brother, Carmine, who was third on the parallel bars and fifth on the high bar at the AAU, is the Southern Inter-collegiate birch bar and rings champ.

Dr Price is very proud of Lawrence Weston, who he says has made more progress in one year than anyone else he has ever coached. After a single year, Weston is now doing alternate full-twisting back somersaults in the tumbling.

Already Coach Price is looking ahead to next year. In order to prepare for the coming year, Coach Price would like to organize teams in rope-climbing, tumbling and trampoline work.

Price has some of the best gymnasts in the country here at FSU, and predicts that FSU will maintain its present rating among the best schools in gymnastics in the nation.

Despite the lack of certain facilities and the handicap of a small gym, Price has instituted such traditions here at FSU in the gymnastics field. Without doubt, the Seminole team would have amassed the talent, even if now bossis. His reputation and skill have attracted such material.

GYMNASTICS HERE offer a wonderful atmosphere for beginners. Working with such outstanding performers as those above mentioned, and with an instructor like Price, a young, aspiring gymnast could do no better than FSU.

Coach Price and his amazing performers have brought a tremendous amount of publicity to this school and deserve a full round of praise for a record that Hartley Price himself could only describe as "amazing."

On the subject of gymnastics, look for the five-page spread on the editorial page of next Sunday's Parade Magazine featuring the Tallahassee Tumbling Tots of the FSU Gymkana. This magazine has a circulation of 2,000,000.

YOUR EDITOR would like to apologize to Dr Hartley Price, his gymnasts, and Florida readers for the mistake in the headline of the gym story in the last issue. The headline proclaimed that the gymnasts had just won the NCAA, when it should have said AAU.

Another glaring error was the substituting of Basketball Coach Bud Kennedy's name for that of Track Coach Ken Miller in the story on track.

All in all, it was a bad day for this correspondent.

N B "Bim" Stults, coach of the undefeated and untied FSU swimming team, has been named on the Membership committee of the National College Swimming Coaches association.

Volleyball Team In National Finals Today at Mass.

The Florida State University volleyball team is currently competing in the National Intercollegiate Tournaments at Springfield, Massachusetts. The tournament, which began yesterday, will conclude with the finals today.

The Florida State team may be handicapped in the tournament because of a foot injury that Charlie Floyd suffered while participating in the school circus. Floyd, who was named second string All-America after last year's tournament, is expected to be in the starting line-up, but may not be able to play regularly because of the injury.

BUT COACH BILL ODENEAL'S crew will be boosted by the presence of big George Ecimiston, the team's leading scorer who missed several matches towards the end of the season while in-terning.

Others making the trip to Springs and sure to see action include Bob Green, Jim Couch and James McFatter.

The Seminoles have won the Florida AAU and the Memphis Invitational Mid-South open tournaments this year and should be strong contenders in today's tournament.

Recently the varsity volleyball team defeated the fraternity all-stars in two matches.

The Hialeah race track attendance showed an increase of 4.9 per cent and a gain of 19.1 per cent in mutuels for Ha 1951 season.

Seminole Nine Meets Miss. College Today

The Seminole baseball nine left yesterday morning for Clinton, Mississippi, for two weekend games with the Mississippi College Choctaws.

The Seminoles have yet to lose a game in the conference. They have six over-all record of 11 wins and 4 defeats.

Among those 11 wins are two home victories over the Choctaws, one by a 22-9 count and the other 6-2.

Probable starter in today's contest is Ed Sessions, pitching ace from Tallahassee, who has won four out of five games so far this year. Sessions is also leading the Seminole nine at the plate with a sizzling .723 average.

BIG BOB WHITNER is on tap for tomorrow's fracas boasting a 3-1 record.

The Seminoles' next engagement will be here on May 18 and 19 against the Stetson Hatters, a non-conference foe. The Hatters, however, have one of the best teams in the state, their only defeat being administered by Rollins in a close 7-6 game.

Meet Howard U At 2:30 P M

The FSU track team, coached by Ken Miller, meet Howard University here tomorrow in a dual meet scheduled to begin at 2:30 p m.

This will be the first meeting between these two teams this year. This meet will also be the last home appearance for the FSU harriers this year. Their next scheduled competition is the Dixie Conference Tournament in Clinton, Mississippi, on May 19. The Seminoles won the conference tournament at Macon, Georgia, last year, and would seem to have a good chance to repeat.

Outstanding performers for the Seminoles include John Poston, in the 100 and 220; Joe Fracasi in the pole-vault Al Carter in the hurdles; Jim Arnold in the distances; and Woody Parker and Dick Mize in the 440.

Poston and Fracasi set new records in their events in last Saturday's meet with Mississippi College. Poston, a speedster from Jacksonville, set a new school record in the 220 with a 21.6. Fracasi cleared 12 feet 7 inches in the pole vault for a new track and school record.

FSU Golfers Enter College Tournament

Coach Bob Harbison and four of his Seminole golfers left this week for Athens, Georgia, to participate in the Southern Intercollegiate tournament. Many schools in the southeastern and southwestern parts of the country will enter this tournament.

Representing FSU will be Tommy Brown and Eddie Johnston of Tallahassee, Tom Cumbie of Quincy, and Dick Montney of Detroit, Michigan.

Veterans Ted Hewlit and Bud Marree did not make the trip.

During regular season play the Seminole linksmen posted a record of seven wins, three losses, and one tie Montney and Johnson have shown exceptionally well this year, both shooting consistently in the lower 70's.

MONTNEY, A VETERAN golfer, is an outstanding long hall hitter and has been a big gun for the Seminoles throughout the season.

Johnson was Florida high school champion last year by virtue of his victory in the state tournament in DeLand. He has improved steadily as a freshman in college and should stand a good chance in the present tournament.

Cumbie, in his second year on the team, rates as the most improved player of the group.

Brown, an all-around athlete, has also shown up well on the greens this year.

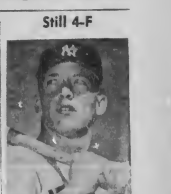
Basketball And Swim Letters To Be Awarded



Florida State Athletic Director Howard G Danford has announced the names of all those who will receive either varsity letters or freshman numerals in basketball and swimming for 1951.

The awards will be presented by Coaches Bud Kennedy and Bim Stults at the annual sports banquet the last week of May.

Both the basketball team and the swimming squad compiled outstanding records in the 1951 campaign. Coach Kennedy's hoopsters won 16 games and lost nine in the best record of any college team in the state. They went to the quarter-finals in the national NAIB tournament at Kansas City after winning the Dixie Conference tourney in Jacksonville.

The swimming team was undefeated in dual meets, tied with North Carolina AA for the Southeastern AAU title, and won the Florida AAU championship.

Still 4-F

Girls Flock to Arcades In Search of Suntan

In the spring, a young man's fancy lightly turns to thoughts of love, and a young woman's footsteps turn directly to the nearest connecting the women's residence halls. Practically any part of these lovely, warm days, from early morning to late afternoon, passersby may see groups of girls ranging from Freshman to Senior bollins peacefully in the sun.

Books, magazines, cokes, and stationary are standard equipments for entertainment. That does not only tans the hide(s) but provides an excellent natural source of heat to dry the hair, after a quick shampoo. In a matter of minutes.

SPRING - INTO - SUMMER-MINDED girls are quick to take advantage of these "campus beaches," and block in throngs to the nearest one they can find.

The only limiting factor in acquiring a beautiful tan is finding a space long enough and wide enough to situate oneself into comfortably. On an extremely hot day, most likely from one to four in the afternoon, several inches per girl is the allotted amount! If this is the case, it is permissable (and advisable) to your own legs up against the wall and stretch the arms out over your neighbor on either side of you. Now you're all set to bask for hours.

ABOUT THE only people that suffer for the sake of the girl's relaxation are the patient souls that must walk under the arcades on their way to classes. They're always plenty like target for bats of cigarette subs, clipsted sometimes, too; candy wrappers, torn newspapers, and other miscellaneous missiles that forever plague their path.

However, damage is seldom, and slight when it does occur. After all, nothing is more important these days than a svelte, dark suntan—no matter what the cost!

Alpha Lambda Delta Elects '52 Officers

New officers of the freshman scholastic honorary, Alpha Lambda Delta, were elected Tuesday afternoon in the Longmire building following the formal initiation and reception of new members.

Serving as next year's president will be Jean Escott. Vice president elected was Mary Whitehurst; secretary, La Verne Jennings; treasurer, Manuela Crespo and historian, Eatrynn Vance.

Frances Clark, this year's president, will act as junior advisor.

MISS OLIVIA DORMAN of the Classics department, and dean of women, Katherine Warren, were faculty guests at the initiation. Miss Dorman is faculty advisor to the freshman honorary.

The new initiates made plans for a banquet to be held the latter part of May when seniors, who have maintained a 2.5 average throughout their four years, will be honored.

Thirteen freshmen and one sophomore were initiated Tuesday. Two sophomores fro mlast year were also initiated with this year's group. Those initiated were Shirley Allen, Manuela Crespo, Ann Crownover, Dawn Dayton, Jean Escott, Evelyn Fredericksen, La Verne Jennings, Mary Louihns, Sara Murray, Carolyn Reney, Eatrynn Vance, Patricia Watson, Mary Whitehurst, Ellen Avis, Virginia Arango and Mary Browder.

ALPHA LAMBDA DELTA tane twice a year, this year's president, Frances Clark, has stated. "Students tapped have maintained a 2.5 average for the three-quarters of last year, or the past semester of this school term.

Students who make a high enough average this semester to that when added to last semester's grade, will average a 2.5, will be tapped next year, Frances said.

Women's Glee Club Elects New Leaders

Lorraine Nottage was elected president of the Women's Glee club at a recent business meeting. Lorraine has been the accompanist for the past two years. Other officers are Elley Marett, vice-president; Pat Comer, secretary-treasurer and Leiagene Wilson, business manager.

The Glee club has taken part this year in the annual Christmas Vesper program, singing for the Ft Johns Episcopal church, performing before the Carreno club of St Petersburg and before the Bradenton High school.

The club also presented its annual Spring concert, consisting of selections from Brahms and a Latin antiphonal anthem to modern pastorrips. Plans are now being made for next year's performances.

Many Dormitories Plan Entertainment

After many years as a women's undergraduate dormitory, Broward hall is planning one "last big blowout" before being turned over to the graduate students next year, according to Mrs Christine Wilson, social director of the dormitory.

On Saturday night, May 19, the Broward girls and their dates will be guests at a "Gypsy Cabaret" in their parlor. The party will start at six in the evening with dinner being served to the guests at small side tables. Following dinner there will be a "spectacular floor show, the details of which are being kept as a surprise," said Mrs Wilson.

Gypsy music and a gypsy atmosphere in general will prevail with all the guests dressed in gypsy costumes. Table reservations were reported as sold out as early as Wednesday of this week.

Betty D'Lugos, Broward social chairman has announced the following as committee chairmen for the cabaret: Catherine Prevedel, general chairman; Rose Biancaros, floor decor; Peggy Vaschke, decorations; Frances Watson and Darlene Missio, refreshments.

Hats Off

Dear Editor,

Hats off to Rube and Allen for their stand on the resolution backing non-segregation in higher education in Florida at the recent session the FSGA in Gainesville. We feel sure that many of our FSU students would have cast their vote the same way had they been given the opportunity. With this letter we cast our vote.

Phi Mu Actives Move Into New Dream House

A 20-year-old dream became a reality this weekend for 40 members of Phi Mu sorority as they moved into their spacious new home on West Jefferson street.

The white brick sorority house is now complete except for some of the furniture. Despite this, the Phi Mus voted unanimously to move in as soon as the house was finished.

Rooms in the new Phi Mu home are planned for 40 girls and the chaperone. Plenty of yard space may be viewed off the long living room where in the future a terrace may be built. Above the Southern doorway is placed a metal medallion and a metal railing has been placed on the stairway going up from the central hallway of the house.

Phi Mu active chapter of '50 and '51, alumnae from all over Florida and the national Phi Mu sorority joined forces to build the Tallahassee home as a centennial milestone. The official opening is being planned for September in order to coincide with the '52 centennial celebration in Macon, Ga.

The officers of the Alpha Epsilon chapter of Phi Mu who authorized and supervised the financial transactions making possible the construction of the new FSU chapter home include Miss Alice Henderson, president; Miss W D Hollings, first vice president; Mrs Grace A Carawell, second vice president; Mrs Gregory B Mann, secretary; and Mrs G K Sneden, treasurer.

Officers of the active chapter are Marjorie Meckstroth, president; Sally Cyland, vice president; Louise Wafe, secretary; and Sue Mundee, treasurer.

Dr Phifer Announces Oratory Finalists

Arlene Amend, Ron Hollow, and Nell Moore are the finalists in the original oratory contest that was announced by Dr Gregg Phifer, assistant professor of speech.

These students will appear before the Tallahassee Optimist Club on Tuesday when they will be judged by the group.

Nell Jacoby was the winner in the after dinner speaking contest with Polly Lassiter and Ralph Hager placing second and third.

Initiation Set Thursday For Gold Key Taps

Formal ceremony for 20 men and women tapped for Gold Key, will begin at 7 p m Thursday in a candlelight procession from Westcott to the Alumni building. Gold Key is a leadership honorary fraternity. Six members were tapped last fall as a first ceremony in spring of Westcott with Bill Conkey, social head of fraternity. Taps were always of honor secrecy at the Gold Key annual social held at Silver Lake.

THE GOLD KEY president announced the procession inaugurating initiation ceremonies will be an innovation this year. It will proceed from a public initiation in the future to designated to further recognize certain active members of Gold Key." he announced.

Initiates were selected from various fields of activities and were chosen on a basis of leadership, scholarship and service to Florida State University.

Those tapped were Preston Bailey, Richard Coleman, Johnny Fortune, Robert Griffin, Wilson Hayes, Daniel Hobbs, Stanley Hoffman, Bill Kennedy, Charles Sebring, Ted Steinmeyer, Claude Johns and Robert Johnson.

Also tapped were William Kendrick, James Lee, Phillip Lucas, Robert McKay, John Newman, William Roetzheim, Robert Schmidt, Ted Smith and Preston Strommer.

'Elijah' Featured In Choral Concert On Friday at 8:15

One hundred and thirty members of Choral Union, directed by Herman Cromer, will sing the Mendelssohn oratorio Elijah in the music auditorium at 8:15 Friday night.

In case of rain, it will be given in the Union Ball.

Accompanists will be Ramona Beard, organist, and Nancy Hill, pianist.

COMPOSER of the oratorio Felix Mendelssohn, a composer of his time, was born in 1846, while studying at the Leipzig Conservatory.

It was acclaimed the first part was the story of the drought in Israel started by the prophet Elijah, for their perfidy in following the false Baal. Ahead of the prophets of Baal and is victorious. The second section deals with the efforts of Elijah's enemies to kill him, the protection given him by the Lord, and his ascension to Heaven.

CHORAL UNION consists of 100 students and town people, as an outgrowth of University Chorus which has given more men an opportunity to sing choral literature. Choral Union's first performance was Handel's Messiah.

Officers of the organization are president, Norma Jean Kearney; vice-president, Nancy Hill; business manager, Rick Bedford.

Retraction

A statement in last Friday's issue of The Flambeau by Jeanne Worden was based entirely on hearsay evidence and not on fact. The statement read: "At least a Negro is attending the U or an school and four Negroes taking graduate courses here." According to official sources, there are no Negroes registered at Florida State University.

EARL W. DOBERT.

Leadership Program Plans Shape Up for Conference

Final preparations are underway for the Mortar Board leadership training conference to take place at Camp Flastocowo Friday and Saturday. The faculty - student steering committee will hold a preparatory meeting in Landis parlor at 5 p m tomorrow.

Invitations for the conference will be answered by tomorrow and mailed to the University Governing Association officers, publication heads and organization presidents.

THE CONFERENCE next week end is to give newly-elected officers the opportunity of reviewing problems faced by outgoing officers. Faculty and student relations will be discussed by delegates. Individual group meetings will be a main part of the program. In these groups, new officers will meet with outgoing officers to discuss duties of the office and ways of averting problems faced this year.

The conference will open Saturday afternoon with registration at Camp Flastocowo from 1 to 3 p m. At 3 o'clock delegates will be welcomed by FSU President Dr. R C Gampbell and Will Pennell, UGA president-elect.

Student speakers to address the group Saturday afternoon will be Doris Harding, president of Mortar Board; Will Pennell, president-elect of UGA; and Bob Griffin, Flambeau editor. General group meetings will follow the addresses by the student heads.

Faculty members assisting with the conference are Miss Katherine Warren, Dean of Women; Dean of Student Welfare, Dr Broward Culpepper; Miss Mary Alexander, instructor in physical education and Miss Juanita Gibson, public administration officer.

Also assisting are Dr Joseph Golden, assistant professor of social welfare; Mr Ray Aleo, assistant professor of social welfare; and professor of political science and the Rev Cecil McBride, dean of men.

STUDENTS on the steering committee are Will Pennell, newly elected UGA president; Jim Ball, head of the Florida Blazers; Judicial court Jim Kirk, next year's vice-president of UGA; Gail Kelly Albritton, editor of Tully-Ho for next year; Lee Sandlin, editor of Smoke Signals editor; Alice Jackson, a member of the committee for Bob Griffin, newly elected Flambeau editor for 1952; Dick Bradley, newly elected senior class president; and Jimmie Barnes, next year's junior class president.

Mortar Board members directing the conference plans are Anne Scudder, Doris Harding, Leland White, Marion Doro and Monirell Stevenson.

Officers Election To Be Held Today By Dance Honorary

Election of officers takes place today for L'Apache honorary dancing and social fraternity.

Retiring officers of L'Apache are Jack Mooney, president; James Sebring, secretary-treasurer; and Fred Larson, social chairman.

ALSO on the agenda for today's meeting is the formal initiation and a banquet tomorrow night in honor of the organization. Twenty-three fraternity men were tapped Friday evening during Alpha Tau Omega's Orchid Dance, at the Tallahassee Country Club.

Members of L'Apache are selected from the eight original fraternities on the Florida State University campus. They are Phi Delta Theta, Sigma Alpha Epsilon, Kappa Alpha, Delta Tau Delta, Pi Kappa Alpha Alpha Tau Omega, Theta Chi, and Pi Kappa Tau. Its purposes is to further good will among the member fraternities through social activities.

TAPPED Friday evening were: Walter Jardine, James Dhmpher, Owen Boone, Charles Johnson, Herbert Wells, Lou Fiorini, C M Booth, Bob Tully, Bob Schmeltz, Bill Shepherd and Don Waters.

Also tapped were Bob Whitmer, John Fain, Bob Repine, Prat Finkelson, Preston Bradley, Walter Draper, Jack Phillips, Jim Doss, Carl Morfield, Joe Lester, and James Kirk.

Application Blanks For Award Are Ready

Application blanks for the 1951 Delta Delta Delta scholarship award of $150 may be picked up in the Dean of Women's office and should be returned by May 25.

The Delta Delta Delta scholarship award is open to all women on campus who have had a year in school or affiliation. The winner of the scholarship will be notified as soon as possible.

'52 Sophomore Class Plans to Continue Rat Cap Campaign

The rat cap project will be continued by the sophomore class of 1952, it was decided at the Freshman class meeting last Thursday night.

The rat cap campaign next year will be in charge further class spirit by having all freshmen wear rat caps with the "class of '51" on them.

A SOPHOMORE - FRESHMAN tea was suggested at the meeting on which the members of the two classes would compete against each other in various games. Also discussed was a rat cap court to enforce the wearing of the caps.

Freshmen senators are now working on a bill to be presented in the senate concerning procedure for the rat cap rules and regulations for next year.

Recently elected officers for next year are President June Conner; vice president, Pat Wiesz; secretary Petres Campbell; treasurer, Jerre Whidden; parliamentarian, Marcia Morris; and social chairman, Betty Sue Fryer.

House Group Okays Budget for FSU

The House of Representatives yesterday approved the Budget Commission's recommendation of a $18,656,000 appropriation for Florida State University for the next biennium.

The Senate has already approved $10,900,000 for FSU so the final allocation will be a compromise between the amounts proposed by the two houses.

The $8,656,000 appropriation by the House is a direct result of the economy-bloc's loss in power during the past week. The Budget appropriations committee had previously recommended only $7,100,000 for FSU.

Freshmen Are Chosen As New Cheer Leaders

Three freshman girls were chosen from a group of 20 girls last Thursday night for sophomore cheerleaders for next year. Chosen were Ruthie Spencer and Bettie Hall, former freshmen cheerleaders, and Shirley Knight.

All the girl cheerleading squad consists of Jeanne Cherryhomes, Nancy Bennet, senior, Jeri Munroe, senior, Ann Stevens, junior, and Martha Williamson, junior.

Elementary Education Majors Hold Meeting

Elementary education majors receiving degrees in June or August are requested to attend a meeting in the Augusta Conrad auditorium Wednesday, May 16, at 6:30 p m.

All elementary education majors are urged to be present. Teaching positions in Florida schools and elsewhere in this area will be discussed. Both first and second semester interns are asked to attend.

'Pirates of Penzance' To Open in FSU Music Hall

Briggs Says Light Operetta Is Stage Permanent Favorite

Tickets are now on sale for the performances May 17, 18, and 19 of the Pirates of Penzance, one of the "big three" of the Gilbert and Sullivan comic operas, which is being produced here by FSU students. Robert L Briggs, director and producer, set curtain time at 8:15 Thursday in the Music Hall.

Tickets may be obtained at the School of Music office, the bookstore or the Music Hall box office before performance time, according to Briggs. The price is 75 cents.

ALTHOUGH THE show is sponsored by the Light Opera Guild, an organization of music honoraries, and directed by members of the School of Music faculty, students from various departments of the university are taking part, both on stage and backstage. It is approximately the same group that played the Shade here last semester.

The director has described the opera as "light and tuneful nonsense without a real motif. Its ridiculous and delightful drollery have made it a permanent favorite on the light opera stage," he said.

The setting of the story is a purely imaginary Realm of England, in which pirates of an earlier century and a wilder civilization come to grips with Victorians of 1880. Briggs commanted, "In fact, such a preposterous can happen, and it is no more expected to make sense than the title of the opera makes sense."

THE PENZANCE pirates are revealed by the end of their object in life is humor, for the audience if not for themselves. They are really very gentle-hearted chaps, and as a consequence very conciliatory, too. They make a special point of never molesting an orphan, and as a result their victims invariably turn out to be orphans.

Briggs has this to say about the morals of the play: "The astonishing modesty of the General's daughters, who are shocked at the very idea of being seen by a man in their short skirts, off, was a sign of the Victorian times and cringingly odd in our ears. The extreme respectability of the pirates whose only idea when they come upon the girls is matrimony, is another Victorian touch.

Over one-hundred students are participating in the production, according to Dr Briggs. In addition to the ten principal singing roles, the cast will feature a chorus of 42, trained by Miss Betty Jane Grimm, and a 22 piece orchestra.

THE MAJOR part of the Major-General is taken by Robert McMullen, that of the Pirate King by Bill Upshaw, and that of Samuel by Frank Bill. Ruth Templar plays the role of the young Frederick and Bruce Kinsey is the Police Sergeant.

The leading women are Adrienne Herrin, Betty Jane Pittman, Edith; Pat Gunnoe, Kate; Solemnes Isabel, and Eloise Truett, Ruth.

Folks Songs, Spirituals Featured by Singers

The University Singers gowned in grey and crimson robes presented their annual spring concert Friday night at 8:15 in the Music Hall. Under the direction of Wiley L Housewright a program of folk songs, spirituals and compositions of present-day American composers was presented.

The University Sinners opened the program with Love is Truth to a Lover by Gurney Kennedy followed by Rain by Bill Kennedy. The words of the latter were written by Lucile Jury, who is wife of the composer. Sidney Fowler was represented on the program by Four Epitaphs. Other songs offered by the group were O Softly Singing Late, Felix Borowski; Be a Lion by Howard Hanson; Sam Was a Man, Vincent Persichetti; and Madrigal and A Jubilant Song by Norman Dello Joio. In the Jubilant Song the Singers showed precise entrance and rhythm.

AMERICANA by Randall Thompson was one of the most unusual and unique numbers on the program. This was a set of three songs with words taken from the American Mercury magazine of the 1900's. The selections of God's Bottle and Lovell-Lines were offered by the Chorus in a whimsical manner.

The spiritual, Balm in Gilead, was the most stirring number in the final portion of the program. Soloist, Jane Norman, proved to be an outstanding soprano.

OTHER SPIRITUALS were My Lord, What a Mornin' arranged by Wiley L Housewright; Didn't My Lord Supply My Need, a paraphase on Psalm 23 Revised by Virgil Thompson; Keep Praying to the Lord; Guy Booth; See Me 'Cross the Water arranged by Virgil Bryan. The last selection on the program was a medley of famous songs in musical show, Roberta.

Soloist on the program were Bette Jo Armstrong, Franklin Youngblood, Louise Condon, Jerry Mae Bryan, and Jane Norman. The group presented Mr Wiley and Joanne Byrd, accompanist, with gifts in appreciation for their work during the year.

Graduating Class Makes Final Plans For Senior Week

Final plans for graduation will be made at the last senior class meeting of the year Thursday night at 7:30 in the auditorium of Dodd, according to class president, Bob Lanigan.

A permanent class president and secretary will be chosen for the class as alumni officers will be elected Thursday night. These officers who must be residents of Florida will be the permanent alumni and will keep in contact with the class of 1951.

A LIST of graduates for guest reservations in hotels and tourist courts during the commencement exercises will also be presented in the class. Reservations are rapidly filling up, the class president said.

The senior president also warned that Thursday will be the last day that seniors may order caps and gowns. They may be ordered from the Florida Union store.

A plan will be presented that will enable graduation to be shorter next year, Bob said. Under the plan, no graduation rehearsal will be necessary.

ALL SENIORS are asked to check with the student accounts office on the 4th floor of Westcott about the $5 diploma fee.

Tonight night, plans will also be discussed about the Class Day exercises and picnic. The picnic will be at Camp Flastocowo, he said. Class day will also be discussed.

GRADUATION EXERCISES as well scheduled for Doak Campbell Stadium, Bob said.

At the meeting Thursday night will be guests. Dr Broward Culpepper, dean of social welfare and Mr Charles Walker, registrar.

TONIGHT all senior class cabinet members are requested to be present at a meeting at 7 in the Alumni building in room 403.

Bob stressed, "I would like to say this medium to express my sincere thanks and appreciation to those people who made the performance of the elected senior class officers during their internship. Connie Bryan, Ann Newland and Betty Bazemore."

Tarpon Show Slated to Open For 4 Nights

The Golden West Tarpon show will open for a four-night run Wednesday at 8 p m in the East campus gymnasium pool.

The show is a take-off on the old West, according to Del Peters, president of Tarpons. It has been advertised under the name of the Golden West and features numbers with such titles as Ghost Town, Gun[illegible], Cold, Gold, Rodeo, and Hoe-down.

TO START the show off seven "riders" complete with mining pans and boots, will do a swim routine. The fifteen Tarpon minnows will then enter and do a Gold Rush number, the outstanding feature of which will be an actual fire burning in the middle of the pool.

The minows, who will be initiated into the Tarpon club as full fledged members after the show, their initial performance, have been trained by Jean Rizell, vice president of Tarpons.

The last number of this act, entitled Ghost Town, promises to create a weird effect. The only lighting prospect will consist of small lights attached to the swimmers as they perform in the water.

FOR THE SECOND time in Tarpon history, boys will be swimming in the show. The second act will feature the following members of the FSU swimming team: Jack White, Pete Dunn Rankin, Buddy Browning, Bill Smith, John Buettner, Pat Farrell, Mitchell Sutherland and Warren Pearl. In this act, called The Silver Dollar, tables and bars in the the water will be featured. A barroom scene will be painted on the wall.

In the second half of this act, eight Dance Hall Queens will join the Bar Room Boys for the grand final number. The girls will be dressed in red silk stockings and short skirts. This will be a comedy number, according to Dell.

Another of the unique features of this year's Tarpon show will be the continuous sequence of the various numbers. There will be no breaks between them as there have been in the past.

FAN HANDLE is the name of the third and last act which will be accompanied by the music of Aaron Copeland's "Rodeo." Cowboy scarves and gauntlets will be worn in the Hoe-down number.

Spectators are advised to come early to the shows if they hope to get a seat, for admission will be charged and ID cards will not be necessary.

Tarpon members have written and directed by Tarpon members who have also designed the gloves and the masline. Jana Kirk has been in charge of production

Prof Chester Field Contest Continues For Three Weeks

The Professor Chester Field Contest is entering its second week. So far no one has asked the right professor if he was chesterfield. Since no one received the prize last week, it will be added to this week's prize, making a total of ten packages of Chesterfields with four extra as a bonus for having a pack.

All students who enter this contest and winners will be published in the Flambeau.

Recent winners of the Chesterfield Question Contest are Beverly Hall and Bill Bowden. The latter will receiv packages of Chesterfields for correctly answering a question taken from the Flambeau.

ROTC Will Hold Formal Parade Honoring 38 Graduating Cadets

Florida State University's Air Force ROTC unit will hold a formal parade honoring the 38 graduating cadets who will receive their commissions as second lieutenants on June 5. The parade will be held this afternoon at 12:30 on the West Campus drill field. First year advanced students will assume the cadet officers' positions for the parade.

Special assistants to Cadet Col Albert Le Duc, commanding officer of the Tallahassee Volunteer Air Reserve Training Squadron, and Col Phillips and Major Shultz of the Florida Reserve Officers Association Col Le Duc will present the Air Force Association Award to Cadet Col William F Upshaw of the FSU ROTC unit. Col Phillips will present awards to other outstanding military students.

Squadron "D", Cadet C L Mathews commanding, will receive the guidon ribbon for the best performance in the last review.

IN ADDITION to those decorated, the graduating seniors will take review along with Col Phillips and Col Le Duc and their staffs.

Dr Rogers, Mr Shaw Will Sell Peanuts At Stunt Night

Among those operating the peanut and popcorn concessions at the fourth annual Faculty Stunt Night Friday will be Rod K Shaw, University Business Manager and Dr W P Rogers, professor of English.

It is sponsored by the Inter-Church Fellowship Council. Proceeds from the performance will be used to provide funds to assist foreign students attending Florida State.

ACCORDING TO Dean of Men, Cecil McBride, attendance will be operated with all of the "dignity and fervor of last year."

Dr Rogers is scheduled to perform in the stunt show are Kenneth Wagner, assistant professor of Botany; Owen Sellers of the School of Music; Anna Liddell, head of the Philosophy department; Howard Dunford, professor in the Physical Education department; and Thomas Brooks, University head physician.

Tickets for Faculty Stunt night may be purchased from members of the faculty and student religious groups and also at the door the night of the performance.

Local Training School Is Conducted by FSU

A three-day food handlers training school was recently conducted by Florida State University and restaurant majors in the business.

Student training instructors were recommended by Russell Wilson of the Florida State Board of Health for the efficient manner in which sanitary code were followed. The course was presided. Dr Joe Bistowish, Leon County health officer also commended the students.

ARRANGEMENTS for the training program were handled by Dr Bistowish, with Dr Donald Lindberg and Miss Gladys Hall. Dr Lindberg and Miss Hall lectured several faculty. Miss Hall schooled the FSU students in food handling in preparation for the training course.

A skit, "Johnny Dumbwaiter," was presented as a special feature during the three-day school. Eighty-two students and Miss Lillian Martin, student from Tampa presented the skit.

A number of films showing how various diseases can be spread under unsanitary food conditions were also included in the training school program.

Other FSU participants in the three-day program included John Decker, Hoyt Massey, George Furman, and John Friers. Those students attending the school the entire three days were awarded attendance certificates by the Leon County Health Department.

Senior Staff Names New Summer Editor

Janet Pierce has been appointed summer editor of the Florida Flambeau. Editor Bob Griffin announced Monday. The appointment came after a meeting of all staff members who tentatively plan to attend summer school.

Janet, who is managing editor for next year, will take the place of Griffin who was elected editor-in-chief in the recent University Government Association election. Griffin is unable to attend summer school because of a summer job he fills in New York.

No Baccalaureate Service Met With Mixed Comment

A recent announcement by Dr Campbell that there will be no baccalaureate services this year has been met with mixed emotions.

Some seniors have felt that they are being gypped, while others feel that baccalaureate was only an extra burden forced on them during graduation week.

As for the latter opinion, it has many good points to substantiate it. The announcement that local churches downtown will all feature special baccalaureate services compensates for the lack of such a campus ceremony.

It will also give the students a chance to take their families and friends to a church of their choice rather than listening to a minister who may or may not be of their denomination.

The one fallacy which we find in the cancellation of the event is the reason behind it.

According to the information which the Flambeau received, the cancellation was brought about by the recent condemnation of Westcott auditorium.

Maybe we have a poor memory, but to the best of our knowledge, the baccalaureate services are usually held outdoors in front of the Longmire building. Bleachers are set up for guests of the graduates and chairs are placed row on row for faculty and graduating seniors.

Music has in the past been supplied by phonograph music and a loud speaker. And if we remember correctly, the arrangement has been suitable to all.

As far as the cancellation of the service is concerned, there is cause for jubilation. Graduation week is enough of a strain on the seniors with exams, class day, the graduation dance and the arrival of out-of-town guests.

It is puzzling when news of cancellation of events which were never held in Westcott auditorium are attributed to its condemnation.

It is evident that popularity increases when a person or thing is out of circulation.

● RIGHT TO BE HEARD

The second edition of Youthtime, the "subversive" student publication, attempted to hit the campus yesterday.

Much to the chagrin of the editors, however, an administrative order was issued to the effect that the mimeographed publication should be removed from bulletin boards and other places where it had been distributed.

The publication is slanted at several student government leaders as well as the administration. It again takes up the crusade for the leasing of the new men's dorms to men students at large rather than to fraternity men only.

We have previously stated that the first publication of Youthtime was brought about by a lack of an administrative explanation of the housing matter.

We cannot condone the action of the administration in destroying the issues of the student publication. The publication is an expression of student opinion, and this is clearly indicated by its signed articles.

An attempt to silence this opinion will only bring about more agitation and bitterness on the part of this group. The fact that the group does not represent a majority of student opinion is pointed out by the fact that the publication was entirely financed by the students.

The attempt to control the circulation of Youthtime will only increase its popularity. If there are facts in its articles that can be explained, the Flambeau will be happy to print them.

If there are errors in its assumptions, the Flambeau would welcome official reports refuting these errors.

There can be no valid reason for the destruction of the papers, for in a democracy even the minority have a right to be heard.

● FOR BETTER SERVICE

There's a rare opportunity being staged at Florida State University this week end for newly-elected student leaders on our campus.

Tomorrow is the deadline for answering "yes" to your invitation to attend the leadership training conference being sponsored by Mortar Board.

This conference has numerous values for the student president. He will have the advantage of reviewing problems faced this year by outgoing officers and discuss ways of averting the situation. He can get acquainted with other student leaders. He will be able to learn exactly what fields his jobs will cover next year. He will get firsthand information on ways of accomplishing a more efficient job.

When a student accepts an office, he accepts responsibilities. We feel that it is the incoming officers to attend the leadership training conference. He will be a better student leader and can better serve his university student body as a result. It should be a first on the calendar this week-end.

● STUDENT POLL NEEDED

Polls reflecting the opinion and sentiment of student body need to be taken on controversial matters. No one student or no one medium of student expression can be valid unless some type of opinion gauge is started.

Until a complete and exact method for sampling student opinion is set up, the students elected as representatives can only reflect personal opinion.

EDITOR GENE SITS ON LARGE BURR

By ROBERT GRIFFIN Jr.

The editor of Yonth-Time, Florida State's "burr-in-the-bottom" mimeographed publication, has given up his anonymity.

The politician claims to be edified in Gene Sitton, prospective pulitzer student, who is remembered for his recent opening of distinguished dirt erected at President Doak S Campbell.

PON MY WORD

MOVIES NEED RATTLEY PAPER

By BETSY BLANTON

The first in a series of free movies, sponsored by the junior class, was shown to a small audience in the Longmire auditorium Friday night.

It was an old movie, "Peoples Enemy Heaven," but was nevertheless an enjoyable one.

Since there was only one machine, it had to be re-set at the end of every reel.

Don't get me wrong. I'm not complaining about the projectionists. I'm merely pointing out that in spite of all these difficulties, the movies are a great service to the students.

Someone jokingly mentioned to Will Pennell that a popcorn machine would be a profitable investment, and he said that it will be possible to make this addition, since there has just arrct the same without popcorn, rattley paper and such.

FANCY THIS

GRAY HAIRS AND DEEP FREEZES

By FRANCES CAWTHON

When I began working on the Flambeau, I was given the first assignment the job of finding out whether a certain crack in the side of Westcott auditorium was serious.

One dozen official-looking people and two engineers later, it became assured that the building committee does have its crack and stand. Well satisfied at getting a "scoop," but a little disappointed that the front of the old auditorium was not going to be completely torn down as evidence of Seminole heads, I turned in my one-column-inch-very last-page masterpiece of journalism.

A year later, I am sitting here with a very disgusted look on my face. For, to revive an old line-we think, Westcott has been condemned, all the offices must be moved, and the auditorium that the engineers declared would not fall "even if the crack widened and the walls went down, I feel a little bit cheated.

On the sentimental side I am not feeling very sentimental. Certainly old auditorium was much, much too small to house President Doak's "family." And if anyone should have a need of a vacation he could just go into the back where the offices were and feel as if he had been transplanted into the catacombs of old Rome or the Marianna Caverns. I hear rumors that the new wing of sculpture in the art room are glad to be moved to more inspiring quarters, and that the music department is probably smarter than the public administration profs. have long since put "to let" signs on their residences. Even the women students, I hear, are not fond of suffering through convoys in the auditorium to get to the "Keep Out" signs on the doors.

So . . . seems as if we will have to get along without that tall raftered section of Westcott. Here's hoping it will be replaced by a newer, bigger, better auditorium that we have needed so long. Congratulations to the engineers to condemn the place just when the legislature is meeting, isn't it?

CAMPUS CAROUSEL

WHEREAS, WE SMOTHER MISGIVINGS

By EMORY KING

It seems to be open season on resolutions that set people up to their nose in trouble. Some 10 students, including their reporter, got together the other night and drafted the following resolution:

We, the students hereby undersigned, wish to make the resolution:

Whereas, We have done so much extracurricular work, that work helped us to graduate from school depends on where you sit at this time; and

Whereas, Our professors have no sympathy on us, but insist on piling with the regular academic business of lectures and homework, etc, whether we wish it or not, and

Whereas, When we think of how far behind we are in our several subjects we have certain misgivings, and

Whereas, We smother these misgivings as quickly and quietly as possible and

We hereby hichly resolve that we, these ten haitered and brushed students, if students implies those who study, then let us be classified as pupils!, do hereby declare our duty.

Emory King, Allan Head, Mary Jane Marshall, and seven other people who wish to remain in the background on the grounds that this resolution might incriminate them.

To Whom It May Concern: The above does not necessarily represent the views of our administries, our monitors, our classmates, the janitors of our buildings the bus drivers, policemen, or the bus boys at the dining halls.

A certain guy here at FSU, notorious for his rationalizations, asked a co-ed for a date three times. Three times she turned him down. Finally, he decided not to ask her for any more dates.

Dear Editor...

Promoting Democracy

Jr. Betty Charlesworth, Dallas Howard, and Dale Johnson

Dear Editor:

Our schools must provide for a much wider participation in our common heritages if they are to foster the Democratic way of life. If we would promote democracy we must provide an opportunity to practice it.

Knowing what we do about the individual and the learning process, let us call our case on cold, hard facts. We are concerned in education with self-development. The form which the development of an individual is to take depends not only on the individual but also on his environment. If the school environment is limited by excluding certain groups of people in our society our education is limited to the same extent. Self-development is not possibly take place to its fullest extent when we are denied the opportunity of learning from all groups of our society.

Picture a young child who begins to realize that "that's a colored man, a colored woman, a colored fountain, a colored restaurant, a colored school, etc." Something is wrong with a democracy when any of life will be excluded in this child's development.

Inequalities may be equally bad for the underprivileged and the overprivileged. Segregation forces men to make a decision which free men should not have to make —the decision of "where is my place"?

The institutions of higher learning seem to me to be in sacrificial place to start the abolition of segregation. Let us fall to accomplish this aim and we have failed to provide our children with a real opportunity to become educated.

PARNICK A WILLIAMS.

Crux of Problem

Dear Editor:

Seems like everyone wants to get into the act but that everyone will be glad to hear the crux of the problem. Anyway, "Operations Santa Claus" gives a chance to certainly lead to complete mixing of the white and black races. This phenomenon will happen effortlessly, when it comes, that nobody will do anything will have the power to stop it. In the event that the Negro population is so great, the intermarriage of the races will be particularly noticeable.

Is it small wonder then that opposition to Negro equality on the part of whites is so hotly engaged in by the Ku Klux Klan, and all people in the south? The question is not that the fear of "racial dilution" is illogical and senseless but that the fear exists. Even our Earl Dorsett, my colleague, Skeep Blanton, Jeanne O'Rourken, and Paul Ruby (and his crew of graduate, senior and junior engineering majors!, and fellow dear-editor-ites enthusiasts: Lewis R Aiken, members are urged to attend.

agree with me. They say that our elders know what is best for us which may be true but how are we to get experience in making our own decisions?

I have no desire to say particular instance. I would get a notice through the mail, or a telephone call asking me to come to Dean So and So's office for counseling.

If I did not excel in the proper manner, they would put more pressure on me until I saw the light. Maybe I'm just not properly grateful but this may be due to my upbringing which taught me to express my beliefs in a courteous manner. Even if them until sufficient information had been presented to cause me to change my mind.

Won't mother be surprised to hear that she did not provide me with the proper attitudes and opinions?

A glance at a 1928 Flambeau showed us that the students were not as concerned over the various harm to one's health that the mass circulars produced.

Ah, to have lived in the "good old days."

Campus Characters

By STAN SCHMIDT

Three young figures stood drunkenly singing outside the white house. They were engaging in the most senseless, satisfying activity known to man, relieving their various tensions and strains through the simple expedient of forretting about them. They were, if only for a few hours, getting out of the race. For these few hours they were doing something not calculated to improve their standing with God almighty—the guy next door. Right this minute they were living for themselves—not giving a darn whether that nosy bewhind the lighted square across the street slept or stared. The smaking lacked everything but spirit.

The inevitable black car slid up and the colorless coward with the vitriol mind and the badge that allowed him to push around the people he couldn't compete with, jumped out dynamically. Naturally he parroted the words which made him feel so superior along with the word "complaint" which blamed the voiceless and left him pure in heart.

The spell broken, the dissipirited trio walked hurriedly back into the race. The cowar din black drove off with his hunary ego temporarily sated. In some darkened room boasting a telephone, the figure with moral ammunition and vindicated righteousness crawled back into a dreamless sleep. . . .

P.S.: Ball was set at $125 per man. Is there that much money in the world?

...ea With Tarkington ...eatured by Methodist

"Tea with Tarkington" will be featured at the Methodist student house for this week with the one-act play "Trysting Place" by Booth Tarkington, presented at 6:30 p m on Friday at the regular tea time by the Wesley Players.

The talented Alpha Nu chapter of Wesley Players have shown a variety of drama and has presented 12 productions of merit.

AT CHRISTMAS time they did "Dear Ruth" in the Hotel," a religious play and at Easter, they produced "Let It Don" a highly dramatic play with religious undertones. Previous production for the year was a comedy, in the best Tarkington manner.

Every year in May, the group has initiations who have fulfilled certain requirements, including participation in two of the three plays, and the writing of a paper on any of the facets of the theatre.

THIS YEAR, 12 "pledges" went through the dramatic ceremony and in Lafayette Park. After-dinner therapists enjoyed a picnic and elected officers for the coming year. They are: president, Helen Howes; vice-president, Beverly Berry; secretary, Jean Flynn.

Recent addition to the stage of the student is Ramses I, a mummy bought at the recent faculty auction. The organization plans to award a small effigy of Ramses each year to the outstanding Wesley Player chosen by vote.

Magazine Slated To Be Published Here on June 1

Smoke Signals will appear approximately June 1, according to Joel Smith, editor-elect for next year.

The three winning entries in the Campus Cutie contest will be pictured at this time. They are Ruthie Garst, Sirma Kappa; Innocene Hair, Sigma Nu, and Nellie Lawrence, Chi Omega.

The theme of this issue of Smoke Signals is the 1951 graduating class, featuring a graduation article by Earl Dobert, former Flambeau editor. The magazine will also present a Tarpon feature, several articles, fiction stories, and jokes by Bob Jenkins.

Editor Harry Copeland and Joel Smith, editor-elect, appeared before a faculty budget committee meeting yesterday to request finances to publish six issues next year instead of four.

FROM THE SIDELINES

By WARREN COBB

Flambeau Sports Editor

The fraternities and dormitories are on the last leg of the intra-mural competition, but the final outcomes are still pretty indefinite.

Currently on the roster are softball and tennis, with only badminton, golf, and swimming yet to go.

Coach Ed Williamson's standing show six frats over the 500-point mark. These are Kappa Alpha, 585; Pi Kappa Alpha, 530; Phi Delta Theta, 540; Sigma Nu, 534; Sigma Chi, 530; and Pi Kappa Phi, 507.

THE KAs are pretty well ahead of the rest of the field even though they have won only one championship, that being in volleyball. That was a team sport, however, and counted for 140 points. But the KAs are presently lagging behind in the softball league and could fall from the top spot.

The basketball championship was won by Pi Kappa Phi. Since the Phi Delts, last year's intra-mural champions, took track, Sigma Nu won the touch football championship, and the ATO's took bowling.

The only individual sport so far in the frat intra-murals has been table-tennis. Roi Fitterman of Sigma Nu defeated last year's champ Bill Kraterer of the Phi Delts in the finals.

In the dorm picture, 849 looked like the class of the field coming down the stretch. With 835 points to 604 for their nearest rival, the Oilers, the 849ers looked like a cinch to cop the intra-mural championship. The only other team in the dorm league over 500 points is 514 with 501 points.

The 845ers have copped the bowling, the table tennis, the tennis doubles, and volleyball. The Oilers have championships to their credit in touch football and tennis singles. The basketball was taken by Campus Side and dorm 304 took the track crown.

Intra-murals, while not as important as school sports, are nevertheless valuable in creating an opportunity for boys to compete who do not have the time or ability to take part on the school teams.

COACH DON VELLER has appointed to the Mechanics Division of the Tallahassee Chamber of Commerce for help in locating summer jobs for prospective gridders for next year. It's necessary for these boys to be enrolled here during the summer if they are to compete next year.

Coach Veller has been busy lining up boys for next year, the first under the substitution program, and is counting heavily on newcomers for a schedule that is the roughest for the Seminoles yet.

Baseball Coach Charlie Armstrong has had his share of headaches this season.

At the start of the campaign, he was without the services of pitchers Bob Whitmer and Bob Hastman and catcher Ronnie Nettles since these three were on the basketball team. At that time Armstrong was in dire need of hurlers, too.

Then Hartman was ruled ineligible because of scholastic reasons. First baseman Ken Smith, who had shown well at the plate was dropped from the squad following a disputte with the coach and on top of all that, outfielders Wayne Bonner and Harry Bumgner and pitcher Ed Lockard are ineligible to participate in Dixie Conference games because they have football scholarships.

Seminoles Win Friday's Game By 10-4 Count

After taking a 10-4 decision from the Mississippi College Choctaws in Clinton Friday afternoon, the Seminole nine was edged in the final inning of Saturday's tilt by a two-run rally to lose 8-7.

These games left the Seminole nine with a season record of 12 wins and five defeats. They have won six of their seven conference games.

FRIDAY'S GAME opened with the Choctaws taking a two-run lead in the first inning, but the Seminoles gradually evened the count until it was a tie game going into the top of the eighth inning.

Then the big bats of Charlie Armstrong's aggregation exploded for six runs, and big Ed Seagram held the Mississippi boys in check for the final two frames.

SATURDAY'S GAME was a nip-and-tuck affair, with the Choctaws going into the seventh inning with a 6-3 lead.

Then FSU rallied with four runs to take a narrow 7-6 lead. It looked as if the Seminole boys on their way to another victory over the Choctaws when the roof fell in in the last of the ninth.

Tallahassee Citizens eked out a 30-6 win over the visiting Enterprise Boll Weevils last week out at Central Field Park before the game, then was over every Citizen had at least two hits, scored at least two runs and drove in at least one. . . The local high school nine, the Leon Lions, copped the conference championship over the weekend with their ace pitcher, Mickey Brown, throwing a no-hitter against the Mainland club of Daytona Beach. Maybe the FSU nine which already has one former Leon mound ace in Ed Seagram can add Brown to its roster in 1952. . . Three title matches are coming up on the boxing front in the near future. Johnny Bruton and Kid Gavilan will meet in a 15-round welterweight title bout Friday night to determine Ike Robinson's successor. The following week Lightweight Rina Dawson Williams defends his crown against Jimmy Carter. FSU Downs Howard In Last Home Meet

In their last home appearance of the year, the FSU trackstars racked up an 87-44 victory over Howard College of Birmingham.

Coach Ken Miller's crew have now defeated five out of six opponents this spring in dual or triangular meets. Next Saturday they will defend their Dixie Conference championship at Clinton, Mississippi.

Florida State won every field event in saturday's meet, but were unable to set any new track or field records for the first time this season.

ED SEAGRAM was the only Seminole competitor to cop two events in the meet, although two Howard men turned the feat. Seagram won the pole vault by going one 11 feet six inches and also took the broad jump with a leap of 21 feet 3¾ inches.

Woody Parker, who usually competes in the quarter mile, tried his hand in the 880 and copped a first with a 2:03.7. Dick Mize, another regular quarter-miler, took first place in the 220 with a 22.8.

FSU Volleyballers Place Fourth In National Tourney

The Seminole volleyball team, coached by Bill Odeneal, placed fourth in the International tournament held Saturday in Springfield, Massachusetts.

The FSU team was beaten by the three leading teams, although they took their first game from the champion University of Mexico 15-12. Runner-up was Springfield College, while Erlham College placed third.

Coach Odeneal had scheduled a series with the Mexican team here Tuesday and Wednesday nights, but the national champs have now decided to go directly Will Pennell Junior co-ed home instead of coming through Tallahassee as previously planned.

Representing FSU in the tournament were Charles Pitts, George Edmiston, Capt. Dan Hobbs, James McPatter, Chuck Bob Greene Charles Daniel, Emerson Kame Lt.-Col. Jim Cousin and Dick Dix

Results in the final playoffs: FSU 15-5-12. U of Mexico 12-15-15. FSU 7-15-6. Springfield College 12-15-15. Erlham 15-11-6. Erlham 9-15-15.

Second Free Movie

The second free movie in the series being presented by the Junior class is scheduled for Friday the 18th at 8 in the Amphitheater.

This week's show is The Yearling starring Gregory Peck and Jane Wyman.

FSU's Dick Montney And Eddie Johnson Tie for 11th Place

FSU golfers Dick Montney and Eddie Johnson finished in a tie for 11th place for individual honors in the Southern Intercollegiate Golf Tournament at Athens, Ga. last week.

The other two Seminole entries, Jim Brown and Tom Cumbie, wound up with a 318 and 323 respectively.

This tournament, which also decides the SEC team and individual titles, was won by Billy Maxwell of North Texas State with a record-breaking 278. Runner-up was Griffin Mosley of the University of Georgia with 286.

JOHNSON has the low game for the FSU bunch, a two-under-par 70.

The Seminole linksmen defeated Emory University 10-8 in a line-up match last Thursday. This victory set the season record for the Seminole at eight wins, three defeats, and one tie.

Tom Cumbie and Eddie Johnson turned in the best games for Coach Bob Harbison with scores of 73 and 74 respectively.

Coach Harbison also announced that the FSU team won't compete in the Dixie Conference match at Clinton, Miss. next week due to "lack of funds." The Seminoles competed the conference title last year.

Election Chairman Slates Final Balloting Thursday

Students Will Vote On Who's Who Issue

Final elections of the year will be held Thursday, May 24, Paul Garrison, elections chairman has announced. Featured in the elections will be the Who's Who ballot, the honor system amendments, and the election of the chief justice of the University court.

Three alternatives will be offered on the Who's Who ballot. One choice will be that of abolishing the organization from campus, the second, to confine the organization to the Florida Flambeau, Seminole, and Torch and provide that the local group print only the names on and recommends that standards for membership be set up.

THE THREE THREE RESOLUTIONS of the honor system amendments were unanimously passed by the Honor committee, May 10. The Honor committee proposes to the student body that the student body be asked to vote for the inclusion of the Honor System as section two of the USA constitution.

The Honor committee recommends to University council that they propose to the student body that the following be inserted in section of the present amendment section of the Honor system, the duty of the first proposal is ratified to the student body. A) Service including proposals for a change in the Honor system must be immediately referred to the honor committee for their consideration and recommendation. The Honor committee may not hold up Senate legislation on the Honor system for more than three weeks from the time they receive it.

THE FOLLOWING SENTENCE will be called to a vote by the student body for inclusion in the Honor System constitution, after the recommendations shall be reviewed by the Faculty committee on Student Welfare, with the chief justice and a member of the court present.

In the present Honor system, proposed amendments would be as follows, under the University Honor Council, after recommending penalties. "In case of cheating, if a student submits his own product written work wholly or in part that is not his own, the instructor shall report the case to the Honor Court and turn over to the Court the documentary evidence."

THE FOLLOWING two sentences shall be cut from the section. Conviction shall carry a

Soph Council Taps 52 Frosh On Wednesday

New Members Initiated At Services Yesterday; Take Over Immediately

Sophomore Council tapped 52 freshmen Wednesday night at 11. A new system of tapping was used in that they marched in groups of three through the freshman dormitories humming mordately.

An honorary, Sophomore Council chooses approximately five per cent of the current freshmen class as members. To be eligible freshmen are required to have a one point average for the first semester and be outstanding in service, loyalty and high ideals. The group officiates at elections, holds student night and other special occasions.

THE NEW GROUP was initiated yesterday afternoon at 5 in the Landis auditorium by Dean Forbes Liddell, head of the philosophy department, was the speaker.

The taps and old members then went to the LaFayette room for a banquet which was followed by a get-acquainted party in Landis. Old members made the new members in front of Landis and then presented the blue jackets to new taps.

TAPPED WEDNESDAY night were Jean Bell, Barbara Cook, Brunson, Pelzes Campbell, Arva Mae Hiscock, Pat Corry, Sonny Livingston, Jean Hamilton, Jerri Morris, Dody Meeks, Pat Reinick, Jean Wetherell, Iris Johnson, Ruth Spenser, Judy Simpkins, Joyce Wiloldon, Mary Ann Zeiler, Charlotte Ann Lewis, Carrie Lee Cullison, Betty Sue Fryer, Shirley Knight, Ann Lapp Sack, Jane Bell and Jane Conyers.

Also tapped were Mary Beth Barrett, Thad Brooks, Ann Crownover, Perry Dame, Jo Dauntler, Sharon Gates, Dolores Bates Margie Gupton, Mary Jane Horne Jean Hurst, Lawrence Jernigan, Harriet Knight, Polly Lassiter, Pat Martin, Yvonne McCarthy, Irene Shaffer, Sandra Sheffield, Mary Mac Wimberly, Betty Whitmire, Nancy Shea, Elenor Smith, Margaret Valero, Ann Rogers, Sue Quelch, Pat Vines, Sandy Chanor, Betty Jo Woods and Kitty Oliver.

Fierce "Pirates" Throw Dining Hall in Uproar

By CHUCK CARTER

Florida State University was raided by a band of pirates yesterday.

Brandishing cutlasses, and shouting threats at cowed students, they carried off co-eds, caused panic across the campus, and forced student body President Reuben Askew to "walk the plank."

The pirate raid was made during the dinner hour on the FSU campus, with most of the students concentrated in the dining hall and nearby restaurants where they were easily subdued.

FIRST WARNING of the attack was screams of alarm from several co-eds as the pirates entered the dining hall. Several thought they saw blood on the flashing swords.

Striking quickly at other student centers, they corralled groups, demanding to know where they could find Askew, and declaring their intent to "take over government of the students from him."

When Askew was found, he was forced at sword point by the pirate leader to walk the plank.

THE "PLANK" led into the fishpond in front of FSU's Westcott Administration building. The "pirates" were members of the cast of "The Pirates of Penzance," operetta to be presented in the FSU Music Hall for a three-night run beginning Thursday.

"The Pirates of Penzance" made their first formal appearance last night at 8:15 in the Music Hall. The performance will be repeated on Friday and Saturday evenings. Tickets are 75 cents, and may be obtained at the School of Music, or at the box office before the performance.

THE PIRATES are not as bloodthirsty as their actions Wednesday afternoon might suggest. As a matter of fact, they are rather an under-hearted for their own good. As a result, they are not very successful pirates, at least financially.

The opera is under the direction of Robert L. Briggs and Ben Kapps. Gordon Thomas, the same team which produced "The Mikado" last Fall.

Broward To Be Used As Graduate Dorm

Broward Hall will be used entirely as a women's graduate dormitory next year, according to Miss Edith McCullum, director of residence.

Students will still be able to use Broward as a connective dorm between Reynolds and Gilchrist, Miss McCullum stated.

Earl Dobert Asks For Re-instatement As Flambeau Editor

Earl Dobert, who resigned as editor of the Florida Flambeau last Saturday, has applied to President Doak S Campbell for re-instatement to his position as editor.

Dobert and Jeanne O'Riorden, news editor and columnist, resigned following publication of a statement that Weems were all attending Florida State University. Neither offered to substantiate the statement and a retraction was published in the next issue of the Flambeau. The story was based on hearsay evidence.

Ex-editor Dobert told Dr Campbell he had "acted in haste and without giving careful attention to all the facts" in resigning and said would therefore like to be reinstated.

Both Dobert and O'Riorden are seniors and are scheduled to graduate in June.

Dr Campbell has not as yet announced the date for reinstatement. He received Dobert's letter Tuesday morning.

Formal Parade Honors 2nd Armed Forces Day

The Air Force ROTC unit will march in its formal two-mile parade along Monroe street tomorrow morning. The FSU unit will join by other Tallahassee military forces in the parade commemorating Armed Forces Day, reviewing officer Col B S Barr, commanding officer.

The cadets will either meet at the West campus ROTC building at 9:15 Saturday morning or if they have their own transportation, form with their respective squadrons on the Bell Tower Bell Call street, between Calhoun and Gadsden, at 9:45. The parade is scheduled to begin promptly at 10:30.

OVER 150 CADETS participated in last year's parade. This year there will be 240 cadets who, for the first time, will be accompanied by their own military band.

Armed Forces Day was proclaimed last year for the first time. It combines the former army, navy and air force days, so that now all three services participate in ceremonies together. It was also a product of the unification of the armed services and the Air Force up as a separate unit in 1947.

Last Tuesday, the cadets honored the 38 graduating seniors with a formal review and parade. Cadet Col Albert Le Duc, professor of modern languages at Florida State; Col Frank L Dodd, Jr., president of the Florida Reserve Officers Association; and Col Charles Stubbs of Tallahassee. The guests took the review after awarding Air Force medals for outstanding performance, ability and achievements to several y e students.

Florida Southern Confirmed as Site For Fall Confab

Allan Head, president of the Florida Student Government Association, announced today that Florida Southern College has been confirmed as the site for next fall's FSGA convention.

"Plans and arrangements are already under way toward making this convention the best yet," said Head, "and I was naturally pleased to receive final word on the approval of the Florida Southern administration."

Head was notified of the approval by James Luce, FSGA Executive Council member at Florida Southern. Luce said, "It is with a great deal of pleasure that I start off this letter by saying that the plans for having the convention here next year have been solved, and that we have started making arrangements already."

The spring convention of next year has been tentatively set for Florida State University.

Editor Issues Plea For More Reporters

"I would like to be a reporter for the student newspaper," is a comment that needs to be heard more often around the Flambeau office, said Editor Bob Griffin today. Reporters and business staff members are needed.

Flambeau news editor, Hazel Morrison, stated that a reporter training period will be inaugurated as soon as enough reporting applicants are found. An advertisement appearing in this issue may be clipped and mailed to the Flambeau office, she said.

The training program will include information on how to write leads, the essentials of a news story and how to carry on interviews.

Griffin said that students who wish to write sports or features are also needed in addition to business staff members.

FBLA Holds First Convention Here

Delegates from all sections of Florida will arrive late this morning for the first annual convention of the Future Business Leaders of America being held here today and tomorrow.

Registration will open at 1 p m with more than 100 delegates expected to register. The first session will be held from 3:30 to 5 p m in the auditorium of the Longmire building.

Research Done On Blood Cells

Using his own blood, J P Knudsen, graduate student in physics, described the results of his recent research on X-ray studies of the human blood cell. The demonstration took place at the regular physics seminar yesterday.

Mr Knudsen has just completed an investigation on the arrangement of hemoglobin molecules inside the red cell. His work corrects inaccuracies made by scientists in France and England.

Summer Officers To Be Nominated At Thursday Meet

Nominations for the election of summer school officers by summer school students must be submitted to vice-president in charge of women's affairs, Cass Yonge, before next Tuesday.

The election of the summer school officers will be held at a meeting of all women students attending summer school on Thursday, May 24 at 5 p m. The place of election has not yet been decided.

NO NOMINATIONS will be made from the floor, according to the vice-president of women's affairs.

Officers to be elected are a chairman of judiciary, a representative from each hall to judiciary, a president of each hall and one fire marshall.

The only dormitories to be open in the summer session will be Bryan hall, North and South Cawthon, Cass concluded.

Summer Enrollees Check Counselors

Upperclassmen who have declared majors and plan to enroll for the summer school session are asked to check with counselors in the Office of the Co-ordinator of Counseling, 301 Westcott, on their proposed schedule.

Upperclassmen who have not declared majors are temporarily assigned to the College of Arts and Sciences. The Office of Co-ordinator will arrange for counseling of these students.

These students are requested to see Dr Melvene D Hardee, co-ordinator of counseling, or other counselor before registration, in order to arrange adequate schedules.

A reception at 4:30 p m will follow the initiation to which all English faculty members are invited. Initiates are requested to wear white and Sigma Tau Delta memberts to be robed in caps and gowns.

Leadership Confab

11-12 — Evaluation, big or organizational meetings of larger groups.

12:15-1:15—Lunch and farewell and "pep" talk by Faya Patterson.

1:30 — Buses leave for FSU campus.

A MAIN FEATURE of the Saturday conference schedule is the individual group sessions. Faculty and students will discuss plans for the conference. Each new officer's specific field will be reviewed by the group. All old officers are especially urged to be present for these meetings in order that problems faced this year may be discussed.

Faculty members to meet with the individual group sessions at the conference are: Miss Katherine Warren, dean of women; Miss Rita Wilson, public administration instructor; Mrs Rita Wilson, secretary to the dean of student welfare; E C Allen, business office; Miss Daisy Parker, assistant professor of political science; Dr Marian Irish, professor of political science, and Miss Mary Alexander, instructor in physical education.

Miss Ruth Pysche, residence counselor; George E Hellman, assistant dean of men; Dr Joseph Dargett, assistant professor of modern languages, Dr Elza McBride, dean of men, and Dr Broward Culpepper, dean of student welfare.

Students heading the group discussions will be: Rube Askew, 1950-51 UOA president; Marjorie Beckenbaugh, UOA secretary; Gail K Albritton, newly-elected editor of Tally-Ho; Cass Yonge, vice-president in charge of women's affairs; Frances H Louwerse, chairman of women judiciary; Bo Baker, chief justice of university court; Phillis Letbetch, president of women's senior hall, Paul Garrison, governor of man's senior hall; Harry Copeland, editor of Smoke Signals, and Dennis Delaruse, 1951 manager of WFSU.

THE STEERING committee for the leadership training conference includes: Dean Warren, Dean Broward Culpepper, Miss Alexander, Miss Juanita Gibson, Dr Joseph Golden, E C Allen, Miss Ruth Pysche, Dr Ralph Witherspoon, Miss Daisy Parker, Will Pennell, Jim Ball, Jim Kirk, Gail Albritton, Joel Smith, Alice Jackson, Stan Gould, Robert Griffin, Dick Bradley, Bo Baker, June Conyers, Doris Harding, Cass Yonge, Anne Sudderth, Cynthia Leibnach, Montrell Sessions, Leland White, Marilyn Archbold, Faye Patterson, Jean Sayer, Jean Smith, Marion Dero and Frances H Louwerse.

UN: A Rapproisal Topic of Lecture

"United Nations: A Reapprasal" will be the topic of a lecture tonight by Dr Helen Dwight Reid, chief of the comparative education branch of the U S Office of Education. The talk will be held at 8 p m in the Longmire auditorium.

Dr Reid is a visiting professor of political science at the University of Florida. The lecture is sponsored by the department of political science at FSU.

Summer Enrollees Are Available Now

Students who have not yet enrolled for the summer session may do so at the Co-ordinator of Counseling office, 301 Westcott.

FSU Campus Jokes Take on New Color

It seems that feuds on campus or could it be just playfulness are taking a new turn here at FSU.

The other day, an interesting scene took place in the Soda Shop of the Alum.

Three girls were sitting at one of the tables, and one of them was holding a nice, juicy, delicious looking cone of lime sherbert.

Without warning, the girl holding the cone quickly pushed it into one of the girl's faces and as three went away howling with laughter.

My, my, and it was a 10 cent cone, too.

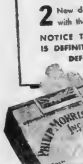
"Main attraction" Col Barstressed, "is put on academic classroom work, with only one hour a week devoted to drill." The purpose is to train future officers to successfully cope with the problems that may confront them in the Air Force.



In addition to the many strategic subjects, the cadets are trained in administration and leadership. The advanced students, those in the third and fourth years of the four-year course, receive cadet pay from the Air Force for each day spent in training. Upon completion of the course and recommendation by the unit commander and board of review, the cadets receive commissions as second lieutenants in the Air Force Reserve. The most outstanding students may, upon recommendation, receive regular Air Force commissions.

Gene Burnett Asked to Resign

Ousted Youth Time Student Editor Asks Doak Campbell for Reasons for Dismissal

Gene Burnette, editor of the mimeographed publication Youth-Time, who earlier this week was asked orally to resign from Florida State University, has received a written statement of the charges against him.

The letter of dismissal was handed to Burnett at a conference at 12:30 Wednesday by Dr J Broward Culpepper, dean of student welfare, and informed the student that he was "suspended" for the following reasons:

(1) "Your consistent refusal to accept and abide by advice and counsel from authorities of the University

(2) "An evidenced increasing disposition to resist policies and regulations of the University.

(3) "Publication of false and untrue statements in your unofficial mimeographed bulletins released on the campus and your apparent inability or unwillingness to attach any importance to the fact that these statements are not accurate."

Burnett's writing first gained attention on campus when his open letter to President Doak S Campbell was published in the Florida Flambeau last Semester.

SUBSEQUENTLY he has published two issues of an unofficial leaflet entitled Youth-Time. The first was printed April 25 and the second earlier this week. He did not sign the first but did sign the second.

Burnett states, "When I was called in to talk to Dean Culpepper and others on Monday, I was told that "they had concluded that the ideas, the facts, the criticisms, satirizations, and the general attitude expressed in my recent writings on campus showed a trend toward becoming not only dangerous, but libelous as well and that if I refuse to resign from school, they would have no alternative but to expel me. I refused to resign."

Twice Tuesday the student contacted Culpepper, stating that the above charges were unsubstantiated and not specific, and requesting a written statement.

ON WEDNESDAY Burnett received the written charges signed by Culpepper, answered them, and that afternoon again asked for something more specific.

Thursday the Youth-Time editor gave President Campbell a letter repeating his request, bot "Campbell refused to elaborate," according to Gene.

Below is Burnett's refutation of the points in Culpepper's letter, quoted earlier in this article:

(1) "It is a student's prerogative to accept or refuse any advice or counsel he may receive from an authority since the acceptance or offering of advice or counsel is of a voluntary nature.

(2) "The two editions of Youth-Time do not resist any definite policy or regulation of the University. It is merely the exercising of an individual right.

(3) "The first issue of the sheet stated that the eight new dormitories were to go to individual fraternities instead of being open to the students at large. This is now a known fact. In the second issue the matter was factual; the satire was harmless.

The fraternity story in that issue can be verified. One does not determine the rights to freedom of speech or of the press by saying it is official or unofficial.

"The suspension rests upon unsubstantiated and, in some instances, ridiculous charges."

STUDENTS INSPECT one of the many exhibits featured in the annual Business Machine Show which opened yesterday. Demonstrators are on hand to show the methods employed in operating the most modern equipment available.

Archaeology Offers Summer Field Session

The second summer field session in archaeology will be offered June 15 to August 17 carrying six hours of undergraduate and graduate credit This announcement was made by the department of Anthrolpology and Archaeology.

BOTH SOPHOMORES and second semester freshmen are eligible to take courses 250 and 475 in research, Hale G Smith, director of the field session said. The courses will be devoted to prehistoric culture history as well as archaeological field techniques, he said.

The first session will use a site in a Spanish Mission in Jefferson county, about 18 miles from Tallahassee. The second session will be located in Wakulla county working in an Indian site. Smith said contacts have been made with the Cuban government with the possibility that they will send some archaeology students to take the Florida State University courses

THE ARCHAEOLOGIST pointed out that the field courses offer students an opportunity for practical training outdoors, combining both healthful and recreational opportunities along with the academic work.

"In these courses the students will actually be in the field daily getting the basic fundamentals of archaeology to supplement their classroom study," director of the field session stated. "They will be learning by actually doing field work."

ODK Elects Ball President For Next Year

Officers Are Chosen, Chairmen Named After Wednesday's Initiation

James Ball was elected president of Omicron Delta Kappa, national leadership-scholastic society, Wednesday night. The election followed secret initiation ceremonies for 12 new members including Mr Richard Ervin, Attorney General for Florida and Dr Thomas Brooks, University physician.

Other officers elected by the society were Bill Upshaw, vice-president; Mr Joseph Plant, re-elected as secretary; and Allan Head, treasurer.

THREE PROJECTS chairmen were named as Dick Bradley took over the chairmanship of the Speakers Bureau. Bob Griffin will be in charge of the FSU Omicron Delta Kappa blood bank and Jerry Thomas will head the political rally project.

Ball, a senior from Belle Glade, spoke briefly after his election. Thanking the society for their responsibility and honor, he said, "ODK shall be my prime concern. I shall do my best to keep the organization the top society on the campus." The new president will be installed along with other officers at the annual membership banquet to be held at St Marks Friday, May 25.

THE SINCERE and unassuming president will take over his new duties from Doug Alley, this year's president, immediately after the installation ceremonies Ball has been instrumental in many campus activities and was elected chairman of University Judicial Court. He has been a member of men's judiciary and is a member of the Kappa Alpha social fraternity. He holds the presidency of Pi Alpha Sigma, public administration professional fraternity and is a member of Gold Key, local men's honorary.

In keeping with the policy of changing faculty advisors every two years, ODK selected Dr Paul Reynolds, assistant dean of arts and sciences, to replace Dr Otis McBride, dean of men.

New members initiated into the society were James Ball, Bill Upshaw, Bob Griffin, Allan Head, Bill Roetzheim, Dick Bradley, Jerry Thomas, Charles Floyd, Lee Bailey and Harry Copeland.

Rorschach Results Aired at Seminar

The results of a personality research and the Rorschach Ink Blot test were presented by three graduate students at the Psychology seminar Wednesday afternoon in the Longmire auditorium. Each of the psychology students were limited to a fifteen to twenty minute talk.

The personality of identical twins as shown by the Ink Blot and other projective tests were presented by Franklin Calhoun.

Dell Lebo told the results of his investigation on the use of shading in drawing the human figure and in responses to ink blot stimuli.

John Rowell gave a talk on the most liked and least liked cards in the Rorschach series

The three papers illustrate the ways the Rorschach Test may be used as a research tool in personality study

A tea and general discussion preceded the presentation of the papers

Campus Charity Chest Drive Collects Total of $1247.80

The Campus Charity Chest drive, the first in the history of FSU, collected $1,247.80.

Many events were scheduled during the week of April 14 to April 21 to raise these funds. The women's "F" Club gave their annual picnic supper on Landis Green and donated all the money over and above the cost of the food to the Campus Chest. Foreign students spoke at the Wednesday teas in women's dormitories. Student art works were auctioned at the Student Union. The Faculty Auction, which was held after the drive, on April 26, also contributed considerable funds.

Outstanding contributions were made by the Methodist group, the freshmen men's dormitories, WFSU, "F" Club, Sophomore Council, SGA, Student Union, Sigma Chi, Garnet Key, the faculty, and Gilchrist and Landis dormitories.

A sincere vote of thanks is due all these groups and more. Also, the committee responsible for the drive deserves a vote of thanks—chairman, Bill Hess; secretary, Jo Nell Proctor; treasurer, Bill Cornelius; and those who helped them—plus every student who contributed to the proceeds.

The original goal set, however, was $1,500. The proceeds go toward the World Student Service Fund, the Cancer Crusade, the Heart Fund, and a miscellaneous fund for other charity obligations.

What happened, though, to all the students on campus who didn't even contribute a penny? If only 3,000 students had contributed fifty cents, the goal would have been met. Instead, as usual, the burden fell on certain students who gave more than their share.

● GREATLY NEEDED

Florida needs a medical school.

Ask a pre-med major on campus about his chances of gaining entrance into a qualified school of medicine outside this state. Unless the student has exceptional grades or some personal pull, the chances are slim. Not only are they slim, but they are most discouraging.

A bill has been passed in the state Senate for a state aided medical school. It was introduced by Senator R B Gautier of Miami and passed by a vote of 34 to 1.

Gautier believes that Miami can establish a medical school if Florida will show sufficient interest.

The outlays recommended are up to $25,000 to be paid to the school for instruction at the rate of $3,000 per student. The hill was drafted along lines of the South's regional educational program under which Florida is paying $1,500 per year to colleges outside the state for each Florida medical student enrolled.

The argument is not whether, Miami, Jacksonville, Gainsville or Tampa is the city to get the medical school, but if Florida needs it or not. No doubt politics will be witnessed as the cities make an effort to get the school built in their city.

Pre-med students on this campus only hope that one city, any city, in Florida can meet the state qualifications for the first fully accredited medical school.

● OUT OF PLACE

An editorial on stealing is entirely out of place in a college newspaper. It is with the assumption that we are mature enough to accept the responsibilities of a student honor code that such a system can be kept pecking away at a typewriter and a reporter certainly doesn't make money enough to worry about getting fat.

● ALUMNI ARE VITAL

What are your plans after graduation? No, this is not vocational advice. It's some thought in regard to your Alma Mater.

After graduation you will want some link between you and this institution. Our Alumni Association provides just that. During the four years on this campus, you have seen Florida State University begin a period of rapid growth in size. You will want to know in future years the continued growth of the university. You will still hold an interest in our rapidly-developing "Florida Plan."

And the association is interested in you. At the present time they are offering a specially-reduced rate for life membership. Wherever you go or whatever you do, FSU's Alumni Association can use your help. Join your local club. If there's not a local club, help organize one.

As an active member of the FSU Alumni Association, you will still be a part of Florida State University.

FRANKLY SPEAKING

WILL FACULTY REVIEW CLAUSE BE CUT?

By ALLAN HEAD

We are finally on the way toward getting an Honor Code that will be responsive to the wishes of the student body.

In the past, there have been many criticisms of the workings of our judicial system, and of the Honor Code upon which it is based. In many past years has been because the Honor Code has not been responsible to the student-elected University Senate. Any changes in the Honor Code would stem from the appointed Honor Senate committee.

Thus is not to say that the Honor Committee has not done a good job; they have. It has, however, prevented political pressure from being brought to bear directly upon the fundamental law of our university society.

Last February, the Honor Committee recommended to University Council that a clause making recommendations of any proposed changes.

1. That the Honor Code be incorporated in the UGA Constitution.

2. That the present amendment procedure of the Honor Code be struck out, and the only legislative power left is the Honor Committee's duty of making recommendations of any proposed changes.

3. That the section on Faculty Review in the Honor Code be struck out.

These were passed by the university Council, and will be presented to the student body for their ratification at the constitutional elections. The elections will be held before the end of school.

By incorporating the Honor Code in the UGA Constitution, it has been made responsible to University Senate. Any changes in the Honor Code would then follow the regular procedure for constitutional amendments. It is a two-thirds vote of senate, passage by Honor Committee, consensus, and ratification by the students.

I believe that this will result in a more democratic system of the Honor System gaining voice in Senate, and that gradually the hope that it will be passed.

Basically, our Honor System is a good one. It seems to be receiving the support of the big majority of the student body. But an Honor Code is a living thing in that it must grow with the needs of the university, and must remain sensitive to the moves of the student body over which it is subject. It is a system's thinks that when he turns in a fellow student for cheating he will not get a "just" penalty, then he is inclined to not turn him in. He the U. of F

The Honor Code provision for Faculty Review has been responsible for much misunderstanding this year. That is because it conflicts with the Honor Code provision in the constitution. When the Honor Code provision is cut out, things will run much more smoothly and the student court system is a farce if the administration has final word on all decisions, usually overruling only act on appeal by the student, as at present.

'RESIGNATIONS' HIT STATE COLLEGES

By BETSY BLANTON

A trend seems to have developed in this state towards firing, requesting the resignation of, or what have you of student newspaper editors.

One of the best examples of what can be done to a student editor refuses to give in is the case at Rollins College. This particular editor had the advantage that few schools have—his reputation. Hence, we now Rollins has a new college president.

The majority of students on this campus toward any issue, local, state, national, or campus, prevails as the program goes on.

Two editors are to be replaced here within the last week. Editor Gene Burnett of Youth Time fame is reported to have met an untimely end with his mimeographed publication.

The other case was that of Flambeau Editor Earl Dobert. In this instance, a request for his resignation was forthcoming. It has been said that newspapers throughout the state that no administrative pressure was brought to bear in this case. But Editor Dobert is scheduled to graduate June 9.

At the University of Florida, John Baker got state-wide publicity when he was suspended as paper of the Florida Alligator. After much adverse publicity from several corners, Baker was reinstated.

A few weeks later, John left school, and it is rumored that the idea was not his own.

Information of this type is not intended to intimidate anyone, but to discourage aspiring Pegasus editors from entering UGA elections next year. But it is just a reminder that all powers of student government officials are conferred by faculty authorities and can be removed at their discretion.

* * *

Entertainment for this week end is reported to be the best we've had all year long.

The first movie, "The Noose Hangs High" will be shown tonight in the music amphitheatre beginning at 7:30.

Second on the list is the Tarpon show which takes place in the the East campus gymnasium. The theme of the performance is "The Golden West." And for the second time in this history, the all-girl group will feature male performers borrowed from the men's swimming group.

Last, but one of the best on the list, is the "Pirates of Penzance." Gilbert and Sullivan operetta was presented for the first time last night, and the audience has been raving about it ever since.

So you can hear anyone griping that there is nothing to do around here, refer 'em to me!

* * *

One of the inierns who returned to campus last week has made an honest observation. She says the prices in the dining hall are even higher than when she left.

Since this columnist doesn't forget the place I cannot speak from first hand experience, but this is not the only con plaint of the food service in the last several days.

Perhaps a non-profit dining hall seems to be pulling out of the hole.

HAVE YOU SEEN FSU'S LUCKY STONE?

By FRANCES CAWTHON

Anybody looking for a quick and easy way to make exams? Are you over-worked from cramming for one semester's tasks into three weeks? Well, you no longer have to drown your sorrows in beer—root beer if you are a woman student. A solution to your problems can be found on campus for quite a while, and in case you haven't already heard of it, I'll tell you.

Like West Point with its kissing rock, FSU has its lucky stone, a traditional phenomenon, but devoted to a more practical (?) end—a floor in question for debate and academic purpose.

Once upon a time, at whatever time, where and how it may not be ascertained, a legend, unbeknownst to anyone, was that have you was started about the stone that is in the center of the main corridor of the Florida State main gate.

Every time a student passed the stone he should step on it. That was for good luck in passing no end courses. It however, seem blithely on his way without stepping on the stone, we be unto him Old Man Fate, be he of sexes.

Now today the University stresses scientific reasoning and is trying to indoctrinate its students with the know-how of "Operation Research" on such things. You know. The all-natural v e i-tails-this-has-a-tail-so-this-is-a-rat type of business that we have been taught in many classes from Math 105 to freshman English 101.

Such logic, such intelligent conclusions are to be told, to wipe out the superstition existing among us and make us, the future leaders of America, what college presidents always call us in their orientation programs, truly sober and true, and scientific, way of life. We supposedly have learned our lessons well.

But now exams are nearing, I am beginning to feel that the profs haven't been wasting their vocal chords. The number of students that are a result of FSU's lucky stone have been making good use of it. In fact it's a good estimate that it will sink down into the asphalt at the rate of about 6 an inch before this term ends.

Students who desire to make use of the stone's powers are asked to form in orderly lines so as not to create any traffic hazards. It costs nothing whatsoever to bring down your size 11 on that little square piece of matter and ask Old Man Fate for mercy. It might also help to do a little studying. Just a suggestion.

Any male FSUers you are likely to see wandering around with haggard looks an their faces and an I'm-ready-to-re-live-Alamo look in their eyes, are it to one Delia Sigs who have been working with the stone. Ever since over their second annual business machine show being held this weekend, the Delta Sigs have found the love seat bottom leaves . . . Gilchrist, which is acting a new roofing, has been running around all over its fifth floor, and will until the end of this month by the appearance of it, they can no longer dress with the accustomed ease. As yet no complaints have been received from the workmen. Anybody want an application for work?

The campus seems to be undergoing a spring remodeling. Workmen are busily engaged in tearing up side dormitory windows, enthusiastic pruning of trees which leaves nothing but the trunks and the love seat bottom leaves . . . Gilchrist, which is acting a new roofing, has been running around all over its fifth floor, and will until the end of this month by the appearance of it, they can no longer dress with the accustomed ease. As yet no complaints have been received from the workmen. Anybody want an application for work?

CAMPUS CAROUSEL

TZENA TZENA

By EMORY KING

Today is Friday. Is there something about that fact that makes people feel like going out swimming and fishing and cutting Saturday classes? Or is it just the spring weather?

Whatever it is, it sure is in the trees today, the sun is shining, the heaven is clear and blue, and the birds are singing their heads off.

From the window here in the office I can see the Demonstration school kids leaving school. They are happy. They are going to have a weekend vacation. The robins are happy; they are going to have a weekend, too. The trees are happy; they cast shadows for the nice people who will picnic. The sun is happy; it will furnish the people with the sunshine that will make the grass grow. This is a segment of the Theta Delta Ia loisa (Phi) on the campus flowers will bloom, and the campus and surrounding territory will be a beautiful place to gaze upon.

See, everyone is happy . . . I am not happy.

Today is Friday. Tomorrow will be Saturday. By then you will have forgotten everything you have read thus far. So, I guess I can tell this.

This is the scoop of the week. The West campus Willies, those intellectual buddies of mine in the next barracks, have decided that the campus should have another fraternity.

has spurred on the hopes and desires of these boys. They will form a new Greek group to be called the "Tzena Tzena Tzena" fraternity.

The ZZZ are already in conference and will draft a resolution in the near future. This resolution will state that the group, colors, by-laws, etc. will be "not to resolve anything."

Today is Friday. Be happy. Be gay. Look for the bright side of life. Look to the weekend. Look to the woods, and grass and the flowers, and the trees, and the birds.

When the semester is over, and we have gone home to our various homes, let us think back on our days and weekends at FSU with happiness. Then we will all burry back again in September.

Poetically Yours...

LEWIS R AIKEN, JR

'This is a critical, literary supplement, the purpose of which is interest, encouragement, and praise of students in the writing of good ity. Every student who thinks he has written a poem is urged to contribute. Please address contributions to: Lewis R. Aiken, Poetically Yours, c o Florida Flambeau.

The subject this week is on education in America. The following poem, used for inaugural purposes, is one of my own. A different subject will be developed each week.

A PLEA FOR FAME

On the sight of education,
Make them build a strong foundation.
And let the doors stand up the dirt.

Where the fallen roses grew,
Let them strip their souls and brew,
And if they tear their bushes, then let them burl.

And when the lover's knife,
And the seedy rooms are filled,
And our thoughts are of just beginning to begin,

Then shall reflect the black,
If he broke his back,
For we all know that fools were made for men.

For time will pass;
He'll turn to grass,
And all that's left will be dug up again.

Roses fall,
Over all,
And where he has stopped—there will start his kin.

Suns rise;
Dew dies.
And sons and grandsons make their living round.

Breath—
Death—
And all that's left is water on the ground.

PLAY BITS

Student Presents Play

By JEAN FLYNN

Aspirants to the dramatics honorary, Les Jongleurs, read and blocked three original one-act plays in Conradi theater last evening. Titles are They Got Every Night, Always Love, and Rights of the Irau. Authors Fred Myers, Julie Storm and Lois Wood should be very proud of their work for the plays are definitely good material.

Laugh line—characters in They Got Every Night are Negroes, hence the dialogue is in southern dialect. But when they got so extreme that the audience had to almost bow, they reverted to every-day language.

The second play will see two one-acts presented in Conradi at traditional 8:15 p m. Anyone may come and admission is free. These two productions, Mish Pearse Areas, and Scattered Showers are being presented by the Acting and Directing class, under leadership of Mary Gay Campbell.

NOTE TO WOULD-BE ACTORS — Auditions for summer productions will be held on May 23 in Conradi. Two tentative productions are Mr. Roberts and Run, by Philip King, and Thornton Wilder's One Town.

Les Jongleurs is initiating plans for a summer children's theater program, as well as numerous plans for productions for the coming year.

Speech majors, minors and other hams are invited to a get-acquainted shindig at the coed, business meehtnn at 9:00 Saturday evening.

Barter Theater in Virginia is now June. Mixed in with buckwheat cakes and sizzling floors, committees, and intensive dramatics study, she hopes to get little acting in. She goes with a our best wishes. This is the first honor a speech student has has received in many years.

Delta Sigs Hunt Sheets for Show

"Have you got any extra sheets?"

That inquiry this week was heard by this majority this week as members of Delta Sigma Rho-Tau Kappa Alpha, honorary forensic fraternity, have begun sheet hunting.

In order to cut the cost of living on their second annual business machine show, being held this weekend in the Lafayette room, the Delta Sigs began collecting empties and every their pool 30 some odd sheets cover the tables on which the typists will be seated in the show." Wrieher is one of the students are interested in the coming of this event, business machines or the show should at least draw a crowd.

This Week . . . resignation of Earl Dobert as Editor of the Flambeau. His was a hot seat for 57 issues. His difficulties throughout the year stemmed from his having to be a reporter, editor, and publisher of what was involved. Dobert would caused the axe arose because of his activities in the Florida Intercollegiate Press Association. Don't get me wrong. I'm not defending Dobert's actions, but I can see where he was wielding the whitewash. He probably made plenty of mistakes, but he doesn't get a lot of help in always playing it straight . . .

Can it be true? Reports have it that lover Curt (The Fink) Campbell had his gal snaked on ATO weekend.

Dear Editor

THE EASY WAY

Dear Editor:

Just think . . . one down and maybe two to go. Well, at least 'm being optimistic.

Seems to me that you are in for a little surprise if you think that you can print a newspaper under the condition which I per-suppose probably have been laid down to you.

No. I have no proof that these conditions have been handed to you personally, but judging from the recent firing, forced resignation, or what have you, of Earl Dobert, I wouldn't give a fly or a boot for your chances of survival as an ambitious editor.

Now to the administration I say, "you acted a little hasty in forcing editor Dobert to resign because of a mistake made by one of his staff." Even if the mistake were made by him. that is in keeping with the old adage that "to err is human," and younger humans naturally are more inclined to err.

And in running your business here is the way good administrators would have handled this human mistake. By steps like simplicity.

1. Have Earl Dobert in for a little chat of course.

2. Advise Earl Dobert of his mistake and ask him if he would like steps to correct it.

3 Take yourself a nice cool drink of water and thank your lucky stars that the editor was so easy to convince.

Just a nobody who knows from nothing.

HERB MARSH.

DISAGREES

Fellow Students:

The developments within the last two weeks on the question of segregation in our university has led me to write this letter. As you know, the FSU delegation voted to abolish our present system of segregation at the FSGA Convention.

This to me was a great shock In my four years at FSU I have never seen such disgraceful action taken by our student leaders.

Back during the Civil War years we left our homes and fought to fight for the southern cause in the Battle of Natural Bridge. Many of them did not return to the Seminary. You can see the tombstones of the Confederate dead today only two blocks from our university.

Have we forgotten the 134,000 Confederate dead that gave their lives so we could maintain our southern culture and folkways.

I am ashamed of a defeatist attitude because of the action

Base-Ballers Play Stetson in Crucial Game Today

FROM THE SIDELINES

By WARREN COBB

Flambeau Sports Editor

Charlie Armstrong's Seminole nine is due to finish up season here with games today and tomorrow with the ering Stetson Hatters, and these are a couple that the es would really like to win. And for good reason!

first, there is the motive of ance for that double defeat nistered by the Hatters down DeLand earlier in the season. second, and more important, if Seminoles can take these two the Rollins Tars manage to ose of their two weekend ies with the University of rida. FSU is the new state champ.

RIGHT NOW THE SEMI-ES have an intrastate record 16 victories and three losses. e Hatters, after getting off to roaring start have a record 9 of 9 wins and 4 losses. They present last Tuesday by Rol-8-3 with their ace, big Walt mmit, taking the defeat. Jas, if you remember, is the of two shutout games the Seminoles over a al of two years.

Meanwhile, the U of Florida 4-2 record and, if the Semi-es are so inclined, it is necessary for the Gators to drop of their weekend games with Tars.

Rollins has a reputedly strong m and it is doubtful that the ers can take two straight from m. But on the other hand, e Seminoles have no easy job taking two straight from Stetson.

BUT THE ODDS are with coach Armstrong's crew today. The Ed Lockard - serving ven Hatters face a rough after-. Lockard has improved steadily, and is ranked by some servers as superior to Jasinski. curve ball is especially ef-ve.

Bob Whitmar is another with plenty of steam on the Sessions, on the other ides relies on "stuff" and has ever has baffled many an op-ng batsman.

Behind the plate Ronnie Net-has taken over for Ronnie who is now filling the at first base. Nettles has filled the catching assign-in a first-rate manner, and he and Melton are capable at the plate.

LEE BAILEY, at second, is the m's leading hitter and has a knack hovering around the .-mark.

Whirl Coach Armstrong has viable man in Bob Trow-—both in the field and at plate.

Shortstop is one of the strong in the FSU nine's array talent. Veteran Augie Pom-, though only an average r, is a big man at the plate especially so in the clutch. ood example of this is his hit-ng finish inning against Pla tern here a few weeks back brought in the tying run. incidentally, was recently ed honorary captain by a mous vote of his team-

In the outfield, Coach Arm-g has had five men in e during this season. Wayne ner, who has held down left a good part of the time, is for the rest of the season a knee operation. Starting will be either Harry ger or Earl Herold. Herold a freshman and Bringer a mer.

THE CENTER GARDEN is also ger capable hands. Les Mil-who played shortstop last holds away there and is of the team's leading hitters. Pompelia. Mullen often es through when the chips own, e.g. his single in that Southern game with two out the last of the inning that Pompelia with the winning Hi speed also makes him first-class fielder.

"Consistency" is the word to be for right-fielder Glenn ney" Gresham. Gresham got for sixth in last weekend's es with Mississippi College. Another important factor in e strength of the team is the th provided by such men as Mills, Kirve Nowlin, and Cheek, all of whom are hitters.

MILLS, known as "Cooter," is ndered by many to be the t pitcher on the club and is ible of filling in anywhere in infield. Nowlin, a Daytona h also a good fielder. Those long with Cheek, who is a freshman, shape up as a d future FSU infield.

Will now, though, the job is to take a double win from the ers and the boys deserve ll of support in their efforts

DR. HOWARD G. DANFORD, ic director and head of the men's physical education department, has been elected president of the Florida Recreation Association at the annual state convention recently at St. Petersburg. Dr. Danford, who is also president of the Tallahassee Safety Council, spoke last week at a safety conference on the need for uniform accident recording system.

SEMINOLE COACH DON VEL-LER has sent out over five hundred letters trying to line up something for next year's first "big-time" schedule. Dr Veller is handicapped, of course, by the fact that the scholarships in the subsidization plan cannot be awarded until next school year. A lot of hops are probably hesitant to come a long way for a summer trial with no guarantee that they will receive anything for their efforts except a good brushing.

20 jetsermen from last year's squad have been invited back for early practice next August.

ALTHOUGH THE TRACK TEAM is listed as a heavy favorite to cop the Dixie Conference title again this year, the outcome of the tournament is definitely no cut-and-dried affair.

It is fairly certain that the Seminole trackmen could take any of the teams competing in the tournament in a dual match. In fact, they've whipped three of the four competing teams already this year.

But in the tournament each school is only allowed to enter two men in each event. And the top three men are awarded points.

Track Coach Ken Miller and Ned West figured up the tentative result of the meet according to past performances of the men entered in the events and, lo and behold, Mercer came out as the theoretical winner by 2 points!

So, even though FSU can beat Mercer in a dual meet, it is possible that Mercer will take the title at the tournament.

Certainly this reflects a serious fallacy in the scoring system at the Conference.

However, we'll still string along with the Seminole harriers tomorrow.

Visitors Will Speak On United Nations

"The United Nations: A Re-appraisal" is the topic Dr Helen Dwight Reid of the United States Office of Education will present at 8 tonight in the Longmire auditorium. The speaker is the chief of the Comparative Education Branch.

Dr Reid is speaking under the sponsorship of the department of political science, and announced that the public is invited to attend.

At present Dr Reid is a visiting professor of the political science department at the University of Florida. She is a former lecturer on politics at Bryn Mawr College and associate professor of government and diplomatic history at the U of P.

The speaker has served as a consultant to the U S delegation at the United Nations conference at San Francisco. She has for several years edited the quarterly American Association of University Women publication "Journal on Foreign Policy." She is a noted author of numerous books and articles in the general field of international relations.

FSU English Exam Slated on May 31

The Junior English examination will be given at 4:30 p. m. Thursday, May 31, according to Miss Martha G. Chapman, director of Junior English.

The examination will be given in three auditoriums, the Auditoria Conradi Little Theater, the Music auditorium and 303 Westcott. Students are asked to be early enough to secure seats before 4:30.

All sophomores who will become juniors at the end of the present semester and all upperclassmen who have not taken the examination, are required to do so May 31.

A time limit of one hour will be allowed for the test. Late students will not have adequate time for the exam. No one is allowed to re-test the junior test. Miss Chapman stated in her report.

FSU Tracksters Defend Dixie Conference Title

The FSU track team will defend its Dixie Conference title in Clinton, Mississippi, tomorrow against Howard, Mercer, Milsaps, and Mississippi College.

Coach Ken Miller's tracksters have defeated all of the above this season with the exception of Milsaps, against whom they have not competed.

John Tronnbleson and Al Carter did not make the trip for FSU. Carter, a low hurdler, pulled a muscle in his leg several weeks ago and it has not responded to treatment.

Thombleson's mother died recently and he is presently at his home.

ONLY TWO MEN ARE allowed to each school in each event. Those representing FSU are:

Mile run: Ed Kucera and Pete Praschetil.

440 yd. dash: Dick Mize and Woody Parker.

120 yard dash: John Poston and Robert Paterson.

120 yd low hurdles: Max Watson and Baker King.

880 yd run: Pete Praschetil and Woody Parker.

220 yd dash: John Poston and Dick Mize.

Two mile run: Ed Kucera.

220 low hurdles: Max Watson and Frank Pearcan.

Shot put: Gil Harris and Bill Petry.

Discus: Tom Sebring and Walter Graze.

Javelin: Bill Rodgers and Bob Bolin.

High jump: Leonard Melton and Baker King.

Pole vault: Joe Fracassi and Ed Seagram.

Broad jump: Ed Seagram and Walter Graze.

THE MILE RELAY TEAM will consist of Woody Parker, Dick Mize, Pete Praschetil, and Frank Pearcn.

Of the men listed above, Fracassi, Praschetil, and Mize are the Dixie Conference champs in the pole vault, the half-mile, and the 440, respectively.

Collegians Hold Open Rehearsal

The Collegians will hold their final open rehearsal this afternoon, Director J Dayton Smith has stated.

Men students interested in joining with the Men's Glee Club are invited to sit in on rehearsals at 1 p m in 223 Music building.

Membership of the Collegians is planned as a tentative number of 50 members. The group gives two concerts each year plus periodic serenading of the campus dormitories and sorority houses.

A group of college songs is being learned for the next serenading schedule.

Five Gymnasts Entertain For Legislators

By TOM CONKLING

Five members of Florida State University's grand slam NCAA and AAU national champion gymnastics team performed Tuesday afternoon for the State Legislature members at the Killearn Gardens.

The show took place prior to a barbecue for the Florida law makers sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce.

BILL BOETZHEIM, Joe and Carmine Segna, Jack Miles and Dick Gutting were featured in the show, Roetzheim, My Gymnastics himself, is the nation's number one all-around, high bar, and side horse champion. Joe Segna ranks as one of the country's top all-around performers, whereas Carmine specializes in the parallel bars and high bar. He scored in both events in the national AAU.

Jack Miles figures as the national flying rings champion and Dick Gutting as long flight trampolinist.

The Priceman went through the routine exercises used in national championship meets. Jack Miles judged the gymnasts in order to give the lawmakers an idea of the rigid requirements of national competition.

Dick Gutting rounded out the program with his spectacular trampoline act.

ON WEDNESDAY EVENING eight members of Dr Hartley Price's Gymkana troupe performed for the Tallahassee Golf Association at the Florida Advertising Commission's snack bar.

The after dinner show featured Jack Miles, Scotty Stanton and "Beans" Stephens, members of the Seminole national champion-ship gym squad; coeds Barbara Sirode and Sparky Parker; and Tallahassee Tumbling Tot stars, Mary Cummins, Betty Wheeler, Cathrine Regna and Jack Carswell.

This afternoon the gymnastics squad will be guests at a dinner sponsored by the Tallahassee Exchange Club commemorating the national champions' great season.

FSU Must Cop Two Straight From Hatters

The Seminole nine meets the Stetson Hatters this afternoon on the West Campus diamond in a game that will probably go a long way in deciding the state championship.

Stetson now has an intrastate record of 9 wins and 4 losses. FSU has 5 wins and three losses. Florida, with a record of 4 and 3 takes on the Rollins Tars over the weekend and should the Gators split and the Seminoles sweep their series with Stetson, Coach Armstrong's boys would cop the state championship.

FASTBALLER ED LOCKARD is due to toe the mound for the Seminoles with Ronnie Nettles behind the plate. Filling out the infield will probably be Leonard Melton at First, Les Bailey at second, Bob Trowbridge at third and Gus Pompelia at short.

In the outfield for FSU it will probably be either Earl Herold or Bob Bringger in left, Les Mullen in center, and Glen Gresham in right.

Wayne Benner, who has played a lot of ball for the Seminoles, is out with a knee operation.

FSU met Stetson once before this season nin DeLand, bowing to the Hatters twice in succession the first time by a shutout at the hands of Walt Jasinski.

The two teams will also meet tomorrow afternoon on the West Campus diamond and Bob Whitmer or Ed Sessions will probably be the starting pitcher for FSU.

Probable line-up:

Bailey, 2B.
Gresham, RF.
Trowbridge, 3B.
Melton, 1B.
Mullen, CF.
Pompella, SS.
Nettles, C.
Herold or Bringger, LF.
Lockard, P.

An outstanding football player turned track star in James (Tand) Lawrence, Duke's top man in the shot put. He won first place in dual meets against Miami and Florida State and placed third in the Florida relays.

Netters Enter Dixie Tourney This Weekend

The Seminole tennis team, coached by Ralph Matherly, is scheduled to defend its Dixie Conference title this weekend in the tournament at Clinton, Mississippi.

Other teams in the tournament include Howard, Mississippi College, Mazer and Milsaps. The Seminole netters have played Mercer twice this year and defeated them both times. They have not met the other schools.

COACH MATHERLY is taking eight men on the trip. These include Tom Robbins, Jim Berry, Dan Boda, Dick Bradley, Larry Dickson, John Egan, Georgs Martin, and George Newman.

Competition will consist of 8 singles and 3 doubles. Dickson will be the favorite in Class A singles and Boda in Class C singles.

Only Dickson and Boda are holdovers from last year's championship squad.

The tennis team is favored in this tournament to successfully defend its title. If they do so, it will mark the third straight year the Seminole tennis team has copped the Dixie Conference championship.

Spring Arrives at FSU, Exams Around Corner

Classes terminate soon, and examinations begin even sooner. Spring fever definitely hangs over the campus, and not-so-eager students plod wearily onward to classes.

Presented here now are signs around campus that Spring has long since arrived, and Summer is well on its way:

1. PEACEFUL, sunshiny mornings that make you want to sleep forever and forget that 8:00 class you've already cut half a dozen times.

2. The greener-than-ever campus that invites you to sit for hours at a time.

3. Bare-sandalled coeds in bright cotton skirts.

4. Tanned FSU males in those new wella sport shirts.

5. The general rush for exam schedules. (Darn, I have a test on Friday!)

6. THE STONE BENCHES around campus and in front of the girls' dorms—every one taken . . . and all of a sudden, work that you never knew you had to do suits piles up right before your eyes, and you realize you must burn the midnight oil from now till commencement.

Isn't college life fun??????

Campus Interviews on Cigarette Tests

Number 20...THE BALTIMORE ORIOLE

"I don't go for a wild pitch!"

Clean-up man on the baseball nine, this slugger doesn't like to reach for 'em . . . wants it right over the plate.

And that's the way he likes his proof of cigarette mildness! No razzle-dazzle "quick-puff" tests for him. No one-whiff, one-puff experiments.

There's one test, he's discovered, that's right down the alley!

It's the test that proves what cigarette mildness really means.

THE SENSIBLE TEST . . . the 30-Day Camel Mildness Test, which simply asks you to try Camels as a steady smoke—on a pack-after-pack, day-after-day basis.

After you've enjoyed Camels—and only Camels—for 30 days in your "T-Zone" (T for Throat, T for Taste), we believe you'll know why . . .

More People Smoke Camels than any other cigarette!

Voice Student Gives Recital on Monday

Miss Pyung Chun Chai, voice student, will give her third voice recital on Monday evening in the Music Hall at 8:15 p m. Miss Chai's selections will include songs in English, Italian, French and German.

Miss Chai has been a voice student of Professor Etta Robertson for the past two years. She is a native of Seoul, Korea, and came to the United States in January, 1949.

She was recently awarded a scholarship at the Music Academy of the West, at Santa Barbara, California, where she will study this summer with John Charles Thomas.

Lafleur's Work Proves Popular

Dr Laurence Lafleur, associate professor of philosophy, has received notice from his publisher that over 235 colleges and universities have adopted his translations of Descartes.

Among the educational institutions which have adopted Dr Lafleur's work are Columbia University, University of Minnesota, Ohio State University, University of California, New York University and University of North Carolina.

Dr Lafleur's studies, entitled "Discourse on Method" and "Meditations" were published by Liberal Arts Press, New York.

Letter to Editor...

taken by the convention; but instead speak loud and strong against such action. Many people have told us that the Negro is better treated in the north but are they?

We in the south do not hide our discrimination against the Negro. We come out in the open and admit it. The south is not hypocritical like the north. All of us have heard of instances in the north where a Negro would walk into a restaurant and would not be served or was charged twice the regular price or his food was cooked in such a way that he could not eat it. In the south we are fair and outright and say "NO" to them. We do not hide behind a false banner or speak one thing and then do another.

I know that I will receive much criticism for writing this letter but a man can only hold back his conviction so long and then he must speak out.

The course ahead is one that we must be active in and show our student leaders that we are determined to keep FSU for white students and also for the Negroes. The Supreme Court has upheld our southern culture and will continue to do so as long as we provide equal and adequate facilities for the Negroes.

If we allow this barrier to be torn down the remaining barriers will fall and the result will be intermarriage.

Take as an analogy a white child living next door to Negro children and playing with them, going to school with them and growing up with them. Soon then the white child shall look upon the Negro as a member of the African race just as she would a boy of French, Spanish or Italian descent.

If we believe in our southern culture take action and speak out against the FSCA resolution, let the people of this state and nation know that we are to maintain our southern culture here at FSU.

Seminar Is Planned By Economics Dept

The Federal Reserve System's effort to prevent inflation will be discussed Tuesday at 8 p m in the Music Hall Dr Woodlief Thomas, economic advisor to the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System, and Malcolm Bryan, president of the Federal Reserve Bank of Atlanta will be the speakers.

Both speakers will be part of the last public address planned by the economics seminar for the year, according to Dr Clark Allen, head of the economics department.

Jr. Class Sponsors Free Movie In Amphitheater for Second Week

A second free movie presented by the junior class will be shown tonight at 8 in the music amphitheater and will feature Bud Abbott and Lou Costello in The Noose Hangs High. Selected shorts will also be previewed. In case of rain, students will be informed of the substitute place for showing.

Junior class president, Will Pennell, said that Alpha Phi Omega, service fraternity, is working on a concession project for the sale of popcorn, candy and drinks.

"LAST FRIDAY night's movie has shown that there is an interest in free movies as added entertainment on this campus," the junior class president commented. "The Longmire auditorium filled to capacity but students were crowded into the room. Extra chairs were supplied and students were sitting in the hall.

The audio-visual department is running the movies free of charge. Will said, and has been cooperative in this project. Dr Miles Ritchie, associate professor of the audio-visual department, has also allowed his student assistant to run the projectors for the movies. The movies cost the class approximately $20.

THE JUNIOR CLASS president commented that two projectors might possibly be set up to eliminate the break in the movie for film changes.

The movie project is being carried on through funds from profitable profits of class projects of the class of 1952. Will stated.

Summer school movies will again be sponsored by the university the president said. The junior class will continue the project next fall.

"I WOULD appreciate any constructive criticism because I want to make movies as entertaining as possible for the student body with few inconvenien~nces," the junior president concluded.

The L'Apache, honorary social fraternity recently elected the following officers: President, Denny Parrott, Delta Tau Delta; vice president, Bob Woodburn, Phi Kappa Tau; secretary-treasurer, Saulie Faulerson, Alpha Tau Omega; and social chairman, Bill Falsone, Kappa Alpha.

Three new taps, Frank Burgin, Phi Kappa Tau; Ellis Stevens, Pi Kappa Alpha; and John McLendon, Delta Tau Delta, were initiated last night at an informal initiation. Formal initiation will be held at the beginning of next year.

Students Involved In Wakulla Wreck

Gerald Pearson Brown, 24-year-old FSU student, was seriously injured Wednesday morning when his car got out of control and hit the Wakulla river bridge.

Fred Beaman, another FSU student, who was riding in the car, was reported uninjured.

Florida Highway Patrolman W P Joyce reported that an investigation is incomplete but charges will be filed against Brown.

Basket, Fan Display To Be at W Campus

A display of fans and Puerto Rican and Mexican hand-woven baskets, hats and mats is now being held in the foyer of the State Home Demonstration offices on West campus. The exhibit is open to the public today from 8:30 a m to 5 p m.

Items on show are from the collection of the late Miss Mary E Brown, former state home demonstration agent of Florida.

The fans depict scenes from the life and culture of the areas and in which they were made. The basket and hat displays include models of all sizes, uses and colors from market-places around the world.

Informal Donce Held

There will be an informal dance at the Student Union tomorrow night from 8 until 12.

The dance is open to all students and is being sponsored by the men's hospital area.

Cavaliers Initiate 12 New Members

Initiation has been held for 12 new Cavalier tapa. Cavalier is an honorary men's dancing fraternity.

New Cavaliers are: Carlos Stone, Ted Bixler, David Smith, Jim Arnold, Herb Nasralla, Earl O'Neal, Jim Jindra, Bob Johnson, Harold Perkins, Rudy Spoto, Bud-dy Latham and Tom Edwards.

The following were selected on a basis of dancing ability, general personality and good character.

Cosmo Cardone was elected new treasurer. There will be an informal party for all Cavaliers Saturdya. May 26

Short Course Series Slated This Summer

A total of some 3,500 persons are expected to attend the series of conferences, short courses, institutes and workshops scheduled for this summer on the Florida State campus.

Home economics teachers, 4-H clubs, beauty culture workers, musicians and members of Boys and Girls State will be some of those to attend meetings here.

Free Italion Movie

Musica Proibita, or Forbidden Music, an Italian movie will be shown free of charge Tuesday May 22, at 6:30 and 8:30 p m in the Longmire auditorium. The film, which is being sponsored by Italian classes taught by Mrs Azzura Givens, will have English sub-titles.

The setting of the story is in Florence, Italy, and it will feature such famous Italian movie stars as Tito Gobbi, Maria Mercader and Loredana.

Students registering for the nine-week summer session have until noon, May 26, to make application for admission, according to Florida State University registrar Charles Walker.

The registrar said that in addition to the nine-week period from June 15 to August 15, a special six week period will be held from June 15 to July 27 followed by a three-week special period July 30 until August 15.

THE NINE-WEEK basic period is being offered for the first time and is under a revised program of instruction and attendance.

Among undergraduate and graduate courses offered for credits are archaeology, art education, bacteriology, biological science, botany, business, chemistry, classics, clothing and textiles, economics, education, English, food and nutrition, geography, geology, health education, history and home and family life.

IN ADDITION, the following will be offered, home economics education, humanities, institutions administration, journalism, library service, marine biology, mathematics, meteorology, modern languages, music, personal development, philosophy, physical education, physical science, physics and physiology. Also offered are political science, psychology public administration, social welfare, social science, sociology, speech and zoology.

Speakers Discuss Federal Attempts To Halt Inflation

Federal government attempts to halt inflation will be discussed tonight at 8 in the Music hall by Dr Woodlief Thomas, economic advisor to the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System, and Malcolm Bryan, president of the Federal Reserve Bank of Atlanta.

This analysis of the national policy on anti-inflation and its local implications is one in a series of economics seminars conducted by the economics department and is open to the public.

DR THOMAS has been active in the Federal Reserve System since 1920, when he joined the Federal Reserve Bank of Philadelphia. Since then he has been economist with the Transfer Commission in Berlin. In 1950 he became the Board of Governors' economic advisor.

Bryan is known in Tallahassee through his activities with the Federal Reserve Bank of Atlanta which serves this area, and through his positions in Georgia banks. He also has taught economics at the University of Georgia, was on the technical staff at the Bretton Woods Conference during World War II, and is a former president of the Southern Economic Association.

450 Students To Take Draft Test

Approximately 450 students will take the draft test this Saturday in the East campus gymnasium and in the Student Alumnae auditorium.

"Deadline for the receipt of Selective Service College Qualification Test applications have been extended until this Friday." Students wishing to take the test must secure and mail applications at once. Applications are available in the Office of Personnal Records in 204 Westcott.

Students may apply for the same test to be given June 16 and 30

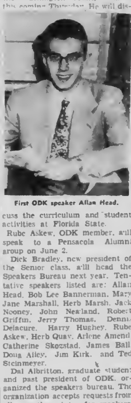
The Selective Service test is made up at Princeton University and sent to the testing bureau here under Dr M H DeGraff.

Results are sent to each student's draft board.

Junior Class Shows Third Free Picture

The musical comedy, "Pot O' Gold, starring James Stewart and Paulette Goddard will be the free movie presented Friday night by the junior class. Patti Mimms, chairman of the movies project, said that the place of showing would be announced in the Friday edition.

ODK SPEAKERS BUREAU will become an actuality tonight when Alan Head makes the first speaking engagement before the Winter Park Alumni Organization. Tentative speakers making final plans are left to right, Dennis Delacure, Ted Steinmeyer, Dal Albritton, and Rube Askew. Dennis, Dal and Rube are ODK members.



Student Speaker's Bureau To Be Inaugurated Tonight

Florida State's permanent ODK student speaker's bureau will be inaugurated tonight when Allan Head addresses the Winter Park Alumni Association on "FSU—A Growing University."

The bureau is sponsored by the local circle of Omicron Delta Kappa, national leadership honorary.

Head will be accompanied by public relations director John Newton Baker. He will speak Wednesday morning to the Winter Park Lions club. Kodachrome slides will be used to illustrate the vast improvement in FSU in the last few years.

Ted Steinmeyer will speak to the Washington County Alumni this coming Thursday. He will discuss the curriculum and student activities at Florida State.

First ODK speaker Allan Head.

Rube Askew, ODK member, will speak to a Pensacola Alumni group on June 2.

Dick Bradley, new president of the Senior class, will head the Speakers Bureau next year. Tentative speakers listed are: Allan Head, Bob Lee Bannerman, Mary Jane Marshall, Herb Marsh, Jack Nooney, John Nealand, Robert Griffin, Jerry Thomas, Dennis Delacure, Harry Hughey, Rube Askew, Herb Quay, Arlene Amend Catherine Skogstad, James Ball, Doug Alley, Jim Kirk, and Ted Steinmeyer.

Dal Albritton, graduate student and past president of ODK, organized the speakers bureau. The organization accepts requests from all over the state for speakers. ODK members handle all arrangements and assignments.

Speakers are selected on a basis of ability and knowledge of university affairs. Co-operating with the ODK speakers bureau will be the Alumni office, the public relations office, and the department of speech.

The first speaker, Allan Head is treasurer of ODK, forum chairman, and writes the column Frankly Speaking in the Florida Flambeau.

University Gallery Features Paintings Of FSU Student

A new exhibition will be opened to the public at the Florida State University Art Gallery tonight for a week's showing. A "one man art show" of Nathan Knobler, FSU graduate art student, will replace the group of famous paintings which the Gallery has been showing ou loan from the Ringling Museum of Art.

The show will consist of 15 oil paintings selected from the artist's work for the past year, and is a part of his work toward the master's degree. Mr Knobler is a student under Professor Edmund Lewandowski and assisted his teacher in the designing and construction of the gallery in which his paintings will be placed.

ANOTHER ART contribution made to the University by Knobler during the past year is a large three-panel mural in oil, some 55 feet in length, which will be hung in the Seminole club this summer. Many students have already seen the rough plan for the mural, which was tested in the place where the painting is to hang.

Mrs B B Williams, head of the FSU department of art, announced that Knobler would be honored with an informal reception at the Gallery from 7 to 10 tonight with all art patrons invited to attend.

Two One-Act Plays Presented Tonight

Scatered Showers and High Pressore Area, one act plays, will be presented tonight in the Augusta Conradi theatre at 6 p m by the Speech department in cooperation with the Florida Commission. The plays dramatize problems common to families with children of various age groups.

The cast of Scattered Showers is composed of Helen Stabler, Jean Flynn, and Joan Warth with the play under the direction of Lya Goldberg. Included in the cast of High Pressure Area, directed by Lucinda Carson are Evelyn Gray, Barbara Hull, Shirley Hurlbert and Nell Jacboy. All are members of the acting-directing class of Russell Graves

Dr Ralph Witherspoon of the psychology department will lead a discussion period following the plays.

Trained Students Wanted by Editors

"Schools of Journalism in many parts of the country are now being called upon by newspaper editors and publishers to furnish college trained men and women for careers in journalism," stated Dr Albert A Sutton of the Medila School of Journalism of Northwestern University.

Dr Sutton, who visited the campus Friday, pointed out that the Florida State University School of Journalism under supervision of Dr Laurence Campbell offered a program similar to that at Northwestern which enabled students to take specialized journalism courses along with their basic work.

Students Win $25 For Best Ad Plan

A twenty-five dollar prize for submitting the best advertising plan in a nation-wide contest has been won by a group of students in a marketing class taught by Dr W Bruce Weale, associata professor of marketing in the School of Business.

The contest was sponsored by the Federal Advertising Agency on behalf of the American Safety Razor Corporation. The students who planned the prize-winning advertising are Mary West, Jo Anne Moon, Harriet Paul, and Ellsworth Hake

Rat Court Statue To Be Introduced At Senate Meeting

The Sophomore Rat Court bill will be introduced in the Senate meeting today at 5:15 p m by June Conyers, recently elected president of the sophomore class. The bill is a continuation of one that was introduced by Will Pennell two years ago.

The purpose of the court is to encourage the wearing of rat caps and name tags by all freshmen, to the extent of enforcing all rules and regulations pertaining to the same.

THE COURT shall be composed of nine members. The chairman of this court shall be appointed by the president of the sophomore class, and the remaining members of four girls and four boys shall be appointed by the newly elected sophomore class officers. A co-chairman and clerk, taken from the court, shall be elected by the court membership. Members of the court shall serve for the first semester of the sophomore year.

The duties of the Rat Court shall be to enforce wearing of the rat caps and name tags by all freshmen, supervise the selling of rat caps and distribution of name tags, penalize, without hazing, any freshman who violates any of the rules pertaining to the same, including those set up by this court.

The court will see that freshmen receive information concerning the wearing of rat caps and name tags before entering school in the fall. It will keep a record of each case coming before this court, and file these in the University Government Association files.

The court shall draw up its own rules of procedure, rules for the wearing of rat caps and name tags, set the price for rat caps, and punishment for violating the same.

This bill was drawn up by this year's freshmen senators.

Choral Union Presents Elijah By Mendelssohn

Elijah, an oratorio by Felix Mendelssohn, will be presented by the Choral Union under the direction of Harman Guntar, jr, Friday evaning in tha Amphitheatar at 8:15. In case of rain, the drama will be in the music hall. The public is invited without charge.

Soloists for the occasion will be Claire Kenyon and Norma Jean Kearney, soprano; Bette Jo Armstrong, alto; Herman Bekemeyer and William Dalrymple, tenors; and Edgar Evans, baritone. Accompanists will be Ramona Cruikshank Beard at the organ and Nancy Love Hill at the piano.

THE PERFORMANCE of the oratorio, Elijah has been the major project for the Choral Union this semester and will be their first appearance since the Messiah last September.

The oratorio was written by Mendelssohn in 1646, while he was at the Leipzig Conservatory. It had it's first performance in the same year at Birmingham, England, where it was so well received that four choruses and four arias had to be encored.

THE ORATORIO is divided into two vast sections. The first part relates how the prophet Elijah declares a drought in Israel because its people have forsaken the Lord and follow instead, under the rule of King Ahab, the false Baal. He performs the miracle of raising the widow's son from the dead, and then challenges the prophets of Baal to a contest which shall determine who is the true God. When Elijah is victorious, he puts the evil prophets to death.

The second part of the oratorio is concerned with the efforts of Elijah's enemies to kill him and the protection afforded him by the Lord, and finally his ascension to heaven in a fiery chariot.

Initiation Banquet Will Be Saturday

The annual initiation banquet of Phi Kappa Phi, scholastic honorary fraternity, will be held Saturday, May 26.

Formal initiation ceremonies for the six graduate students and 28 seniors recently tapped by the honorary will be held Saturday at 5:30 p m in the faculty lounge on the second floor of the Longmire building.

The banquet honoring the new initiates will follow at 6:30 in the Lafayette Room of the dining hall, with Dr Margaret Campbell of the modern languages department, president of Phi Kappa Phi, presiding. Dr Claude Flory, professor of English, will be the main speaker; for entertainment the guests will hear the Student String Quartet.

Who's Who Choices Featured; Chief Justice To Be Elected

"Florida State University students will be asked to vote on three issues in the final election of the year this Thursday," Paul Garrison, elections chairman announced. "I want to urge students to cooperate whole heartedly in this final but important election."

Featured in the election will be the Who's Who ballot, the honor system amendments and the election of the chief justice of the University court.

ON THE WHO'S WHO BALLOT three choices will be presented. The first will be that of abolishing the organization from campus entirely. The second choice will be that of confining the organization to the Florida State University campus. The third section would provide that the local group join the national organization and that standards for membership be set up.

Any student who wishes to run for the office of chief justice of University Court should file a qualification in the office of the Dean of student welfare not later than 4 p m this afternoon, according to Garrison.

"I HOPE that the students will not fall down on this, our last election," said Paul, "but will make this the biggest turnout of the year. These are very important issues which must be decided upon."

Elections Chairman Garrison asked that all Sophomore counselors begin signing up today to aid in the election balloting. Counselors will sign the Sophomore council board in lower Westcott.

The following sentence will be called to a vote by the student body to be stricken from the Honor system constitution, that "the recommendation shall be reviewed by the Faculty committee on Student Welfare, with the chief justice and member of the court present."

IN THE PRESENT HONOR SYSTEM, proposed amendments would be as follows under the University Honor Court. In section four, concerning penalties, "In case of cheating, if a student submits as his own product written work in whole or in part that is not his own, the instructor shall report the case to the Honor Court and turn over to the Court the documentary evidence."

The following two sentences shall be cut from the section, "Conviction shall carry a minimum penalty of F in the course In flagrant cases the Court may assign additional penalties."

A STUDENT who permits another student to copy his written work knowing that the copier intends to submit it as his own is equally as guilty as the student who copies and is subject to court action. The recommendation shall be reviewed by the Faculty committees on Student Welfare with the Chief Justice and a member of the court present.

Garrison said that this whole fourth section shall be moved up to be under the article entitled Reporting of Honor Code Infractions and shall be section two All the following sections shall be moved up one number

Also included in the ballot at the last moment are the three amendments contributed by retired senator Jim Turnbull which concern the experience requirements for elected offices and the abolishment of the Student Board of Publications

FBLA Confab Ends Saturday

Banquet Ends Meet; Campbell Gives Address

The annual convention of the Future Business Leaders of America ended with a banquet Saturday at which President Doak S Campbell was principal speaker.

More than 100 delegates from all sections of Florida registered for the convention, which got underway with a business meeting Friday afternoon in the FSU Longmire Auditorium.

Miss Aileen Broome, FSU senior, presided over the initial business session in which the students were welcomed on behalf of the university by Dr Frank Dame, dean of the FSU School of Business, and Olen Murphy, FSU faculty sponsor of the FBLA.

FOLLOWING the first business session Friday, the delegates were treated to a humorous talk by Dr D Lincoin Canfield, head of the FSU Department of Modern Languages. Friday evening the convention delegates attended a picnic at Camp Flastacowo given by the FBLA social committee, headed by Miss Imogene Hair, Tampa, of the FSU club.

The delegates from a number of high schools and colleges over the state made a tour of the Florida State University campus last Saturday morning. They also attended the second annual business machines show of FSU under the sponsorship of the Delta Sigma Pi, university business fraternity.

AT NOON last Saturday a number of Florida teachers, who have accompanied the FBLA delegates to the university for the convention, were honored at a luncheon at the Cherokee Hotel, when they will be initiated into the Pi Omega Pi fraternity. Kenneth Ballinger, Tallahassee attorney, was the luncheon speaker.

The banquet and address by Dr Campbell Saturday night ended the two-day session.

'Musica Prohibita' To Be Shown Today

An Italian movie will be shown free of charge today at 6:30 and again at 8 30 p m in the Longmire auditorium. Musica Prohibita, or Forbidden Music is being sponsored by Italian classes taught by Miss Azurra Givens.

Italian movie stars featured in the show are Tito Gobbi, Maria Mercader and Lorendana.

The film today will have English sub-titles. The setting of the story will be in Florence, Italy.

UGA Installs New Officers Next Thursday

Installation of recently elected officers for next year will be held Thursday, May 24, at 8:00 p m in the Longmire auditorium, according to Dick Bradley, chairman of the installation committee.

One of the Chief Justices—either the incoming or the outgoing—will install the other officers. The reason for the indecision at the present moment is that the election to decide who is to be the new Chief Justice will be held the same day, and there will be one hour to count the ballots. If the new justice cannot be installed, then Bo Baker, presently holding the office, will initiate the others.

Dick Bradley, in reporting to the University Council, stated that he was trying to make the convocation a fast-moving show. "We'll have a master of ceremonies to keep things moving, and there will be absolutely no long speeches," he said. It was also announced to the Council that women could not wear sun-back dresses, but that the men's dress would be left to their own discretion.

It has not been decided as yet who will be master of ceremonies for the evening.

A reception with refreshments will be held immediately after the ceremony.

All officers will be notified personally by Bradley or his committee members, Cass Yonge and Gail Albritton.

Speech Auditions Are Held Tomorrow

Auditions will be held tomorrow afternoon and evening for students to be enrolled in the summer session and are interested in speech department productions. Tomorrow's audition will be held in the Augusta Conradi theater from 4 until 5 30 p m and 7 until 9 p m.

Persons who would like to work on technical and business phases of production are also asked to report at one of the scheduled times.

Tentative plans call for two full-length productions to be given during the nine-week session. Our Town by Tornton Wilder will be produced in August and See How They Run by Philip King is slated for mid-July. Final decisions will depend upon talent available, however; the speech department has announced.

Pirates Entertain Air Force Base

The entire cast and crew of the Pirates of Penzance voyaged up to Albany, Georgia, Sunday afternoon to let the men at Turner Air Force Base see the show.

The Air Force provided plenty of trucks and busses to haul the performers and equipment there and back. The trip began at 1 p. m. the show went on at 7, and they were back in Tallahassee before 2 a. m.

NOT ONLY did the Light Opera Guild do the extra show free of charge, but the company which supplied the costumes and equipment, Tracy's of Boston, also wired its willingness to do something for the boys by not charging a cent for the extra day

The adventure was engineered by Warren Dedrick, entertainment director at the base, and Dr Robert L Briggs, Pirates director.

Art Films Shown

The art education department will present three moving pictures on Friday, May 25 at 3 p m in room 114 of the Education building.

The films deal with child guidance in the field of art and the mastering of certain techniques.

The movies are entitled "Understanding Children's Drawings" "Light Reflection" and "Your Child Is a Genius."

Over 100 Student Leaders Attend Leadership Training Conference

Over 100 student leaders at Florida State University laid the groundwork for a stronger student government for next year at the Leadership Training Conference at Camp Flastocowo this weekend.

The two-day confab, sponsored by Mortar Board, women's leadership honorary, ended Sunday with a large number of faculty members as well as old and new University Government Association officers taking part.

Delivering the keynote address to the delegates in the first session, Dr Doak S Campbell, university president, set the tempo for the entire weekend by laying the foundation for some common aims for both the faculty and students.

THE CONFERENCE program included individual group meetings for the University Government Association officers, publication and WFSU heads, and organization presidents.

In these group meetings students and faculty discussed specifically what each officer's field covers, what his duties are, and the problems with which he will be faced in the light of what has happened this year. They also discussed ways of averting these situations.

DURING A PANEL group discussion Saturday night, student delegates were told that they "should not only accept the honor and prestige of office, but that they should understand the time, energy and duties of that job and go into it to do the best job possible."

Dr William Leap of the FSU Social Work department gave the delegates a thirteen-point program for leadership during the conference.

Dr Edwin Hartz, FSU Social Work department, spoke to the students at the worship service Sunday morning.

STUDENT SPEAKERS at the conference were: Doris Harding, president of Mortar Board; Will Pennell, UGA president-elect; Bob Griffin, Flambeau editor; and Jim Ball, chief justice of Judicial Court.

Several points brought out in Doris Harding's speech included these:

1—THE SLC was a fine way to get to know the fellow students you are working with.

2—To gain a knowledge of previous offices.

3—To better know faculty members as they work along with students in a conference of that type.

WILL PENNELL defined several major points: the student government is not independent of the administration and must adhere to the ideals of the administration. Authority should be defined, and student officers should be aware of their limitations. Student officers should accept better the responsibilities of the university.

Women Will Elect Summer Officers

The election for Women's summer government officers will take place at a meeting held Thursday at 5 p m in the Augusta Conradi theatre. All women students attending summer school are asked to be present

Nominations for the election of officers will be accepted by Cass Yonge, vice-prseident in charge of women's affairs, until tomorrow. Cass asked that students get their nominations in on time There will be no nominations from the floor Thursday.

Officers to be elected are the president of the three dorms open for the summer, two vice-presidents for each dorm, a representative to judiciary from each dorm, a head fire marshall and a chairman of judiciary for women.

13 Points of Leadership Listed at Dynamic Convo

Solid foundations were laid this week end for strong campus leaders at Florida State University, 1952.

The construction occurred at the first annual Morter Board Leadership Training Conference at Camp Flastacowo.

The contractors were outgoing and incoming University Government officers, student publication and WFSU heads, student organization presidents, plus plenty of interested faculty members.

Today, as a result of the conference the majority of FSU's future campus leaders have a greater understanding of their responsibilities, their limitations and their privileges. They have a better idea of what is expected of student leaders by students. They have a clearer idea of what the administration expects of student leaders. And those students, both old officers and new ones, who were interested enough in our university to attend the training conference gained a better understanding of just what leadership means.

Through the thirteen-point program for leadership presented to them in the campfire discussion of the topic, they received a better understanding of the characteristics and principles which a leader has acquired or should acquire.

Presented in Dr William L Lesp's message, "A Baker's Dozen," these 13 points are:

1 Ability to work with people
2 Thorough understanding of duties
3 Imagination—the ability to look ahead and dream up things needed to be accomplished; foresight.
4 Judgment
5 Sense of timing and appropriateness
6 Willingness to listen
7 Willingness to enthuse others—Always be willing to tell others know why they have been asked to do certain things and that they know the importance of these things.
8 Ability to carry out promises
9 Ability to select subordinates
10 Ability to organize
11 Ability to follow through with the job you start
12 Inherent honesty
13 (And the "Baker's Twelve"): (4) Humility—It becomes a leader (2) ability to budget time, (3) knowledge of the rules of the game.

This "Baker's Dozen" is far more than last year's officers had to guide them when they went into office. These points should guide the incoming UGA officers into better student leaders.

Perhaps even more students than the approximate 100 present could have heard and contributed to the worthwhile and frank discussions that occurred throughout the conference had there been a definite week end set aside on the calendar for the affair. We advocate that the conference be given a specific week end on the calendar for 1952. No conflicting engagement should keep any student officers from attending.

Success marks the first leadership training conference Morter Board started out with three main purposes: (1) that the students would get to know each other better in hopes that more trust and understanding would result, (2) that old officers could review their jobs with the new ones in hope that the incoming officials could benefit, and (3) that faculty and students would become better acquainted in hopes of better cooperation.

These purposes and more were accomplished by conference adjournment Sunday at noon. A dynamic spirit among the group was evident.

It was certain the student leaders were ready to accept the challenges put before them at the conference. And no one can deny that the spirit of leadership that reigned throughout the week end.

It is our belief that the foundation built at this conference will grow into a major framework of good student government through the efforts of strong, capable leaders next year.

● IMPORTANT HONOR

Fifty-two freshmen girls have just been selected to wear the blue and white of Sophomore Council next year. We congratulate these girls and hope that they will take seriously this new honor which has been bestowed upon them.

Sophomore Council is more than just wearing a uniform on Tuesdays and a little gold pin with three torches. Membership is chosen from approximately five percent of the freshman class, and an average of at least one point has to be maintained during the first semester of their freshman year. Here the real basis of selection to this honorary is that of leadership, high ideals and outstanding service. In the past the Sophomore Council has upheld these objectives.

The group has been active in helping out with running election polls, welcoming freshmen, faculty stunt night and other campus events with their work might be needed. To this year's Sophomore Council we say a job well done.

Tonight next year's Council will meet and choose a president to succeed this year's Bonnie Smith. The job is an important one. It calls for the leadership of one who is not afraid of work and above all, for one who has plenty of school spirit. Florida State hopes that the initiates will make a wise choice and select a president who will have the ability to make the new Council a closely knit and serviceable organization.

● WEE ATTENDANCE

Has the cause lost its meaning?

Approximately 350 students dribbled in to Conradi theater Friday night as Faculty Stunt Night ended another witty performance and another effort for the benefit of the Foreign Student Scholarship. Last year, the stunt show attracted approximately 1200 students.

With three other major performances taking place Friday night, the foreign student effort was drowned by competitive publicity. The lure of free admission to Bud Abbott and Lou Costello and to Tarpon, with all interests waiting until Friday night to attend The Pirates of Pensance, left a small percentage of students attracted by the presentation of the faculty's sense of humour.

Patti Mims, chairman of ticket sales, is to be commended for her efforts, however, and Dean of men, Otis McBride, for his four year role as master of ceremonies.

Among solutions for next year's show, would be to present the student body with the importance of the proceeds of Stunt Night and to be scheduled on a night with few minor attractions.

FRANKLY SPEAKING

ADMINISTRATION ACTED BIT TOO HASTY

By ALLAN HEAD

It would be absurd to say that the dismissal of Gene Burnett has not passed unnoticed by the student body. The chief effect his dismissal was already widespread before the story in last Friday's Flambeau. And the common theme was that the Administration had acted in a hasty and ill-advised manner.

I do not want to over-emphasize the importance of this dismissal in the student body, because as I have already told the Dean of Student Welfare, the tactics used by the Administration in dismissal of YOUTH-TIME have done more toward encouraging Ku Klux than almost any other course of action. To many students, the position taken we seem as to encourage the belief that Burnett was hitting at least One is the truth.

In student talk it is being pointed out that a pattern seems to be forming in the actions of the Administration. This was also mentioned in the dean's office in case of Richard Tucker, who was also asked to withdraw recently he did so.

Other unofficial sources say that the same tactics were used. First, indirect pressure, and then use of Dr O'Connell, the school psychiatrist, in an examination for possible "psychological maladjustment."

In the case of Burnett, the psychological examination was limited to Dr O'Connell's being in the same room with Burnett while the dean of student welfare was discussing his withdrawal with him. According to Burnett, and later confirmed by the dean, Dr O'Connell did not say a word—merely stared at the wall. Whether such a procedure is the best to follow if there is any chance of the student in question being seriously maladjusted, but it has been widely criticized as a "simple-do screen."

Some students are openly wondering how many of their fellows have been quietly high pressured into withdrawing from school because their opinions did not suit the administration. This is indeed unfortunate for such action could well bring serious trouble not only to President Doak Campbell, who has always been popular and well-liked, but to the entire university as well.

Perhaps the whole incident should be written off as a mistake, attempt to suppress the free expression of opinion in our student society. Let us hope that it will not happen again.

I have a prize. I'm passing it on for at least one other student, too, and have no doubt there are more. The prize is that when I put a nickel into the orange juice machine in Dingley building last Friday, no cup appeared. I stood there with my tongue hanging out, panting with thirst, while I watched the juice pour out and down the drain. Please somebody do something. The refunds are limited and these are very hot days.

Elections are next Thursday. Let's have no ill turn-out and throw this "WHO'S WHO" farce off campus for good. Also, let's pass the Student Code amendments. They're good amendments, and should really help.

FANCY THIS

WHAT GOES RATTLE, SQUEAK, SCREEH?

By FRANCES CAWTHON

Some brave soul has dared silentest to walk into that chaotic realm of filth called the FSU beau office and stands before me. It speaks and says it is interested in working as a reporter.

Immediately it is seized upon by an eager beaver who asks again I am left at my typewriter. But this time I am glad. I shall write about—Flambeauina.

There are several essential characteristics of a Flambeau writer. For one thing, when he cuts himself he does not bleed blood, but rather the finest grade printer's ink. He must be able to distinguish between the 11 campus hang-outs for hours, and discuss everything from the Framework of good student government through the efforts of strong, capable leaders next year.

He must be able to tell from the sound in the campus, tell shady stories, drink or use profane language without blushing. He must, however, may be taken with two boxes of iodised salt and one can of bahing soda.

But no kidding. It's a great life if you don't weaken, and if you do weaken, well, it's still life. And if you think you have the essentials, we'll be glad to welcome you into the fourth estate.

He stood there among them all, his ears stuffed with cotton and his head tilted into a line. Some, who were lucky, had seats, but they looked as uncomfortable as he in standing. The heat was unbearable and the weary, sweaty male sounds of the crowd looked ahead with blank eyes. He was unaware of the noises in his ears and race screamingly around in his brain. He wondered what there was that many cats, dies, squeaks and screeches in the world. At every jerk he was startled that his teeth played an accompaniment to the clattering symphony. Then there was a sudden hunge and he was pitched forward. With difficulty he straightened himself up, bent his head low and waited for it all to end. He swore it would be the last time he would ever go to FSU but then

OLD UGA PRESIDENT NENER–SPLASH!

By EMORY KING

What am I doing but partaking of the hospitality of the spirit of Ben Adams' place the other night. But when you are waiting until Friday night to attend The Pirates of Pensance, left a small percentage of students attracted by the presentation of the faculty's sense of humour.

Patti Mims, chairman of ticket sales, is to be commended for her efforts, however, and Dean of men, Otis McBride, for his four year role as master of ceremonies.

Among solutions for next year's show, would be to present the student body with the importance of the proceeds of Stunt Night and to be scheduled on a night with few minor attractions.

"So," said my budding young journalist, "all is comparatively okay. That is certainly fine, as it was stated that people have committed some minor indiscretion within the last few days that would have been cause for alarm. Before us, it is very good to hear that you are all right."

While he is commencing in this manner for a period longer than I wish to listen, I got up and left, because I am not a glutton thirsty if I have to listen to other people talk.

While at the water fountain I am thinking how wonderful and inspiring everything is this night when all of a sudden the entire place goes up in screams. The whole building seems to drift sideways at the tables near the three doors are making a mad dash to a quiet day at fall registration.

Dropping my glass and swinging around to action—crawling under a table, that is—I see a dozen or more jolly-ers come flying through the three doors. They are dressed in pirate togs and are brandishing all kinds of swords. They take over the bandstand and grab the microphone. Georgie Bee and his Boston Rarities are blowing more sour notes than I've heard all year. Then there is a long time.

Then in the corner of my eye I see half a dozen pirates seize our good president Askew and drag him up to the center of this noisy, lively crew. The leader has taken over the WFSU microphones and is announcing to all concerned that the Pirates of Pensance have captured the Suwannee Dining Hall and are holding it for ransom.

He further announces that the pirates can be seen at the Music building on Saturday, Friday and Saturday nights in the play entitled "The Pirates of Pensance". At this I came out from under the table. I don't know why, but Askew, Dining Hall, who sends these men here, but I wish he would warn people ahead of time.

Then the leader shouts that Rube will walk the plank into the Suwannee, Georgia River. I'm very sure that the crowd cheers like crazy and Askew is carried away.

So that is how I come to be standing in front of Westcott pool and listening to the cries of the blood thirsty mob that night.

And President Askew goes to his doom with these immortal words on his lips: "Don't lose faith." he cries as someone prods him with sabre, "never die . . ." Splaaat! Splash . . . glub . . . glub . . . ugh . . .

FLORIDA POLITICS

PATTERSON AND PEEPLES END CONDITION

(Editor's Note: The authors of this column are given the widest latitude. Their views do not necessarily represent those of the Flambeau or its editors.)

By VERNON PEEPLES and BILL PATTERSON

With this column we two journalistic novices wish to bring to a close our "behind the scenes" analysis of the Florida State University centering around the current legislative session.

As "newspapermen" we have had experiences that have been interesting and educational. We have had opportunity to study intimately the workings of Florida representative democracy, and on the whole we think the legislature has done a good job of translating the will of the people into law.

And, on the whole, the newspapers have done a good job of covering the current law-making session, too, even the Tampa Tribune and the editor of Florida politics, Doyle Conner.

And the editor of the Flambeau, Earl Dubert, was exceedingly gracious in allowing us to present to the student body certain opinions on controversial issues, opinions with which he was often in disagreement.

We wish to congratulate certain members of the state for diligently trying to secure better state and local government. The Florida Committee of Seventy is one outstanding work in this direction. Also, the people of citizens grows more experienced in political affairs we are sure it will continue to progress in the next two years. Appropriations for welfare and continuation of the minimum foundation program for education have been voted. And many progressive measures are programs are forthcoming.

In closing this, our final column for the Flambeau, we want to express our previous columns in which we severely chastised a few individuals for their lack of a battle which the people of the South has been waging for many years, especially since the period of reconstruction

Within the context of this struggle we took our stand against northern control of the media which helps to shape southern public opinion.

The paper which we took to task is controlled by out of state in-

Poetically Yours...

LEWIS R AIKEN, JR.

This poem completes the series on education in America.

RESURRECTION

Somcons fires a shot in the square,
Which shudders the dons in a public park.
The mute old man comes out of his lair,
And dons his mothy gray in the dark.

His gun is old and his bullets the same,
His fervor—not for society.
All over the place, the humanrs are seen,
Campaigning for votes and votes.

And someone shouts: "This way, we'll all sink,
Why fight when there's nothing to gain?
Let's understand and think . . .
A wilderness voice in vain.

The victims win and the losers lose.
The grass is not what it used to be green.
Was this the opportune time to cloosm?
Few generations the scars can heal.

Dear Editor...

Student Argues "Freedom of the Press"

Dear Editor:

I have just completed reading the March issue of the Florida Flambeau in your newspaper. I read also his refutation of these charges—his arguments are quite clear, his rights as expressed are logical and just. I believe that Mr. (Name Deleted) is being purged not for the material in his sheet but for the attempt to exercise his God-given right to think and speak.

You are, or should be, in control of the publication known as The Florida Flambeau. New are you, as student and editor of your newspaper, going to defend this student who had the intestinal fortitude to think and speak his mind or are you going to sit safe and secure while this and other students, your responsibility, are deprived of their rights as free men—free speech.

I hope you realize in your premature resignation that it would be better to have no editorship at all than to define that responsibility as you have done, relegating that position to a controlled state.

Are you going to take a Judas price for the rights of this student?

Is this not a free country? Can we not air our opinions? Can you not defend these students?

WHY?—WHY, won't you uphold their constitutional privilege—WHY? Tell me, Mr. Editor!

Bob Wodrich
Freshman Senator.

Fellow Students:

The student body of FSU currently has before it a problem which must sooner or later be handled by all growing institutions. That problem to which I refer is the "Freedom of the Press."

I sincerely believe it is time the students take a stand for what they believe in. For the students of this institution have a right to know where their school is in regard to the 1st American right. If the majority are willing to accept this new and unheard of ruling of the administration of this university in the absolute power premise, then they want no part of it for I have a religion also.

An editor, elected by the students, has lost his job, and a semblance of free speech whether they be held as right or wrong by the majority, has been dismissed from the university because they exercised a privilege which is guaranteed to every American by our forefathers who gave their very lives obtaining it.

If the people of the university are willing to go along with these absurd dismissals, then we have a right to ignore your and need a dictatorship to govern us.

However, if the price for speaking one's mind is dismissal, then too, I will sooner or later be

Campus Characters

By STAN SCHMIDT

The Flambeau is happy to look like every other paper in the country with charges, counter-charges and a general case of jitters. If reprisals on criticisms continue as they have, the Florida State University College of Journalism reports a growing fear among students of speaking their minds. Professors, caught in the crossfire of congress getting drunk, were further awed by the school. They were afraid to withdraw at the end of the year. Strikes are the result. If any college student who ever spent a drunken night in jail were allowed to read his record, Florida would be a ghost university.

"Overnight" Sighted

Dear Sir:

I wish to put myself on record as opposed to the way this school's administration has handled the case of Gene Burnett case.

All the difficulties precipitating and resulting from this case seem to me fundamentally caused by the administration's consistent "overnight" in bothering to explain to the student body and valid reasons opposed to decisions, policies and tactics. If the administration had made it clear beforehand that university row was self-liquidating, Burnett would not have gotten the axe. Also many in making the damaging "discrimination" accusation in his letter to Youth Time.

In the light of these opinions, I believe the short-sighted and ill-advised administrative tactics of suspending Burnett adds the final touch to the fact that the same tactics caused him to be liable for suspension.

The requested resignation of the Flambeau editor, Earl Dubert, will seem to until the editor's refusal to retraction concedes a satisfactory explanation merely a result of the fact that Dubert, like Henery Allen White, likes to say and print what he thinks and feels. Perhaps La Prensa is a better title than The Florida Flambeau.

All my friends at home who have reviewed the cases of Earl Dubert and Gene Burnett all say the result of fraternity picketing. We are beginning to run down FSU and its administrators. I like this University and most of its leaders and I don't want to be ashamed of telling where I got my degree

. . . If someone would get on the ball in Westcott, I and 5,000 others will support him all the way.

Very truly yours,
Walter Myles Phillips

P. S. Yes, it's my name and my address. I don't lose fight like my lawyer might want it.

Who Has Answer

Dear Editor:

I would like to ask, do we not have freedom of the press? Our newspaper claims that we do. Yet, as soon as someone exercises that freedom to criticize the powerful ones, that person is called up, threatened, and intimidated.

It is quite obvious that if the students of FSU are to have their freedoms, they must insist on them. Mankind has always had to fight for the right to struggle to keep his freedom. It is my well considered opinion that action should be taken to have Gene Burnett reinstated. If it takes a full scale, powerful student uprising to convince the administration of students' rights, I say let's have it! I use the word "peaceful" to protect myself against the "riot and revenant danger" clause. The time has come for us to take on our rights.

If Gene made errors he them be proven to be errors. If they are errors, let them be corrected, if not, let them be reaffirmed.

I can not think of a single thing more important—not even semester hours and quality points.

Sincerely,
William C. Hawkins.

Campus Station Joins Broadcasting System

Members of WFSU, the campus radio station, will be wearing the official pin of the Intercollegiate Broadcasting System next year, as a direct result of joining the organization this year.

Membership in IBS will bring many opportunities to the student group. Since other college radio stations also belong to the group, they will permit WFSU to exchange ideas, ideas, and other station features which will benefit the local set-up.

Many new standards of engineering practice may be adopted as a direct result of the recent trip made by WFSU.

At non-profit educational AM broadcast station licenses are issued for a period of three years, and must be renewed at the end of every three years. This is to prevent any station in the group from making contracts with network organizations or from changing their existing service or facilities.

Also included in IBS rules is a regulation that stations cannot broadcast over a certain number of feet off campus.

PROGRAMS and operating logs are required of member stations. An entry is made of the time each station identification announcement occurs. Also, entries briefly describing each program, such as "music" "drama," "speech," are also to be made.

Under IBS rules, no license of a non-profit educational AM broadcast station shall rebroadcast any commercial program of any United States radio station, unless all commercial announcements and commercial references in the continuity are eliminated. No license shall rebroadcast the broadcasts of another station.

Another facility offered by IBS is their monthly Bulletin, which gives news from other campus stations, and latest news from the group as a whole.

Opera 'Medium' Is Scheduled By School of Music

Menotti's opera The Medium, which is scheduled for presentation here on May 30 by the School of Music, has entered the final week of rehearsals, according to Woodrow Pickering, director of the drama.

The production is being financed by the School of Music, having begun as a class project in voice, and will be a full-scale performance including many workers from outside the School of Music. There will be no admission charged.

Mr. Pickering, the voice instructor in whose class the idea for the show matured, will be music director, and Nellie Bond Dickinson, instructor of modern dance, will stage the production. Bill Lawrence, who teaches stage-design in the speech department, will control the lighting and will also act the pantomime part of the mute Toby.

The plot of the drama deals with a medium who charges exorbitant prices for bringing back the "spirits of the dead" for their families. Finally, the spiritualist begins to experience the sensation of cold, clammy hands on her neck during seances and tries to return the medium she has defrauded. However, her clients want her to keep on bringing back the spirits.

The cast is made up mainly of members of the School of Music with all the female parts taken by voice majors. The part of Baba, the medium, is double-cast with Barbara Manford and Eloise Pruett. Heath Bell will portray the young girl Monica, Dorothy Koont and Virginia French will both play Mrs. Nolan and Patricia Chapman will be Mrs. Gobineau. Mr. Gobineau will be played by Harry Persac, and Bill Kilner will be Toby.

There will be two shows on the same night, Wednesday the 30th, one at 7:30 and the other at 9:30.

Camp Positions Open in N Carolina

Several positions are open for three students during the summer months at Camp Carolina, Brevard, North Carolina.

Students employed would work for eight weeks, June 26 through August 18. The camp director is desirous of securing young college men to act as counselors and instructors for boys attending summer camp between 9 and 16.

Camp Carolina is located in the hills of the Blue Ridge Mountains. All of the camp facilities, including a nine-hole golf course and swimming pool are open for the counselors. Anyone desiring further information should write to Camp Carolina, Inc, R R Bernard, Director, 353 Cooper Place, New Haven 15, Conn.

Super Selling Vendors Enliven Stunt Night

Amid the super selling of the peanut vendors, Faculty Stunt Night got under way Friday night at its fourth annual production.

DEAN OF MEN, Orin McBride, wearing many and varied shirts throughout the evening, was master of ceremonies, and introduced a large group of faculty to display their many talents.

Mr Kenneth Warner, School of Music, opened the show with musical magic and rope twirling. At a later point the show was interrupted by a bewildered mother bringing her "little" freshman son to Florida State University for the first time. Dr Anna F Liddell, Philosophy Department, portrayed the mother and Mr Howard G Danford was her son.

James M Quinn of the music school not only performed with the violin and piano, but presented a humorous dialogue throughout his selections.

"BONES," known on campus as Eli M Dandelion, exchanged numerous jokes with Dr McBride. Then a sliding door rolled off the stage to reveal Dr D L Canfield, who read a new curriculum in "Butler." Dr Canfield is chairman of the modern languages department.

Both intervals throughout the show, Miss Miriam Wilson, Presbyterian minister, presented Thomas J Brooks, University physician, and Dean McBride, to reveal some more on first a motorcycle, then a wheelbarrow.

Dr Jane Hall, better known as the Mad Woman of Chaillot presented an excerpt from the play of the same name. Dr B S Barr and his ROTC unit gave the audience an example of parliamentary procedure used in a military staff meeting.

Joseph Lewis, pianist, of the music school, accompanied by Dr Howard Wilson, also of the music school, sang operatic selections from Rigoletto and Madame Butterfly "in his best soprano."

THE CLIMAX of the show came with the special presentation of Gen Shiela Marathon and all his stars. The general, K L Yudowitch, physics department, served occasionally to friends in the audience and vocalized a specially written ensemble.

Following the show, Dean McBride called Bert Acker, chairman of the ticket sales, and Miss Wilson to the stage in appreciation for their help. They represented the Inter-Church Fellowship. Dr W H Rogers of the Chemistry department, and Dean McBride were faculty co-chairmen.

Proceeds from the stunt night show will go to the Foreign Students Scholarship Fund.

Eleven Initiated In Commerce Frat

Eleven students were initiated into Alpha Kappa Psi, professional commerce fraternity, last Wednesday night with Dr Wesley Harter, assistant professor of business, presenting the welcoming address.

Initiated were George Arrants, Dr A Bernard Bernstein, Leo Leberg, Warren Knape, Robert Lucas, William McDonald, Tom Newberry, Don Newell, Hollis Pemberton, Theo Proctor, Vance Sales and Lewis Wilson.

Initiated with the 11 students were Dr Alfred Bornemann, Florida State University assistant professor of business, and Bruce Davis, instructor in business law.

Keown Exhibit Shown Monday Thru Friday

The State Home Demonstration Officers on West campus are now sponsoring an exhibit from the collection of the late Mattie Wesley Keown, former demonstration agent of Florida. The exhibit is open Monday through Friday from 8:30 a m to 5 p m.

Puerto Rican and Haitian handwoven baskets, bags and mats are now on display in the Home Demonstration foyer. The basket and bag display include models of all shapes and colors from many places around the world.

Fans are also on exhibit depicting scenes from life and culture of the countries in which they were made.

Sessions Receives 'Good Journalism' Flambeau Award

Montrell Sessions, veteran editorial writer for the Florida Flambeau was given the first annual Flambeau award for good journalism last week.

The presentation was made by Eldon Griffin during a senior staff meeting Friday. The award, a salt shaker "donated" by the Soda Shop in the Alumni building, was half filled with salt.

GRIFFIN said, "To a college journalist a good sense of editorial talents, and exceptional ability to write the best possible in our school, and a firm and steady hand and mind in writing the editorials of a newspaper should come some sort of recognition.

"You have been singled out for this recognition. May you ever carry the banner of good newspaper work with you."

SESSIONS, in turn, sprinkled a little pinch of the salt on the editor's desk.

"I hope," she said, "that the Florida Flambeau go forward under your administration."

Later Griffin announced that he hoped that the award could be made annually, and that some time in the future the Flambeau would be able to give a real trophy to each succeeding journalism Funds did not permit such a trophy this year.

Suspension Case Will Be Presented

Gene Burnett, Youth-Time author, will present his case to the Board of Control at the regular meeting Thursday.

Burnett is now living on West campus. He reported that his belongings were removed from his room in Senior Hall and placed in the men's recreation room.

He asked what he would do if the Board of Control turned him down. He remarked that he would carry his case to the courts. He intimated that an injunction might be forthcoming.

An article on Burnett's Youth-Time mimeographed publication appeared in last Friday's Flambeau.

German Program Given

Students of the German classes of the University have prepared a program of German plays and music in the Clubroom of the Longmire building tonight at 8, according to Miss Myrtle Dolbee, associate professor of Spanish and teacher of German.

THE FIRST of the two short plays to be given is Ein Knopf, (A Button), a farcical comedy under the direction of Miss Dolbee. The student actors are Guy Johnson, Charlotte Lisenba, Lewis Aiken and June Orr.

The second one-act play, entitled Die Ankunft (The Arrival), is directed by Mr Karl Keul, instructor of German. The cast includes Pat Crum, Tommy McMullan, Ruth McWilliams, Iona Moody, Edward Pegram, Judy Shuh, and Alice Thorpe.

BOTH PLAYS will be given in the German language, but Mr Keul explained that the audience would hear the story in English first, so that those who haven't brushed up lately could follow better. Guy Johnson, who plays the part of the professor in Ein Knopf, said that the play is simple enough to be enjoyed with very little knowledge of German.

Helen Bell, Virginia French, and Barbara Manford, all of the School of Music, will present German vocal selections as part of the program, and Robert Bodenstein and Jack Hanks will do a dialogue.

Patricia Chapman To Give Recital

Patricia Chapman, soprano, will present a recital tonight in the Music Hall at 8:15 tomorrow night. Gerhard Morper, pianist, will assist in the program.

Miss Chapman's program will consist of Al tempo e dato from Il Ballo delle Ingrate by Ciadi a Monteverdi. Vedi le sapete from Cavalleria Rusticana by Pietro Mascagni, Romance of Debussy, and May by Reynaldo Hahn.

For her groups of songs in English, Miss Chapman will sing The Sleep That Flits on Baby's Eyes and When I Being Coloreu Yous by John Alden Carpenter. O How Ukrained He by Liszt, and Let Me Always Sing by Gene Raymond.

Miss Morper will play the first movement Allegro Moderato of the Beethoven Concerto in G Major, Opus 58. Thomas Rogers will play the orchestral parts of a second piano.

Miss Norma May will be the accompanist for Miss Chapman.

Baptist Students Will Present Play Tonight at House

Where Two or Three, a Baptist playlet, will be presented at 7 tonight at the Baptist student house under the direction of Marilyn Hughson, director of the Baptist players. Co-director is Pat Evans.

KITA ROSE HALL will be in charge of the program which will take place during the regular weekly vespers service, according to publicity chairman, Martha Watkins. Martha said the play is one of several events being planned in honor of graduating seniors.

When Two or Three will take place in the setting of a small southern college called Broughton and will feature a unique scene where the audience will participate in the playlet.

LEADING ROLES will be played by Jack Hanks, Judy Yang, Evelyn Lumbeden, Gracie Stephens, La Rose Oliver, Maria Miller, Kenneth Harrison, Bill Beaton, Ronald Holloway and James Chatham.

The publicity chairman said that the newly formed BSU Brotherhood choir is scheduled to sing during the program.

Seniors will again be honored with Cathy Hamby in charge, the publicity chairman concluded.

Dr Humm Authors Seaweed Chapter In Revised Book

Dr Harold J Humm, director of the oceanographic institute and marine laboratory, Florida State University, is author of a chapter in the revised and enlarged edition of the book, Marine Products of Commerce.

In his chapter Dr Humm tells the story of the use of seaweed throughout history and at the present time. He traces the use of seaweed as medicine in the Orient back to 3000 BC.

THE MARINE botanist writes that very little seaweed as such is eaten in the United States, but that in the Orient dried seaweed is an important part of the diet. In Hawaii natives are said to utilize over 70 species of algae as food, and among the poorer classes of people seaweeds constitute the principal vegetable portion of diet.

Humm also states that Dulse, a seaweed species, is available in commercial quantities in large cities of the northeastern United States.

A Fair Chance

Dear Editor:

Being from the Midwest, neither North nor South, I would like to take an objective stand on this question of segregation.

In regard to last Friday's edition, Jack Lamarr relied on the old stand-by of "Southern Culture" to put across his feelings. All well and good. The use of an "ideal" is probably the best method of putting over a plan yet known.

As to the topic of Southern culture, wasn't this a growth from the status of aristocratical feeling of an earlier date? Since that time the nation has supposedly evolved in to what we would like to call a democracy.

Concerning Jack's statement on segregation; certainly there have been instances where the Negro has been subjected to prize doilling in the North, but also the bigger per cent were given a "fair chance"—not always an equal chance but at least a fair chance. Certainly a while person there doesn't lose all his feelings of resentment, but then whose demanding them to.

Jack stated we say "NO" to them and let it go at that; but do we say "NO" when it comes to levying taxes on them. Do we let them have their own government and system of life—as a nation within a nation? Some believe that is the way they would like to have it, but with "taxation and outside governmentation" does it seem fair?

The plans of FNCA don't quite call for a redivi of them. Giving them a "fair chance" in other schools didn't disrupt the social conditions as to the degree some think it does.

Sears Vice-Pres Talks to Student Management Class

Ralph Williams, vice president of the Tallahassee Chamber of Commerce and manager of Sears Store, talked to the Sales Management Class last night on "Organization and Management of a Sears Store."

Mr Williams discussed the methods used by Sears in their selections, training, promotion and advancement of employees from the time they are first hired to being placed in a manager's position.

The letter part of the lecture was devoted to answering questions of various members of the class.

Track and Net Teams Win Dixie Conference Titles

FROM THE SIDELINES

By WARREN COBB

Flambeau Sports Editor

Well, the Seminole baseball nine missed out on their try for the state championship over the weekend. Even had they beaten Stetson two straight they couldn't have taken the title since the University of Florida won two straight from the Rollins Tars.

*article was written by Harry Wismer and the negative one by Bill Stern.

But the track and tennis teams came through the Dixie Conference tournaments with flying colors. Both successfully defended their championships although the latt cindermen were hard pressed for their victory.

Although track Coach Ken Miller had figured Mercer the winner by two points due to past performances, he didn't figure on the great showings of John Pontin, Woody Parker, Joe Fracassi, and Tom Sebring, who fairly outdid themselves in bringing the Seminoles through to a margin of seven points over the Mercer tracksmen.

PARKER TURNED in a great run in the 440 with a record-breaking time of 50.6 and that's really moving.

The tennis team had an easier time of it with their captain, Barry Dickson, leading the way. Dickson, in his fourth year on the team, bowed out in grand style by winning the Class A singles in straight sets, 6-4, 6-3.

This marked the third year the netters have won the Dixie Conference.

WE CAME ACROSS a couple of interesting articles the other day in old issues of Sport magazine entitled Should College Athletes Be Paid? The affirmative

SCA Officers Entertained

Outgoing and incoming officers of the Student Christian Association were entertained by Mrs Coyle E Moore at a picnic supper in her home last Friday night. Mrs Moore is advisor to the SCA, a combination of the Young Men's Christian Association and the Young Women's Christian Association on campus.

RECENTLY ELECTED to the office of president of the group for next year was Wallace Dynes. Others elected to the executive committee were vice-president, Peyton Williams; secretary, Mary Ann Stemp and treasurer, Richard Shoenberger.

Commission chairmen are personal and campus affairs, Marianes Bradley; Christian heritage, Peggy Moore; social responsibility, Mary Ellen Tavel and world relations, Milton Campione.

Other committee chairmen are membership, Margaret Earnest; publicity, Evelyn Gustafson; recreation, Jean Flynn and freshman, Carolyn Moore.

Design In Material Shown At Gilberg's

An exhibition of "design in material," made by Florida State University students in art education, is now on display at Gilberg's House of Fabrics, a store in Tallahassee.

Included in the show-window display are such objects as pottery, woven fabrics, painted fabrics, metal work, enamelware, and wooden articles.

Council Has Weekend

Sophomore Council will have a Roundup Weekend at Camp Flastarova on Saturday and Sunday, according to Bonnie Lou Smith, outgoing chairman.

The weekend trip is for both old and new members. Registration money will be collected tomorrow in the post office for all who plan to attend.

Counselor Pamphlet

A news pamphlet describing the training and objectives of the department of physical education for women is being mailed over the state.

The pamphlet tells of the camp counselor placement service and specialized training offered in the fields of hydrotherapy, recreation, Girl Scouts, YMCA and camping.

Dormitory Meetings

Compulsory house meetings will be held in all dormitories tonight for the election of next year's officers. All students will go to the dorm in which they expect to live next year.

The house meeting was formerly scheduled for last Thursday night but had to be postponed because of unexpected complications.

Dickson Paces Seminoles To Dixie Crown

As expected, the FSU tennis aggregation copped the Dixie Conference Tournament in Jackson, Mississippi, Saturday to successfully defend its championship. The Seminole netters have now won the title three consecutive years.

Final scores in the tournament were FSU 18, Mercer University 10, Mississippi College 6, and Millsaps 2.

Coach Mallerly's netters were paced by Captain Larry Dickson, who was playing his last tennis for FSU. Dickson, a senior from Tampa, has played four years for the Seminoles.

In a successful swan song, Dickson won the Class A singles title by downing John Schumpert of Mercer in straight sets 6-2, 6-3.

DICKSON THEN teamed with Jim Boda of Tallahassee to win the conference doubles crown by beating Gene Alford and Walter Threns of Mississippi College in the finals 6-2, 6-4.

Boda also took the Class B singles title by upsetting teammate George Newman in the finals.

Bert Schwartz of Mercer was the only contestant not from FSU that was able to win an individual title. Schwartz blasted FSU's George Martin in the Class C singles finals 6-0, 6-0.

The Seminoles reached the semi-finals in each class in the singles.

In Class A Dickson went to the finals by virtue of his 6-0, 6-1 wins over Sellers Parker of Mercer. Schumpert whipped PSU's Jim Berry 6-4, 6-2.

TWO FSU BOYS came out on top in the Class B singles. Boda defeated Mercer's Gus Rice 7-5, 6-4, and Newman defeated Milben Rogers of Mississippi College 6-4, 6-2 in the semi-finals.

Martin won his way to the finals in the Class C competition by downing Bobby Hannah of Mississippi College 6-4, 6-3. Schwartz, the eventual winner, downed Mississippi's Dudley Pearce in the semi-finals.

Jack Eran of FSU was beaten by Schwartz 3-6, 6-4, 7-5, in the first round in Class C.

IN THE DOUBLES PLAY the Seminoles' Dickson and Boda defeated teammates Berry and Eaan in the semi-finals.

Dickson and Boda defeated Mercer's Rice and Schwartz 6-0, 6-1 and Berry and Eaan edged Schumpert and Woodcock, also of Mercer, 8-6, 3-6, 8-1.

Dick Bradley and Tom Babione of FSU lost to Millsaps' Collins and Wills 6-3, 5-7, 6-3 after having downed Choctaws Rogers and Kitchens.

Seminole Nine Splits With Stetson Hatters

The Seminole baseball nine fell before the six-hit pitchery of big Walt Jasinski of the Stetson Hatters here Saturday afternoon by a 7-5 score, after taking the measure of the visitors the day before by an 8-2 count.

Saturday's fray was a close contest going into the top of the seventh inning. Jasinski and Ed Sessions were locked up in a pitching duel and the Seminoles had a narrow 3-2 margin.

Then the Hatters cut loose with five hits and the Seminole-committed three errors as the victory sewed up the game. Ed Lockard pitched the relief and held the Hatters scoreless in the last two innings.

FSU rallied in the last of the ninth with two runs, one of which was the result of a long home run by second-baseman Lee Bailey. But Jasinski bore down and retired the side and the rally fell two runs short of tying the score.

Batting for the Seminoles CAPTAIN PELIA led the Seminoles at the plate with two singles in four times at bat and also drove in two runs.

Stetson was paced by Merrill Smith, second baseman, who had three for five.

In Friday's game it was another story. Coach Charley Armstrong started his ace pitcher, Ed Lockard, and the big Hatter threw a three-hitter at the Hatters. Stetson was unable to score until the final inning when they rallied for two runs.

The Seminoles were blanked by Stetson's Ernie Graves until the fifth inning when they combined one hit and three Hatter errors to score two runs.

The next inning the FSU boys blasted out four hits, suffered one up three walks and the game was over. Big Bob Pelia of the Inland was Augie Pompella's home run. The sharp hit took a freak bounce over the right fielder's head. Singles by Bob Whitmer and Les Muller and Jim Carnahan's fly to left also contributed to the five run rally.

LOCKARD CONTRIBUTED one of his best performances of the year in setting down the Hatters with three hmjles. He fanned 11 men and was never in trouble until the ninth inning when he gave up two runs.

Lockard was ably supported by four fine fielding outfielders Glen Gresham and Les Mullen, Pompella was the leading hitter for the Seminoles with a home run and a single.

Dr Campbell Terms Newsmen 'Brave' In Talk Wednesday

Terming newsmen "brave men in a brave world," Dr Lawrence Campbell, dean of the School of Journalism spoke to Tallahassee Kiwanians last Wednesday.

CITING numerous example of newsmen killed in the Korean struggle and in World War I and II and in other wars ranging back through the 18th century, Dean Campbell said these men "take their risks because 'responsible' newsmen believe that a free republic and a free press are inseparable. They know that where the press is in chains the people are in chains. They know that if we never read the obituary in our free press, we shall read the epitaph of American democracy."

Mentioned by Florida State University School of Journalism, Campbell said, "We are trying to teach and instill in our own students the fine principles of responsible journalism which have always motivated the newsmen—the brave men in a brave world."

School of Pub Ad Prepares Booklet

A booklet of Florida's state government, including the State legislative procedure, has been prepared by the Florida State University School of Public Administration for use at the annual Girls' State meeting on the campus the first week in July.

Dr Wilson K Doyle, FSU faculty advisor to Girls State annual meeting and copies of the booklet, will be sent to the Florida State Department and American Legion Auxiliary officials in charge of the convention for distribution to the girls attending the week-long make-believe "State of Seminole."

FSU Harriers Cop 75 Points For Victory

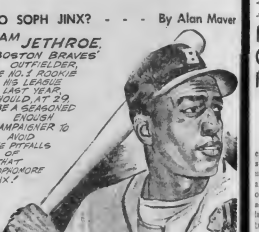
The FSU tracksters again captured the Dixie Conference title this year by tallying 75 points in the tournament Saturday in Clinton, Mississippi. The closest opponent was Mercer with 68 points, followed by Mississippi College with 61½. Howard College finished fourth with 18 points.

The Seminoles set five new records in winning the title, and tied one other.

Woody Parker, freshman from Lake Wales, turned in a magnificent :50.6 in the 440-yard dash for the best performance in the meet. Parker has consistently won this event all year.

JOHN POSTON, Jacksonville speedster, broke two new meet records one in the 100-yard dash and the other in the 220. His times were :10 and :22.3 respectively.

The other record breaker for FSU was Tom Sebring, who hurled the discus 128 feet 4 inches.



Joe Fracassi tied for first place with Reed and Clements of Mercer in the pole vault with a leap of 11 feet 6 inches. Fracassi has cleared the bar at 12 feet 7 inches previously.

The mile relay team took another first for the Seminoles with a time of 3:29.9. This quartet consists of Frank Pearson, John Poston, Woody Parker, and Dick Mize.

Final Meeting Of Old Senate Passes 2 Bills

Rat Court Statute Wins, But University Council Must Approve Next Year

Retiring University Government Association senators adjourned their final meeting of the year last Tuesday, after passing two new bills, one setting up a Rat Court and the other prescribing regulations for contested elections.

The early adjournment was prompted by the desire to let next year's officers get acquainted with the duties of their office before the end of school. Will Pennell, new UGA president, and his Executive Council took office upon adjournment of the latter body on Monday.

THE RAT COURT BILL, which passed on the first reading after suspension of the rules, came as a result of three years of work on the part of Pennell. He first introduced it into the Senate as a freshman, only to see it defeated. Last's attempt also was opposed, again without effect.

The measure, which finally was written by freshman senator, Jane Conyers, It purposes to incorporate the usage of rat caps and name tags by all freshmen, to the extent of deferring all rules. The nine-member court would be appointed by the sophomore class president and would have power to "penalize, admonish, or warn" a freshman who violates any of the rules pertaining to the Rat Court." In addition, the court will "draw up its own rules for procedure, rules for the wearing of the caps and name tags, set the price for the caps and punishment for violations of the rules."

A record of each case coming before the court would be kept in the UGA files.

THE STATUTE passed by the ad hoc committee also has to be approved by the Council for next year.

Pennell Monday night told Senator, "Compulsion is needed at first to get the tradition started later they'll want to wear them. Of course, there will always be those who wouldn't wear a rat cap if you hog-tied them, and we'll just have to overlook those few."

The other bill, introduced by Bev Marsh, sets a 30-day limit on the time that may elapse between an election and a suit contesting it.

Earlier in the session Marsh introduced a constitutional amendment legalizing the recent February election of Bill Sasso as Secretary of University Court, but the move was defeated.

Veteran Graduates Must Apply to VA

Veterans who plan to graduate on June 9 and go into Graduate School must make formal application to the Veterans Administration not later than June 15, before the end of this semester. Applications must be filled with Mrs Wilkin in 101 Bellamy.

Veterans who will not be enrolled for summer school but will return for the first semester, should see Mrs Martin and complete the necessary papers in advance for the fall term.

Postal regulations do not permit the postmaster to forward a subsistence check; therefore, in order to avoid delay in delivery of June checks, all veterans who will not be in Tallahassee on June 16 should submit a change of address to the Pass-A-Grille Regional Office. The local Veterans Administration office is located at 319 North Monroe street where assistance will be furnished to those who wish to take advantage of the services.

Wetherell Elected Soph Council Head

Jean Wetherell was elected President of Sophomore Council Tuesday night in the Music Hall at the first meeting of the new council.

Bonnie Lou Smith, retiring chairman, conducted the meeting. Jane Murphy was elected secretary-chairman of the group, and other officers will be elected at another meeting. Plans were discussed for the Sophomore Council Roundup weekend which will be held at Camp Flastacowo tomorrow and Sunday.

At a meeting held last night a serenade for the graduating seniors was planned.

SACRED ORATORIO—Tonight at 8:15 in the amphitheater of the Music School, the Choral Union will feature their second and final concert of the year. At this time they will present the first and second part of the sacred oratorio by Mendelssohn, Elijah.

FSU Choral Union Presents Oratorio "Elijah" Tonight

The dramatic oratorio of Felix Mendalssohn based on the Book of Kings of the Biblical Hebrew prophet, Elijah, will be presented tonight at 8:15 in the Music amphitheater as the Choral Union gives their second musical performance of the year.

Directing the group will be Herman Gunter, jr. The organ will be played by Ramoña Cruikshank Beard and will provide a full-bodied accompaniment for Elijah. Nancy Love Hill at the piano will accompany the recitatives.

SOLOISTS for the concert of distinct background will be Claire Kenyon and Norma Jean Kearney, sopranos; Bettie Jo Armstrong, alto; Harold Butler, tenor and William Dalrymple, tenors, and Edgar Kram, baritone.

The 130 members in grey and maroon robes will begin the two-part oratorio with Elijah attempts to awaken the people of Israel, who have forsaken the Lord and followed the false god Baal.

In the second part of the oratorio, the effects of Elijah's enemies to kill him will be dramatically revealed by the singers.

MENDELSSOHN INTRODUCES the characters of the drama who tell the story as it happens to them, in the nature of the opera.

In order of presentation in the program tonight will first be the Biblical scene in which the son of the widow of Zarapheth is restored to life. This scene will be followed by the story of the Heavenly Fire which will burn and consume the false god Baal, will be his feeling of despair as he flees into the wilderness. The reassurance by promises from God strengthen the faith of the fleeing prophet, and it expressed in song through the 130 voices as they end their second performance of the year, singing, "Lord, our Creator, how excellent Thy name is in all the nations! Thou fillest the heavens with Thy glory."

CHORAL UNION CONSISTS of both students and townspeople. It is an outgrowth of University Chorus, created to give more people an opportunity to sing great choral literature. Choral Union's first performance was the Messiah last semester.

Officers of the group are Norman Jess Kearney, president; Nancy Love Bill, vice president; Albert Bradford, business manager; and Lindsey W MacGowan, representative-at-large.

Pi Kappa Lambda To Hold Initiation At Wakulla Lodge

Pi Kappa Lambda, music honorary, will initiate 21 new members into Phi chapter at a formal ceremony and banquet at Wakulla Lodge tomorrow night.

Candidates for initiation are Joan Parris, Nancy Hill and Lorraine Mottaze, juniors; Helen Bell, John Eddins, Virginia French, Joyce Gregory and Velma Youmans, seniors; Penny Chin Chin, Ann Gainey, Harry Holmberg, Patsy Shinn and J Dayton Smith, graduates; Eugene Crabb, Ernst von Dohnanyi, Robert Forman, Sidney Foster, Donald Rand, Joseph Running, Harry Schmidt and Howard Wilson.

The honorary society has as its objectives, encouragement of eminent achievement in performance, musical composition and musical leadership. Membership is open by invitation to junior graduates in music schools.

Stan Gould Elected Prexy of Gold Key

The installation of new officers of Gold Key, leadership, honorary fraternity, was held last night in the Longmire auditorium with Bill Conklin, this year's president, officiating.

Installed were president, Stan Gould; vice president, Jerry Thomas; secretary, Neil Jacoby, and treasurer, Bob Lucas.

Present at the installation was Gold Key sponsor, Dr Claude E Story of the English department.

The honorary society has as its objectives, encouragement of eminent achievement in performance, musical composition and musical leadership. Membership is open by invitation to junior graduates in music schools.

Students Win Bonds

In addition to the students mentioned in last Tuesday's Flambeau, Marlene H Lentz, James A Strawder, Eugene L Bond and Charles W Newman to own #25 savings bonds in a national advertising contest sponsored by the United Safety Razor Corporation. The announcement was made by Mr Allen Lundquist, instructor in advertising.

Band Concert Set On Sunday Evening In Amphitheater

An informal out-of-doors band concert in the Music Amphitheater is offered Sunday evening for townspeople and students. Beginning at 6 p m, Professor Ernest T Bruangwd will direct the FSU Symphonic Band in a program of semi-classical music.

Featured on the program will be five graduating students, each conducting two numbers. These students, who will graduate with degrees in instrumental music education, plan careers as high school band directors in Florida.

"This program of semi-classical music has been selected for variety and balance and should prove very pleasing to the audience," according to Professor Bruangwd.

The five students who will conduct and their selections are The Chimes of Liberty by Goldman, and Nobo by De Ruberti, Joanne Nelson conducting; Under the Double Eagle by Wagner, and The Midnight Sun by Yoder, Donald Mason conducting; On the Mall by Goldman, and The American Waltz by De Rose, Annette Mitchell conducting; Honda Across the Sea by Sousa, and Theodora Overture by Whitney, Earl Neal conducting; Lady of Liberty by Wellhaum, and Festival by Yoder, Hoyt Potter conducting.

The last three selections of the program will be conducted by Professor Bruangwd. They are Marching Song by Holst, Deep River by De Rose, and Rumbelero by Camarata.

Skogstad Captures Speaking Contest

Katherine Skogstad was awarded first place in the Intramural public speaking contest sponsored by the Women's Recreation Association Tuesday night in the Union.

Runners-up in the contest were Shirley Blake and Joanne LeRoy. Other finalists included Margaret Carnes and George Diaz. The public speaking contest was the last in this year's Intramural series. Contests have also been held in oratory and after dinner speaking.

Intramural contest in debate will be held in the fall of next year, with more speaking contests scheduled for the spring. Dr Gregg Phifer of the speech department has announced.

Over 400 Students To Take Draft Test

Over 400 students will take the first Selective Service College Qualification Test tomorrow at 8:30 a m, according to Dr Mark DeGraff, director of the test service bureau.

The test, which measures aptitude and is not knowledge accumulated, will not be taken more than once.

STUDENTS ARE strongly urged to be on time in reporting to room 210 education building tomorrow morning. Dr DeGraff warned that students will definitely not be admitted into the test rooms after 9. All men students are asked to report directly to Dr DeGraff for instructions. Assignment slips will tell the student where to go.

The new gym and Longmire auditorium have been selected as examination spots. However, those taking the test must report to the first floor.

The test will last three hours. "No person is excused during that time by Federal order," Dr DeGraff stated.

THE IMPORTANCE of the test was outlined by Dean of Student Welfare Dr Culpepper.

"It is advisable for all students taking the test to appear before time scheduled to assure prompt procedure," he said.

"Students must be properly fingerprinted before being admitted," Dr DeGraff said. They are Marching Song by Holst, Deep River by De Rose, and Rumbelero by Camarata.

DR CULPEPPER stated that when the tests are completed they will be forwarded to the Selective Service office in Princeton, N J, for scoring.

The results will be sent to the local draft board and students will be given results through their board.

"NO EXCUSES for absence can be received except as approved by the New Jersey office," Dr Culpepper said.

Selective Service officials disclosed that only 500,000 students, or 10 per cent, were exempted in the past, will escape military service under the new scholastic deferment program.

BRIG GEN LOUIS H RENFROW, deputy director of the Selective Service, stated in Washington that a college student's deferment status may depend on both his academic standing and the score in the aptitude test.

Heretofore, the student could depend entirely on his scholastic standing.

Tests will also be given June 16 and June 30 to more than 1,000 examination centers.

Thomas Wins Election With Write-In-Ballot

Only 261 Votes Cast in Final Balloting; Smallest Turn-out Announces Chairman

Out of 261 votes cast for Chief Justice of the Honor Court in yesterday's elections, Jerry Thomas, running on a write-in ballot, won over Alice Jackson by 11 votes. Thomas had 136 votes while Jackson had 125.

According to Garrison during early tah ulation, this is the smallest voting record this year.

ON THE WHO'S WHO ISSUE, 134 students voted for Who's Who to join national, 23 voted for a local Who's Who and 81 ballots were cast to abstain.

Votes on the modification of the Honor System, the re-vole on the amendment concerning certain UGA procedures, and the Turnbull amendments were not counted up to press time yesterday.

CONCERNING THE BALLOT for Chief Justice of the University Court, Jerry Thomas was denied a place on the ballot for the Chief Justice position by the Executive Council. Thomas therefore organized a write-in ballot in the elections for yesterday.

Thomas' regular application before deadline, with his only opponent, Alice Jackson Later the Executive committee of the Executive Council investiaated and found that he had not served on University Court, but on Judicial Court, and therefore had not attained the prerequisite of one year service on the University Court.

JERRY stated that he knew he was not qualified when he applied, but he contended that the Marshall amendments, which were also voted on in yesterday's election, would qualify him if passed by the students. "If they fail to pass," he said, "there is no harm done. I would simply be disqualified."

The so-called "Turnbull amendment" by which Jerry can be candidate referred was one providing that experience requirements for either court may be fulfilled by a term of service on the other. Thomas has served as chairman of Men's Judiciary since October.

A PRECEDENT was set by the elections committee in his case, Thomas said. "When Bill Hayes ran for this office there was no investiation of his qualifications; now, by this action, the committee has taken upon its shoulders the responsibility for checking up on each candidate," he commented. "Either that, or I was illegally disqualified," Thomas added.

Board of Controls Upholds Suspension

The suspension of Gene Burnett from Florida State University has been upheld by the Board of Control.

Defended by John Allison Rudd, Tallahassee attorney, Gene's case rested on a demand for a more definite state of charges.

The Board of Control was in executive session with Flambeau press time and did not release a public statement concerning the decision.

Gene was suspended for the following reasons:

(1. Incumbent refusal to accept and abide by advice and counsel

Singing Collegians Finish Fourth Year Of Vocal Concerts

The Collegians, a group of 25 male singers, have completed another year of musical entertainment.

Under the direction of J Dayton Smith, this group presented two campus concerts, numerous civic club presentations, and dormitory and sorority serenades.

The Collegians were organized in 1947 under the name of the Male Chorus, but in their fourth year changed their name to one with more appeal.

POPULAR TUNES, folk songs, Negro spirituals and barbershop quartet numbers are the types of music chosen by these singers. Favorite songs of the college as well also the choice of the Collegiate

Deadline Is June 5 Fo. Summer Storage

Deadline for all summer storage will be June 5th, according to Mr Ralph Lundquist, Union dry manager.

Send all rugs, curtains, blankets and cloth which will be stored in vacant dormitory rooms as soon as possible," the laundry manager said.

Student workers employed in Florida State University for the summer term will be dismissed from the last day and pick it up when returning to summer school, the manager concluded.

Summer Session Material Ready Beginning Mon.

Students living on campus who plan to enroll for the summer session may secure registration material during the week beginning Monday, May 28, stated registrar, Charles H Walker. This announcement is being made in correction of a statement in the last edition of the Flambeau stating May 26 as an application deadline for all students.

THE REGISTRAR corrected the statement by saying that May 26 is the application deadline for new students who plan to attend summer school. "This regulation does not affect any student attending school this semester," Mr Walker reported.

"All students will register on the floor from 9 a m until 4:30 p m," he said.

DAY STUDENTS living off campus may obtain registration material through the mail to their city address before this semester ends by the registrar's office. During the past week a double rush for this material by day student. Day students plan ning to attend summer school must return the completed section of the post card and the registration material will then be mailed within five days.

Mr Walker asked that if day students' home addresses are incorrect that they write the correct address on the post card to assure proper delivery of registration material.

Senior Issue Ends Newspaper's Year

The last issue of the Florida Flambeau for this school year will appear next Friday, June 1. The final issue will be a souvenir senior issue dedicated to the 1951 class at Florida State University.

The special issue will highlight the activities of the graduating class, the first class to complete four years at Florida State University.

"Any organizations, clubs, or departments desiring stories of their year of activity are asked to send the story through campus mail to the Florida Flambeau, editor-in-chief, Robert Griffin has announced. Deadline will be noon Monday.

Pilots Club To See FSU Circus Tomorrow

The Florida State University "Flying High" circus will present a two performance night at the Apalachicola stadium. The Pilots Club is sponsoring the evening's the performance.

Given under the direction of Coach Jack Haskin, the performance will only have one ring, one and 31 performers. Coach Haskin is the originator and director of the FSU circus and has won national recognition.

Mortar Board Taps and Initiates Fourteen Juniors Into Honorary

Fourteen juniors were initiated last night as members of the Torchbearer chapter of Mortar Board at a formal ceremony held at Camp Flastacowo.

Mortar Board, national women's honorary, recognizes outstanding leadership, scholarship and service. The honorary was nationalized in 1918 and now has 84 chapters throughout the United States.

The new members were tapped early Thursday morning. Following the ceremony, old and new members of Mortar Board were entertained at the annual breakfast given at the home of Mrs Harold Richards, national Mortar Board historian, in Country Club Estates.

Initiated last night were: Gail Kelley Hamilton, Mae Gaskin, Myra Kight, Virginia Lee, Marjorie Meckstroth, Patti Mims, Jett Munroe, Grace Register, Betty Rich, Lucille Rogers, Doris Jean Smith, Nancy Wilson and Mary Stuart Smith and Eunice Thompson.

PRECEDING the tapping ceremonies was the annual serenade of the campus. The past Mortar Board chapter, dressed in caps and gowns and carrying lighted torches, serenaded the campus sorority houses and dormitories Monday night with their official song, The Ideals. This tradition of serenading previous to tapping dates back to the first years of Mortar Board on the campus.

Those elected to Mortar Board must meet the standards set up by the national council and consider Leadership, Scholarship, service and membership of any chapter to this service are the three main requirements.

ACCORDING to Mortar Board's standards, scholarship indicates a search for truth and understanding; service spring from unselfish desire to help others; and leadership reveals a sincere and democratic acceptance of responsibility.

At Florida State members of the junior class vote on the girls they think are eligible for membership on the basis of the Mortar Board ideals. Also voting are the class president, University Government association president, publications' editor, house counselors, the dean of women's office and presidents of the various campus organization heads.

THESE as well as the Mortar Board vote are considered for selection of new members. The national chapter limits the membership of any chapter to 25.

Insipid Martyrs Fear Truth Says Ex-Editor Earl Dobert

By EARL DOBERT
Former Flambeau Editor

Custom calls for outgoing Flambeau editors to write one final editorial wishing luck to the new staff and thanking the old staff. Since my tenure of office ran out before I, or anyone else, thought it would, this editorial is somewhat belated.

To my old senior staff, I can sing nothing but praise. They sweated and toiled so that the students could have one of the best college newspapers in the country—and we did. Managing Editor Betsy Blanton kept the ball rolling for 57 issues—three more than I did. Jeanne O'Riorden, an excellent reporter, was invaluable in several positions. Montrell Sessions served as editorial writer. To Bob Griffin, your new editor, goes a bouquet for being the most insipid business manager the Flambeau has ever had.

Members of the Junior staff served unceasingly in their positions. Marianne Gillen as Society Editor, Bennett Cerf and Scott Marshall as Sports Editors, Hazel Morrison and Frances Cawthon as assistant news editors, did a superb job in helping to get out the paper twice a week.

Of course, it would be foolish to say that all was roses. Everyone knows it was not. We did not see eye to eye with the conservative policies of the University Government Association. And we had our troubles with the administration. Each of these branches tried to muzzle the Flambeau. And finally the administration succeeded.

Now, Bob, let me preach to you a minute. Don't be afraid to print the truth. The truth will hurt, that has already been established, but as long as you maintain a policy of truth you will be safe—well, almost. You will be criticized by people denying the truth, you will probably be chastised by insipid martyrs for clinging to the truth. But it will not be in vain.

Don't be intimidated by irrational nincompoops trying to suppress the news—and the truth. These are the individuals that aren't worthy of being connected with Florida State University.

In closing, I want to appeal to you as a newspaperman. I believe your profession, the career you are choosing for your lifetime work, should be first and foremost. Therefore, in conducting the Flambeau, be guided by the principles and convictions you earnestly hold.

FRANKLY SPEAKING

SPECIAL CONGRATS TO ANN, CASS, FAYE

By ALLAN HEAD

Heartiest congratulations are in order for Mortar Board.

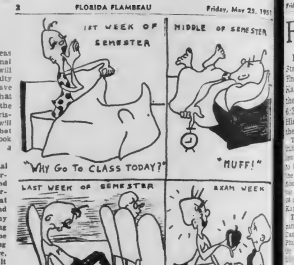
The Leadership Conference they sponsored and directed at Camp Flastacowo last weekend was all kinds of a success, and save the outgoing officers of the student government a bar chart of confidence in the future of our University Government Association. The new officers had a lot of enthusiasm and as a whole seemed to be an exceptionally fine group of students.

Especial kudos should go to Cass Yonge, Ann Seedder and Faye Patterson for their outstanding contributions toward making this conference an outstanding one.

It was the general feeling that probably the most beneficial benefit of the conference was the fact that the various officers got to know each other and realized that they were all striving for the same general betterment of our student community. The hope was frequently expressed that by knowing each other better, student government, and feeling confidence in them, we may next year avoid the constant petty governmental strife that has characterized the UGA this past year.

The editor of the Flambeau.

'PON MY WORD



Bob Griffin, she stated that he was not going to have a policy of destructive criticism, and would back up the UGA on any worthwhile projects. We can still expect criticism of the student government by the Flambeau, but Flambeau members urged UGA and organizations officers to go out of their way to give reporters ALL the facts about proposed plans.

I, personally, feel very satisfied with this aspect of the conference, and believe that next year's student government will show a far greater appreciation and vision not yet experienced here at Florida State.

Instead of getting to know one another, the new officers also witnessed a great deal of valuable information from the old officers. They found out the duties, rights and powers, and some of the problems still to be solved. I think that Will Pennell, president-elect of the UGA, put his finger on the biggest problem of student government when he said, "The relationship between the jurisdiction of student government and the administration still needs to be defined."

Since all powers of student government are delegated powers, it is essential to know in what areas of student life we will have final authority, in what areas we will have authority subject to faculty review, in what areas we will have recommending power, and what areas are definitely out of the field of student government jurisdiction. Perhaps this problem will never be completely solved, but under Will next year, we can look toward a good start toward a solution.

Faye Patterson gave the final talk of the Leadership Conference. It was a "Pep" talk, and was certainly the most inspiring and significant talk of that kind I have ever heard. And I have been to a great many conventions! After reviewing the work at the Conference, she said, "Time after time during the four years I have been here, problems have arisen that it has been difficult to solve. Many times the excuse has been given that we are 'in a period of transition from a woman's college to a co-educational university.' Will that excuse still be heard five or ten years from now? It is to be if our new officers carry the enthusiasm and sincerity you have shown here on the work in student government next year!"

● ONE SOUR NOTE

The Senate passed a bill to establish a Sophomore Rat Court in the final meeting Tuesday.

The purpose of the court as outlined in the bill is to encourage the wearing of rat caps and name tags by all freshmen. This rule will be enforced by penalizing frosh that refuse to wear the caps.

Penalties will be such non-hazing tactics as having frosh wear signs to urge attendance to pep rallies and athletic events, compulsory work on projects of a constructive nature, and compulsory ushering at football games.

It is pointed out that no hazing will be done by the rat court. The court will be composed of nine members—4 boys, 4 girls, and a chairman. The chairman will be appointed by the president of the sophomore class and the members will be appointed by newly elected sophomore class officers.

The duties of the court include enforcing the wearing of the caps, supervise the selling of caps, seeing that frosh receive information concerning the wearing of caps and penalizing of offenders.

One point strikes a sour note. Point five states that a record shall be filed in UGA files, no doubt to be used as reference material.

If a frosh refuses to wear his cap, serves his penalty by ushering at a football game, then that should be it. No record should be kept. No trace of his naughty deeds should hang as an axe over the poor frosh's head.

Basically, the idea of wearing rat caps is excellent. Student apathy is one of the biggest problems on this campus and rats can create strong class unity and can be the leading symbol the frosh need. Good move, ex-senators.

● A FALL UNIFORM?

Out of an estimated million draft-liable men in college only about 318,000 had filed applications to take the approaching draft deferment examinations as of May 15, the original deadline. This seems to indicate that the majority of the students are not worried about being deferred.

In their efforts to get more applications, the Selective Service officials extended their original deadline for filing to May 25. They even warned last week that only about 500,000 students—200,000 fewer than exempted in the past—will escape military service under the new scholastic deferment program.

As matters stand now, a student can get a deferment on either the test score or class standing. Only those who stand high in college only about 318,000 had filed applications to take the approaching draft deferment examinations as of May 15, the original deadline. This seems to indicate that the majority of the students are not worried about being deferred.

In their efforts to get more applications, the Selective Service officials extended their original deadline for filing to May 25. They even warned last week that only about 500,000 students—200,000 fewer than exempted in the past—will escape military service under the new scholastic deferment program.

As matters stand now, a student can get a deferment on either the test score or class standing. Only those who stand high in their classes are not bothering to take the test because they are sure they can get deferred without it.

Scholastic averages sent from General Hershey on down have repeatedly urged, though, that these students take the test. It may be necessary later to require both high scholastic averages and a good class standing to get deferment.

The students have certainly received enough urging from the Selective Service to take the deferment exam. If the college men who had not already filed their applications by May 15 did not take advantage of the deadline extension there may be a great number of cheerful but deferable students wearing uniforms next fall.

● SENATE ATTENDANCE

At the final senate meeting the greatvoiced representatives received a present. The gift, compiled by Margie Meckstroth, is a schedule of attendance for the 1941-52 school year.

Only four members could swell with pride at a perfect record. They were Margaret Kerlyeon, Betty Rich, Mary Ruth Summers and Cass Yonge.

Other members with one or two absences served actively and diligently for one of the best of senate years. The only blow is that some senators missed up to 9 meetings. Can you consistently be absent and give the students qualified service?

The perfect record was shown by freshman senator Peter Williams who missed 9 times out of 23 senate meetings.

There were 39 'excused' absences and 53 unexcused absences. No doubt a great deal of uncompleted work could have been accomplished if our senators had contributed their all.

This is one record to play down for next year's senate.

MORTIFIED ARE BLUSH PINK, ENVY GREEN

By BETSY BLANTON

News has been centered around Mortar Board this and that for the last couple of issues but the big news is the complaint from that group's rival organization, Mortified.

Mortified is a select group of women students chosen on the basis of leadership, service and scholarship. This last requirement reads that they must have LESS THAN a 1.7 average to be considered for membership.

Mortified's membership is usually immediately followed by Mortified lapping. In contrast to the staid members of Mortar Board, Mortifieds are new members of their honor. Mortified members romp through dormitories, sorority houses singing their trade song which begins, "We are the Mortified, yes mortified 'Cause we've been lapped for Mortified."

While Mortar Board places emphasis on unhealthy, Mortified rewards exalt a better asset. It is customary for Mortified to lap only those many girls as does Mortar Board.

Mortified is led by its "Czar," who is chosen by the group proposed to be Mortar Board's glaring error.

Members of Mortified can best be recognized when they wear the colors, red and white. Actual colors are Mortified red and blush pink and envy green, however, and they place ribbons of these colors around pictures of new Mortified members.

Mortified modesty admits that it confers the greatest honor that a woman student can receive. Mortified modesty also claims to be the only organization on campus which is not controlled by nothing.

Among numerous other claims to fame Mortified proudly points to the factitat one of its members, Betty Ann Hudson, is Dud Yonge's

A recent award presented to Mortar Board by the Council for Montrell Sessions has some of its members in an uproar.

Editor Bob Griffin jokingly presented Montrell with a "hot" outfit which he says he'll use for bee contributions to the Flambeau. A zulllide staff member felt unfortunate around why this year's editor Earl Dobert did not receive the award since he had contributed much to the reporting of campus scandals.

Another corrner backed News Editor Marianne Gillen and Jeanne O'Riorden for the honor.

We think the award should be given to the many students and faculty members who were extremely active in giving advice and counsel to the people who were trying to put the paper out.

I know that it is in bad taste to keep referring to the Flambeau in its new editorial columns. Nevertheless, I think it is only proper to mention the Flambeau banquet which was held last night at the Duval Hotel.

This annual banquet is the only compensation that many staff members receive for their time and effort spent on the paper.

Traditionally, last night's affair honored Bob Dobert, the year's editor, and his staff members for their recurring year. Earl L. Vance and Dr Laurence Campbell, both of the School of Journalism.

The final two columns by this writer will feature an attempt to re-examine the benefits I have received from attending Florida State University.

The first will deal with social benefits and the latter with educational advantages.

DOG SUPPORTS "LANIGAN FOR SHERIFF"

By FRANCES CAWTHON

Everybody who reads complaint these days. If it's not Gene Burnett, it's the administration or the student government machine. I, too, have a complaint.

Around this time of the year events in the administration go below in plans a banquet or some such thing. Usually this is well and good. But with these nice plans she comes a little problem known as a roomitive who want to buy a dollar-fifty out of your pocket.

One 'a dollar-fifty' doesn't hit me so badly but when another and another commitee and another. You start to tell them you won't be able to help out after the books you set, you stand at attention give three cheers for the old club and shell out.

So what happens? Your money is all gone and the whole week you go around swiping pulley bones and somebody's sandwich and starving to death just for the sake of eating like a king for a couple of months.

The Flambeau staff is also giving a banquet. It will be interesting to see who comes. With the situation as it is nowadays, you never know who's on the staff of anything. I couple of months ago it all you can bet a good time will be had. At the Smoke Shop pals and pals and "literary" one U went to, everybody amused themselves by pitching frenzied arithmetic around. Plus, of course, a few other things.

Politics. With the election for the new club officers, chief leaders and followers are out and that politics in all ran hear. Even the dogs have taken up politics. A little brown, fuzzy and while dog of this-n-that preferred has been carrying a sign around campus which reads "Lanigan for sheriff." I wonder if the dog got tired of Lanigan's campaign fund or if he's a loyal supporter . . .

This issue of the Flambeau was officially put out by Bob Griffin, which because of various resignations, etc., has been pointed the paper out anyway for the past week or so. This resignation business must be contagious. Even the administration has it now. I hope with the "resignation" of Dean McBride as master of ceremonies of Faculty Stunt Night that the stuff that went back into Webster's and leave it there.

I saw a tourist driving around campus the other day. Of course I have no proof that he was a tourist. But he came to a full halt at one of the stop signs. Then he went on his way.

While I'm on the subject of traffic laws, I might as well include a plea for safety that more than one has asked me to stress. Namely, for some of the capitalists, meaning car owners, have been driving like fiends lately. Some of these Harrys seem to take particular delight in zooming down the strip when the Landa-Gilchrist arcade. Ease up on the gas boys . . .

What's everybody going to do this summer? After taking a quick poll of about ten people, each of answer "I haven't decided reliable by the authorities, but which in the long run is just as good as Mr Gallup's, I find the students are going to do the following: (1) "raise heck". (2) substitute a word approved by its English department, "work", (3) married", (4) "work", or (4), if the interviewee has a long face, "go to summer school."

While mentioning summer activities, the unhappiest face I came upon was that of a persuasive groom who was sure he was going to be married the evening all 57 of Heinz's 57 variety, colors and odors. And hopefully "someone gives her a cookbook."

CAMPUS CAROUSEL

HAPPY TIME NOTES LITTLE PEOPLE

By EMORY KING

It has long been the opinion of many students that the faculty criticism and not enough praise has been leveled at people here. Many students feel that this is not only true in the case of the also of the faculty and administration.

One guy told me that he had yet to see anyone get called into a Westcott office to be praised for something. "The only thing to expect," he said, "is when you get a notice from an administrative office it is certain to be condemnation."

So, be it henceforth and forever known to all men, that this column will introduce a department each week. This department will pick out people to be praised for their work in the university. There are many here that never hear or see any sort of recognition for their work. They will see it here.

HAPPY TIME. To mention just a few, there is the campus policemen, the bus drivers, the janitors, the maids, the many staff employees, and many, many others. By the way, janitor issues. I hope to bring you stories into the lives and careers of many of these people.

The Film Classics Club presented some mighty time movies this year. Monday night they head a climax of the "Mercenaries." This picture was of the silent type made in Germany in 1926. What a picture! It was absolutely stupendous. Even Mickey Mouse should take a look at this. There was almost a perpetual mob scene in the picture. The mob got stirred up by a robot and went off chasing the machinery, then to their children, then to the robot, then to the inventor, then to the scientist. There was the usual clinch between the hero and heroine in the end and fade out.

Poetically Yours . . .

LEWIS R. AIKEN, JR.

The subject this week is modern religion.

The man sat alone,
She takes her force into her wanton mind,
And charms the heathen with her sudden smile,
Who drops his special gods, and then walks blind,
Converted to her in a little while.
After which he takes her for the nights,
Pathetic thoughts of what the day has said,
With now and then a fleeting dream sighed,
And prayers to her at his unbroken bed.

And the woman said . . .
The ceremony's search has ceased:
A priestess placed much pain
Of demi-God.
No miracle transpired.

Then standing at the altar rail,
Pro-offring decent praise faithfully,
She sent the Idol sacrifice—herself,
One whole world died.
Damned lovely revelation—Divinity's clay feet!

Objective Stand

Fellow Students:

The last issue of the Flambeau carried two letters about segregation. One was a piece of satire which was very well written, and the other a sincere letter by Bill Frank.

Bill, I would like to take an objective stand on this matter of segregation; but I can't.

You mentioned that we take the Negroes taxes; this is true. We give to the Negroes in return for their taxes, one of the finest Negro colleges in the nation and numerous other benefits.

If a Negro desires to go to law school The State of Florida will pay his out of state tuition to the school of his choice, if it be Harvard, Yale or Columbia or some other fine university. This law applies to any course that is not offered at A & M.

From an objective view point before one makes a change, there must exist a need or a showing that the present system is not working. I believe that our system in Florida is working.

Those who desire to do away with segregation have not shown us where our present system in Florida has failed.

Instead their issue invitations for us to have mint julips, and imply that we do not know that Negroes are people. "Sure" we do know that Negroes are people and have you "Bub" forgotten that white people pick cotton also?

Let not the issue be clouded with statements of "Nesro haters or southerners." The issue still remains whether or not we are willing to accept the Negro as our equal and allow him to come to F S U.

Are we positive that we are ready to treat the Negro as our brother? If we are not positive, then we should not allow the Negro to come to F S U.

The problem lies with you as future leaders of this state.

Jack LaMarr.

Flory Speaks at Honorary Banquet

Dr Claude R Flory, Florida State University professor of English, will speak at a Phi Kappa Phi banquet given in the FSU Lafayette Room at 6:30 p m Saturday, May 26. His topic will be, "Signs of the Times."

The banquet for the new scholars of the honorary will follow a formal initiation ceremony to be held at 5 p m Saturday in the faculty lounge in the second floor of the FSU Lonnmire Building. Six graduate students and 20 seniors, recently tapped by Phi Kappa Phi, will be initiated.

TOASTMISTRESS for the banquet will be Dr Margaret Scudder, president of Phi Kappa Phi. Invocation will be given by Dr C S Davis, acting dean of the College of Arts and Sciences.

The student String Quartet of the FSU School of Music will play, "Quartet in C Minor" by Beethoven, for entertainment of banquet guests. Quartet members are: Vernon Raines, Raphine, Va; Joe Dodd, Tallahassee; Don Gamsellier, Quincy, Ill; and Betty Brown Tallahassee.

PHI KAPPA PHI recognizes students in all schools of the University who have attained a high scholastic average. Students to be initiated Saturday include Anne Thompson, Wilson Calvin Williams, Reno Bugg, Robert Turner, Audrey Kmen, and William H Cross.

PHI KAPPA PHI GROUP are planning the initiation and banquet which will be held tomorrow for the scholastic honorary fraternity. Principal speaker at the banquet will be Claude Flory, seated at the left. Next to Dr Flory is Dr Margaret Campbell, Phi Kappa Phi president, and at the right is Dr Dorothy Hoffman, general chairman for the banquet.

Prof Chester Field Is Still at Large After Three Weeks

The "Professor Chester Field" contest will end its third week Tuesday with no one as yet winning the Chesterfield cigarettes offered as a prize. There is a new Professor acting as Prof Chester Field since the original professor left campus.

THIS WEEK the prize mounted to 15 packages of Chesterfields to be given to the student asking the right professor if he is "Prof Chester Field." Six packages will be added if the student is carrying a pack of Chesterfields at the time.

June 1 is the closing day of this Chesterfield contest, and the campus co-representatives urge students to ask all their professors the question that may win them 21 packages of Chesterfields.

The Question of the Week contest, sponsored by Chesterfield will continue through June 1 also.

TWICE A WEEK telephone calls are made asking questions taken from the front page of the Flambeau. Each time a question is missed two packages of Chesterfields are added to the prize.

ICF Council Encourages Leadership Among Students

An important part in the over-all character development and leadership qualities in students of Florida State University is the spiritual guidance, worship and association they derive from the church of their faith.

The eight major student religious groups included in the Inter-Church Fellowship Council work actively with the pastors of the various Tallahassee area churches to provide the students with opportunity for spiritual development along with their academic and social life on the FSU campus.

THE TALLAHASSEE PASTORS have agreed to honor the graduating seniors, their relatives and friends, FSU President Doak S Campbell said, by holding baccalaureate services at the morning worship hour in their respective churches on June 3.

Closing of Westcott Auditorium, the only large auditorium on the FSU campus where such baccalaureate services are usually held, has been ordered by the State Board of Control which condemned the auditorium unit as unsafe for further use.

Through the efforts of the Religious Workers Council at the university, an annual "Intelligent Faith Week," program is held for the purpose of helping individual students examine their religious beliefs in terms of "intelligent faith." Nationally recognized religious workers of the various faiths conduct special joint programs and counsel the students individually during the special event.

The student religious centers located close to the FSU campus private owned and operated, carry out regular weekly church programs programs for the students of that particular faith.

STUDENT PROGRAMS include spiritual guidance and counsel for the students from full time religious counselors who have a deep understandins and much experience in working with students and faculties of universities and colleges.

Bible study classes, morning devotions, evening vesper services, organized choir groups, Sunday school classes and other religious activities are provided through the church sponsored student religious centers.

In most cases the student religious centers also provide student pastors and Sunday school teachers for small rural churches in Tallahassee area and prepare the students to conduct Bible teaching schools in their own home towns during the summer.

ALONG WITH the religious training and spiritual development the student religious centers near the university also sponsor social gathering, picnics, hikes and other recreational activities.

They encourage the students to read the Bible on a regular period and study religious drama and literature and write their own plays and original stories based upon their interpretation of the Bible.

Student religious groups now active on the FSU campus include those of the Inter-Church Fellowship Council which works for better understanding and fellowship between all church groups; Baptist Student Union, Canterbury club (Episcopal); Newman club (Catholic); Hillel Foundation, (Jewish); Lutheran Student's League; Wesley Foundation, (Methodist); Westminster Fellowship (Presbyterian); Christian Science and other organized church groups.

McCalmon Plans Original Musical Revues Next Fall

Dr George McCalmon, chairman of the dramatics area of the department of speech, announced that the department may go in original musical revue next fall. He invited all authors, composers and other "idea men" to submit work to him by July 5 for consideration.

The decision to attempt a musical came after conferences with Bill Bevan, chairman of Sandspur which appears in the spring, and various acts in support to the idea for the fall show.

The following are the conditions for submitting materials:

The director reserves the right to revise material for purposes of preparation and continuity.

The author's name should be plainly marked on the material submitted. If the author wishes his material returned to him, he should enclose a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Music submitted should be available for use by two pianos. McCalmon requested that manuscript and ideas be addressed to Sara Margaret Davis, Chairman, Les Jongleurs Selection committee, c/o 104 History Building, Department of Speech, Florida State University.

Six Students Win Dining Hall Awards

Six members of the Florida State University dining hall student staff will receive scholarship awards during special ceremonies Monday afternoon at 4:30 p m.

The awards are made to students who have proven outstanding during the past six months' work at the dining hall. The awards also serve as an incentive to better and more efficient work according to Mr Ben Adams, manager of the East campus dining hall.

Miss Anna May Tracy, head dietician, will make the presentations. All members of the dining hall staff as well as interested students and townspeople are invited to attend.

The awards are made through the University Student Aid committee.

Dr Hess to Take Leave of Absence

A leave of absence for the summer from Florida State University has been granted to Seymour Hess, associate professor of meteorology, to assist as a research consultant at the Lowell Observatory, Flagstaff, Arizona.

As Flagstaff, Dr Hess will attend a national conference on "Planetary Atmospheres" at which meteorologists and astronomers from all sections of the nation have been invited.

The meteorologist will return to FSU next fall.

Dr Hess came to FSU from the Lowell Observatory where he has been engaged in major research in temperatures on other planets. He plotted the weather on Mars through a telescope during research work at the observatory.

FSU's Annual Sports Banquet Held Tuesday Evening

FROM THE SIDELINES

By WARREN COBB

Flambeau Sports Editor

FSU's annual sports banquet took place Tuesday evening in the Lafayette Room and marked the end of a great year in athletics for the Seminoles—a year in which championships were hauled in right and left.

Festivities got under way at 6 p.m and the spacious room was filled with hungry athletes—not to mention hungry coaches, managers, dignitaries, and your humble editor, who somehow pulled down an invitation.

After everyone had done justice to a hearty meal of turkey, mashed potatoes and string beans supplemented by salad and pizalla-mode, the coaches got down to the business of handing out letters and compliments—and a few slams here and there. All in fun, of course.

DR LOUIS SHORES, head of the visual aid department who has done a bang-up job this year, got the ball rolling and introduced President Doak Campbell.

Said the good president: "Instead of being original, I'd like to tell you athletes who have represented your university in the field of sports how proud we are of you."

Dr Campbell went on to say that the Seminole squads had never been a failure and that this was something to think about.

"We have always sent gentlemen to represent us in our athletic contests . . . exhibiting on all occasions a spirit of sportsmanship to all who have observed the contests."

"I'm trying my best, fellows," said Dr Campbell, "to drag you a big bouquet."

THE PRESIDENT closed with the assertion that "a Seminole team in anything—win, lose, or draw—is a Seminole team."

Then the various coaches took over and spoke briefly on their past seasons and named the boys winning varsity letters. The names of the captains for next Year in the sports were announced. These were Bob Whitmer for basketball and John Poston for track.

Captains recently elected for the 1951 seasons were Ted Hewitt in golf and Augie Pompella in baseball.

Swimming Coach "Bim" Stultz brought laughs from the audience for his "thank you" to Dr Donald for letting him go along with the boys on the trips.

Following Stultz was tennis Coach Ralph Matherly, who introduced Captain Larry "Turtle" Dickson. Matherly explained the bandage on the head of Don Boda, who it seems got whacked in the head with Dickson's racquet during doubles play in the conference tourney at Jackson last week.

DICKSON, speaking briefly, jokingly thanked the girls' athletic department for letting the tennis team use the girls' courts this season.

Track Coach Ken Miller also brought laughs from the gallery with his reference to the "aleaged" bus in which the track team traveled to Clinton for the Dixie Conference.

Coach Miller also introduced next year's track captain, John Poston of Jacksonville, whom he described as a boy that would be an asset to any track team including Southern California. He also pointed proudly to the accomplishments this year of Woody Parker and Tom Sebrino, both Dixie Conference champs in their events.

Miller said he hoped these men would be able to go to the national meet next year.

Following Miller was baseball Coach Charlie Armstrong, who was called into service earlier in the year. Armstrong said that he was glad to be able to describe his team this year again as "the best the Seminoles have yet had."

AUGIE POMPELLA, unanimously elected honorary captain for the year, was introduced by Armstrong, who declared that opposing teams often mistook Pompella's "Southern Gentlemen" with a total of 62 points. Phi Delta Theta and Pi Kappa Phi closely follow with 506 and 502, respectively. One major win could put any of the following at the top of the race: Sigma Nu, 565; Alpha Tau Omega, 550; Pi Kappa Phi, 538; Phi Tau, 519, and Sigma Alpha Epsilon, 503.

The chapters have spread the individual trophies out among themselves, with only one chapter holding two trophies. This is an abrupt change over last year, when Phi Delta Theta laid claim to nearly all cups.

HOWE NI HOLDS two trophies, the table tennis and touch-football; Pi Kappa Phi won basketball; Phi Delta Theta, track; Alpha Tau Omega, bowling; Kappa Alpha, volleyball, and Sigma Phi Epsilon, tennis singles.

Oscar Oropeza of Sigma Phi Epsilon downed Rube Askew of Delta Tau Delta, 6-1, 6-2, to take the tennis singles crown Monday night. Oropeza went the length of the season undefeated to meet Askew.

Competition in tennis doubles and badminton, which started with a bang Tuesday night, looks keen, the matches played Tuesday night: Badminton:

SAE over Delta, 6-1, 6-2.

TC over PKP—15-10, 15-6

SAE over SN—15-5, 15-1.

SC over EK—15-6, 15-13.

ATO over SPE—15-2, 15-5.

DTD over LCR—15-5, 15-1.

FOOTBALL SLANTS point up Theta Chi and Alpha Tau Omega as possible co for first place. Theta Chi has won 10 and lost 2, while Alpha Tau Omega's 9-2 record is pushing them hard. Bob Lanigan has held opposing batters to a minimum of hits throughout the reasch, but Alpha Tau Omega's power hitters have once beaten Theta Chi.

Games which were rained out or tied during the season will be played off Monday afternoon, and Coach Williamson has said that there would be no playoff unless two or more teams end in a tie for first place.

The standings of teams which could possibly end up in a playoff are:

Team	W	L	Pct
Theta Chi	10	2	.833
A T O	9	2	.818
Pi Kappa Phi	8	3	.727
Sigma Nu	8	3	.727

In softball play Tuesday Theta Chi defeated Kappa Alpha, Kappa beat Pi Kappa Alpha, and Phi Delta Theta won from Delta Tau Delta.

Golf matches Tuesday left the Kappa Alpha's the only undefeated team, and the tournament promises some good matches before the finals Tuesday. Lambda Chi, Kappa Kappa, and the Phi Delta Thetas have each received one defeat, and tournament play will continue through Tuesday or Wednesday.

Big Banquet In Lafayette Room Climaxes Year

The annual Florida State University spring sports banquet was held Tuesday night in the Lafayette Room for the members of the basketball, swimming, track, golf, baseball, tennis, gymnastics and volleyball teams.

The football awards were made earlier this school year.

FSU has recorded an outstanding year in athletics, and the main table in the dining room was lined with trophies that had been won

THE SEMINOLE FOOTBALL TEAM was undefeated and untied in winning the Dixie Conference championship again.

The basketball team, which announced its caption for next year at the banquet, went to the semi-finals in the NAIB tournament at Kansas City after posting a seasonal record of 18 wins and nine losses.

The swimming team, coached by Bim Stultz, won all seven of its dual meets, tied for first in the conference meet, and won the Florida AAU championship.

The volleyball team won the Florida AAU title for the third straight year and was the first college team to win the Memphis Mid-South Invitational tournament and finished fourth in the national tournament.

THE GYMNASTICS TEAM was the first FSU team to win a national championship, winning both the NCAA and the AAU titles.

The other athletic teams also came up with outstanding records. The tracksters won four of their five dual meets and successfully defended their Dixie Conference championship. The tennis team also repeated its championship in the conference and posted a seasonal record of seven wins and eight defeats.

The golfers had a fine season with eight wins, three defeats, and one tie.

The baseballers, one of the leading contenders for the Dixie Conference title at present and who were barely nosed out of the state championship by the University of Florida, posted a record this year of 12 wins and 6 defeats. They had a 6-1 record in the conference.

CAPTAINS FOR NEXT YEAR that were announced at the banquet were Bevo Whitmer, basketball, and John Poston, track. Bill Darkins had previously been elected captain of next year's football eleven.

It was also announced that Ted Hewitt had been elected captain of this year's golf team and Augie Pompella was elected captain of the 1951 baseball nine.

Master of ceremonies for the evening was Dr Louis Shores, head of the visual aid department.

Principal speaker for the evening was President Doak S Campbell, who praised the athletes for their accomplishments both in athletics and in sportsmanship."

Players receiving varsity letters or freshman numerals are:

Baseball lettermen: Captain Augie Pompella, Lee Bailey, Harry Brunger, Glenn Gresham, Spike Herold, Ed Lockard, Ronald Mellon, Lee Mullen, Ronald Nettles, Ed Sessions, Bob Trowbridge, Bob Whitmer and Manager Fred Hoover. Numerals to Benny Check, Kirke Nowlin and Woody Southerland.

Golf lettermen: Tom Cumbie, Ted Hewitt, Bud Marser and Dick Montney.

Gymnastics lettermen: Captain Bill Roetzheim, Eddie Fernald, Joe Ousie, Dick Gutting, Chester Kinard, Jack Miles, Dick Platt, Carmine Reina, Joe Reina, Jack Sharp, Pai Signorelli, Scott Stanton, Howard Stephens, Bill Vreeland, Lawrence Weston. Harold and managers James Berg, Tom Conkling, Clarence Field, Robert Welch. Numerals to Tony Fitzcraft, Frank Hill, James McCauley and Bill Warner.

Tennis lettermen: Captain Larry Dickson, Tom Babione, Jim Berry, Don Boda, Dick Bradley, Jack Egan, George Marcus, George Newman and Larry Laderoot.

Track and field: Captain Max Watson, Jim Arnold, Bob Bolin, Al Carter, Joe Fracaro, Pete Praschotti, Walt Orsge, Gil Harris, Baker King, Eddie Kucera Leonard Mellon, Dirk Mize, Woody Parker, Bob Patterson, Frank Pearson, Bill Petty, John Poston, Bill Rodger, Ed Seagram, Tom Sebrino, John Thombleson. Eight Teams Lead In Intra-Murals

By BILL BENSON

With the end of school fast approaching, competition for the fraternity intramural cup is picking up vitality. Leading the overall race, but within easy reach of seven other teams are the Kappa Nu, 565; Alpha Tau Omega, 550; Pi Kappa Phi, 538; Phi Tau, 519, and Sigma Alpha Epsilon, 503.

The chapters have spread the individual trophies out among themselves, with only one chapter holding two trophies. This is an abrupt change over last year, when Phi Delta Theta laid claim to nearly all cups.

Theta Chi Leading In Mural Softball

With the softball intramural approaching the final stages, the Theta Chi fraternity is leading the league. With only two defeats this year and with Bob Lanigan, the pitching class of the league, the Theta Chis look like the eventual winner.

Although results of yesterday's game were not available at press time, the Theta Chis had only to down the Pi Kappa Alphas to clinch the title.

THE THETA CHIS are playing for the championship for the third straight year. Last year they took the crown by downing the Kappa's 5-1 with Lanigan pitching a one-hitter.

The Theta Chis have lost only four games in the last three years. They have suffered two of those defeats this year, one at the hands of the ATOs and one to the Pi Kappa Phis. Lanigan allowed only five hits in these two losing efforts and racked up 20 strikeouts.

Playing their last game for the Thetas Chis yesterday were Bob Lanigan, Bob McKay, Harry Newman, Beano Stevens and Rex Gaston. Lanigan, McKay and Stevens have been members of the team for the past three years.

LANIGAN IS the reason for the success of the team. He is one of the best softball pitchers in the state and is also a heavy hitter—so far this year he has poled six home runs.

The Theta Chi ace has not allowed any team this season more than five hits in any one game, and his strikeout average per game is 9 men.

This summer he intends to pitch for the Waverly Growers team which will make a tour of Canada the latter part of July.

Lanigan contributes much of his success to his outstanding catcher, Bob Schmidt.

The Theta Chis are also one of the leading teams for the Intramural cup.

No Action as Yet From Campus IFC

Interfraternity council stated yesterday that no decision has been made concerning the suspension of three fraternities that refused to participate in the Wescott picketing.

A statement made by Bob Tully, inter-fraternity council member, said: "IFC has nothing to say concerning the matter of suspension."

Members of 11 fraternities had filed around Westcott eight hours Tuesday, March 20, protesting action of the administration in not allowing the Interfraternity council to hold their annual dance in the Suwannee room.

Fraternities refusing to picket were Sigma Chi, Sigma Alpha Epsilon and Phi Delta Theta.

Club Holds Picnic

Cavalier dancing society will hold a picnic party at Silver Lake tomorrow, David Pinson, secretary of the latter part of July.

Lanigan contributes much of his success to his outstanding catcher, Bob Schmidt.

The Theta Chis are also one of the leading teams for the Intramural cup.

The Cotillion dancing organization will be honored guests tomorrow.

The highest score ever registered by a Colrane baseball team was a 20-4 drubbing of Oswego State in 1924.

Final Vote Passes All Amendments

All proposed amendments of the final University Government Association elections last Thursday passed with only 266 students voting, Harriet Paul, newly appointed chairman of the elections committee reported.

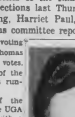
In one of the smallest voting records this year, Jerry Thomas defeated Alice Jackson by 11 votes, running for Chief Justice of the Honor Court. Thomas was running on a write-in ballot.

THE AMENDMENTS of the Honor system along with the UGA amendments all passed with a vote majority. On Rick Vega's question, voting students decided by 134 votes "We should join the National YWCA-YMCA in the American Colleges and Universities."

Results of the election will put the following amendments under the University Honor court. In section four, concerning penalties, "In case of cheating, if a student submits as his own product written work in whole or in part that is not his own, the instructor shall report the case to the honor court and turn over to the court the documentary evidence."

THE FOLLOWING two sentences shall be cut from the section. "Conviction shall carry a minimum sentence of F in the course. In flagrant cases the court may sustain additional penalties."

A student who permits another student to copy his written work knowing the intent of the act to submit it as his own is equally as guilty as the student who copies and is subject to court action. The clause stating that the recommendation from the Honor Court shall be reviewed by the Faculty committee on Student Welfare was stricken from the Honor System Constitution by vote of the students.



THE UGA AMENDMENT, submitted by Jim Turnbull, stated that: The University shall be separate at the discretion of the vice presidents into Women's senate and Men's senate to handle all legislation pertaining to their respective areas. Any decision made, though, should be submitted to University Senate for a majority vote of affirmation.

Only that legislation pertaining to areas of student life under administration jurisdiction such as health, safety, public policy, maintenance of buildings and property, academic policy and public relations, must have the approval of the University reviewing board before becoming a law.

THE REMAINING AMENDMENTS proposed expanded requirements for elected officers. With the exception of Article V, which designated four offices of University Recreation association as major offices.

The remaining Turnbull amendments provide that requirements for one year's residence in the Constitution shall be "over the semester immediately that court justices may get their half-year of experience upon either of the two University quarters." There shall be no requirement for a Board of Student Publications.

The newly created Sophomore Council worked for the first time on this election at the pollING stations, Westcott and the Seminole Dining Hall Lobby.

Exchange Open For Four Days, Says Gregory

Junior Class Project Will Sell Old Books June 4 Through 8th

The Used Book Exchange, junior class project, will re-o-p-e-n during examination week, June 4 through 8, Exchange chairman, Shirley Gregory has announced. The Exchange will reopen on the ground floor of the Longmire building as at the first of the semester.

Students interested in working in the Exchange are asked to attend the Exchange meeting Thursday night at 9 in 308 Westcott. Students are also asked to bring their exam schedules.

"We will be taking in books and selling them as before," Shirley said.

THE EXCHANGE CHAIRMAN asked that all students who failed to pick up their books from the first of the semester pick them up during examination week and to get their money for books sold previously.

A coin-profit operatina exchange, the project sponsored by the junior class is to ensure fair prices for second hand books for students.

THE STUDENT OWNER will set his own price for the sale of his book. For every book exchanged, the Exchange will charge a contribute a 10 cent fee. For books under $1 a five-cent fee will be paid by each. These fees will be used to defray operating expenses and may possibly be lowered when the exchange becomes more stable.

A three divisional receipt form is used by the exchange. The student seller will receive the lower third of the form. the top third will be clipped to the book and the other third will be filed in the exchanaec. Complete information and description must be included on the receipt forms.

FEATURED IN MINOTTI'S "THE MEDIUM" are Dorothy Clonts, Patricia Chapman, Harry Parnes and Barbara Manford. The "thriller" opera will be presented free of charge tomorrow evening, May 30, in the Music Hall.

130 Voices Harmonize In Sacred Oratorio

The Choral Union gave their second musical performance of the year Friday night when they presented the oratorio of Felix Mendelssohn, Elijah, in the Music Amphitheater.

The 130 members in grey and maroon robes began the two part oratorio with Elijah's attempts to awaken the people of Israle, who had forsaken the Lord and followed the false god Baal. In the second part the effects of Elijah's enemies to kill him were dramatised by the singers.

HERMAN GUNTER, Jr. directed the group with Ramoon Cruikshank Beard at the organ and Nancy Love Hill was accompanist at the piano.

Soloists for the concert of Biblical background were Claire Kenyon and Norma Jean Kearney, soprano; Belle Jo Armstrong, alto; Herman Bekemeyer and William Dalrumple, tenors, and Mear Beam, baritone.

The characters were introduced and the drama told as it happened to them, in the nature of the opera. The first presentation was the Biblical scene in which the son of the widow of Zarapheth was restored to life.

The next was followed by the story of the Hebrew prophet as he talked to the priests of Baal.

ELIJAH'S ATTEMPTS to awaken the people who had followed the false god Baal, was his feeling of despair as he fled into the wilderness. The encouragement he promises from God strengthened the faith of the fleeing prophet, and he was prepared to see how the groups ended their second performance of the year, singing "Lord our Creator, how excellent Thy name is in all the nations! Who hast set the heavens with Thy glory."

This was the last performance of the semester for the Choral Union which is made up of both students and townspeople. Last semester the group presented The Messiah.

Women Dormitories Elected Officers For Coming Year

New girls dormitory officers were elected last Tuesday for the 1951 through 1952 year.

Elected president of Ca-hrist was Esther Jane Merlin with Jackie Morrison and Marian Bell Cronin chosen vice presidents.

Art Exhibit Opens For Eighteen Days

This afternoon marks the opening of the last annual Student Honor Art exhibit. The opening will be held in the University Art Gallery from 4-6 this evening.

Over 300 of the best examples of undergraduate art will be on display until June 15. There will be paintings, drawings, graphics, figure illustration, interior design, sculpture, commercial and advertising art, introductory design, and water colors.

The 200 pieces were selected by members of the art department faculty. Students assisted in setting up the show. The exhibition this afternoon will be informal and refreshments will be served.

All Library Books Must Be Returned Wednesday, June 6

All students, including graduate students, must return library books on or before Wednesday June 6, according to a release from the assistant librarian, Florence Bellamy.

An additional fee of 25c per book will be charged for each book not returned by June 6, she said.

University experience requires that all records including library records be cleared at the end of each term, the assistant librarian stated.

Library hours during Commencement and between terms are on June 8, Friday, 8 a m until 6 p m, June 9, 8:30 a m until 12:30 p m, June 10, Sunday, closed. June 11 until 17, the library will be open as follows: Monday through Friday, 8:30 a m until 5:30 p m. Saturday, 8:30 a m until 12:30 p m, and closed again on Sunday.

Beginning Monday, June 18, the library will be open regular summer hours, Monday through Friday, 7:30 a m until 10 p m, Saturday 7:30 a m until 5 p m, Sunday, 2 until 5 p m.

378 FSU Men Sit Through Draft Test

Governed by rules amazingly rigid, 378 Florida State University men sat patiently through four hours in the Alumni auditorium and women's Gym Saturday morning through 150 questions of a Selective Service college-eligibility test.

The men, bent on continuing their college education, had never seen anything like it before. They could think, breathe and click a pencil, but beyond that their bodily functions were rigidly controlled.

What they put down on the test answer sheets—with pencils especially necessary for the test—will help determine whether they are drafted or remain in college. College grades will also be considered in compiling the results.

The test was held under the direction of Dr Mark DeGraff, director of the FSU test service bureau. Students who weren't supervising about the draft (advanced ROTC students for example) served as proctors.

The strictest supervision prevailed during the entire time. An hour was required for preliminaries, such as filling in score card, listing on sheets address of parents and local boards, various answers on extent of education, courses and grades.

WITH THEIR FUTURE AT STAKE, three Florida State University students plug away at the Selective Service college-qualification test. Suffering are Bill Jones, Ted Smith and Ed Cummins.

A rite was made out of delivery of the actual test questions. They were sealed and were lissed as "confidential." Even Dr DeGraff and the proctors didn't know what the questions were.

The students worked without compass, slide rule or scratch pad. Question sheets had to be laid flat on desk and the students were forbidden to look around.

"If you're thrown, before the three hours you must remain right here," said Professor DeGraff, who was sticking strictly to the rules. "After the signal you will start work and you will ask no questions. If you have doubts you'll are defective raise your hand."

The test consisted of the Area of the Educational Testing Service of Princeton, N J, which has an interest in the grades of all the papers.

A student's score depends on how often he gets the mark in the proper place on the answer sheet. He is writes out his answers.

The score on each paper will be figured in seven seconds on one of the IS scoring machines operated by the Princeton testing service Function of the machines is based on the fact that a graphite of a pencil mark is a conductor of electricity.

Each place is to a position to correspond with a contact point in the machine. Pencil marks resembling a gray-metal office desk, can be used to score accurately and with objective test.

Questions put to the men students here were general, covering a variety of subjects. The plan is for all seniors to complete their college work. Those in the top 50 per cent of their class and those who score 75 in the test should qualify for college work. A score of 70 is recommended for other classes by Selective Service.

Results of the tests conducted will be announced by the local draft boards within a month

Junior English Exam Planned For Thursday

The last regular Junior English Examination of the semester will be given this Thursday at 4:30 p m.

STUDENTS who are required to take the test, and do not, will have to pay a $5 fee before registering, according to Martha G Chapman, director of Junior English. Required to take the exam are present second semester sophomores and upperclassmen. This includes students who have not taken the examination previously. No one is permitted to repeat the examination.

Locations for the exam Thursday are posted on the bulletin boards on campus. Because the seating space is limited each division will be required to take the tests in rooms indicated alphabetically.

67 Tally Musicians Schedule Recitals

Sixty-seven young Tallahassee musicians are scheduled for recitals on Monday, June 4, in the Music hall.

Students performing in the recitals are pupils of Mary Reeder, Ruth Robertson, Gertrude Morper of the Florida State University School of Music. Pupils of Jeao Alderman, Mary Helen Ellis, Yvonne Dionne, Nancy Hill, Jeanne Ann Hamilton, Jane Powell, practice teachers in piano pedagogy, will also perform.

Menotti's Medium Opens Tomorrow

Double-Cast Opera To Be Held In Music Hall; Admission Free

Presented on a full-scale production, Menotti's opera, The Medium, will open tomorrow night in the Music hall at 7:30 and 9 p m free of charge.

Directed by Professors Woodrow Pickering of the School of music and Belle Bond Dickenson, instructor of modern dance, The Medium cast is made up of voice majors. Students and staff members from outside the School of music are being part, however.

The Medium originally began as a voice literature class in the music school.

The part of Madame Flora, the medium, a double cast with Barbara Manford and Eloulse Truett.

The Magic Mandrel and Dorothy Clonts will appear in the 7:30, and the Missed Trucks and Premm will be featured in the 9 performance.

Baben Bell will portray the medium's daughter, Monica, and Dorothy Clonts and Virginia Frech will double in the part of Mrs Nolan. Patricia Chapman and Harry Parnes will play Mr and Mrs Gobineau. The role of the mute, Toby, will be played by William Evans. He is also in charge of lighting for the production.

Giao-Carlo Menotti, composer of The Medium, is librattist, stage and musical director of the successful recent opera, The Consul, was the first work of his that was produced on Broadway, and has since been sung in South American and Europe.

The plot of his drama The Medium deals with a charlatan who chests exhortant prizes for bringing back the spirits of the dead." Finally the spiritualist begins to experience the sensation of cold, clammy hands on her neck during seances and tries to return the mouse she has obtained. However, her clients wish her to keep on bringing back the spirits. Menotti said in the New Yorker, June 7, 1947, "Skepticism is a barren thing compared to faith. I try to show this in the opera. I was shocked to see it labeled as a farce. It is meant to be a philosophical play."

Kerr to Speak At Graduation

Plans Near Completion For June 9 Exercises

Final plans for graduation exercises in the Doak S Campbell Stadium are nearing completion, according to Dr Venila L Shores, chairman of the faculty graduation committee. Senator Robert S Kerr of Oklahoma will be the principal speaker.

Dr Shores stated that diplomas will be awarded at 8 p m Saturday, June 9, at the stadium, if weather permits.

IF IT SHOULD RAIN, the ceremony will be accommodated in the Suwannee room of the East campus dining halls. Under these circumstances diplomas will be given out later because of the difficulty of getting the seniors into alphabetical order.

Six thousand seats will be available in the west stands of the stadium, and no tickets will be required. Due to the limited space in the dining halls, however, each student could have only one guest should the ceremony be held there.

DR SHORES announced that President Doak S Campbell had approved the recommendation by the senior class that each graduate should receive his diploma on the platform after the awarding of degrees. She also emphasized the importance of having all prospective graduates present at the rehearsal in the stadium at 9:30 on the morning of graduation day.

A CANDIDATE for graduation may be excused by his instructor from taking the final examination in a course in which he has made a B average at the time the exam is scheduled. Candidates for degrees who are required to take exams will have them scheduled by arrangement with their instructor not later than the second day of the final examination period.

Speakers Continue With Summer Talks

Dick Bradley, head of the ODK Speakers Bureau for next year, has announced that the series of speakers will be continued this summer. As soon as dates, places, and speakers can be arranged.

Allan Head made the debut of the bureau when he traveled down to Orlando and Winter Park last Tuesday to speak on the subject "FSU—A Growing University." He was accompanied by John Newton Baker, public relations director who was on business but was on hand to aid Head when needed.

Also in the development of Florida State for the alumni at Orlando and for the Lions club in Winter Park. He described the growth of the University from the 1947 enrollment of 2,500 women to the top total of about 6,000. "The change in education which seems completely evident." the speaker said, "since men outnumbered women in the last two graduating classes."

The FSU representative went on to say that the change from a woman's college to a university has required additional attention in a number of fields, including marine biology, meteorology, and nuclear research in physical sciences.

A large number of national attention now focused on FSU. Head said the University had been singled out as one of four in the nation to train air force officers in meteorology, with first contingent officers and families scheduled to arrive on campus July 1.

"FSU physics research personnel also have one of only four electron microscopes assigned American universities," he pointed out.

Visiting Professor From U of Chicago Speaks at Seminar

Guest lecturer for a Science Seminar yesterday was Dr Raymond K Sheline, visiting professor from the University of Chicago Institute for Nuclear studies. Dr Sheline spoke on "The Microbiological Properties of the Amino and prophenic acids."

DR KARL DITTMER, head of the Florida State University department of chemistry introduced the speaker.

The guest speaker was a research assistant for the Manhattan project in the University laboratory in the War Research Laboratory from 1943 until 1945. The laboratory was the research organization for the first atom bomb explosion at Oak Ridge, Tennessee.

SINCE THEN, Dr Sheline has worked as a Junior scientist for the Los Alamos Laboratories, University of California, at Los Alamos, as a consultant for Monsanto Chemical Company, Parkway, New Jersey. He is now an instructor for the Institute for Nuclear Studies at the University of Chicago.

Dr Sheline received his BS degree cum laude from Bethany College where he was the highest in his graduating class, and his PhD from the University of California.

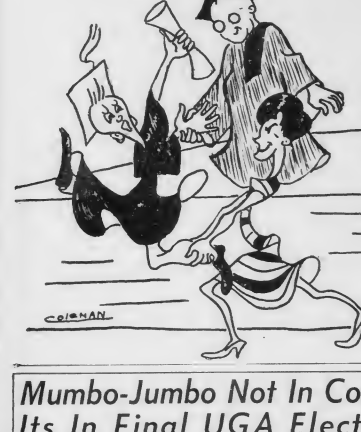
Prof Chester Field Still Unidentified As Prize Increases

Beginning today the Prize for the Professor Chester Field contest in the columns of Seminole to be given the student who asks the correct professor at the Prof Chester Field. A bonus of eight packs will be given if the student's question is the change of Chesterfields at the time.

The contest is entering its fourth week and so far the prize has mounted steadily with no one coming up with the correct the right question. If the professo is still unidentified by May 31, the contest will continue during the summer session.

Picture of the Chesterfield Question of the week is Ruthie Haberkorn who answered last week's unanswered question, How many students attended the leadership training program? The answer was over 100. Ruthie won 12 packages of Chesterfields for the correct answer.



Soph Council Holds Scheduled Weekend At Lake Bradford

New members of Sophomore Council along with this years members and all previous members spent the weekend at Camp Cherokee one of the annual events of the year for all council members.

The rule arrived Saturday afternoon and were entertained by swimming and volleyball and other activities. Bonnie Lou Smith, retiring chairman, was chairman of the retreat and was assisted by Lorene Bates. Pam De Boer, Annie Thorpe Bradley Reynolds, Sue Saxson and June Tate. Saturday night the group went canoeing on Lake Bradford.

Devotions were held on Sunday morning with Cathie Hamby leading the the group. Sunday dinner was served to the group and the girls left early in the afternoon. This weekend was part of a get-acquainted program so that all the council members could meet the members for next year.

Mumbo-Jumbo Not In Congo Its In Final UGA Election

Mumbo-Jumbo wasn't in the Congo, it was in the ballot of the University Government election last Thursday.

It would have taken a code-expert several hours to decipher the wording and statements on the amendments in the final election.

For instance, the act striking the controversial student publication board from the UGA constitution was hidden by neo-classical wording. Here is an example: Striking section 3 Article VI from the UGA constitution . . . FOR——. AGAINST——.

The few students that were interested enough to vote in this important election had little idea what section 3, Article VI was. No one could find a Pow Wow or copy of the UGA constitution around the polls, so consequently the students were voting blind.

It would have been much simpler to explain the changes that were to go through and have the change stated in everyday lingo on the ballot.

The National office of Who's Who is happy over what's what down at Florida State University. The national office is happy because one more sucker university will have several students each year plucking down $20 for a Who's Who in American Colleges directory.

No uniform standards have been set up as yet and there is much doubt if they ever will. The Who's Who organization has lost prestige on this campus. It gives no service to the school and little to the individual who is tapped.

At Florida State there are honoraries that are respected and each year hundreds of students are tapped. Outstanding students are recognized by the campus honoraries Gold and Garnet Key. Two respected national honoraries Omicron Delta Kappa and Mortar Board tap campus leaders each year. There are 19 departmental national honorary societies. Alpha Lambda Delta, Phi Beta Kappa, and Phi Betapa Phi recognize students who excell in scholarship.

It all boils down to this: Florida State doesn't need an "honorary" run by people whose sole motive is a tidy profit.

The students voted it hack. There is little validity in this student election as far as Who's Who is concerned because only 261 students voted. Only 134 voted on joining the National Who's Who in American College and Universities.

A personal poll conducted by the Flambeau staff showed that students want two alternatives: 1 a local hall of fame, similar to the one at the University of Florida, or 2 abolish the money-grubbing Who's Who racket from this campus altogether.

The third discussion the last UGA election brings to mind is that the students who have been crying democracy, freedom, all students' rights have been crying to a senseless student body.

Six percent of the student body exercised their democratic right to vote. The worst turn-out this school has ever seen.

Mumbo-Jumbo wasn't in the Congo, it was at Florida State voodooing students.

● INHERENT QUALITY

"From what you have seen in this class do you believe the Honor System is working at FSU?"

This question was asked all students in twenty sections of Math 105 the end of last semester. 86 percent of the group believed it is working. Only 7 percent believed it was not working at FSU. Three percent expressed doubt and 4 percent failed to answer.

Of the number polled 81 percent were freshmen and 10 percent were sophomores. With the enrollment there now it seems to be a growing faith in the Honor System. Many students said that a campaign of education aimed at both students and faculty was needed to insure the success of any Honor System.

Final analysis seems to indicate that honesty is an inherent quality in an individual. The aim of the education should be to strengthen this inherant quality of honesty.

● RESPONSE TERRIFIC

The speakers bureau will be of invaluable service to Florida State University and people of this state.

Sponsored by the national Leadership honorary, Omicron Delta Kappa, the bureau will send student leaders to all parts of Florida with information about FSU.

Many parents with children graduating from high school will learn "first-hand" about the many advantages and educational opportunities offered by Florida State.

Allan Head, first speaker for the bureau, addressed two groups in Winter Park recently. The response, he said, was "terrific."

Speakers will be selected from outstanding undergraduates and will talk, for the most part, in their hometown areas. This contact with "hometown folk" will certainly have an advantageous psychological effect.

In sponsoring a direct contact between the University and the people of Florida, ODK and the student speakers are performing a commendable service.

● MORE HONOR FORUMS

The Honor Committee, under the chairmanship of Charlotte Lischke, has held two forums in the past two weeks. The first of these forums was for the UGA and class officers, and the second, for the Junior Counselors and the Sophomore Council.

The forums began with a discussion of each group's part in the honor system, with also the objective of acquainting them with the honor system in itself and the honor court. Afterwards a mock trial was held, with committee members as the actors. The proposed amendments to the honor system, which were voted on last week were then discussed and the floor was opened for questioning.

The Honor Committee is to be greatly commended for holding these forums. Members of the UGA, class officers, Junior Counselors and Sophomore Council members will have to work very closely with this institution we cal the Honor System, and it is very important for them to have a complete knowledge of how it works. We hope that in the future the Honor Committee will not only bring such forums to governmental officials and counselors but to the student himself.

FRANKLY SPEAKING

WHO'S WHO BUT A MONEY MAKING SCHEME

By ALLAN HEAD

Well, I see that we will have to endure this Who's Who farce for at least another year. When I call Who's Who a farce, I want it plain that the people selected from FSU this year were, on the whole, outstanding. However, it is no rationale for them to be selected for inclusion in this publication since there are no national standards. The whole think according to the people who know is nothing but a money-making scheme. The fellow who runs it hauls in the money by selling copies of the book to those "lucky people" who get their faces in it.

But since it has now been voted in by yan, the students, let's make the best of it and set up strict standards for them. Florida State. Let's make sure that at least the FSU students in it are outstanding. It would be even better to inaugurate a campaign to set up national standards among the various Who's Who schools. That's a good job for the publications committee to look into next year.

'PON MY WORD

ONE GAIN IS ABILITY TO MEET PEOPLE

By BETSY BLANTON

It is a little difficult to think back over four years of college life and determine what it has benefited you. It is especially hard to do so immediately following the completion of the four-year experience, because benefits tend to be rather slow about showing themselves.

Perhaps the greatest social benefit I have received from college is the ability to meet people. It may be a little hard to believe, but I was very timid and previous to that I was timid about meeting people other than established friends. And I think it is this characteristic that makes students think that teenagers are clannish.

It was in my freshman year at FSU that I was first introduced to the idea that tolerance is a necessary attribute of democratic living. And I am not speaking of racial tolerance alone. I also learned that I must become open and not necessarily imply that one agrees with the ideas of each other person he meets, but merely that you respect his opinions and his right to express them.

That freshman year also involved learning to live with others, most especially one's roommate who, in my case, was a total stranger.

This new experience necessitated putting aside some of the old selfish mannerisms which had become such a habit with me. And this that I mean to imply that university life has rid me of all selfishness, for I believe that no person is completely unselfish.

Believe it or not, I found that one of the best ways to develop social poise was to attend an occasional 8 o'clock. Yes, I realize that these weekly affairs are one of the principal complaints of many women students, but I think that I actually enjoyed them that first hour.

I acquired a new set of social standards during my four years here. Perhaps that comes with a growing maturity rather than as a result of a college career. Things that had seemed so vital before somehow lost their importance and gave way to more lasting things.

High school fads and fashions came to light as being just that after a little while. Not that I want to discredit the benefits one gets from high school experience. I think almost anyone will testify that they enjoyed life in general to the greatest extent during high school days. But I am convinced that the permanent things have begun to have more value to me than temporary whims.

The picture presented thus far might lead someone to believe that FSU has meant only joys and pleasures to me. That is not the case at all.

There have been ups and downs and times when I felt that I was wasting my time, money and effort.

However, Mother Nature has a way of erasing unpleasant memories almost until we remember only the best in a situation or experience. Hence, cherished memories of a good old days and reasaure us when we are discouraged with "College days are the happiest days of your life." And we are more than a little dubious.

It is inevitable, however, that in a few years we will be putting the same old line with the small fry who are discouraged. And they will think we are a bunch of sentimental old fools.

CAMPUS CAROUSEL

THE FIFTEEN BALL IS STILL ROLLING

By EMORY KING

I blame the whole downfall of my cue-stick and looked over the pool table. Ah, the 15 ball was in a good position to be sunk. I was ordered . . . and as I wondered I began to think of other things . . .

And God looked and saw how bad the world and he saw that all was not right. He looked around a long his and the saints praises, but nevertheless, all was not well. But he looked once and waabed the world clean. It would now have another chance.

I looked at the cue-ball and at the 15 ball. I looked at my opponent. The opponent had just sunk three balls that had been in his way, but perhaps I would have a chance . . .

And Rome fell not because she lost a battle or a war. She fell because of moral decay and decreation. Her leaders were weak and let their wives and mistresses and Christians to the lions to save themselves or the country . . .

I looked at all the various consequences if I missed this shot at the 15 ball. You only miss once in this game and I knew that I was playing on was pretty old. It had been new once, but it had worn in the arm, as it were, a few years and but you, the concept, even a pool table to last forever.

The world, too, I thought, is old and worn and tired. It has had too many games played upon its carom and has soiled the blood, and the careers af young idealists. The world had been around a long time and has seen a lons time ago, and even worse war out in time . . .

That old 15 ball was sitting almost cushioned down at the other end of the table. I would have to go behind it to get to the 15 ball. I even bit it. Was it worth the risk considering what I had to lose by missing? I drew back the stick and looked at the 15 ball.

The crowds around the stake cheered and screamed for blood.

The inquisition was on. Who would be next? Who could not believe the way the authorities believed? Who would write his theory in Alabama. The established rules and order? Someone did and he was done for—almost.

I pushed the cue ball with all the force I could muster. I hoped that the opponent didn't notice my weakness. The cue ball went on its arrow straight path to the objective. Nearer—nearer—nearer . . .

They found him dead a short time after that. She was the martyr, but there was thousands of others who died that way in their convictions . . .

The 15 was left. I watched it intently. It didn't drop in the pocket. I had intended, but it was heading for another pocket fast. The 15 ball stop there . . . perhaps —well there are other pockets, and this is indeed a funny table with many deformities. A rolling ball could set into a lot of trouble. Then I remembered my cue ball. It was still rolling . . .

8 Students Question Poll

(Editor's Note: This article questions the validity of a poll printed in the spring issue of Smoke Signals. The poll was submitted by eight students taking this poll: Louise Ware, Ann Clayton, Elizabeth Paine, Frances Furlow, Rosemary Prince, Mary Wilson Padgett and Harrell Cushing. See letter to editor.)

AN ARTICLE called "What Do You Think?" published in the Smoke Signals recently has attempted to make a study, among other things, of the religious life of our students. Their findings were rather startling to those of us who read the article. Even though the writers of the article felt that this was a reliable poll, it is our opinion that the poll represents a true picture of the religious faith of our students. After we had talked to a great number of people who agreed with us, we decided to make a poll.

Since we polled only 500 students, we do not claim that the results of our poll are scientific or completely reliable, but surely they are more reliable than a poll of 200 students.

Our polling was done largely in the classrooms which we believe represents more of a cross-section of the student body because it includes those which the poll in Smoke Signals admittedly left out: Fraternities sororities, off-campus students, and married students. We also feel that we got a more accurate percentage of men to women than the 50-50 division previously printed. Three classes were picked at random by the students who chanced to distribute the questionnaire. We think we have some interesting facts, too.

ACCORDING to the poll in Smoke Signals only six out of every hundred believed in life after death and 20 out of 100 men and 10 out of 100 women. We concluded that women's faith is stronger than men's!

The questions of our polls and the results are as follows:

1. Do you believe in a Supreme Being?

	Yes	No	No Opin.
Freshmen	128	1	—
Junior	117	2	—
Senior	156	2	1
Graduate	6	0	—
	493	1	1

2. Do you believe in the Bible as a sufficient guide for personal religion?

Freshmen	101	27	1
Junior	98	19	2
Senior	108	48	8
Graduate	5	1	—
	388	92	20

3. Do you believe in some kind of life after death?

Freshmen	123	6	2
Junior	110	8	1
Senior	144	8	7
Graduate	8	0	—
	467	26	10

4. Have you experienced a n y growth in your religious life since entering the University?

Freshmen	123	6	—
Sophomore	58	19	9
Junior	102	16	—
Senior	110	43	6
Graduate	4	2	—
	347	134	15

The answer to question two about the Bible was overwhelmingly affirmative. But because so many people in their comments indicated their misunderstanding of the question, we consider it invalid.

IT IS INTERESTING to notice that 388 of the 500 polled have experienced religious growth since entering the University. The percentage of those experiencing such growth was much larger among the juniors and seniors.

According to the poll in Smoke Signals only nine-eighth of the students on campus believes in life after death, but according to our poll, fourteen-fifteenths believe in life after death. How can you account for this discrepancy?

One student who returned a blank questionnaire said, "Any conclusion drawn from this method of asking polling is gross stupidity. Maybe this applies to both of our polls and all polls in general.

One student who returned a blank questionnaire said, "Any conclusion drawn from this method of asking polling is gross stupidity. Maybe this applies to both of our polls and all polls in general.

Dear Editor...

Thanks, Students

Dear Students:

I would like to take this opportunity to sincerely thank every student who voted for me in Thursday's election.

I realize that it was bothersome to take time to write in my name after voting on so many amendments; but your time has been justified by the election returns.

As you know, there were those who said that I was not qualified to run for the office of Chief Justice. How very easy it is to disqualify someone without notifying and allowing him an opportunity of defense.

My name should have been included on the ballot and I will publicly assert to any group who wishes to make inquiry.

Once again, THANKS.

Sincerely,

JERRY THOMAS.

Mistake Clarified

Dear Editors:

In the recent poll in Smoke Signals the question "Do you believe in life after death?" has caused much confusion and a needless paradox. And being random isn't being haphazard!

BOB JUDSON.

Segregation Is Tested

CHARLESTON, S. C. (AP) — A case testing the legality of segregation in South Carolina public schools went before a panel of three Federal judges here today.

Outcome of the case has far-reaching implications for the state and South as a whole.

This marks the first time the constitutionality of segregated schools on the secondary level—a cherished institution—has been directly challenged.

Market Class Hears Local Inventory Talk

Sidney Mendelson, of Mendelson's department store in Tallahassee, stressed "keeping perpetual stock records" in a talk given at a meeting of the Retail Trade class here Thursday.

"Inventories can be obtained," in an address to Dr. W O Shover's class in marketing last Tuesday.

Mr Mendelson gave each student actual ledgers and records used to keep records of every transaction made. ..

Local Attorney Is Pi Omega Speaker

Kenneth J Bellinger, Tallahassee attorney, spoke at a recent luncheon held by Pi Omega Pi, business fraternity for students who are training to be business teachers.

The luncheon was held in connection with the state Future Business Leaders of America held at Florida State May 18-19.

In his talk, Bellinger told of Blue Laws in Florida and other anti-factions which might tend to undermine American democracy.

Jarden Given Praise For Book Reviews

Professor Wentworth T Jordan, Florida State University professor in Southern history, has received recognition for several historical book reviews.

His account of James B Bell's Slavery in Alabama, appeared in the Journal of Southern History, and Here They Once Stood, written by Mark Boyd Hall Smith, head of the department of anthropology and archaeology, and John Griffin, appeared in the Florida Historical Quarterly. Also reviewed is Wedding Cortez: Southern Legacy in the Alabama Review and Joseph H Parks' John Bell Hood and Richard Taylor in the Navy Carolina Historical Review.

Campus Characters

By STAN SCHMIDT

Looking too close at anything is not the best thing for you! The closer you look the more dirt you see and the less you enjoy looking.

Envy those completely oblivious characters who seem insensitive to actual defects. They live life to the fullest with the senses and miraculously achieve some measure of success without moving off the front porch. . . .

"I'll look for a job tomorrow, Ma. . . ."

The Suwannee Room bushoy's organization (The Cell-Scrapers of America) honored Spaff Taylor with the Grand Order of the Purple Mantle award this week. Spaff was the ex-Georgia footballer broke a few thousand bucks worth of crockery imported from Horn and Hardart. . . .

Kenny Cooper has the nerve to blame his wreck last week on low flying bumards. Methinks the bumards were made in Milwaukee. . . .

Most of the characters who took the Draft Exemption exam looked like students for the first time in their lives. . . .

Stopped to talk with buddy Mac McCall, the week-ender of WFSU. The one word I did get in died of claustrophobia. By the way, he exploded the myth that he rightly runs naked through Webster's International. . . . Since the Alum. is red with the blood of those who insisted on writing controversial stuff I announce myself irrevocably, and unswervingly in favor of motherhood -amens married women, of course!. . .

Kappa Alpha Theta National Meeting Held Here in June

Florida State University has been announced as the site, June 6-10, of the District Eleven convention of Kappa Alpha Theta, national social sorority.

Convention chairman Mrs J C Camp reports the convention will be held at the local chapter house of Kappa Alpha Theta, with all business sessions scheduled in the auditorium of the Longmire building.

Schools represented in District Eleven are FSU, Rollins College, Tulane Newcomb at New Orleans, University of Georgia and Vanderbilt University. In addition, representatives from the thirteen Kappa Alpha Theta alumnae clubs throughout Florida and Georgia are expected to attend.

Two Music Alumnae Accept Positions

Florida State University will be represented in the Atlanta Symphony Orchestra next year. Virginia Rouse, violinist and Catherine Barnhart, violist, have accepted positions with the orchestra for the 1951-52 season, George White, manager of the orchestra, announced this week.

Miss Rouse received her bachelor's degree from Florida State University and will receive her master's degree here next month. She is a former member of the Central Florida Symphony. Miss Barnhart, a graduate of the Eastman School of Music in Rochester, N Y, is a former member of the Columbus, Ohio, Philharmonic. Both have been members of the State Symphony of Florida during the past season.

Instructor Needed For Aeronautics

An urgent need for instructors in academic ground school secretarial in a school of aeronautics was needed in South Georgia, Rules of specific schools can be had from the vocational guidance departments.

Courses are available in the fields of navigation, meteorology, aircraft engines, principles of flight, radio communications and service.

Qualifications include a bachelor's degree, and training for executive jobs in the above fields. Men with a background in science or math plus air force training would be best suited for these openings. Teaching experience is not required but would be an excellent recommendation.

200 Year Old Canoe Presented To School

Fred J Barnes, of Virginia, presented an Indian canoe, which Hale Smith, of the archaeology department, estimates to be 200 years old, to the Florida State University museum.

The canoe, nearly 13 feet long and made from a cypress log hollowed out, was found by Barnes while fishing at Bud's Boat Basin, in Davis Lake, near Inverness. It is in excellent condition, and after being treated with preservatives, will be placed on permanent exhibit in the FSU museum.

Baptist Will Install New Union Council For Summer School

The Baptist Student Union Council for summer school will be installed tonight at 7 in Vespers, Martha Watkins, publicity chairman, has reported. Faculty advisor, Mr Charles H Walker, will officiate, she said.

Officers elected are Pam Decker, president; Eleanor Knox, enlistment vice - president; Ken Harrison, Sunday School representative; Gene Nabi, Training Union representative; Pam Pope, WMU president; Larry McCeachy, secretary; Barbara Kate Thomas, devotional vice-president; Nancy True, music director; Jean Brown, extension director; Jean Martin, house hostess.

Martha said that all BSUers make plans now for pre-school retreat in the fall, especially those who have offices for next year. Retreat will be held at Camp Flastacowo, and students are asked to sign up at the student house before leaving for home.

Ken Martin Recent V P of Honorary

A TALL, AMBITIOUS SENIOR is Ken Martin of Tallahassee, ladies in last year's "Iphigenia." Ken is a political science major; with practical experience in that line behind him.

He will be remembered as Pylades in last year's "Ophigenia," and the football player lover in "The Male Animal." This year, he was "Johnny" in "Jim Dandy." Between his political science work and his dramatics flair, he manages to keep very busy.

MOST of those who know him will commend his quizzical smile, his patience in all things, and his sense of humor. He is responsible for many of the proposed projects which Lee Andrews is putting on as state for future years.

HE IS AN ACTIVE MEMBER of the play-selection committee for department of speech productions, which will be chosen for next year.

Spanish Honorary Installs Presidents

Sigma Delta Pi, Spanish honorary, installed two new presidents, James Bolton and Eleanor O'Halloran, May 11 in the Longmire building. Vice-president Mary Frances Strickland led the candlelight ceremony. Other officers present were Doris Johnson, secretary; Edith Foster, historian; and Bettyne Davidson, treasurer. Refreshments were served afterwards by Ruth Engle.

Initiation Planned For Les Jongleurs

By JEAN FLYNN

Invitation ceremonies for Les Jongleurs recently proved to be most inspiring. Dr McCalmon punned the charter members with ribbons, with the epic statement, "As Lafayette said upon entering Yalihasse: Les Jongleurs, nous sont arrives." Translated, this means, "Les Jongleurs, we have arrived!" Dr Hall then saluted each member in the usual French manner. Friday night this organization holds a banquet, honoring four new initiates, and celebrating the arrival of Les Jongleurs to Florida State University. Vive Les Jongleurs!

A rather small audience enjoyed and commented upon two plays presented last Tuesday evening by the acting class. They dealt with problems of teen-age and child development.

WESLEY PLAYERS are very proud of their one-act Tarkington comedy, Trysting Place, which came off Saturday night at Wesley Foundation, usually known as the Wesley Student House. The group, a happy-go-lucky bunch of troupers, have a miraculous way of laughing their way through rehearsals and then turning out a marvelous performance.

Auditions held on Wednesday evening for summer productions, which will open June 6, with the summer program bids to be a good one.

ANOTHER GRAND bunch of troupers are the cast of Pirates of Penzance, which opens tonight at Turner Air Base last Sunday night to give a show for the boys there, returning at 2 a. m. Reports are that the soldiers got a big kick out of the SU FSU co-eds. Orchids to the Pirates!

FSU Prof Elected To League Office

Adolph Karl, Florida State University associate professor of art, has been elected vice-president of the Tallahassee Art League.

Mrs James Gunn, wife of FSU music professor James Gunn, was elected president. Mrs A G Matthews will be the new secretary.

The Tallahassee Art League is a joint group of townspeople and FSU faculty who are interested in art. Members include both artists and laymen.

Next responsibility of the new officers will be planning the 1951 convention of the Florida Art Association, to be held in Tallahassee this fall.

Les Jongleurs New Campus Honorary

By JEAN FLYNN

LES JONGLEURS, Florida State University's newest honorary, is for drama participants. The organization, which was only a dream in a small committee's eye at the end of last year, has developed into a working group, officially recognized on campus, officers installed, and boasting a total of 15 members.

Jayne Gardner, chairman of the constitution committee at the beginning of the school year called meetings during first semester, to formulate and vote on a constitution. Anyone interested in belonging to such an organization was welcome to come.

TO BECOME A MEMBER, an "apprentice" must accumulate a total of 36 points, attained by working on plays under the auspices of the department of speech. These points may be either in technical or acting work; but only half of the 36 may be given in acting alone.

This new organization has many projects on next year's agenda; including summer children's theatre, special plays to be produced within the group, possibly a musical revue and others.

Les Jongleurs is the French term used for troubadours of ancient history, who wandered from castle to castle singing, juggling and clowning for the nobility. The name was chosen for its originality, as no other dramatic organization holds that name. Colors adopted were terra cotta and Grecian blue.

TO TERMINATE its one semester of existence, Les Jongleurs held a banquet at the Hotel Duval last Friday evening, at which time four apprentices, who had just completed requirements for initiation, were taken into the group. They were Kay Bevlin, Blair Hennessey, Fred Myers, and Bill Yarborough.

Our Great Circus

By Jim Couch, Guest Columnist

During the past year we here at Florida State University have had the privilege of witnessing another glorious year of sports accomplishment. All nine of our varsity sports and the circus troupe have had marvelous seasons.

Because so much of our sports page is usually dedicated to the intercollegiate program, I am directing this column to that group of students which has done more for the university in the field of publicity than any other single group.

Our circus activities, being the only unique sport of its type on a southern campus, has played before an estimated 48,000 well-pleased spectators during the present year.

This activity is unique in one aspect as it affords both men and women the opportunity to engage in directed recreation together. It is unique in that it provides its performers with an ever changing and ever interesting curriculum, for unlike our competitive sports, this is equally new to each freshman that acquires an interest in it.

This wholesome activity not only helps to build healthy bodies, but furnishes a background for friendships which begin on the circus lot and are carried throughout campus life. Thus does the circus serve as a meeting place for people of like interests and further develops those interests in a friendly and cooperative manner.

However, for all of the assets gained and accomplishments done, I believe that the most inspiring thing about the circus is the frame of mind that leads the "kids" into the initial interest and later the commonest performances.

This frame of mind, of which I speak, is almost totally lacking in all competitive sports today. That is the fact that very few athletes play a sport merely because of personal satisfaction or interest in the sport. This, I believe, is the main reason that the circus holds a greater interest for a lot of students.

The mere fact that they are not lured to the sport by the coaches is evidence of the initiativeness of the participants. It is because of this initiativeness and the super coaching of Mr Haskins and his staff that the circus has achieved national prominence.

I would like to express my thanks, and the entire student body's too, for an activity of amateurs in this day of professional collegiate sports, we're proud of you. And when I speak of the circus troupe I do not refer only to the main performers, but to every single person connected with the circus. Again I say, I am envious and proud of your fine record of accomplishment. Keep up the good work.

QUESTIONS

1—What did these American league hurlers have in common—Ray Caldwell, Stanley Coveleskie, Urban Shocker, Hub Leonard and Allen Sothoron?

2—Who was the pitcher who won 60 games for his team in one season?

3—Was the American Association ever a big league?

HOGMEE?

AFTER two years in the Federal league I came to the National as an outfielder in 1916. Most of my career was with Cincinnati for which club I played in the 1919 World Series. I was a .300 or better hitter. Name me.

ANSWERS

(Brooklyn), Sid J. (Cubs) Sothoron, Allen (Senators), Shocker, Urban (Yankees), Leonard, Hub (Red Sox), Coveleskie, Stanley C. (Old Home) Caldwell, Ray—Nine pitchers won all pitching honors in the same game when Ray began to pitch but three present AAA minor baseball circuits were in existence in 1882 to 1891.

Fraternity And Dorm Teams Vie At Girls' Gym

Both the Frat and Dormitory swim enthusiasts will have a go at the competitive type of swimming on Wednesday and Thursday nights in the East campus pool. Preliminaries will be held in the 50-yard free style, 50-yard backstroke, and fancy diving. Finals in all events will be run off Thursday night. Starting time for both nights is 8:30.

Theta Chi will defend the fraternity title which they won over Kappa Alpha, Pi Kappa Alpha Pi, Kappa Phi, and Alpha Tau Omega, who finished behind Theta Chi in that order.

Last year's records are:

50-yard free style—1, Cole, TC; 2. Cass, ATO; 3, Barnes, KA; 4, Oliver, PKA; 5, Kratzert, PDT. Time 37.7.

Change in Baseball

A CHANGE in the baseball map seems to be in the making. If not now, in the near future.

The signs of the times cannot be ignored, and already several prominents have voiced recommendations for rebuilding or realigning our major league setup.

A drop in attendance, the apparent continued hopeless situation in the A. L. stand in St. Louis, the fall of the Athletics, the invasion of television, the demise of several minor leagues, the cutting of farm system ties, and the high cost of baseball operations have combined to accent the situation as never before.

In a recent interview, P. K. Wrigley, owner of the Cubs, stated that "the entire map of organized baseball should be reorganized so that baseball can keep pace with the growth of the nation."

As a follow-up Leo Perini, the "Little Steam Shovel" who heads the Boston Braves, urges 12-club major loops with all sections of the U. S., as well as neighboring countries of Mexico and Canada, given representation.

* * * *

THE ST. LOUIS situation has been talked about for years. Rumors of moving the franchises to other cities, such as Milwaukee, the Pacific Coast, Baltimore and Houston continue to crop up.

The Philadelphia story is a new one. Where the Athletics held sway for so long, the Phillies came up the last few years and began to take the play away from the Mackmen. But even the Phillies, as champions last year, didn't fare as well as expected.

Both Wrigley and Perini believe the Pacific Coast offers the best spot for major league representation. Population increases in that area provide the basis for success.

The promotional genius of Bill Veeck, who skyrocketed the Cleveland Indians into baseball's top attraction, may be needed. And the rumors persist here that Veeck will be back in baseball—welcomed back to help the situation either at Philadelphia or at St. Louis or at some new stand.

* * * *

SALARIES of the players, the cost of operating the clubs and farm systems have mounted year after year. And baseball has stuck to its price scale for admission—thick cloue with little change.

More people have watched the games, of course, and that gave some clubs a profit and kept others close to the line.

Night baseball also was the savior for many clubs, particularly in the minor leagues.

But television came along and, while it is still a debatable question as to how much it will hurt sports events when the novelty wears off, TV is something to be reckoned with.

The farm systems are a big item. And, according to a recent survey in the Sporting News, major league clubs have cut farm operations for the third straight year. For the last three-year period the decrease has been an alarming 32 per cent.

Concessions play a big part in the ball club's operations, too, and these, as other items, are affected by the economy of the times.

* * * *

ANY MOVEMENT of major league teams to other cities or the increase in number of teams set up many important considerations including transportation, scheduled size of ball parks.

Perini, for example, lists such cities as Montreal, Baltimore, Milwaukee, San Francisco, Oakland, Los Angeles, Hollywood, Houston, Havana and Mexico City as possibilities.

Improved travel facilities, shift of population, building programs and the vital need for some sort of realignment are the factors which may result in e changs in the baseball map.

And it could start in this year which marks the 75th anniversary of the National League and the 50th anniversary of the American League.

Murals End With KAs and 849 Ahead

Oscar Oropeza 'SPE' was undefeatable in the fraternity tennis singles as he ran through his straight opponents without a defeat. He defeated Rube Aske (DTD) in the finals.

Dormitory softball came to a abrupt halt as 849 Upper, pres leader in over-all standing turned back the Oilers and Ma ried Men in a double elimination play-off. Talk of the play-off was Roy Horton who earned the nick-name of "Home Run" by hitting a pair of clutch homers pace the 849'ers to the championship.

Frat softball is just about to w put away for another year as the PKA's practically handed the ATO's the title by defeating 7 8-2. The ATO's have but to w their last game from the fourth running KK nine to clinch the title.

Fraternity soif is approaching the final green as undefeated Kappa Alpha walks to play one PDT. KK, or LCA for the championship.

Tennis doubles and bad minton are not yet far enough along to determine the finalists but the boys are looking toward the winners circle with determined eyes and competition waxing keen.

Campus Interviews on Cigarette Tests

Number 21...
THE PELICAN

OUR easy-going, big-billed friend has learned to say "No" to these hurry-up, one-puff, one-sniff cigarette tests! "Why", says he, "they don't even give you time to finish the cigarette before you're supposed to decide which is mildest!" Millions of smokers have come to the same conclusion —there's just one real way to test the flavor and mildness of a cigarette!

It's the sensible test . . . the 30-Day Camel Mildness Test, which simply asks yoo to try Camels as a steady smoke— on a pack-after-pack, day-after-day basis. No snap judgments needed! After you've enjoyed Camels—and only Camels—for 30 days in your "T-Zone" (T for Throat, T for Taste), we believe you'll know why . . .

More People Smoke Camels
than any other cigarette!

UGA Council Votes Thomas Chief Justice

Election Said Illegal; Bradley Presents Motion To Name Court Officer

In a tense second meeting, the newly-elected University Council voted to appoint Jerry Thomas chief justice of University Court.

Three close votes—all 5 to 4—were taken during the hour-long session as the Council attempted to determine the legality of the April-in vote by which Thomas defeated Alice Jackson by 11 votes.

THE CONTROVERSY grew out of an attempt to adopt the official report of the election committee which declared Jerry Thomas "ineligible to win the office of chief justice. Betty Rich, BULLETIN: Late yesterday afternoon the Council met. At 11 o. 2. the University Council's appointment of Jerry Thomas as chief justice of University Court and recommended appointment of a temporary justice from among the present members of the Court, until a new election can be held.

vice-president in charge of women's affairs, moved the adoption of the report as it stood, but the motion was defeated 5-4.

When Ted Steinmeyer moved to accept the results of the balloting with the question was divided by Dora Jean Smith, with the amendments and Who's Who being voted upon, but with the Chief Justice election being thrown out completely, again by a 5-4 vote.

TO FILL the vacancy in the office of Chief Justice, therefore, Dick Bradley introduced a motion to appoint Thomas to the position permanently. Due to a reversal of the vote from previous roll-call, the motion was defeated by a 5-4 decision. Those voting "for" were Bradley, Kirk, Steinmeyer, Barnes and Sexton, while the members in opposition to the nomination were Ruth Proctor, Conyers and Smith.

THE NOMINATION now goes to the Senate, which meets this afternoon at 5 in special session. Since a two-thirds vote is needed for ratification.

If Jerry Thomas' nomination is not approved by the Senate, the issue will "probably carry over to next year for another election," according to Bradley, senior class president and Council member.

Two Performances Of Medium Given Last Wednesday

Two performances of the trans-lation The Medium by Menotti, were presented Wednesday night in the Music hall.

Appearing in the two-act opera was a cast of voice majors directed by Professors Woodrow Pickering, musical director, and Nelse-Bond Dickinson, stage and dance director. Sets and costumes were managed also by the two Directors.

MADAME FLORA, the medium, was double-cast by Barbara Mansfield and Eloise Trowell. Helen Bell portrayed the medium's daughter, Monica; the part of Toby, the mute, was played by William Kinzer.

The role of Mrs Nolan was portrayed by Dorothy Cowles and Virginia French, while Patricia Chapman and Harry Persse appeared as Mrs and Mr. Gobineau.

THE MEDIUM is a philosophical play of a spiritualist who experimenters with fraud, and in the end, during seances and causes him to seek repentance from God and her clients for her deception of dead spirits. The action takes place in Madame Flora's basement apartment.

Accompanist for the musical were Betty Bly Markle and Norma Mary Jo Sporties were managed by Doris Clemons and stage was manager was James Harris.

WGA Election Held By Women Students For Summer Session

Officers for Women's summer dormitories were elected last Thursday at a meeting of all women students planning to attend summer school. Elected were representatives to Judiciary and officers of each girls' dormitory.

Open for undergraduate women students will be North Cawthon, South Cawthon and Byrd.

ELECTED PRESIDENT of Byrd was Pat Ledbetter with Kye Starbird and Peg Redding chosen vice presidents. Bryan's representative to Judiciary is Becky Anderson.

In South Cawthon, Joyce Chick was elected president, Jackie Dickerson and Carol Henderson being the two vice presidents. Pamela DeBoer was elected representative to Judiciary.

NORTH CAWTHON'S president will be Clara Comelias with Ann Lembeck and Pat Kirby as vice presidents. Ann Caro will serve on Judiciary from South Cawthon.

Elected chairman of Women's Judiciary for the summer term is Mary Ellen Tavel. Joan Parris will serve as head fire marshal.

Summer judiciary will be made up of the three dorm presidents, a representative from each dorm and the chairman.

THIS YEAR'S SENIOR CLASS started off the year with the controversy over senior class pictures being taken without or with caps and gowns. Special classes were called during the first of the year by senior class president, Bob Lanigan. The seniors voted 106 to 71 in favor of wearing caps and gowns for their class pictures.

The annual senior class investiture services were held in Westcott Auditorium Oct. 17. Speaker for the yearly affair was Dr Hudson Rogers, head of the FSU English department. The subject of his talk was "More About Professors." Dr Anna Forbes Liddell delivered the devotional address. The faculty Executive council led the processional, followed by the class officers and the class members.

THE PRESIDENT of the Senior Class, Bob Lanigan, was capped by President Doak S Campbell. This was followed by the Sophomore brothers and sisters capping the Seniors. Betsy Blanton, class parliamentarian and acting marshal, directed the proceedings. After capping the Seniors the Sophomore invited and silent reminded standing and sang "Hail to the Caps and Gowns."

The Seniors next donned caps and gowns for the annual President's birthday celebration. Dr Doak S Campbell was honored with a birthday dinner in the Suwannee room and a birthday party at the president's home. Honor guests at the dinner included President and Mrs Campbell, Dr and Mrs J Broward Culpepper, Miss Katherine Warren, and the chairman.

Miami-FSU Game Will Be Handled By Class of 1953

The class of 1953 will handle all activities for the Florida State University vs Miami game to be held in the Orange Bowl in Miami on October 5, 1952. This has been announced by Mary Helen Speed, publicity chairman of the 1952 junior class as approved by University Council and Faculty Committee on Student Affairs.

Plans are now being made for transportation and for housing next year. It is hoped that the University of Miami will let FSU have the use of a dorm while there. Also arrangements are being made for a parade in Miami, a pep rally and a dance.

STUDENTS or organizations having any suggestions are asked to get in touch with the chairmen of the various committees. These include Eleanor Green as the head of the transportation committee, Pat Corry in charge of contacting alumni for help, Mary Helen Speed on publicity, Jere Sawyers as chairman for parade and housing and Mary Ruth Summers in charge of the pep rally.

Organizations may sub-sponsor different sections of the program but any student must first contact Jimmie Barnes, new president of the junior class.

Prof Chester Field Found By James Cox

Professor Chester Field has been discovered! James M Cox of Whitham, Georgia, asked Prof Finley Belcher if he was the Chesterfield professor and the answer was yes. Cox won the prize of 28 packages of Chesterfield cigarettes.

Professor Belcher is in the Dept of Business and has been the Chesterfield prof for two weeks. This contest will continue during the summer sessions with more Chesterfield cigarettes as prizes.

Kerr to Speak At Graduation Next Saturday

Senator, Past Governor Born on Okla. Farm; Served in World War I

Florida State University will have a personage of prominence present at the graduation exercises for the class of 51 to be held Saturday evening, June 9 at 8 p m in Campbell stadium.

He is Robert S Kerr, United States senator from Oklahoma, who will deliver the commencement address.

Born in a log cabin in his native state of Oklahoma, Senator Kerr rose to become a wealthy oil producer, and a United States senator.

SENATOR KERR was reared on a farm and educated in the public schools of Ada, Oklahoma, his parental having driven in a covered wagon from Texas to Indian Territory, where they leased 160 acres in what is now South Central Oklahoma. He attended Oklahoma Baptist University, East Central Teachers College and the University of Oklahoma, and taught school for two years.

He served as a commissioned officer in World War I overseas and after the war returned to Ada where he started a produce business and later began study of law in the office of Judge J P McNeel. He passed the bar examination, and became Judge McKeel's law partner.

Later Senator Kerr entered the business of drilling oil wells which became his full time occupation and in 1931 he moved to Oklahoma City to devote more time to his oil producing interests.

IN 1932, he was elected Oklahoma State Commander of the American Legion, the youngest State Commander in the United States at that time. Before than he had organized and served as first Commanding Officer of Battery F of the 160th Field Artillery Oklahoma National Guard in Ada, Oklahoma.

He took a leading role in membership and fund raising activities of the Red Cross and YMCA, and served twice as State Chairman of Infantile Paralysis Fund Drives. Oklahoma City needed a bond issue for a new water supply. Kerr organized a campaign

Jackson Is Elected Garnet Key Prexy

Alice Jackson was elected president of Garnet Key for next year at a meeting held Tuesday night.

Other officers are Betty Sue Summers, vice president; Ellen Avis, secretary; Eleanor Graves, treasurer; Mary Ellen Smith, historian; Peggy Moore, social chairman; and Marianne Gilbert, publicity chairman.

Last night members of Garnet Key honored their new members with a box supper at the hockey field. Songs were dedicated to the seniors and favors were presented at the party. Following the Garnet Key members attended their graduating seniors at their dormitories and sorority houses

Patton Reports Schools Depart From Moral Code

Representative Patton introduced into the Florida House Wednesday the long-awaited report which claims to have unearthed in the Florida schools "an increasing departure from traditions accepted for so long as the code of decency."

THE INVESTIGATION, backed by a fifty-thousand dollar appropriation, has been carried on during the last two years by a House committee headed by Rep R B Patton of Franklin county. Patton is chairman of the Florida American Legion's Americanism drive and author of the bills to make teaching of Americanism in high schools and universities compulsory.

A new appropriation has been made to keep the committee alive on an interim basis for the next two years.

THE REPORT MADE reference to the "Preparation for Marriage" courses at Florida State University, to which the committee said it had "found widespread objection." However, it was added that the matters involved were such that the committee felt it beneath its dignity to discuss the details."

Officials of the School of Social Welfare, in which the classes in question are taught, stated that the courses would be suspended as of June 9, pending action of the board of control. However, students now enrolled in the courses will receive grades and credits. A faculty committee appointed by President Doak S Campbell to investigate the condition, with its report being transmitted by the president to the Board of Control. Dr Campbell said he would make no statement at the present time.

THE REPORT CONTINUES, "The board of control has also given assurance of their support to the steps to correct moral conditions about which there has been considerable complaint from students and other citizens." It was not made clear whether or not this was the basis of the petacent campus rumor that the committee was investigating homosexuality.

Patton's committee devoted considerable space to the activities of "atheists and agnostics" in the universities and quoted Bob Fuson's poll of religious beliefs as printed in Smoke Signals as evidence of the way students are being influenced by the so-called heathen. The report said that the committee, with the assistance of the board of control, will attempt to determine a policy in coping with the evils of tenure as enforced on the institutions of higher learning by national college associa-

YWCA Become SCA Early First Semester

THE FLORIDA STATE UNIVERSITY Young Women's Christiao Association became Student Christian Association officially at the beginning of the current school year. For several decades the YWCA had been one of the most active organizations on campus, but as co-education spread, the members felt that there should be a combination YWCA and YMCA gronp.

YWCA cabinet, under the leadership of Jennie Adams, president, voted to try to establish such an organization in the last months of the past year Two other major adherents to the idea were Mrs Coyle Moore, YWCA advisor, and Dr Edwin Hartz, professor in Social Work Department.

THERE HAD BEEN a trial YMCA at the beginning of the 1949-50 school year, but it had been unsuccessful.

The cabinet contacted several boys who had been interested in an SCA and asked them to help formulate plans.

Upon Jennie Adams' resignation, Anne Scudder took over the leadership of YWCA. She, with the cabinet, worked lona and hard over plans for the SCA to begin in September, 1950.

YWCA has done many jobs on campus. Among them are the sponsorship of the Easter program at Killearn Gardens, campus diplomats, handling of local Girl Scout troops aid to needy students, and participation in the Berea conference held in June of each year, for national YMCA, YWCA, aod SCA groups.

tions and various national organizations."

"Teoure" is a word used io educational circles for the system of guaranteeing professors and teachers against dismissal except for good cause, usually upon hearinas of complaints against them

THE REPORT WENT ON, "It is freely admitted by administrative heads and controlling bodies of state institutions and privately operated colleges that in nrder tn stay on accredited lists the governing authorities are subjected to and must submit to dictation of these national aroups who not only insist on, but demand the recognition by the lostitutions of their ideologies methods and their own definition of academic freedom in respect to any controls, restraint or restrictions that a college may impose on a professor or instructor."

It was reported that "administrators have been giving way to influences beyond the control of the taxpayers who are footing the bill." This is apparently the basis for the committee's claim that youth are being taught to depart from accepted traditions. The report did not state specifically what traditions were meant.

Gene Burnett Told To Complete Exams Suspended June 8

Gene Burnett, who was suspended from school last month has received an official notice from the Board of Control that he will be allowed to take his examinations and establish credit in his courses for this semester.

Burnett who was suspended after he signed his name to a mimeographed publication, Your Time, made a final request for readmission on Monday, May [illegible] and the Board of Control went into committee hearing Thursday morning to determine the case

"After consideration, the committee unanimously agreed that in order that you may have the privilege of taking your examinations and the opportunity to establish credit in your courses for the semester, your suspension is to be weighed beginning at 9 3[illegible] a m June 1," the Board told Burnett in a letter.

"This victory, in and of itself is of great importance and significance not only to me but to any student hereafter," said Burnett to a Flambeau reporter. "However, as the letter indicates the suspension will be resumed into the summer and I will possibly have to fight once more for readmittance."

Burnett stated that "This should serve as a danger signal to those who value their individual rights and should also illustrate that platitudes are one thing and practice is another. Freedom unapplied is not in any sense freedom."

Officers Elected For Soph Council

Sophomore Council officers for next year were elected at the last meeting of the year Tuesday night. Newly elected president Jean Wetharell, presided over the meeting.

Yvonne McCarthy was elected vice-chairman: Sonny Livingstone, secretary: Judy Simpkins, treasurer: Peggy Dame, flag chairman: Polly Laasiter, group leader for the orientation program; and Iris Johnson, minute man, which is also an office for the week of orientation only.

Plans aere made to usher Class Day and girls also registered for the dormitory at which they will assist the entering freshmen next year. The new council will also serve at the annual Sophomore-Senior breakfast Sunday morning.

After the meeting all members of Sophomore Council, past and present, serenaded the seoiors in sorority houses and senior dormitories Tuesday night.

Dr and Mrs Otis McBride, Dr W H Rogers, senior class sponsor, and Mrs Rogers.

AT THE RECEPTION at the president's home the Seniors presented him with a birthday cake and serenaded him. Bob Lanigan, senior president, presented Dr Campbell with a birthday present from the Senior Class of 1951.

Formal graduation exercises were held on Saturday, February 3, for the February graduates in Westcott auditorium.

Final plans for June graduation are being made. An announcement recently revealed the speaker for commencement exercises. Senator Robert Samuel Kerr of Oklahoma will travel down to address the Seniors. Kerr is also former governor of Oklahoma. Honor guests who have been invited to attend the services include Senators Spessard L. Holland, George Smathers of Florida and Congressman Bob Sikes.

THE 1951 CEREMONY will commemorate the celebration of the centennial anniversary of higher education in this state. It was in 1851 that the first act of the legislature was passed creating institutions of hihher learning.

Plans for Senior class activities include a graduation dance to be held off-campus. This class will be the first to have such a dance. The dance will be held at the Daniel Hotel from 8:30-1. Friday, June 8. The seniors will have as their guests their families.

THE 1951 CLASS has voted to leave to the school a trophy case which will be installed in the new Student Union building.

PICTURED ABOVE ARE a few of the "neolitos," recent pledges of the Florida State chapter of Los Picaros de Lope de Vega. Dr Herberto Lacayo, center, is faculty advisor.

Los Picaros Has Thirty Members

MANY NATIONAL and state clubs have chapters on Florida State's campus, but one of its most colorful is that of a group of Spanish-speaking "rogues." Approximately 30 of these "rogues" comprise the Florida State chapter of Los Picaros de Lope de Vega.

Membership to Los Picaros is gained on the basis of two examinations, one written and one oral. These exams are given twice yearly. The purpose of the club is to promote the development of a better understanding between Spanish and English-speaking peoples.

THIS YEAR the club has brought the Spanish film, Don Quijote, to the campus for humanities and Spanish students and other interested people. They have also had a float in Homecoming and held in May the third annual convention of Picaros with delegates from Florida universities. It was the first time the convention was held at FSU. The club held a social hour on "Fiesta in Spain."

President of the club for this year was Gavina Alvarado; vice-president, Eladio Camis; recording secretary, Miriam Robles; corresponding secretary, Pat Weigand; historian, Carlie Carballo; publicity, Catherine Gatta; social chairman, Ray Luthers. Carolina Pizarro was maid in the court of the queen at the convention dance. Dr Herberto Lacayo serves as faculty counselor.

Orchestra Elects Officers for 51-52

Newly elected officers of the University Orchestra have been announced with Dan Beda elected president. Other officers elected were vice president, Lloyd Fish; secretary, Mary Ann Bohlayer; publicity, Frank Starbuck.

The University Symphony Orchestra is under the direction of Robert Sedore and gives a series of concerts every season.

Most of the players are combined with various faculty members and visiting players to form the State Symphony of Florida. The State Symphony also gives a series of concerts every year featuring many famous guest artists.

Student Fondly Remembers First Registration at FSU

By RALPH HAGER

I STOOD BACK, not trusting myself to speak. I had been accepted for enrollment at Florida State University. Today was registration day. I stood there in front of Westcott Hall, not moving a muscle. A bear-spirited campus policeman strode by, opened my mouth, looked in, and walked away murmuring to himself about the strange designs of automobiles today.

Gaily I skipped to registration. Fall in line. Wait here. Line forms to the right. Here your cards. Filled out. Sign on the dotted line. Get your counselors approval. Test your chest for TB. How's your dandruff? Did your Aunt Sophie suffer from athlete's foot even though she had a pedigree?

What courses? Speech 101, journalism 101, humanities 101, physical ed 113, basket weaving 425, mummy pes 238, beer brewing 211, etc, ad infinitum. Life courses filled my card. My first class was scheduled for eight o'clock every morning. My last laboratory ended at 5 each afternoon. But I was not depressed. My feet were, however. I had stood in line for quite a few hours and during that period upperclassmen had run roughshod over my routinely shod feet.

MY FIRST DAY of class was truly an experience. My first taste of college teachers. My eight o'clock class was taught by a wheezing old lady who prided herself in her well groomed mustache. My nine o'clock instructor was an effete-year-old lad who had graduated from college the previous spring and was working on his masters.

I took cognizants of my surroundings. We had a football team, whose greatest claim to glory was that they were Florida State University's first football team since the turn of the century. There was a quaint monstrocity of wood housing the music department, Dreen dormitories housed the FSU coeds. Blossoming before my gaze Cawthon Hall came into being my first year. Backward, though it is, it was a step forward in the 50-year plan.

Two more quarters and two more registrations as a freshman. I soon learned why freshmen are called freshmen. After they have been through a couple of registration periods, they are no longer fresh, but worn old vets.

MY SECOND YEAR began. I strode boldly across the cobblestone street to registration. Immediately a near sighted campus policeman ran over me in his sleek pre-war automobile. As he drove on he murmured something about the deplorable condition of the FSU streets and the bumps and so forth. I did not have the heart to tell him that I was the bump he had run over.

One note of optimism I carried with me as I strode to registration. With a progressive, enterprising university such as FSU, at least registration would improve each year. My optimism was soon lost in the teething, pushing, screaming, struggling, fighting, open car windows and directing unsuspecting freshmen in the paths of falling trees. As a senior I rushed through registration, after standing in line hours, carrying bundles of IBM cards, getting signatures and losing my patience.

I trotted from table to table getting everyone's signature and an equal number of reasons why I couldn't take the courses I wanted.

The appearance of the school had changed. The new Music Building stood as a monument to economics. The left wing of the gymnasium stood as a monument to fine physiques. I stood in line for my books. The football team was once more victorious winning all but one game and once more taking the conference title.

BUT AS ALL STORIES must end happily, I came to my fourth year at Florida State University. I was a senior, the blossom of the eduction world. Near-sighted policemen were busily looking in open car windows and directing unsuspecting freshmen in the paths of falling trees. As a senior I rushed through registration, after standing in line hours, carrying bundles of IBM cards, getting signatures and losing my patience.

Joy, Joy, Joy. FSU was on the semester system and one of the trials of registration had been omitted. My classes were the same. My book line was the same. The food was the same. All was not the same, for now FSU had a football stadium—Campbell stadium, dubbed by some as the "Bo...p Bowl." The Semin...es was all victorious. The basketball team took high honors at the NAIB tournament in Kansas City, and all the other teams won honors. Senior Hall was opened giving the men a new structure in which to live.

Next year it's up to someone else to see the new changes and watch the old unchanged. It takes a long time and the trials are numerous and taxing, but that little rolled bit of sheep skin is the healing reward that makes all well. Thanks to a terrific Alma Mater.

Goodbye - Good Luck

Two-Part Recital Presented Friday By Gunter Student

Last night at 8:15 Dorothy Clonis presented her senior voice recital in the Music Hall. Miss Clonis' wife is a student of Professor Herman Gunter Jr, offered a varied program both in French and English.

The program included Su, venite a consiglio by Alessandro Scarlatti and Ah!, frappa a dure from The Ballet of the Coq Maidens by Monteverde; two operatic arias: Mas su piu cosa son, cosa faccio from the Marriage of Figaro by Mozart and Addio, ei piangio from La Traviata by Verdi.

For her French group, Miss Clonis sang Nell by Faure, Chere Nuit by Bachelet, Soyons Unis by Rhene-Baton, and Chanson D'Eull by Vidal. This was followed by the famous aria, Ocean, Thou Mighty Monster from the opera Oberon by von Weber.

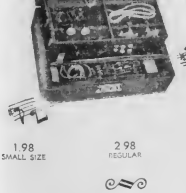
The program was concluded with a group of songs in English. In the Silence of Night and To The Children by Sergei Rachmaninoff and The White Horses of the Sea and Heather by Elinor Remick Warren.

Soltas Club Has Wiener Roast Party At Lake Bradford



The Soltas club of the School of Library Training and Service had a weiner roast at Camp Flaccado last Friday evening. The party, planned by recently returned interns, climaxed the year's activities.

Among Soltas projects is the effort to bring a Library Science honorary to Florida State University. Some action on this may be forthcoming during the summer.

Brave Graduates Have Now But One World to Conquer

Well, you made it.

The graduating class of 1951 is the first class to attend four full years at Florida State University.

It has been a noble class. Its four years have been highlighted with achievements and progress that will become honored traditions at Florida State.

Glance over your black robes of education, graduates, and survey your four years. You were faced with confusions, conflicts, disillusionments. You have conquered victoriously your petty worries of this term paper or that 'big' test. Now as citizens of tomorrow, you face a far more severe test, a far greater challenge than the college days have offered.

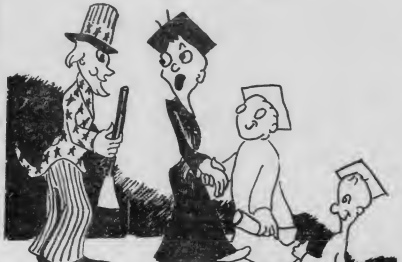
Indeed, you must mect and travel a hard road of life, with dark, dreary clouds of a new war hanging overhead.

The challenge is not a new one. Ten years ago the class of 1941, teenagers of a depression era, met the challenge of a total war. They left college, fought, and some died. Out of this struggle there came a world more sensitive to the need of peace.

The United Nations was born in the struggle for peace and now brothers of all nations fight together for this ideal on a common battleground.

At college you have fought a hundred battles within yourself—falsehood, prejudice, vanity. Now, advance bravely toward an unsure future with high idealism, bold adventure, and brave hearts.

There is one world yet to conquer. It is the world of peace, now hidden by fear and ignorance. Not the stalemated peace of unexpressed hatred but the genuine peace of a sincere heart and soul. It is the only peace.



Don't let the conservative, cold, practical world destroy the ideals of youth. Don't lose sight of the seemingly Utopian goals of freedom and liberty. Don't be tamed so that your goal is forgotten.

You knock at the port-hole of humanity with your faith in truth and good.

A feeling, a love, a sense of belonging is what you leave behind at Florida State.

You will graduate from college, but your work has just begun. Leaders of tomorrow, . . . Good Luck!

Graduation 1951

● POP AND POOF

The Patton Committee report has startled not just a few persons in this university.

There were some good suggestions in the report, such as the investigation into the financial structure of FSU's operation. This small good has been lost by much ballyhoo about teachings, courses, and conditions at the university.

One glaring sore one thing is bad about state colleges and a picture is painted of evil, immorality and indecency. It just 'ain't so.

The report referred that the Florida State courses in Preparation for Marriage were teaching immoral practices. Of course, they were aimed at the practical, frank, realistic proposition of preserving marriages in this divorce-ridden, frustrated age. Is that bad, Patton Committee? Some factions are bent on preserving the worst in our heritage rather than the best.

Experience tells us that teaching and scientific work flourish best in an atmosphere of relative freedom. The students know the teachers in question to have honest, intelligent, and decent minds. Must they be subject to pressures, accusations, threats and general fear because of such emotional unrest.

Perhaps if a pin were stuck in some of the statements of the Patton committee they would go "Pop" or "Poof." We think so.

● BE A GOOD ALUMNI

-After the vicissitudes of four college years, you will want to build your new friends into that beautiful finished rarity . . . old friends.

There are several ways to do this. The most practical way to keep track of your fellow graduates is to join one of the 42 active Florida State University Alumni organizations.

The process is simple and the benefits worthwhile. You must answer a few questions on an Alumni questionaire and pay the annual dues of two dollars. Most important, of course, is to be an active member.

How will it help? There is a certain prestige and responsibility it demands. Alumni are given priority at university affairs. The Alumni Association can help in recommendations. They will answer inquiries from newspapers in case of marriage, change of address, promotions.

More important, it will help the university by attracting high caliber students to FSU. This will mean your college will progress and your Alumni standing will be improved.

Prove your loyalty and devotion to Florida State. Join the Alumni Association.

● LEAPS AND BOUNDS

WFSU, your campus radio station, is now a member of Intercollegiate Broadcasting System. This group is composed of radio stations located at colleges throughout the United States.

By being a member of this system, WFSU will be able to exchange many ideas with other colleges. Program material, production schedules, problems of other groups, will soon be going across the desks of the campus station. They, in turn, will be mailing information and letters to other stations in the system. In addition, IBS publishes a monthly bulletin with all the general news of the system.

This is another big step forward for FSU's collegiate broadcasters. In the past, their accomplishments have been very commendable. Since last year WFSU has enghtened its broadcast hours, to include even an Early Bird show from 7 to 9 in the mornings.

Remote broadcasts took the form of Georgie Bee's orchestra from the East campus dining hall . . . their first annual Christmas night program was something worthwhile. for students to remember . . . election returns this year kept them on the air until 1 a m during their particular session. Another one of their latest accomplishments was the three-hour musical program on Sunday afternoons. "Sterling, Crystal, and Lace."

Since January, 1949, the campus station has grown "by leaps and bounds." Good luck with your future plans, WFSU.

● WELCOME SEN. KERR

In behalf of the students, we would like to sincerely welcome United States Senator Robert S Kerr of Oklahoma to Florida State University.

We hope that Senator Kerr, who is to deliver this year's commencement address, will be favorably impressed with our alma mater.

● FOR THE STUDENTS

For the benefit of those students who will be attending summer school, the Florida Flambeau will be published.

There are many obstacles, however, to overcome if the operation of same is to be sucessful.

One problem is the need of funds. It seems only reasonable that the Student Committee should yearly provide for this student service in the budget. A weekly publication is needed to inform students about what is going on around them, and to help them plan their leisure hours.

Another problem is the need of reporters and advertising solicitors for the summer editions. Students who are here for the summer months have more spare time than during the regular school session. Why couldn't some of that time be spent in reporting for the paper? A student newspaper is only as good as the people who work for it.

● LANIGAN THANKS

"Farewell Message to The Class of '51".

Now that the time is nearing for us to part after four long years of friendship, I would like to thank you once and every one of you that made it possible for me to lead the class of '51.

It has been a real pleasure to serve you this past year, and it is an honor that I will never forget.

I would like to use this medium to express my sincere thanks and appreciation to the people who served on the various committees and to those people who filled the vacancies of the Senior Class officers during their internship.

I have been criticized by a few people and have run into many problems, but, the experiences that I have gained, and the many many friends that I have made has certainly been worth it.

In closing I would like to wish each and every one of you the very best of luck. Thanks again.

Yours truly,
Boh Lanigan.

● THREE IDEALS

Congratulations are in order. The 14 juniors recently elected to Mortar Board deserve the highest commendations.

Membership in this highly-select national honorary for women is not achieved by scholarship alone. Nor is leadership and service basis enough. Each girl was chosen for her personification of these three ideals —scholarship, leadership and service.

The newly-initiated Mortar Board chapter will no doubt make a real contribution to the Florida State University campus next year.

OUR PLEDGE TO FSU
By Harry Copeland

Oh, hallowed walls and Gothic spires,
The time has come for us to travel;
Our hearts with tender pride do swell
As from your halls this class retires.

The things we learned in days gone by
Will be the light on through the years
To make us strong in face of fears—
A light of hope which will not die.

From you we've learned to understand,
Respect defend the rights of men—
We've learned that life cannot extend
When freedom loses its command.

Yes, we have learned a lot from you—
Four years of living—not retires—
And now the problem of expansion
We look ahead but won't forget.

Our love, respect remain with you
In thanks for all that you have done
To make our stay a fertile one—
No, we won't forget you, FSU.

In youth is found tomorrow's hope,
For youth is strong, hope born anew—
And though your task with us is through,
Your work is endless, broad in scope.

We make this pledge to Florida State:
That we shall use the truth it taught—
For which mankind has always sought—
A better world to generate—

FRANKLY SPEAKING

CRITICAL ANALYSIS OF FLAMBEAU, UGA

By ALLAN HEAD

Constant controversy has characterized this year's University Government Association. From loud denunciations of our student magazine to the extremely important issue of segregation in higher education.

Yet beneath this seething maelstrom of charges and counter-charges, there has been a great deal of work—hard work. On the whole, how do the leaders of the UGA add up? That is the topic of this final column.

Right now we are perhaps too close in the events of the past year to evaluate them honestly, but here goes:

First, the Flambeau. Not being a member of the staff this year it is hard to know all the facts in every controversial Flambeau story, or to know whether or not it really deserved the derisive epithet of "Dobert's Dirt-Dobber." In many cases, facts and interpretation were slanted. The techniques used led many to bitterly denounce "destructive criticism" as opposed to "constructive criticism."

We all must realize, however, that the job of a student newspaper editor is not an easy one. His reporters are inexperienced, and mistakes often occur because of this rather than from any deliberate intent. Many times student government officers do not cooperate with the editor in selling to it that he gets the full news, including the reasons back of the decisions that they make. To the extent that they are not interested in getting their story presented to the student body they run the risk of having their actions unintentionally interpreted by those who have the responsibility for setting out the news.

The attitude of the administration often is a terrible barrier. Reporters get the "run-around" thus wasting much time before they finally get the true facts in a story.

There has been a weight of tradition from FSCW that has been severely blocking the advancement of student government here. Well-meaning students have in many cases tended to turn their eyes backward and refuse to face the problems presented by a rapidly expanding co-educational university. Perhaps the fiery journalism of the past year's Flambeau could be justified on the grounds that such tactics were necessary to overcome this seemingly insurmountable obstacle and bring to the officers and students the realization that these problems needed solution.

When looked at with an overall eyes, and apart from the antipathy raised by personal criticism, I think that we should give Earl Dubert a hearty vote of thanks for his contributions.

The president of the UGA this year has also several times been the center of a whirlwind of controversy. On the whole, however, I feel that Rube Askew has done an excellent job.

He has been one of those rare creatures, a politician that has seen all but one of his platform promises come into effect. Campus Chest, precinct voting, later women's hours, traffic court—these are but a few of the improvements that have come into being during his administration.

Rube has, for the first time since the UGA was formed, succeeded in putting the executive department on a business-like basis. Complete filing records were set up, and bi-weekly reports demanded from the Council's standing committees.

A little publicized but very important aspect of the UGA's president's office is in the field of public relations for the university. Rube has spent a great deal of time and efforts along this line, making speeches to high school delegations, meeting visitors and writing numerous letters.

For the work he has done this year, and for the invaluable improvements he has helped bring about in the student government, our hats are off to Rube Askew.

ITS DIFFICULT TO EVALUATE EDUCATION

By BETSY BLANTON

With only a few days left until graduation, I suppose it is quite normal for seniors to indulge in a bit of reminiscing. Many of them have mentally tallied a sort of personal evaluation sheet to see just what educational benefits they have received from Florida State University.

This is, of course, an entirely personal matter. That is, no one person can rate FSU as a leading institution of learning for it did not possess value, since such benefits are benefits that be determined by the individual student.

As for me, I think I will earn with me a great deal of learning that I did not possess when I came here. Some of it is a result of textbook knowledge, and some of it is a result of personal experiences. Again it boils down to the individual student.

One of the greatest difficulties in trying to evaluate education, or anything else, is that when it does not measure up to one's expectations, we tend to find fault with all phases of education or whatever the case may be, rather than with our definition.

Whether what we have learned will have practical value for us in the final determinant of whether the time spent has been beneficial . . . and we will be in a better position to judge our education from this standpoint after we have "lived" for a few years.

The most recent issue of Smoke Signals carries an editorial comment by Rube Askew in which he lists some of the accomplishments of UGA during this year.

We were pleased to note that, out of six items listed, the Flambeau had crusaded for four of them previous to their adoption. Surely, this indicates that there has been more coordination between the newspaper and university government than many have suspected.

While we are in a reminiscent mood, we feel especially kindly to this year's experiences on the Flambeau.

We have had a great deal of fun putting out the paper twice a week. We have also had trials and tribulations, both with students and administration. We have received advice and counsel when it has been forced upon us, and have welcomed it when it was offered in a friendly way or at our request.

Our first reaction to many troublesome situations has been one of bitterness—but on further consideration we realize that we have learned a great deal from these experiences. I am referring primarily to the rapid turnover in some staff positions.

The many remarks of indignant students at several happenings have brought about the realization that often there is more detail to being a host than a visitor. It is gratifying to know that there is an active student concern about injustice, even though there is often apathy toward what we consider to be vital campus issues.

We regret that our final column could not be one of hearts and flowers of bouquets to you and you, as final columns are supposed to be. But we will conform to at least one convention by sincerely wishing each member of the Class of '51 the best of everything.

To the students remaining, we extend our best wishes and the hope that they will benefit from our mistakes as well as from our small triumphs, and that any efforts they may exert for a righteous cause will be that your prime concern will be temporary. We sincerely hope the betterment of Florida State University as well as yourself.

FSU STILL NEEDS TRUE PATRIOTISM

By FRANCES CAWTHON

This is it for a lot of us. No more school: men and women of the world. And with it all, naturally, the most frequent topic of conversation is graduation and all the Seniors who are going out into the big cruel world.

I'd say something about the plans of those who are going to meet, their outstanding record blah, blah, blah, but I think it has already been said in about as many ways as possible. And who, after all, is to tell them what life is to have in store for them? A million commencement speeches couldn't hit that question on the head.

So, maybe it is selfish, but my thoughts are with those whom Jack and Jill Senior are leaving behind. Those of us who are going to keep plugging — going to classes, or skipping them, as it may be, rushing into dorms after light flash, drinking beer with the guys next door, and doing all the other things college kids do.

You know, we have our part at graduation, too, though few people think of that. We sit through commencement speeches without hearing them, a little piece of paper in our hand telling us that we won't see Bill in the Sweet anymore, that we won't have to listen to Jack berate his grades again, and that there'll be no two-hour confabs with Sue.

Perhaps it is being a bit maudlin, but more than one of us are going to have a sad feeling inside as we watch some of the Seniors go up for their sheepskin. Funny. You know even the guys who are the Number One Pest leaving.

So there's a gap. And most of them we will never see again. But they are still a part of our memories, and a part of our alumni. And for those alumni who will return to our Homecomings or for those who will never came back, but will, if we know anything about loyal Seminoles, keep up with what's happening back at their old school, there will have a tremendous job.

The Seminole nation is growing up—literally by hasting new buildings raised; figuratively by becoming a real college. We let the administration add state government take care of buildings, but it is up to us to give Florida State the air of a true university, the school pride and spirit which many other colleges possess and which we have not.

Somehow we have got to next year make the Vesper Day feel that this is Florida State University, the type. We have got to end the apathy and apathy that seems to cloke us at times like a hangover from FSCW days. There is a real university, we are sure, we have to stay here over the week ends, and not hit the long home for mamma when the Friday classes are done. We are going to be getting a sheepskin too, someday, and we want it to be from a university of which we can be proud.

Some of us would be surprised to find how much fun it is to be

A Mass Elimination

Dear Editor,

I just finished reading the Associated Press account of the Patton report on institutions of higher education. I was disgusted with the spirit of it and elated over other parts.

The legislative committee reports that "there are atheists and agnostics in our school system at higher learning." So what. The constitution of the United States guarantees freedom of worship. According to Webster, an atheist is a godless person, i. e., one who worships no god. An agnostic is one who believes in the doctrine that neither the existence or nature of God, nor the ultimate origin of the universe, is known or knowable. And to think these pagans (oh, I forgot, pagans worshipped idols) are teaching us young impressionable minds.

The argument which might be used by the Patton committee members is that these atheists and agnostics might influence students to lose their faith in the God which they have been taught to worship since birth. But what about the falsehoods of dull Baptist or Catholic or Jewish professors which teach here. Couldn't they be as well influence the students? What one man or committee is to say that any belief is disbelief is right?

Another part of the report commented the Preparation for Marriage courses taught here. The committee found it "beneath its dignity to discuss the details". I've never taken Prep for Marriage, but from what I hear from friends who have had the course, is no shocking, vulgar class. I remember the Ku Klux Klan lynchings that came out about two months ago thought right along the same lines that the Patton committee did.

One sentence I liked in the report was that the committee would take a "study of the operation of dining rooms and infirmaries and the administration of auxiliary and other funds." I'm all for the committee on these counts.

Another statement dealt with "taking steps to correct or improve certain moral conditions that exist where there has been considerable complaint from students and other citizens." This, according to campus gentlemen, refers to homosexuals. What's the legislature going to do—have a mass elimination? This is supposed to be an institution where young people go to get an education no matter whether the student be male, female or neuter.

One paragraph nearly got me: "There are many fine, qualified, patriotic and God fearing people on the instructional and administrative staff"—I bet they all have masters' degrees, too, those fine people.

And the Patton committee reports that "communism and other forms of radicalism" are invading the academic structure of the University of Florida. What's wrong with teaching the basic elements of communism? As one intelligent professor stated (he's not at FSU): We teach about syphilis in bacteriology, but we don't advocate it."

Long live the Patton committee, the Ku Klux Klan and the nickel beer.

Red Hot Record

Dear Editor:

Rube Askew, former UGA president turned editorial writer in the latest issue of the Smoke Signals, lists six accomplishments of the University Government for the past year.

It is interesting to note that four of the six points listed by Askew were first brought forth on the editorial pages of the Florida Flambeu. They are the extension of women's hours, the Campus Chest, the honor system of voting and the opening of the courts.

Naturally, to get these proposals in operation it was necessary for the mechanics of government to take place.

Of the six points listed, I can only see one that was accomplished by the executive of the University Government Association—student representation of the Athletic Committee.

That's not such a red hot record.

Earl Dobert.

A Very Real War

Dear Editor,

I would like to offer for publication the letter I received Tuesday from Garrett Marks, recently a student at FSU. Not only will it be of interest to his many friends left on the campus but it may also serve to remind all our students, especially those of draft age, just how very close and very real the Korean war really is. Those who know Garrett will recall with astonishment the frightfully few months he has been gone. How secretly he was sitting in the soda shop discussing the Korean situation, as I am now. Letter follows:

Pusan, Korea
May 23, 1951
Ba-Bua,

Received your letter today and was damn glad to hear from you. Reading your letter made me feel almost as though I were back there with you.

I suppose that the best way to start this is to give you a short resume of my past experiences. To wit: After the three day pass, during which time you saw me at FSU last fall, they shipped me to California and then back over the pounding drain . I was first stationed at Ashiya Air Base, Japan. There I had the most unique job I have ever had in the Army.

We flew over Korea in C-119s (flying boxcars) and dropped supplies to the troops on the front lines. It wasn't the dangerous as we encountered little flak and mostly small arms fire. They shot the right controls out of our plane once, but we came in safely on the left controls. I was always consoled with the thought that if I got hit I would be back in two or three hours and that I was a hell-of-a-lot better off than the boys on the front lines. I had twenty missions and one hundred hours in the air when they decided to bust up the flying quartermaster outfit I was in.

Then they sent me to "hell-hole" Pusan, Korea, to a prisoner of war enclosure. When I arrived, I was confronted with the coldest dismaed weather I have ever felt. I was most fortunate, though, and got a fairly good job I was made a clerk typist in the Provost Section, which explains the typewritten letter. I guess that it was just an act of God that kept me off the front lines. Considering this, I didn't waste any time learning to type.

You asked what I think are the finer things of life. To me, they are to be able to go to sleep without worrying about being called out to investigate some POW trying to hang himself, or some G I shooting himself; just to be free to work, to go to school, to live in a house instead of a tent, and to sleep on a mattress, at present, seems like Heaven to me.

There are about forty kinds of creeping crud over here and I hope I can evade them for about four more months. The Army has announced plans to release all reservists between September 1 and December 31, so the future has changed from total black-out to a faint gold lined cloud. I won't be able to make the fall semester but I should make the spring, if Russia doesn't come into the war—and here's hoping she doesn't. If I get discharged during the fall semester I'll look you up as I go through on my way to Tampa.

This stretch in the Army will retard by graduation until I'm twenty-four of twenty-five. If I have enough luck I may go straight through, summer sessions and all.

Well, there's not much more to say except that I really would like to hear from you and all my other friends still there as often as you feel like writing. It's a lot of this hole and any news from home helps. You will no doubt, recall from the last fracas over here just how much it is appreciated. Be sure and write!

Student Poll Needed

Dear Editor:

Before the board of control throws out courses leading to education of the complete individual, it's time we got complete student opinion. The Patton Committee which investigated FSU, according to the Tallahassee Democrat, May 26 said in its report that it "found wide-spread objection to a certain course taught in three classes at FSU." This term involved such that the committee feels it beneath its dignity to discuss the details." This refers to courses in preparation for marriage.

Student opinion needs to be sounded—It hardly seems fair to take a small per cent of the students who perhaps were not able to benefit by such a course and base a complaint on their opinions. Let's do have a student poll of opinion, but let's have a real poll, and see what student opinion really is.

We Wonder

Dear Editor:

DEMOCRACY—In practice on this campus? We wonder! Now the board of control of this institution as taken the step of throwing out courses. It has happened that we have taken classes in these departments, and we are convinced that our morals have not been corrupted! The teachers are among the best on campus. Let's have EDUCATION in English, history, mathematics, and MARRIAGE!

ODK Cotributed to Many FSU Projects During Year

By DOUG ALLEY

OMICRON DELTA KAPPA, national leadership - scholastic society for men, has undertaken and brought to successful operation many projects during the past school year.

The society first became known throughout the state of Florida by sponsoring the dedication of Doak S Campbell stadium at Homecoming in October. Many compliments were bestowed on the ODK men for successful completion of this project.

The second undertaking by the circle of leaders was in joint cooperation with Gold Key, Garret

Key and Mortar Board. These honor societies sponsored the bell-ringing by ODK was the University Blood Bank, one of the most important contributions made to the welfare of the State University. In cooperation with the university hospital and the Tallahassee Memorial Hospital members of ODK gave a pint of blood each to start the bank. Students and faculty joined with the organization by contributing blood throughout the year. According to Dr Thomas Brooks, chief paraician at the University hospital, the blood bank has already been used by students and faculty and has proven to be a great advantage to patients needing transfusions. There is absolutely no charge to students for transfusions although faculty members pay $10 for processing. Bob Griffin is next year's chairman of the blood bank project.

THE ANNUAL ODK POLITICAL RALLY, preceding the University Government Elections, was held in the Amphitheatre before the largest gathering of students this far. The rally brought before the students all the major candidates for offices. Being an annual affair, it will be handled by Jerry Thomas next year.

ODK's greatest undertaking, the creation of a Speaker's Bureau to furnish speakers to civic clubs, alumni groups and high schools throughout Florida was begun this month. Speakers who have already appeared before groups in Winter Park, Chipley, Sarasota, and Pensacola. The bureau was guided by Bob Lee Bannerman at its inception, then Bert Ashton was appointed chairman of the project after Bannerman graduated in February. Under Ashtton's guidance the bureau began operating in cooperation with the Public Relations Office and the Alumni Association.

Dick Bradley will head the bureau next year and plans are being formulated for speakers to appear at every high school in Florida as well as the majority of the civic clubs and alumni organizations.

ODK, according to Jim Ball, newly elected president, "continually amazes those on the outside by the tremendous magnitude of the projects it undertakes." Ball, who was installed at the final banquet May 28, spoke before the group and said, "ODK not only undertakes difficult projects, but brings them to a successful conclusion. This, due to the fact that members of ODK are probably the busiest men on the campus and because they are few in number, is exceptional and students look to ODK for guidance and for the welfare of the university.

INSTALLED with Ball were Bill Upshaw, vice president; Mr Joseph Flant, secretary; and Allen Head, treasurer.

Old members who are graduating are Doug Alley, president; Bill Conklin, vice president, and Earl Dobert. Dennis DeLacure, Rube Askew and Dal Albritton, Bob Quay, this year's treasurer, will remain as an associate member due to the pressing duties of his graduate work.

New members, excluding the officers, are Bill Roetsheim, graduating in June; Charlie Floyd, graduating in June; Harry Copeland, returning for graduate work; Jerry Thomas, graduating in February; Lee Bailey, returned for graduate work; and Bob Griffin.

Jr Book Exchange Slated to Reopen In Alum on Monday

The Used Book Exchange will reopen Monday and will continue to accept books through Friday. The Exchange will again be located on the ground floor of the Longmire Building.

Shirley Gregory, Exchange chairman, has asked that all students who failed to pick up their books at the close of the first of thesemester pick them up during the week of exams, to get their money for books sold during the first opening.

STUDENTS WHO will be helping attended an Exchange meeting last Thursday night to find out their duties and responsibilities.

This project, sponsored by the junior class, is to insure fair prices for second hand books for students. The Student owner will set his own price for the sale of his book. For every book exceeding $1, the buyer and seller will contribute a 10 cent fee. For all books under $1 a five-cent fee will be paid each. These fees will be use dto defray operating expenses and may possibly be lowered when the exchange becomes more stationary.

A THREE divisional receipt form is used. The original for the student seller will receive the lower third of the form, the top third will be attached to the book, and the other third will be find in the exchange. Complete identification and information will be included on the receipt form.

The Alpha Phi Omega, national service fraternity, will help in the operation of the Book Exchange during the week.

and the policies concerning it were sent to the Faculty Committee on Student Affairs for approval. They were not approved, and the senate is now in the process of rewriting them.

The possibilities of allowing freshmen to go on the Miami football trip without counting it as a week and were discussed. If this goes into effect, the week end would actually be a holiday for the freshmen.

Policies concerning absences and tardies were also brought up for discussion.

Campus Whistles Vary Could Mean Anything

WHISTLE, whistle, whistle . . . from there is an answer . . . whistle, whistle, wfistle.

Visitors to this campus must be completely mystified over such occurrances. Many persons laugh, many ignore them (especially if they are wolf whistles), and many just turn their backs and silently steal away.

Whistles do serve a great purpose, though. It is often very undignified, especially among the women students, to holler half way across campus to Mary, or Jim, or Jane. But, if two or three people have a special whistle, why the problem is solved . . . and so if you want anything, "just whistle".

THE CHURCH GROUPS all do it. The Baptists whistle the first few strains of "Blest Be the Tie That Binds". Presbyterian resort to "Are Ye Able", and Catholics use the song "Ain Army of Martyrs".

Even the sorority groups do it. A Zeta Tau Alpha whistles the ZTA whistle and the answer is, "What do you want with me?"

Women's "P" Club members send out whistlings to get the attention of other fellow members.

But the most interesting, and unintelligible grouping is the personal whistles. Not even the people concerned very often recognize and understand them.

Catholic Students Hold Baccalaureate

Special Baccalaureate services will be held Sunday at the Newman House honoring the graduating seniors. Father John J Krolikas will celebrate the 10:30 mass and deliver the sermon.

All seniors are invited and are asked to wear their caps and gowns, meeting on the porch of the Newman house at 10:15. Friends of the graduates are cordially invited to attend the services.

activities bourse at a football game, take an interest in student government affairs, and do work with student organizations. So many of us are still living in the glories of old high school days when we enjoyed popularity among our own little group. To them I say, wake up and participate. This is COLLEGE!

FOR EXAMPLE: that dynamo of the Junior class and next year's UGA president, Will Pretzell, is still plugging for his fellow students. He has great plans for declaring the time of the FSU-Miami game a holiday for the freshmale nation, complete with chartered buses and flying banners. Too bad a guy like that isn't livin . . .

For more school spirit is needed. We owe it to our graduating Seniors, to our incoming Freshmen, and to ourselves. Have a fine summer, students and you future alumni good look in the years to come. We hope to give you next year a better and more talented Florida State University

ONE OF THE NEW buildings soon to be seen around campus will be the Student Service Center. It is being planned to accommodate the postoffice, bookstore, soda shop, and will feature study and conference rooms, as well as room for conventions and other student activities.

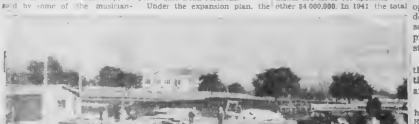
Speed in Fifty-Year Plan Seen in Building Progress

The fifty-year program for the construction of a new Florida State University around the skeleton of the old is progressing rapidly according to Mr Otis McBride dean of men.

Dr Campbell, president of the university has been kidded about the speed with which the program is developing; it seems to be a ten year program to some.

THE MASTER BUILDING plan for FSU expansion, conceived jointly by President Campbell and the Board of Control, outlines the erection of many new, modern buildings which with the old, will compose the FSU of the future. In addition to such imposing structures as Doak S Campbell Stadium, Sara Landrum Cawthon Hall, additions to the science and history buildings, and Senior Hall, and the ultra-modern Music Building, which, incidentally, is said by some of the musician-visitors to the campus to be one the best music buildings in the world, construction of an eleven-story dormitory for men is well underway.

This dormitory, which will house approximately 450 men students, will cost $1,500,000. The building was begun four months ago, and the workers seem to be just about on schedule. The footings, concrete piles twelve to eighteen feet in length, have been driven, and the men are waiting for steel which should be available toin July. The building should be completed by fall of 1952.



THE EIGHT SMALL structures, costing over $900,000, and housing forty men each, will be ready for occupancy this fall if construction is not interrupted. "If enrollment drops, all the men students may be house on East Campus next year," said Dean McBride.

Under the expansion plan, the women students are to be housed in the physical plant of the university was valued at $4,937,000. today it is valued at $11,425,000, not including the present building program. Dale Mabry Air Base, which was obtained from the United Stsaes government, is still providing classroom and housing for men. These are only temporary quarters which will be replaced by the new buildings.

MOST OF THE BUILDINGS are being paid for on a self-liquidating basis that is, from rent and other receipts. They will be paid for in twenty years after they are constructed. The architecture and landscaping were done by Monsieur Jean Labatut, French architect, of Bail-Horton and Associates. The builder is Beers Construction Company, of Atlanta.

Some of the money for constructing new academic buildings has been provided by the state legislature, however the dormitories must pay for themselves A new demonstration school is also being planned. When it is completed, the old school will be released for classroom space for students of FSU.

At present the effect of the Korean War on the building program and enrollment is hard to determine. "I would not be more surprised over an increase than a drop in enrollment in the next year," stated Dean McBride.

CONSTRUCTION STARTED—The foundation for the new student center is shown above. Construction of the building started this year. It is located at Woodward and Tennessee streets on East campus.

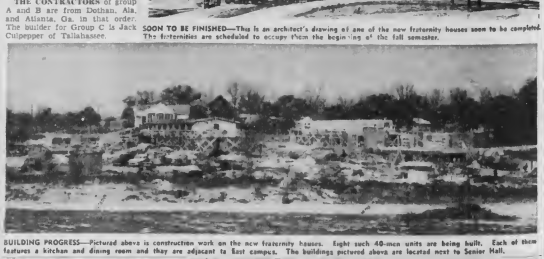
8 Fraternity Dorms Will Open This Fall

Eight new men's dorms will open sometime this fall. These dorms are leased to eight social fraternities, and will provide housing for 320 men students.

Dean McBride has said that they will be ready for use this fall, or as soon thereafter as possible.

The first group, which will house the Alpha Tau Omega, Kappa Alpha and Sigma Alpha Epsilon frats, is being constructed on Tennessee street, west of Senior Hall. The other two units, being constructed on Wildwood street, one block west of Woodward, and at the intersection of Jefferson and Pensacola streets, will be opened to the Phi Delta Theta, Phi Kappa Tau and Theta Chi organizations in the second, and the Delta Tau Delta and Lamba Chi Alphas in the third group, respectively.

THE COST OF THE DORMS averages $100,000 each. The dorms are self-liquidating, being paid for by the frat rents which will be $17.00 monthly for each student, the same as for any other men's dorm on campus.



All of the dorms are very similar in arrangement and conveniences. All are to contain a dining room, lounge, foyer, recreation room including fireplace, powder room, housemother suite and rooms with built-in wardrobe-dresser combinations. they are extremely modernistic.

GROUP A IS BUILT of brick and cypress siding, with flat, built-up roofs. Interiors of plaster and wood panelling, and asphaltile floors. The rooms have built-in study desks. The buildings in Group B are a combination of red brick and gray concrete block, with flost built-up roofs. The interior is of plaster and wooden panelins. Group C is constructed of brick and stucco with plaster throughout on the inside.

THE CONTRACTORS of group A and B are from Dothan, Ala., and Atlanta, Ga. in that order. The builder for Group C is Jack Culpepper of Tallahassee.

SOON TO BE FINISHED—Thus is an architect's drawing of one of the new fraternity houses soon to be completed. The fraternities are scheduled to occupy them the beginning of the fall semester.

BUILDING PROGRESS—Pictured above is construction work on the new fraternity houses. Eight such 40-men units are being built. Each of them features a kitchen and dining room and they are adjacent to East campus. The buildings pictured above are located next to Senior Hall.

Federal Government Has Positions Open To Univ Students

Positions in the federal government a erawailable to college students, according to word received from the United States Civil Service Commission, Washington, D C.

According to the Commission, the central personnel agency of the federal government has need in government agencies for typists and stenographers, for persons to fill certain types of clerical positions, and for student assistants having certain qualifications. Students may find summer work in many locations, including Washington, D C.

STUDENTS are asked to write the Civil Service regional office which serves this area at 5 Forsyth Street, S W. Atlanta. Georgia.

A number of announcements of other examinations are also issued annually, examinations which interest college sophomores, juniors, seniors, and graduate students. The examinatons cover many types of work in the social and physical sciences. Appropriate education is the only requirement in most of them. They are opened during the fall so that students who qualify in them may enter jobs soon after graduation, or at the opening of the next summer vacation.

ADDITIONAL information concerning the federal career opportunities may be obtained from college placement officers, from boards of civil service examiners in first and second class post offices, or from the U S Civil Service Commission, Washington, D C.

Scenes of West Florida Seminary Found in Ancient Argo Edition

Every once in a while, some students wonder just how it was way back when. Undoubtedly, you've had the same sort of yearning yourself, like, "where are those who were before us," and similar sentimentis.

The other day, in the library, I happened to be looking through the 1901 issue of Argo, the annual of West Florida Seminary, ancestor of Florida State University. The former was quite different from its descendant.

NINETEEN- HUNDRED -ONE was the year that Jennings was inaugurated as governor of Florida. There were no cheerleaders, students who cheered their president on inauguration day when he dismissed classes. The week before, they had cheered him also, for being absent. The spirit of the times was expressed in the two- word motto of the graduating class, "Oo At".

It was a year of fun for those who managed to stay in school such a task that, out of forty-odd students entering the college as freshmen, only three were graduated that year. The tests took their toils as the students moved up the ladder. Ten of the forty managed to make the sophomore class, but half of that number had been cut by the junior year.

THE SEMINARY WAS divided into four schools, the seminary high school, the normal department and the college. The BA BS, and BL were offered in the way of degrees for the fortunate few of studious ones. The three graduating seniors, Beasle Saxon, and Asa B Clark were the objects of much praise and joking.

With all their studying, students still had time to form clubs and societies on the campus. The Anaxagorean Literary society, one of the two debating clubs, established itself as the best in the State of Florida by defeating Florida Agricultural College at Lake City. The authorjeck of the debate was "Resolved, that U S Senators Should Be Elected by a Direct Vote of the People." Paul Carter and Asa V Clark won for the seminary with the negatives. Other interesting societies were the Gamble's Club, Oratorical Association, the baseball team, and the football team, the former consisting of ten men and the latter of six.

THESE WERE THE DAYS of rigid rules on campus, demerits resulting from failure to conform. Both the students and faculty made many jokes about these restrictions which gave the college spirit is almost every action. For instance, some of the standing definitions were "Pony—a beast of burden used by students when traveling in unexplored lands. Valedictorian—a wind instrument belonging to the senior class. Flunk—process of changing from a four years to a five years course."

Even the profs joined in the fun. Humor such as the following was the result "Prof Long to Clark, dictating Latin Prose, 'Slave, where is they horse'"

Clark, looking up and most startled, 'It is under my seat, sir but I was not using it'."

STUDENTS WERE ALSO not allowed to "smoke on campus or cat pranuts in class."

If students had any free time in which they wer not studying or debating, or making jokes, the Gulf was running even in those days.

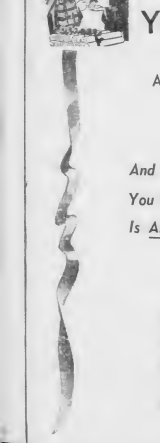
The 1901 issue of the Argo carries the following item, "Florida State Seminary, West of the Suwannee River, has the following rates, tuition, free room and Board, ten dollars to twelve-fifty per monih, in good families."

Mortar Board Prexy Harding Plans State Legislature Work

Doris Harding, retiring president of Mortar Board, is the last of five sisters to be graduated from Florida State University.

All of Doris' four older sisters have received their degrees from FSU or the former Florida State College for Women. The eldest, Mary Agnes, received her degree in 1940 and is now Mrs W K Galbreath of Leesburg. The other sisters are Winifred, who was graduated in 1944; Lena, a member of the class of '47, and Lucy, a graduate in 1949.

Edward Harding is a freshman at FSU this year and the youngest member of the family is Billy, 14, a student at Mount Dora hiih school, who will probably attend FSU when he finishes high school.



During ihis semester, Doris has been an intern at the State Legislative Reference Bureau where she did research work and kept the progress docket of the State Lesislature. Although she has no definite plans as yet, the Mortar Board president, hopes to go into the State Government service. She has, in addition to her many special interests, a major in the School of Public Administration.

THIS MOUN" DORA NATIVE has maintained a high scholastic average during her four years at FSU as well as being active a extra-curricular activities of the campus.

She was initiated last Saturday evening into Phi Kappa Phi, the oldest national scholastic honorary, and is also a recent initiate of Phi Beta Kappa, the oldest national scholastic honorary in the United States.

Doris has served during the past semester as seine chief justice of University Court, and is a member of Garnet Key, women's leadership honorary, and Who's Who Among Students in American Colleges and Universities.

As a freshman she attained membership in Alpha Lamda Delta

Frosh Dorms Close Before Graduation

Edith McCollum, director of Residence for Women, has announced that all freshman halls will close Friday, June 8, 6 p.m. and all other halls close Sunday, June 10, at 10 a.m.

Reynolds and Bryan are asked to be out by the above time except those with Saturday morning examinations, so that these halls may be cleaned. Students who remain inactive their rooms by this hour are requested to notify the residence counselor in writing of the exact time of departure in order that further plans may be made if possible.

TUESDAY, JUNE 5, express and baggage will be removed from halls and from June 5 to 10 the small storage rooms will be open. This schedule has been made for the convenience of students by giving the dates for moving storage in advance of examinations. All students are responsible for packing, securing and marking all pieces of storage, baggage or express. None can be moved by the University which is not adequately packed, tied and labeled. Necessary tags for storage and express may be secured from the Dorm Manager.

TRUNK AND SUITCASES will be shipped two boxes, two trunks or two suitcases, or any combination and a maximum of two to be stored by the university. Boxes must be of the standard size purchased through the University Bookstore. A chest of drawers may be packed and tied and will be accepted as one piece. Refrigerators may not be shipped unless packed and marked and left at one of the two pieces stored by the university. Each student must file with the House Manager a record of the storage. Storage may be left for the Summer session as well as the fall and the time must be definite and must be marked on the tags.

A PLACE will be provided where all students may place small articles for storage. Articles such as lamps, folding clothes racks, irons, framed pictures, may be stored. No furniture may be left in this area. Should such furniture be left, they will be moved by the house manager and a fine will be imposed when the student claims them in the fall. Articles will be left at the risk of the students. Such storage must be removed by the students before October 15. After that date, it will be confiscated.

Tally-Ho Annuals Ready By Friday Says Editor Harry

Tally-Ho Annuals will be ready for distribution to seniors by next Friday and possibly Thursday, Harry Newman, Tally-Ho editor has announced. The annuals will be distributed both Friday and Saturday. Students must present ID cards.

There will be an annual for every graduating senior, Harry said.

TWO LINES will be formed across from the information booth in Westcott, one for graduating seniors and one for undergraduates. Underclassmen will receive annuals not taken by seniors.

Annuals will be distributed to graduates in the "first come, first served" method.

Harry commended the engraver of Delmar for their efficient work this year.

GAIL KELLY ALBRITTON, editor-in-chief of the Flambeau announced that she was still taking names for staff members.

KEY AWARDS were given 18 staff members at a meeting Tuesday of this year for their service. Those receiving awards were Gail Kelley Albritton, Harvey Heaserty, Bill Conklin, Barbara Lockhart, Herb Marsh, Joan Day, Bill Randolph, Becky Brown, Laraine Hains, Pee Flur, Chuck Carter, Nadine Shasie, Bill Shiphorst, Clarine Hobbs, Virginia Parkhill, Alicia Creswell, Betty Gardner, and Harry Newman.

FIRST MEN'S DORM—Wall is one now is Senior Hall, the first permanent men's dorm to be completed here. The dormitory, which was completed in April of last year, was the first building to begin the 50-year master campus plan.

Quiet Contentment Reigns Over New Men's Dormitory

Quiet contentment is the theme of the Senior Hall, the new men's dormitory. From the pool table in the basement to the recreation room on the top floor, the men of Senior Hall find rest, study, and peace of mind from the everyday rat race that is college.

The hall was the first building finished under the university's 50-year plan, and the entire building seems like a palace compared to some of the rooms the men have been living in at Smith.

From the sun decks and patios at either end of the wings to the chromium towel racks in the bathrooms, the entire edifice is a glowing example of fine modern architecture.

ON ENTERING the gaze follows directly into the guest room which is to the rear and at the apex of the triangular - shaped dormitory.

This cozy room is a sunken affair about 18 by 30 feet. At the end of the room is a small brick and granite fireplace; on the floor a soft green foliage-designed rug.

Scattered about the room are comfortable leatherette lounging chairs, and a couple of piney varnished tables, usually decorated with a bowl of poinsettias or tuberoses.

AT EITHER END of the ceiling are two long fluorescent lighting units, each covered with frosted glass shields. These shields allow diffused lighting instead of direct penetration. (Such a fluorescent system illuminates every room in the dormitory).

The room-colored walls run into 19 square feet of French window sections at either side of the room. They are screened and covered with Venetian blinds. Vine-flowered drapes hang at each end of these two large window sections.

ELSEWHERE, all the flooring is a smooth linoleum. The walls along the corridors are of a soft light green.

There are six wings to the dorm with one bathroom to each wing. These are something you might find in an exclusive European hotel.

The floors are of glossy, checkered-inlaid cement. The porcelain wash basins, the chromium splash and towel racks, the thick black-glass partition separating the shower room, all sparkle and shine with cleanliness.

AT THE END of each second floor wing is a semi-circle patio surrounded by small white pillars. A large, glass enclosed sun room is at the end of each third story wing. These glass windows are made of a heavy, corrugated glass, are found in almost every room. This modern type allows fully but indirect sunlights to penetrate the rooms, thus avoiding the usual direct glare.

The living rooms are spacious and comfortable; almost twice as large as those on West campus. Two French windows with a large panel of corrugated glass provide fresh ventilation and a brightness to the whole room.

THERE ARE TWO built - in closets on each side of the room with storage compartments above each closet. Inside the closets are hanger space for clothes and a small shoe rack. Two four-drawer dressers are on either side of the room with a mirror above each. The beds, almost double in size are iron-framed structures with box springs and a thick mattress.

A standard desk is at the center and against the windows of the room. The heatine is steam, with grilled radiators along the base of the floor and the lighting is shielded fluorescent. The floors are of inlaid linoleum. Wall colors in the various rooms range from soft, eye-resting green to lavender hue. Most have a dual colorins such as rose and white or rose and sky-blue, as soft and pink as a nursery.

TO MAKE THINGS more dramatic, a room for washing machines, dryers, and ironing boards has been outfitted. The laundry service on West campus is offered right to their door. The men have their own pool office boys. A game room is located on the third floor below the winsdow. Boys may entertain girl friends as designated times in the tuesday room, a spoke on the room is located at the entrance for the convenience of female guests. Except for a bar, snack bar, what more could one ask for?

The room have been filled to capacity (134 men) since the dorm opened last spring. It is not likely that Senior Hall will be wanting for occupants. At least not within the next 50 years.

IT'S ON IT'S WAY—This is the architect's conception of the new 11-story dormitory now under the first stages of construction. The proposed dorm for men will feature a snack bar, lounge and sun deck on the roof. It is being built just south of President Dusk S Campbell's home on West Tennessee street.

$1,400,000 Dormitory to House 550 Students

By BILL DUNN
Associate Editor

Under construction now at Florida State University is one of the largest men's dormitories in the south. The structure is being built at a cost of $1,400,000.

One building, which will have 11 stories, will accommodate about 550 students. Construction was begun on it this year and will probably be ready for occupation in September of 1952.

THE DORMITORY is being built adjacent to East campus. It will be located two blocks off the Pensacola highway, directly south of President Campbell's home.

The ultra - modern dormitory will feature a variety of luxurious facilities and conveniences. It will be a for-cry from the West campus "barracks."

The structure will consist of two wings meeting in a curved lounge area. Upon entering the spacious corridor will be a row of telephone booths to the right and three elevators on the left. Also on the left will be an elaborate powder room for women guests and a regular guest lounge for visitors, all comfortably furnished.

THE SNACK BAR will be near the entrance at the right, opening into the huge lounge. It will be in the recreation hall. The area around the snack bar will have round tables and, off to the side, ping pong and pool tables.

The main lounge, a sunken room which will feature a central fountain, is to have a large floor area than the present Student Union dance hall. This room, together with that for dispensing snack bar, may be partitioned off by accordian walls when special meetings or entertainments are held.

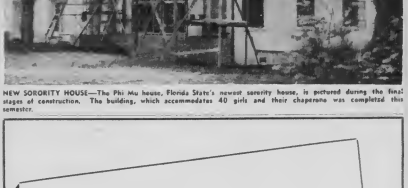
Along the circular edge of the recreation room and the lounge, will be a sheltered path with tables, somewhat resembling a sidewalk cafe.

The rest of the main floor is scheduled for use as visitors' rooms, a counselor's apartment, laundry room and a large storage room for trunks and baggage.

THE UPPER STORIES, devoted strictly to male residence, will be divided into administrative groups of three floors. The central floor of each group will serve as an elevator stop and will have a larger lounge than its two satellites by cutting out two rooms.

A system of "interlocking walls" will be employed to save space in the new dorm. This set-up puts the bed of one room over the bed in the next, so that double-decker efficiency may be utilized without sacrificing the convenience of separate beds.

Each bed will have a bed-lamp built-in for reading. The mattresses will be the latest thing in soft foam-rubber. Book cases will be installed above or below each bed. The study desk will be equipped with a lamp offering direct bullet-lighting. The large French window will provide sufficient daytime lighting.



LAVATORY FACILITIES will be placed between the twin dressing tables and over each dresser will be a small light. The dual closet will also have lamps installed. Over the twin dressers there will be a large shelf for storage space.

All the electric lighting of the rooms and the building will be fluorescent. Steam heat will provide warmth during the winter months.

One of the wings of the top floor will be residential, but the other will contain the sun deck and a recreational library with a cozy fireplace installed.

THE SUN DECK will have tile block inlayments, speckled with tropical shrubbery. A portion of this deck will be shaded under a large canopy. Intricately designed iron-railing will enclose this spacious area.

The students who live in the new building will have the added value of standing on a site, now known as Mabry Heights, which was chosen because of the maximum advantages of prevailing winds and shade.

NEW SORORITY HOUSE—The Phi Mu house, Florida State's newest sorority house, is pictured during the final stages of construction. The building, which accommodates 40 girls and their chaperone was completed this semester.

FSU's Sororities Called 'A Home Away from Home'

Florida State University's 16 sororities are called "a home away from home" for hundreds of college co-eds. In the midst of college classrooms and dormitory life, these sororities have offered home-like atmospheres for approximately 700 girls this year.

Each FSU sorority averages 50 members. These sorority "sisters" find a close affiliation with each other for four years as college students and then as alumnae.

The majority of the sorority members live in the chapter house under the direction of a mature chaperone. Lawyer self-governing, each sorority maintains high ideals in scholarship, character and social customs for its members as well as for all college women.

A WHIRL OF SOCIAL activities that lasts the entire school year is begun by each sorority with the traditional rush week at the beginning of each new year.

One out of every four college co-eds pledges a sorority. These new members are secured through "Panhellenic Rushing." During rush week the sorority invites the rushee to a reception and then has special entertainment with her such as teas, dinners and informal parties in order to get acquainted.

The Panhellenic Association is made up by all the girls holding membership in sororities, but the Panhellenic Council, its legislative body, consists of two representatives from each of the 16 sororities. This council establishes rushing rules by which all sororities and rushees must abide. It also acts as an agent of contact between the two.

"PANHELLENIC fosters sorority cooperation, good - will and spirit as well as serving as a binder between the sororities and the school," stated Harriet Forehan, this year's president.

After rush week is over and the new members are initiated, the social calendar gets into full swing with entertainment ranging from formal teas to square dances.

Typical of a novel dinner often given by sororities is the "beau and chicken" type. The sorority girls having made under a 1.5 academic average eat the beaus, while the entire girls eat the chicken. This is also an example of the emphasis placed upon scholarship.

Job Outlook Good For College Grads Says Sect of Labor

"The job outlook is excellent for this year's college graduates," United States Secretary of Labor Maurice J. Tobin stated in a report to college newspapers.

According to a letter released yesterday by the Department of Labor, both rising civilian demand and the needs of the defense program have created a generally tight labor market, with acute shortages of workers in some occupations and local areas. The nation is attempting to produce for war and peace at the same time. Which takes a great deal of labor. The condition is expected to persist for some time.

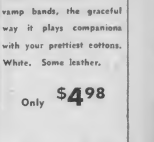
ONE OF the major needs cited by the report is that of medical, scientific, and engineering training, mainly in defense work and to fill positions left as a result of the war.

In elementary school teaching, need for additional personnel is increasing. The shortage of qualified teachers for the elementary grades will probably be intensified in the next few years by the combination of sharply expanding enrollments in these grades and losses of teachers to other, higher-paying fields of work.

AT THE HIGH school level, an oversupply of teachers developed during the earlier post-war years, but this year or two but this is shrinking very fast, as opportunities open in other fields. Furthermore high school enrollments will begin to rise slowly in the next couple of years; in the last half of this decade the number of high school teachers needed will grow rapidly.

While the professions of law and journalism do not have as large a demand as others, the report went on, personnel work, accounting, and office work have need of large numbers.

Language Dept Has Party at Lake Ella



The Modern language department gave a coffee this week honoring department members who will be away studying during the summer. The scene, staged as an outdoor cafe atmosphere, was at the Lake Ella home of Mr and Mrs Gerald Givens of the department.

Music was provided from the special foreign record collection loaned by Dr Robert Moon of the education department. Mr Carl Kral German instruction presented a sardenia to each guest.

Coffee was poured by Mrs Herbert Lacayo, Mrs I. Lincoln Canfield, Miss Carmine Rivera, Miss Marjorie Judy, Mrs Albert Leche and Mrs Grayden Deland. All of the modern language department, assisted in serving.

FSU Records Perfect Grid Season

FROM THE SIDELINES

By WARREN COBB

Flambeau Sports Editor

Well, everything but the worst of the school year—exams, that is—is over now and this is the last issue of the Flambeau. But sports fans from FSU have a lot of fond memories from this, the greatest year of all in Seminole athletics.

From September to June, those Seminole athletes gave first rate performances, regardless of weather, opposition, or physical handicaps.

Yep, those Seminoles have really provided the sports writers around these parts with some great copy this year.

BACK IN THE FALL the football team performed in the newly built Campbell Stadium for the first alm and the grid fans will probably long remember the thrills provided them by the dazzling play of FSU's own "Mr Outside and Mr Inside" in the form of Nelson Italiano and Mike Sellers the scrubbing tackles of Mike and Bill Dawkins, and the other great performances during the Seminoles' march to glory.

And the basketball fans can remember the thrilling Stetson game here, the great comeback by the Seminole cagers in the NAIB tournament at Jax with little Lou Fischer making those last decisive two points, and the keenness with which they followed the results in the NAIB national where Bob Hartman and Co. made it to the quarter finals before losing. And the great welcome the boys got when they got off the bus downtown.

AND ANOTHER BIG EVENT was the winning of not one, but two, national championships in gymnastics. Yes, Dr Hartley price and his boys brought in both the NCAA and AAU trophies for FSU's first national championships.

And who, among those that saw him, could forget the brilliant performances of All-American Bill Rosenheim, who has too many achievements to his credit to enumerate them here.

THE SWIMMING ADHERENTS had something to cheer about, too, as Coach "Bim" Stultz's team rolled through the season undefeated again with two-time All-American Roger Slater leading the way with his sensational diving.

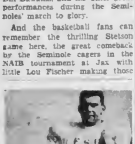
The track and tennis both compiled good records and were both Dixie Conference champs again.

The baseball team put on its sharesf thrills to the spectators in posting the best baseball record in the school history.

The golf and volleyball teams also had good years.

From all the sidelines, the 1950-51 year was a great one for Seminole fans.

* * *



WE WOULD LIKE TO extend our heartiest appreciation at this time to Ned West, head of the publicity department out at West Campus, for his great help he has given us with this page Thanks a lot, Ned!

And we would also like to thank the coaches for their co-operation with the paper during the year.

THIS HAS BEEN the last year for Seminole athletics with nonsubsidization and they will follow the example set by Stetson, Florida, and other small colleges next year by initiating a subsidization program.

We hope that the record for next year can compare with the one made this year.

Nelson Italiano shows the form that made him a star in his first year as a Seminole performer. A shifty runner, an excellent passer, and a good punter, Italiano will be one of the big guns next fall for the Seminoles. He was chosen on the second string All-Dixie Conference team this past season.

DUE KENDRICK—One of the strong points in the Seminole forward wall this past fall. Kendrick's aggressive play earned him the Most Valuable Player award.

Cage Team Has Great Season With 13 Wins in 20 Games

The 1950-51 basketball team had a great season, winning 13 of their 20 regular season games, winning the District 25 NAIB tourna ment in Jacksonville in a thrilling 69-67 game, and then reaching the quarter finals in the National NAIB tournament in Kansas City before bowing out to Millikan.

Coach Bud Kennedy's cagers started off the season by downing Charleston 79-34 and then beat Mercer, Connecticut State Teachers, Howard, and Florida Southern in their order before running up against the Miami Hurricanes. The south Florida fire downed FSU 80-61, and David Lipscomb made it two losses in a row for the Seminoles by downing them 88-73.

COACH KENNEDY'S CREW then beat the University of Mississippi 63-58, before coming to grips with the Stetson Hatters in the West Campus Gym in what was undoubtedly the best game that was played here during the season.

The game was a thriller right down to the final whistle, but big (6 ft. 9 in.) Jim Yoner, Hatter center, proved the difference and the visitors from DeLand pulled through with 67-66 victory.

Then the Seminoles started on another three-game win streak by breaking Florida Southern again. Tampa and Howard fell in turn, but then the Spartans turned the tables on the Seminoles and downed them 78-66.

THEN STETSON took their second game of the year from the Seminoles down in DeLand in thunder fashion than in the first fray, between the two teams, winning 71-53.

The FSU five then downed Rollins 80-57, lost to Loyola and Mississippi, and then downed Mississippi College 77-54

The Seminoles finished out the regular season here with successive victories over Mercer and Rollins, by scores of 69-64 and 62-43 respectively.

IN THIS FINAL GAME star performer Bob Hartman pushed in 14 points to set a new FSU mark with 338 points for the year. The old mark of 327 had been established the year before by teammate Tom McLaughlin Whitmer, next years captain, was second for the season scoring honors with 253 and Bud Scott was third with 186

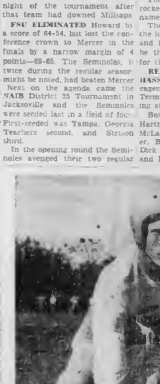
Then the Seminoles entered the Dixie Conference Tournament. They drew a bye in the first round, then met Howard the second night of the tournament after that team had downed Millsaps

FSU ELIMINATED Howard by a score of 64-54, but lost the conference crown to Mercer in the finals by a narrow margin of 4 points—69-65. The Seminoles, is twice during the regular season match be nosed, had beaten Mercer

Next on the agenda came the NAIB District 25 Tournament in Jacksonville and the Seminoles were seeded last in a field of four. First-seeded was Tampa, Georgia Teachers second, and Stetson third.

In the opening round the Seminoles avenged their two regular season defeats at the hands of the Hatters by eliminating them to the tune of 65-58.

Then they came through to down Georgia Teachers in the finals in a real thriller—69-67, as Little Lou Fischer stepped on a last-up for the winning two points, and the underdogs from Florida State had won themselves a bid to the National Tournament in Kansas City.



WITH THE WHOLE SCHOOL anxiously reading the results, the FSU squad rolled by South Dakota State in the opener by a score of 83-70.

Then the surprising Seminoles rocked Pepperdine out of the tournament by edging them 61-59.

The bubble finally burst when the locals ran up against Millikan and fell 91-60 in what proved to be the last game of the season for them.

RETURNING TO TALLAHASSEE, the conquering Seminole cagers were greeted at the Bus Terminal by a delegation of cheering students.

Boys who lettered were: Bob Hartman, Bob Whitmer, Tom McLaughlin, Bud Scott, Lou Fischer, Bud Marsee, Larry Dickson, Dee Trobaugh, Bonnie Nettles, and Irwin Quinn.

BILL DAWKINS—Whose tremendous linebacking was a major factor in FSU's great gridiron record this year. Dawkins was selected on the first-string All-State eleven along with Mike Sellers and will captain next year's team.

1950 Seminoles Win Eight Games Without Loss or Tie

By WARREN COBB

The 1950 edition of FSU's football squad left little to be desired in the way of a winner. The Seminoles compiled an enviable record this year of eight wins, no defeats, and no ties.

This marked the third straight year that the Seminoles, under the tutelage of Dr Don Veller, rolled to the Dixie Conference Championship.

But it was the first time that a college team in Florida had gone undefeated for the year.

THE SEMINOLES started off the year with a victory over Troy State in an out-of-town game by a 26-7 score.

The Seminoles then returned to Tallahassee for its home opener and in a row, both the first ever played in the new Campbell Stadium, named in honor of the school president.

The first of these games was with Randolph Macon and the Seminoles made their first home appearance impressive with a 40-0 win. Big Mike Sellers, Tommy Brown, Dub Kendrick, Ted Hewlitt, Bob Schmels, and the rest of the boys made it evident that the Seminoles were on the warpath.

Guard Bill Dawkins suffered a shoulder injury in this game.

THE NEXT GAME pitted the locals with visiting Howard College, and the smaller school's heavy underdogs beforehand, put up a game fight before bowing 20-6.

The Seminoles then traveled to Newberry, South Carolina, to whip that school 24-0.

THEN CAME the big Homecoming game as the Seminoles knew Bulldogs Saturday afternoon, October 28, in Campbell Stadium.

The Seminoles seemed to have a bad day and trailed the Senannee gridders 2-0 for a short time. An intercepted pass and subsequent runback for a TD by defensive halfback Ted Hewlitt pulled the Seminoles out of the fire. It might be remembered that Hewlit pulled a similar trick against the Stetson Hatters in DeLand two years ago to spoil the Hatter Homecoming with a 98 yard gallop with a stolen flat pass.

BIG MIKE SELLERS bulled over for a TD in the third quarter, and added like the Seminoles had finally caught fire. But the visitors, living up to their name of Bulldogs, fought back and held the Seminoles scoreless the rest of the game. A pass that was batted into the hands of Senanee halfback accounted for another touchdown for the visitors in the final quarter and the game ended up with Coach Veller's boys on the short end of a 20-14 count.

Excitement was high for the next game with the big Hatters of Stetson Hatters, who had lost only to Tampa, and that by a narrow 26-20 score. A large crowd from FSU went down to DeLand for the game and were well repaid for their efforts as the Seminoles played what many considered their best game of the year.

The game was hardly five minutes old before the Seminoles, mixing a dazzling array of offensive plays with a Hewlit runback of an intercepted pass to Stetson's two-yard line, were leading 13-0.

THE STUNNED HATTERS fought back and managed to push over a first quarter score with a line plunge by Jerry Gallagher for 12 yards providing the tally. It looked like a pretty even ball game for awhile, but Bill Johnson, Stetson's brilliant passer, was being bottled up by FSU's hard charging linemen — particularly Bob Schmels, Dub Kendrick, Sam Baker, and linebackers Sellers and Dawkins. The latter two practically wrecked the Hatter running game, also.

Whenever Johnson did manage to get one off, it was a good bet that either Tommy Brown or Ted Hewlit would be there to intercept or bat it down.

The game see-sawed back and forth until just before the half when "Hurry-Up" Bringer went in motion to his right, cut down the sidelines, and outran the defensive back to take Nelson's Italiano's perfect pass for the Seminoles' second touchdown of the night. It was the one that took the heart out of the Hatters, for after they raced to fade in the last half and the Seminoles pushed over another tally to make the final score 27-6.

The Seminoles were at home the following Friday night for a game with Mississippi College. Displaying no let-down after their brilliant game against the Hatters the week before, the Seminoles rolled to an easy victory over the Choctaws despite the magnificent play of halfback David Lee, an All-Conference selection. Lee passed and ran spectacularly, but to no avail, as the FSU boys made it victory number-

THE FINAL GAME of the year was a real thriller, with the erratic Tampa Spartans affording the opposition on a freezing Saturday afternoon. It looked like a routine victory in the first quarter as big Mike Sellers blasted over from the five after Bob Schmels had recovered a Tampa fumble.

In the second quarter Nelson Italiano hit Harry Bringer for the fourth time during the year, and for the fourth time the result was a TD.

The fighting Spartans came back to score before the half on a pass by their quarterback, Ray Jackson, Jackson hit for another TD pass in the third quarter and the surprised and rigid spectators saw the score change to 13-13 and the Seminoles' perfect record in danger.

The surprising Tampa eleven, coached by former All-American Frank Sinkwich, came driving down the field again in the third quarter to FSU's 25 but were stopped by a penalty.

THEN NELSON ITALIANO broke loose for 60 yards to the Tampa 4 and things were looking up. But the Tampa boys held and kicked out.

Then the Seminoles showed the class and courage that brought them through the year with their spotless record.

The seemingly infallible combination of Italiano to Bringer clicked for a TD to open the last quarter.

A few minutes later Italiano, playing a great game, broke loose for 27 yards and another PSU touchdown to make the score 27-13. Not content with this the Seminoles pushed the Spartans back into the shadow of their own goal post and forced a dinky punt, which Wayne Bender took on the 11 and bustled back for a TD.

The Spartans managed to score again on a 15-yard kickoff return by halfback Vince Chicko, but the final score was FSU 33—Tampa 19. The Seminoles had completed the first perfect season ever recorded by a Florida college football team!

MAKING THE ALL-DIXIE CONFERENCE squad were end Norm Eunanks, tackle "Dub" Kendrick, guards Bill Dawkins and Bob Schmels, and fullback Mike Sellers.

On the second team were tackles Sam Baker and Dwight Ochs, and backs Nelson Italiano and Tommy Brown.

Sellers and Dawkins were selected on the first string All-State eleven. Dawkins, one of the best line-backers in the south, was elected next year's captain at the end of the season. "Dub" Kendrick was chosen as the Most Valuable Player.

LOST FOR NEXT YEAR by graduation are Capt Duke Maltby, Norm Eunanks, Ted Hewlit, Sam Baker, and Dub Kendrick.

A lot of credit for the marvelous record of the 1950 Seminoles goes to Head Coach Don Veller, Assistant Coaches Bob Harbison and Charlie Armstrong, and graduate assistants John Wetherington, Ralph Matherly, and Davy Thomas.

Congratulations 1951 Graduates

Big Mike Sellers shows the form that made him a first choice on the All-State grid eleven and may possibly bring him bids for All-America next year. Mike Sellers line or halfback and defensive linebacker, Coach Veller has cause to smile.

DUKE MALTBY—Massive tackle who captained the Seminole eleven this year to the first perfect record ever made by a Florida college team. Maltby graduates this year.

Swimming Team Goes Undefeat To Run Victory String To 13

FSU's great swimming team, which has not lost a meet since Feb. 4, 1950, rolled to two wins to dual meets this year to run their consecutive victory streak to 13.

Slater, who is undefeated in collegiate competition for the past two years, won this year's Southern AAU Regionals and the Florida AAU championship. He placed sixth in the low board and 10th in the high board in the National Collegiate Championships in Austin, Texas.

The 400-yard free style relay team of White, Dunn-Rankin, Wells and Jardine competed in both the National Collegiate Championships and the National AAU Championships at Columbus, Ohio—and made very creditable showings both times.

IT IS TO BE NOTED that while nor Dunn-Rankin ever competed in swimming before coming to FSU. This can also be said of many other members of the team.

Joe Regna was third in the finals at the AAU was the Southern Inter-collegiate sidehorse championship, and ranked 10th

The team next entered the state ...d came out on top after a hard battle with Jacksonville Navy. The Seminoles won over Tampa YMCA. Florida Southern College and Jax Navy to reach the finals where they again faced the Jax Navy and downed them by scores of 15-13 and 15-7 to cop the state crown for the second consecutive time.

The next opponent of the Tallahassee team was Albany YMCA which fell beneath the round- ...ouths by scores of 15-12, 1-15, 9-15, and 15-17.

NEXT IN LINE was the Mid- South Open in Memphis, Tenn. This was a round-robin affair which ended with the mighty Seminoles on top with a 10-2 win- loss record. They won over Terre Haute and Ft Worth who tied for second with 8-3 records. Terre Haute went on to finish fourth in the National Open at Springfield Mass.

In their only home appearance of the year, the volleyball team met Albany YMCA at the west campus gym. The match was one of the hardest of the year for the Seminoles as the Albany aces played inspired ball, only to lose by scores of 7-15, 12-15, 12-15, 15-8, and 14-8.

In the last match of the season before leaving for the nationals at Springfield, Mass. the Seminoles journey to Jacksonville where the Jax Navy avenged their State AAU loss by beating the FSU team 15-5, 7-15, 15-10 and 15-13.

A practice match, or warm-up for the nationals was played with Baltimore on the Way to Springfield. The Seminoles won out after one of the longest fights of the year. They won 14-16, 15-11, 15-12, 12-15 and 15-13.

THE NATIONAL tournament was somewhat of an anti-climax for the splendid season as the Seminoles had to be content with a fourth place, three better than last year's seventh. FSU gained a bye in the first match of the round-robin preliminary, installed to eliminate all teams but the four first teams. They lost to the Mexicans by scores of 12-15, 15-2 and 13-15. Then they played Eastham College Indians and again lost 6-15, 13-9 and 11-15. Springfield college was next on the list as the Seminole lost three straight 7-15, 13-15, 13-15.

The Seminoles showed some of their midseason form in time to beat Dartmouth 15-4, 10-15 and 15-9.

In the four team finals FSU lost to U of Mexico 15-6 and 15-12; and then lost to Eastham 15-8 13-15 and 15-10. U of Mexico won the International championship.

The FSU team became one of the three first college teams to enter the open, but lost out in their first two matches to Clinton Wilson and Ann Arbor YMCA teams.

Those receiving individual recognition during the year were: Captain Danny Hobbs all-Mid-South spiker; Chalie Ford, all-State and all-Mid-South spiker; George Edmiston, all-State spiker; Bill Crook, all-State set-up; and Emerson Kramer all-State and all-South set-up. It is not known at this time whether any of the PSU team were placed on the All-American team as the selections have not been released yet.

LETTER WINNER, beside those above, are Vic Orenstein and Jim Couch. James McFaiter was awarded a freshman numeral. Others who participated during the season were Charles McDaniel, Dick Lapp, Dick Kurras, Herb Kurras, Joe Bonifay.

51 Yearbook Publishes Article By Canfield

Dr D Lincoln Canfield, head of the modern language department, has recently had an article "Romance Languages and Literature" published in the American Yearbook 1951.

In preparing his article for the yearbook published by Thomas Nelson and Sons, Dr Canfield reviewed about 30 American magazines along with other articles and books published in the field of romance languages.

Congratulations to a swell bunch of Graduates.
We hope you don't have to work too hard for that first million.
Thanks a lot for your business and good will.

Kappa Alpha

Here are some "Southern Gentlemen" who really get things done. In the Kappa Alpha hall of fame are Jim Kirk, UOA vice president elect, senators Jim Turnbull and Bob Wodrich, Jim Ball, ODK president and chairman of judiciary, to mention only a few.

Others are Charles Curtis, sophomore chairman of rat court and freshman class president, Gold Key members Johnny Fortune, Bob Johnson and Charlie Floyd; Bill Hess is president of the Student Christian Association and chairman of the Campus Chest and did a good job. Also there's Bill Putnam head of Phi Beta Kappa fame and Arnold Air Society members Joe Lesley, Bobby Upchurch, Bob Revell and Jim Taylor. Jim Kirk, besides his previously mentioned office, is president of the chapter and an Alpha Phi Omega officer, and Don Allison is a representative to men's judiciary.

The Kappa Alphas have a right to be proud of their record in intramurals this year. They have come in with a first in golf and volleyball and a third in swimming and have been among the top four in nearly all sports so far. As it stands now, they have the highest number of points toward the Intramurals trophy.

Talk about activities! Just listen to what the Theta Chis have been doing for the past year.

Golf Team Has Good Record With Eight Victories

The Seminole golf team had a good season, despite the fact that they were invited to attend the Dixee Conference tournament and take a crack at defending their championship. But it is well to note that the Seminole linksmen twice defeated Mercer, the eventual conference champ for 1951, during regular season play.

Coach Bob Harbison's crew finished the season with eight wins, three losses, and one tie.

STARTING OFF THE SEASON with a 9-8 tie with Rollins in Winter Park and then traveling over to Deland to trounce the Stetson linksmen, the Seminole golfers played their first home match here March 19 and whipped the Georgia team affording the opposition. The Bulldogs, who has won the SEC championship for the past three years, were trounced by locals 23-4.

Then the Jacksonville Navy team came to town and whipped the Seminoles 17½-7½ for the first loss of the season for the latter.

THE DAVIDSON TEAM made its two losses in a row for Coach Armstrong's boys by turning them back 21-15 on the local green.

Then the Seminoles came back with a win over Mercer here 17½-9½.

Then they followed this victory up with successive wins over Emory and Stetson here, the first by a 17-13 count and the latter by a score of 18-6.

ON THE SEMINOLE golfers played a return match with Stetson this time on the local green, and stoned for the previous tie by downing the Tars 15½-2.

A trip to Athens for a return match with the Georgia team proved fruitless as the Seminoles fell to the Bulldogs 23-4.

The last two matches were out of town, one being with Mercer in Macon, Ga., and the other with Emory in Atlanta. The Seminoles won the former 19-8 and the latter 16-8.

The Seminole golf team also played in three tournaments this year. They came in third in the standard in the tournament this Florida Inter-collegiate in DeLand held in the season, won the Pensacola Invitational Tournament by a considerable margin, and came in seventh in the Southern Inter-collegiate in Athens, Georgia.

IN THE TOURNAMENT at Athens, Dick Montney and Eddie Johnson of FSU tied for 11th place in the individual honors.

Letters were won by veterans Dick Montney and Ted Hewitt, who was elected honorary captain for the year, and new men Tom Cumbie and Bud Marsee.

Dick Montney held the lowest average for the year, including all tournamentis, with a standout 73.5

On Your MARK

By JEAN WEATHERELL

This seems to be the season of the year when people are constantly reminiscing and saying to one another, "Do you remember when such-and-such did so-and-so?" or "Remember the time when . . . ?"

Well, in the final graduation issue I am going to briefly summarize the Women's Sports for this year. To some of us this lapse into the past will remind us of the thrill of winning; to others will come the memory of losing in a well played game.

THE FIRST INTRAMURAL SPORT this year was back in the fall, was BASKETBALL. It was then that the forwards with their sharp eyes and accurate shots excelled, not to mention the guards with their fast plays. AOPi's won in the sports-like manner of the season by those excellent Freshmen in Jennie Murphree.

Next came the Bohon Hoods and the William Tell's with their Bull's Eyes. The AOPi's again came out on top by winning over the Alpha Gam's in ARCHERY.

A RIDING term was the next about to be heard in the Intramural sport season. Yes, the Horsey set, HORSEBACK RIDING came to the front next. In singles, the Pi Phi's and the Alpha Gam's won the championship for the sorority league, and Jennie and Broward took the lead in the dormitory competition. Broward and Landis were the winning dormitory in doubles after with Rena Kamm and the Delta Zeta's. There was no playoff in the horse shoe competition.

That elusive little celluloid ball kept our intramural participants busy for the next few weeks. The Delta Zeta's and the Theta's came out on top accompanied by Landis and North Cawthon, for the PING PONG singles competition. The Theta's and North Cawthon also won in the doubles competition to prove that they were the champions on campus.

"PLAY BALL!" A sure sign that spring has come to FSU. The phrase "home-run" was heard loud out to be the Gilchrist Gang, who won over Landis, and then went to beat the Alpha Xi's winners of the sorority league.

The fifth were next with the Theta's again showing their versatility by gathering up the most points in the Intramural SWIMMING meets. The Kappa Delta's, and Gamma Phi's placed for second and third their ability as mermaids on campus.

Although they may be the smallest dormitory group on FSU's campus, the Freshmen in Broward Hall ended up on top in the dorm TENNIS matches only to be defeated by the Kappa Alpha Theta's.

The most recently Intramural sport was VOLLEYBALL. For the first time these games were played on "round-robin" style. After three weeks of play the Pi Phi's clashed with Broward, the dorm champions, to come out on top in the final major sport.

Interspersed with intramural sports programs were many amateur athletic events, sponsored by groups other than the Women's Recreation Association.

THE CAMPUS CHEST received over seventy dollars from the proceeds of the Pi Phi-Theta FOOTBALL game. The Phi Phi's won the trophy for the third time with a 6-0 over the Theta's. The exciting game was decided when Vivian Rasmusen juggled a pass fed from Pat Holden for twenty yards over the goal line. The Theta team was sparked by Shirley Hair's quick running plays. Another exciting game in the annual Powder Puff Bowl.

Completely different from any other competition on campus this year was the first Gumbo Chi Derby. In such events as the potato-sack race, the soda sipping contest, and the change clothes race the Theta's again came out on top. They won the over-all trophy, along with the trophies for two individual events. The Delta Gamma's, Pi Phi's and Alpha Chi's each won a trophy in this year's Derby.

All in all it's been a grand year in sports for the Co-eds at FSU. Spirits soared as each team got into the play of things to prove that Florida State has one of the finest intramural and sports programs any where. As we look back, we always remember not whether we won or lost, but rather how well we played the game

Tracksters Successfully Defend Dixie Conference Championship

The FSU track team had another successful season under Coach Ken Miller, and once again copped the conference crown after winning four of their five dual meets during regular season competition, and also copping a triangular meet with Davidson and Emory.

The Seminole narriers got off to a poor start with an overwhelming 105-28 defeat by Duke on the West Campus Track.

BUT THIS WAS to be the Seminoles' lone track loss for the season. The boys came back strong against Mercer in their next meet, which was in Macon, Georgia. They took this one 87-44. Then they returned here for a triangular meet with Davidson and Emory, which they took by scoring 80½ points to 73 1/8 for David son and only 8⅞ for Emory.

Then came victories over the Florida Southern and Mississippi College on the home track.

Then, in the last home appearance of the year, the Seminoles trounced Howard College in fine style and successfully defended their laurels.

But the Seminoles came through

Record setters in the Conference Meet were Woody Parker in the 440 with a brilliant 50.6. Tom Sebring in the discus with a throw of 128 feet 4 in. and John Poston in both the 100 yard dash and the 220 yard dash. Poston won the former with a time of :10 flat and the longer run with a :22.3.

All in all, the Seminoles rounded up 75 points to 58 for Mercer, their nearest rival. Mississippi College was third with 61½. Howard and Millsaps were la-t.

THERE WERE SOME outstanding individual performances during the year. Poston, captain-elect for next year, set new records in both the 100 and 220 events with times of 9.8 and 21.6, while Parker's conference time was his tops for the year. Sebring hurled the discus 130⅝ in. during the season, for a record, and Jim Arnold smashed the standing record in the two mile run with a splendid time of 10:29.4.

Joe Frazani set a new school record in the pole vault by soaring 12 ft. 7 in. during the season and the mile relay team established a record in the conference meet by chalking up a time of 3:29.9. Boys on the relay team were Frank Pearson, Woody Parker, John Poston, and Dick Mize.

Other outstanding performances were: Max Watson (Capt), 120-yard low hurdles, :16.5 seconds; Woody Parker, 880 yard run, 2:03.7; Al Carter, 220 low hurdles, 25.5; Leonard Mellon, high-jump, 5 ft. 10 in.; Ronald King shot-put, 40 ft. 3⅞ in.; Bill Rodger, javelin, 162 ft., and Ed Seagram, broadjump, 21 ft. 6½ in.

LEADING POINT - GETTERS for FSU for the year were Captain-elect John Poston with 47, Tom Sebring with 34, 1951 Captain Watson with 33, Pete Fraschetti with 30½, and Dick Mize with 30¼.

Those receiving letters were Max Watson, John Poston, Woody Parker, Dick Mize, Al Carter, John Thombleson, Jim Arlnold, Bob Bolin, Joe Fracasa, Pete Fraschetti, Walt Grace, Gil Harris, Baker King, Ed Kucera, Leonard Mellon, Bob Patterson, Frank Pearson, Bill Petry, Bill Rodger, Ed Seagram, Tom Sebring.

Seven wins and eight defeats ference meet at Jackson, Mississ tile for the third straight year.

This year's team, coached by Ralph Matherly and captained by veteran Larry Dickson, had a hard schedule to contend with. The University of Miami, whom they met twice, boasts one of the best teams in the country, and Rollins College is another strong team.

THE SEMINOLE NETTERS opened the season with a 5-3 loss to Georgia. Their initial win was over Concordia of St. Louis on FSU's home court by a count of five matches to one.

Then the Seminoles traveled to Miami and suffered a one-sided defeat at the hands of the powerful Hurricanes by a score of 8-1 Larry Dickson beat Bobby Sierra for the Seminoles lone match victory.

A 9-0 shutout of Florida Southern followed, but then Rollins turned the tables on the Seminoles and whalloped them by the same count in Winter Park.

FSU then lost three matches in a row—to Davidson, Loyola, and Indiana by scores of 8-3, 5-1, and 7-2 respectively.

THE NETMEN then got back on the win side of the ledger with three consecutive victories, two over Emory and one over Mercer. They then fell to Jacksonville Navy by a 8-2 count in matches in Jacksonville.

Matherly's crew then traveled to Macon and downed Mercer for the second time during the year The score was 7-2.

THE MIAMI HURRICANES then paid the Seminoles a visit and stretched their win streak to 39 games at the locals' expense This time even Dickson couldn't take a match and his team was whitewashed 9-0.

In the last regular match of the year the Seminole netmen slaughtered Florida Southern here by a 9-0 count with many of the matches being finished for some time with dorm 849 winning by a considerable margin.

With the results of the swimming meet was won Thursday night by Theta Chi and Pi Kappa Alpha, the standings were as follows: (1) Kappa Alpha, 825 points; (2) Pi Kappa Alpha, 670 points; (3) Theta Chi, 578 points; (4) Phi Delta Theta, 380 points; (5) Alpha Tau Omega, 358 points; and (6) Sigma Nu, 322 points.

FROM THESE TABULATIONS it would seem that either KA or Theta Chi will take the trophy but Phi Delta Theta, which was the defending champion in badminton and tennis doubles, also had an excellent chance.

Theta Chi had only an outside chance, and the other two had no chance at all.

Dorm 849 threw away with the dorm intra-mural championship, racking up 1,725 points to 849 for their nearest rival, the Oilers. The 849ers won six championships—swimming, softball, volley ball, tennis doubles, table tennis, and bowling.

BASKETBALL was first on the intra-mural program this year and was won by the Pi Kappa Phis in the first league and by Campus Side in the dorm picture.

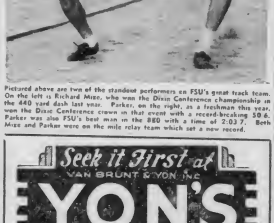
The ATOs took the bowling championship in the frat league for the third year in a row to retire the cup; 849 took the laurels here in the dorm league.

Table tennis, an individual sport counting only 75 points for first place, was won by Sigma Nu and 849. Roi Sutterman defeated Bill Kratzert in the finals in the Frat competition.

The Phi Delts took the track championship for the third year in a row and thereby retured the cup. In the dorm league the winner was 394 Upper.

THE TOUCH FOOTBALL championship was won by Sigma Nu and the Oilers after some story disputes in the playoffs.

The tennis doubles competition, in the frat league, was won by 849 from right in other competing dorms.



Sigma Phi Epsilon won the tennis singles and the Oilers took the title in the dorm league.

The volleyball was taken by Kappa Alpha among 14 teams competing in the frat league and 849 copped it in the dorm league.

Softball was won by the ATOs after some hot competition from the Theta Chis and 849 racked up another championship in this field in the dorm league.

UNOFFICIALLY, 50 percent of the male students at FSU competed in the intra-mural program this year, and Coach Ed Williamson, who was in charge of this department, deserves a great deal of credit for the fine job he has done.

The dorm league suffered a serious setback at Christmas when a number of the dorms were closed.

Pictured above are two of the standout performers on FSU's great track team. On the left is Richard Mize, who was the Dixie Conference championship in the 440 yard dash last year. Parker, on the right, is a freshman this year, won the Dixie Conference crown in that event with a record-breaking 50.6. Parker was also FSU's best man in the 880 with a time of 2:03.7. Both Mize and Parker were on the mile relay team which set a new record.

All Sororities Mourn Loss Of Outstanding Seniors

Delta Zeta

Graduating from the Delta Zeta house this year will be Helen Wilson Allen. Sara Jo Costin, Nancy Dy, Patsy Hardy, Irene Leslie, Miriam Lough, Bess Stevenson, Fran Strickland and Betty Turner.

Two of these girls, Irene Leslie and Fran Strickland, are proud possessors of Phi Beta Kappa keys, and Miriam Lough will be an honor graduate.

However the seniors aren't the only famous ones in the Delta Zeta chapter. Shirley Hurlburt is specially president and also Zeta Pi. Eta president. Virginia French is vice president of Keystone and Irene Leslie is president of Pi Delta Phi. Sigma Delta president is Fran Strickland and Secretary elected to Sophomore Council were Harriet and Shirley Smith. Junior counselors will be Nelsbeth Stevens, Norma Jean Hasbrook and Claudia Thomas.

The Delta Zetas were represented in circus by Shirley Knight and Cecil Timmons. Pat Hampton displayed her talent on the modern dance team. Shirley Hurlburt is a member of Garnet Key. The Delta Zeta chapter is quite proud of its second place award in the Sigma Chi Derby.

Gamma Phi Beta

Gamma Phi Beta sorority can be proud girls who shine in the field of sports, brains and song.

June Kirk, recently elected president of WRA served as treasurer of this organization this year. She is also president of AAHPER, junior new editor of the physical education department, and a member of Sorority F Club. Jane has been on several Odd-Even teams.

Di Peters served as president of the Tarpons this year. In addition to this she was on the Odd-Even hockey and tennis team. A member of F Club, AAHPER, and on the WRA Board.

Carelle Miller is in Tarpons and on the Odd-Even softball and hockey teams.

Gamma Phi also shines in the Greek department with three girls. Betty Bridges, Clara Comelias, and Betty Jane Hall are Alpha Lambda Delta. Clara is also in Eta Phi Eta and Sophomore Council. Mary Ann Seidner is also a Sophomore Councilor, Norma Branch Gage was asked to the Institution this year as a Junior Counselor.

Sigma Nu

SIGMA NU officially closed its most successful year at Florida State with a banquet at the Seven Seas recently. Outstanding members of the chapter were lauded for their contributions to the student body and to the local chapter.

Jerry Thomas made noteworthy achievements in being elected Chief Justice of the Honor Court and vice president of Gold Key. He came in second for president of the student body, and was a columnist for the Flambeau.

Joel P Smith, president of Sigma Nu, distinguished himself by being elected editor of Smoke Signals, writing the twice weekly column, Campus Carousel, and serving as associate editor of the Flambeau for first semester.

John Newland, past president, served as vice president of the senior class this semester. John held down several important positions on committees concerning student affairs. John was elected to Gold Key.

Bill Dawning, first recipient of the Sigma Nu athletic award, was elected next year's captain of the Seminoles. Bill was also elected to the all-state team. Bill was tapped for Gold Key for his athletic talents.

JACK MONTNEY, state driving champion, sparzed the championship Seminole golf team. Les Mullins, chapter vice president for next year, was outstanding on the FSU baseball team.

Dean Roberts served his juniors as their vice president and worked at treasurer for IFC.

Phi Kappa Tau

The Phi Kappa Taus, too, can boast quite a variety of activities. Within their ranks are Gold Key Harvey Heagerty, business manager of the Tally Ho; circus member, Ben Hardy; Student Director, Didier and Norman Massie. Pete Wilson was vice president of the Student Christian Association and recently elected Alfa Zeta of Alpha Phi Omega. Lowery, Don Remington, Bruce Kirksey and Pete Wilson are active in drama while Nick Pappas, Jim Arnold, Jay Westberry and Norb Didier play football.

Phi Tau Frank Lowery, Bruce Kirksey and Homer Hayes are Gold Key members. Pat Farrell and Jim Arnold are Pi Delt sweethearts and Homer Hayes, Bob Woodburn, Harvey Heagerty, and Frank Burgin are members of L'Apache.

Delta Tau Delta

The "Delta Shella," home of Delt Pat Della, has quite a few outstanding boys within its walls.

In the fraternity are found UGA president Rube Askew, and Bill Yon, senior representative to judiciary. Sonny Morris' son, Rube Askew, George Tarver and Preston Bradley are members of the Arnold Air Society. Bill Yon, Rube Askew and Sonny Morris are also Gold Key members and Rube was elected into ODK.

Bill Yon has been a member of Rube's way are king of the Junior-Senior prom. May king, and member of Cavaliers. He also was on the intramural debate team as was Forrest Chapman.

Alpha Phi Omega members in the chapter include Ed Pillas, and, you guessed it, Rube Askew.

Phi Delta Theta

Going national was just one of many big events that happened at the Phi Delta Theta house this year. This active chapter boasts members both athletic and active on campus.

Three Phi Delts are members of the varsity football team, eight are members of the varsity swimming team, two are on the varsity basketball team and one each on the varsity tennis and golf teams. Ten men are "F" Club members.

In the way of campus activities, Walter Jardine has been elected senior senator, Buddy Barnes, representative to sophomore judiciary and Tom Combs, senior representative to Honor Court. Jack Nooney and Walter Jardine are Gold Key members, Lamar Powell and Bob Rhoden, Alpha Phi Omega members, and Guy Massey is a member of the Arnold Air Society. Nine men are L'Apache members.

Graduating seniors of this chapter will be Bob Van Osteen, Arlon McCarty, Guy Massey, Jack Nooney and Bill Kramert. President of th chapter is Herbie Wiles.

Alpha Tau Omega

The selection and planning of the homecoming highlighted the year's activities. The ATO's will be located in the furthermost dorm in back of senior hall next year.

Several Tau have been exceptionally outstanding in sports this year. Captain of the championship Sellers brought quite a few rave notices from sports writers during the football season. John Poston gained special recognition in track by being elected next year's captain. Poston set new school, track and conference records in the 100 and 220 yard dashes.

At the ATO annual Orchid Formal at the country club earlier this month, Ann Warren was named next year's Alpha Tau Omega Sweetheart. The Tau Ook was this year's sweetheart.

Sigma Chi

One of the newest and most active fraternities on campus is Sigma Chi. They too have just finished a house but were not too busy with that to walk off with many campus honors.

Their scholarship award was theirs for the second time as was the trophy for winning the Campus Sing which, by the way, they won last year too. Bob Dobrey was one of the stars of FSU's Sandspur.

The first Sigma Chi Derby was held this year with all sorities on campus participating. Kappa Sigma walked off with the revel trophy for amassing the highest number of points. Jackie Morris of Kappa Alpha Theta was crowned as Sigma Chi Sweetheart at the Sweetheart Ball.

Sigma Chi's were headed this year by Dennis DeLacire, who holds many outstanding positions. He made Malthy captain of FSU's football team, is also a member of Gold Key.

Ted Schlemeyer and Claude Johns were tapped for the honorary this spring. Ted will be on the ODK Speakers Bureau next year as well as vice-president of UOA in charge of men's affairs.

Sigma Alpha Epsilon

Kappa Kappa To Be Installed As 124th Kappa Sigma Chapter

STEVE EDWARDS, Grand Master of Kappa Kappa Fraternity, today announced that Kappa Sigma has accepted petition to establish a chapter, initiation and installation of members and alumni of the chapter will take place in Carnival week-end, Sunday and Monday, June 10th and 11th.

Kappa Kappa was founded February 17, 1949, by Judson Bibb, Herschel Dacney, Fred Berry, and Phi Stockton, Kappa Sig Carnival term, with the sole purpose in mind of petitioning for the formal initiation ceremonies. The teams will go into school at 2 p m Sunday afternoon, and will stop early enough for University of Florida fraternities to attend their baccalaureate services Sunday night. Initiation will continue Monday morning, followed by an explanatory lecture and installation of officers.

Millard Caldwell, KS, has been asked to deliver the principal address at the banquet to be held Monday night. Among the honor guests attending the ceremonies will be Worthy Grand Treasurer Christian A Natvig and Worthy Grand Master of Ceremonies Gardner Symonds.

All North-Florida Kappa Sigma Alumni and members of eighteen South-eastern Kappa Sig chapters have been invited, and Kappa Kappa expects over a hundred visitors over the week end.

MEMBERS of the chapter stated: "We owe a great deal to several men. We would like to express our thanks to H Lewis Dorton, affiliate last semester, his brother, Kenny, and Mr Angus Laird for the tremendous efforts they have expended for our success."

Kappa Kappa was notified on April 21 that the Executive Committee of Kappa Sig had given them permission to petition, and the group has since been awaited final recognition. The 124th chapter to be installed is installed by Kappa Sigma, one of the largest fraternities in the United States. The group is one of the youngest locals accepted in recent years.

SERVING AS OFFICERS next semester will be: Grand Master, Steve Edwards; Grand Procurator, Kenneth G Weed; Grand Master of Ceremonies, Walker Wood; Grand Scribe, Jack Earl Blackburn; Grand Treasurer, Worth Henson; Inner Guard, Joe Rutherford; Outer Guard, Dick Lapp, and Supreme Chancellor, Joe Rutherford. chairman, John Latterner, and Bill Henson.

FSU Fraternity Men Active In Phases of Campus Life

Kappa Alpha

Here are some "Southern Gentlemen" who really get things done. In the Kappa Alpha hall of fame are Jim Kirk, UOA vice president elect, senators Jim Turnbull, and Bob Wodrich, Jim Ball, ODK president and chairman of judiciary, to mention only a few.

Others are Charles Curtis, sophomore chairman of rat court and freshman class president, Gold Key members Johnny Purdue, Bob Johnson and Charlie Floyd; Bill Hess is president of the Student Christian Association and chairman of the Campus Chest and did a good job. Also there's Bill Patterson of Phi Beta Kappa fame and Arnold Air Society members Joe Lester, Buddy Upchurch, Bob Revell and Jim Taylor. Jim Kirk, besides his previously mentioned office, is president of the chapter and an Alpha Phi Omega officer, and Don Albritton is a representative to men's judiciary.

The Kappa Alphas have a right to be proud of their record in intramurals this year. They have come in with a first in golf and volleyball and a third in swimming and have among them a top four in nearly all sports so far. As it stands now, they have the balance of points needed to award the Intramurals trophy.

Talk about activities! Just listen to what the Theta Chis have been doing the past year.

In office are Bill Waters, UOA vice president; Bob Lanigan, Senior class president; Burton Welch, Junior Senator; Bill Skipper, Sophomore Senator, and Bob Schmelz, junior representative to judiciary, working on plans and plans are Harry Hench, Tully-ho editor, with Bill Shiphorst as his fraternity editor and Ted Stinson working on the fraternity section. THESE STUDENTS... working on part time basis in the dining halls are shown with "work awards" given them last Monday for outstanding service; left to right are: Dora Mondon, Paul Garrison, Jane Thomson, Martin Sullivan, and Edward James.

Dining Hall Awards Given Students

Six students, working on a part-time basis in the University East Campus Dining Halls, were given scholarship awards last Monday on the basis of outstanding services to the FSU student body patrons during the current semester.

First place awards went to Edward James and Dora Mondon. Second places awards were given to Paul Garrison and Jane Thomson. Third place awards went to Martin Sullivan and Jeanette Barr.

Awards were made on behalf of the Student Aid Committee by Benjamin B Adams, II, manager of the East campus dining halls, and Miss Anna M Tracy, FSU head dietician.

Students May Use FSU Hobby Shop

SOME STUDENTS are not aware of just how many constructive extra-curricula activities there are on our campus. There are, of course, social clubs and activities, but the Student Union on West Campus houses an unusual shop which is the seat of much creation and self-satisfaction—a hobby shop. The hobby shop is open to anyone who has an interested in developing a hobby.

We've been previous articles on this shop in the Flambeau and many other newspapers. The Tallahassee Journal, for example, had week. Mr. Boyle, director of the department, received a letter from Florala, Alabama, someone had read about the shop in the Tallahassee Journal and requested directions for setting up one in his own community.

EVEN THOUGH the idea of a hobby shop may seem peculiar to many people, Miss Toney, a duplicator of the Student Union, stated that it is one of the best ways to develop recreation and avocations to use when the student is out of school, for the rest of his life.

Summer Activities Planned By School

The School of Music has planned a busy summer including two major projects to round out the summer slate of activities.

A short course for piano teachers is being offered from July 9 through July 13. In connection with this there will be a series of piano recitals demonstrating the teaching techniques brought out in classes during this time. These recitals will be July 9, 10 11 and 12 at 8:15 in the music auditorium.

Choral Union will give their big summer concern on July 13. An interesting feature of this concert will be the performance of The Old Love by Dr Irvin Cooper, professor of Music Education.

Florida State University Music camp will again meet for five weeks from July 16 until August 18. Approximately 250 students including a few students from out of the state, are expected for this year's enrollment. These students will be specializing in orchestral, choral and band divisions.

On August 8 the music camp will present its operetta and will in addition be presenting weekly concerts all during the summer.

Publications Heads Complete Year of Commendable Editing

Responsible for the greater percentage of material read on the campus this year, excluding textbooks, the three publication heads have assumed their tasks throughout the year with commendable efforts.

A TRANSFER student from Indianapolis, Indiana, Harry Newman, Tally-Ho editor, has been among the most active of his class and has made many efforts to have the annual ready for students before they leave for the summer vacation. He has promised that seniors will have an annual before leaving although many underclassmen will have to wait until next year before receiving theirs.

The twenty-one year old brunette has also been prominent in other campus activities. During his first year at FSU, he was cast in the "Man Who Came To Dinner."

He was twice a delegate to the Intercollegiate College Press Association, attending one meeting at Stetson and one at the University of Tampa. He was also a delegate to the Associated Collegiate Press Association convention nin Chicago last year.

PREVIOUS to his editorship of the annual he was the Tally-Ho's 1950 associate editor. Majoring in economics, he is an active member of his fraternity, Theta Chi, and also of Gold Key. He is also chairman of the Senior Announcement Booklet, which will be distributed to the seniors this week.

As for future plans, he has this to say, "I'm going into the army in June, and I'm getting married in October- to my secretary."

There is also another Harry on campus who is editor of a publication. Harry Copeland, the Smoke Signals chief.

Concerning the student magazine, Harry says, "I hope it has become a magazine students can be proud of, and one they can call their own." While he has been in office he sponsored a contest to change the name of the magazine from Talaria to Smoke Signals. Talaria was formerly a cristal literary magazine. Now the magazine, Smoke Signals, is a more general magazine.

BARRY'S MAJOR is journalism , and his ambition is to write a novel, "one of purpose, to be historical, preferably." He hopes to get a job on a magazine after graduation.

This twenty-two year old who calls Marrianna home, has been here since his freshman year. While attending classes on this campus and entering into extra-curricular activities he has "developed a confidence in people."

Vice president of the Wesley Players, he has appeared in several of their productions, "John Doe", "The Trysting Place", and "Bury the Dead."

He is a former reporter and feature editor of the Flambeau, and is now correspondent for the Methodist Council. Selected for this year's Who's Who, he is also an active member of Gold Key, and Omicron Delta Kappa.

The Florida Flambeau's editor-in-chief this past year has been Earl Doberi. Majoring in journalism, he has had much practical experience in this line. He has worked with International News Service during the 1949 session of the legislature, and in the Atlanta Bureau during '47.

During the years he has worked on the Flambeau he has been first a reporter, then a staff writer, radio editor, columnist, and assistant managing editor.

"I feel that my experience on the Flambeau will be helpful for my chosen field of work. I wouldn't have given it up for anything well, almost."

He is a member of Omicron Delta Kappa, Gold Key, the Publications Committee and served on WSFU's staff for two years previously.

editor of the Tally-Ho for the past two years and during her sophomore year she worked on Sophomore Council.

Alix Kerr, a science education major, is a member of Phi Beta Kappa, Phi Kappa Phi, Alpha Lambda Delta. At the recent banquet of Alpha Lambda Delta Alix was presented a book by Dean Warren for being the senior with the highest grades.

Nelle Busey, president of Sigma Kappa for the year 1950, is a member of Coullion. Bee Risen is also a Coullion member.

Delta Delta Delta

Well known on campus among the Tri Delts is Ellen Avis, president-elect of Byran Hall, sophomore representative to judiciary, Sophomore Set Court and Garnet Key member. Also there is Eleanor Graves who is junior representative to judiciary, new chairman of Off-Campus Court and member of Garnet Key.

Harriet Paul is chairman of the elections committee and Joanne McCarthy is secretary of Pan-Hellenic. Lewie Bushee is also a Garnet Key member and in "Who's Who."

With the Flambeau staff are Joanna McCartney, Jo Petitt, Carolyn Bride and Fe Pittman. Mimi Tubb is working on the Tally-Ho.

The Tri Delta came in third place in scholarship for the past year and second place for the semester.

Graduating seniors are Joyce Gregory, Yvonne Head, June Reese, Marianne Quinn, Gay Cubbege, Marilyn Latham and Maryle Hartman. Jean Peters is president for next year.

Kappa Alpha Theta

Those Kappa Alpha Thetas are well known for their ability to walk off with the honors. Recently they won the Pan-Hellenic intramurals cup and also the first prize trophy in the Sigma Chi Derby. But that's not all. Their float in the Homecoming parade won a first prize and they were awarded honorable mention in the campus sing.

Bobbie Petit reigned as national Pi Kappa Alpha Dream Girl. Joanne Vaughn, Phi Kappa Tau Sweetheart and member of Homecoming Court; and Jackie Morris is the new Sweetheart of Sigma Chi. More beauty among the Thetas was represented by three Village Vamps, Janie Haberkorn, Beth Melson and Arda Bourland.

Shirley Hare is treasurer of Coullion and Darlene Minno is vice president. Five Thetas were tapped this year.

Theta was well represented in Sandspur this year with seven girls participating and Jackie Morris winning the lead part. Circus included five Thetas and cheering for the Seminoles are Jackie Wenger and Nancy Bennett, head cheerleader.

Ardis Bourland, past vice president of the freshman class, will be sophomore representative to Honor Court and Susie Gibson will be senior representative.

Tarpon members are Joanne Vaughn and Mary Ann Wrenn.

Alumni Clubs Puts FSU Before Public

FOR MANY STUDENTS, this June marks the end of their college careers at FSU. The problem now is how to help these students keep the college spirit, and a memory and interest in our university, throughout life. even though the period of formal instruction is over.

To the FSU Alumni Association, this is no problem. Forty years of organization have shown them the way to help alumni to help the university, and themselves. The association is a growing project, consisting of a union of more than 5,000 alumni at present, with branches all over the state of Florida and in other parts of the United States, having its main office in Tallahassee. As the university club meetings, former students of FSU, and its predecessors, gather to foster the fellowship of FSU Alumni and to promote education at the university level.

THESE CLUBS aim at an extension of the Florida State University, its ideals and departments. Their purpose is to tell the public about the university, its needs, its growth, achievements, and possibilities. They not only take FSU to thepublic, but also aid in bringing the best of the public to FSU by services such as scholarship funds and various study projects.

It is very simple to establish a club. An Alumni Club Certificate is issued to any ten active or seven active, and five associate members (non-graduates) who may wish to form an Alumni Club, upon their resignation with the Executive Secretary", Annual dues are two dollars, entitling members to the yearly publication of the association. A president, staff, and various committees may be chosen by the members of each local club for effective action programs.

THE ASSOCIATION is working for an active club in each of the sixty-seven counties of Florida. In this way, the State of Florida will be participating in the progress of the university

1000 Floridians Attend PTA Short Course Finale

Four-Day Conference Finishes Today As Successful Program Is Concluded

Over one thousand Florida citizens will end the Fifteenth Annual Short Course in Parent-Teacher Leadership here today. The four-day conference, conducted by the General Extension Division of Florida, representing the state-supported institutions, has featured short classes on "Developing Toward Maturity."

The opening assembly Tuesday was presided over by Mrs. Cameron of Gainesville, president of the Florida Congress of Parents and Teachers, and Women's Activities Head for the General Extension Division. Florida State University President Doak S Campbell welcomed the classes.

DR DELTON L. Scudder, head of the department of religion at the University of Florida, discussed the interesting point of faith. Dr. Joseph K. Folsom, sociologist from Vassar College, emphasized the need for good behavior and consideration in his speech on the television theme.

Mr Thomas D. Bailey, superintendent of the State Department of Education, addressed Wednesday. Unless the problem if inadequate salary for teachers can be faced with courage, the future of the nation of teachers such as he expressed only a few years ago.

Mr Bailey continued, "The state must find a solution to the problem or most of the gains we have made on a state-wide basis for education will be lost. The need for action is impelling, urgent, and immediate."

CAUTIONING against leaving the loss of salary increases overshadow satisfactory gains in education, Mr Bailey cited the $117,000,000 Minimum Foundation Program and the two-house passage of SJR 106 for the appropriation of building construction funds.

Mr Harry W Seamans, organization director of the Washington office of public affairs, stated Wednesday evening that Freedom-loving nations are today engaged in a battle for the minds and the allegiance of the "the people of the earth." Mr Seamans distinguished communism dictatorial foreign-policy making on basis of public opinion, warning that "no policy formulated and implemented by a democratic government can successful in the long run unless it is approved and supported by a majority of the people."

The general assembly Thursday was presented over by Dean Odin Carothers of the Florida State University Graduate School. DR RUSSELL Foster Vassar, parent-education specialist, spoke on "The Family and Democratic Society." Mr Ralph Beals, head Professor of Lostic W Hartley Wilson of the University of Florida, who discussed "First Steps in Sound Thinking."

Thursday evening a general assembly program was conducted by Mrs. Reinhold Hoffmann, president of the Florida Congress of Parents and Teachers. Departmental conference service under "High Pressure Area," a role dealing with the climate of the home, was presented.

This morning Mrs Arthur G Coon of the General Extension Division of Florida, Gainesville, will summarize conference activities.

Vesper Services To Be Held Sunday

Pat Kirby and Herman Bekemeyer, members of the Summer Recreation Committee, announce that the Sunday night vesper services will take place at 7:15 p.m. on the front steps of Almo building, near the amphitheater.

Jack Wells, philosophy student, will read the scripture. Bekemeyer, Pat Kirby, Herman Bekemeyer, Judy Russ, and Herman Bekemeyer will provide a special music number in addition to the organ standing which will be selected by Professor "Herman F Comer."

Dr R L Arenda of the philosophy department will talk on the subject, "The Seven Arts of Man."

Professor Edgar Henderson of the philosophy department is arranging the vesper services. He will give students an interesting presentation of the reasons why Jesus used the parable form of creating understandime of the Christian faith at the vesper last Sunday.

Dial System Is Put in Service As of June 11

Florida State University changed from the operator system to the dial switchboard system Monday morning, June 11. A booklet has been issued containing the campus exchange number and other pertinent information.

THIS BOOKLET contains department names, locations and extension numbers. The exchange number is still the same, but most of the other numbers have been changed. This dial switchboard system will be a real help in simplifying the operators work and increasing the speed of the connections.

The university expected to begin using the system sometime in October, but due to unavoidable delays it was not installed until this June.

When starting to make a call, always be sure the dial tone is humming. This steady noise indicates that the line is ready for use. If a wrong number is dialed the receiver may be hung up for a few seconds and the number dialed again correctly. Dial calls within the campus are not transferred.

ANSWER CALLS in a business like manner to minimize the length of the call; also make personal calls as brief as possible.

For Tallahassee numbers, dial "8" listen for the dial tone, then dial the Tallahassee number.

Annual Music Camp To Begin July 16 For 5-Week Session

The annual Music Camp opens on the FSU campus for a five week session beginning July 16.

Karl Kuersteiner, director of the music camp and dean of the FSU School of Music announced this week that a limited number of applications for the camp can still be accepted.

The band division of the camp will be under the supervision of two of Florida's band directors, Otto Kraushaar and Oliver Hobbs. The camp orchestra will be directed by Eugene Ormandy, and the camp chorus by Herman Gunter, Jr.

AMONG THE EVENTS included in this year's camp will be a daily band clinic, with techniques taught by Frank S Lanier. An opera will be presented as a special feature by the camp chorus. In addition to the weekly concerts presented by the three organizations of band, chorus and orchestra.

FSU's new air-conditioned Music Building will be the scene of rehearsals and classes of the campers, who, during their five weeks on the campus, will live in the regular university dormitories and enjoy all other university facilities.

In addition to rehearsals, private and class lessons in music, the university campers will be able to take advantage of a regular schedule of recreation.

'Book Exchange' Open Monday In Afternoon

Chairman Gregory Sets Time for Used Books To Be Bought and Sold

The recently created student book exchange will be opened next Monday afternoon from 12 to 5 p. m. This was announced by Shirley Gregory, book exchange chairman during the past year.

The exchange was opened last Tuesday from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. but due to lack of student assistants it can be opened only one afternoon next week.

THE CHAIRMAN emphasized that faculty and students are permitted to survey the collection of books to see if there is any which they would like for their personal libraries. Shirley explained that faculty and students alike had expressed these desires.

The exchange was established last fall as one of the projects of the junior class. It was planned, financed, and operated by this class with the help of Alpha Phi Omega, service fraternity. The book exchange is an non-profit organization with used books only. It was established to insure a fair price on second hand books.

The exchange has established their headquarters in the recreation room of the Student Alumni building. All books will be bought and sold at FSU only.

IN THE SELLING of books the student will set his own price. For each book exceeding one dollar the buyer and the seller contributes a 10 cent fee. For books under one dollar, a five cent fee will be paid for each. These fees will be used to defray operating expenses and may possibly be lowered as the exchange becomes stable.

A three divisional receipt form will be used by the exchange. The student seller will receive the student seller will receive the lower third of the form, the top third will be clipped to the book, and the other third will be filed in the Exchange. Complete information and identification will be included on the receipt forms

PICTURED ABOVE is the dance pair which will appear in the FSU Music Hall Tuesday evening at 8:15. Pittsman Corry and Karen Conrad will be featured in the Dance Fantasy.

Artist Series Opens With Dance Fantasy

Tuesday night, June 26, at 8:15, the Committee of Lectures, Plays and Recitals will present their first program for the summer, the Dance Fantasy.

The performance will be held in the Music Hall and all students will be admitted by presenting their ID cards at the door that night. There will be no reserve seats of any kind.

THE DANCE FANTASY will feature Pittman Corry and Karen Conrad assisted by Marilyn Dunlap, dance soloist and Rolland Tomlinson, accompanist.

The program presented by the artists consists of two parts. Part one will feature the Overture, Three Blind Mice, Temptation, Gordon Jenkins; Tichtrow Waltz, Scott; Tap Dancers' Nightmare, Gypsy Dance from "Carmen," George Bizet; Norwegian Romance, Edvard Grieg; Piano Interlude, and Nutcracker Suite by Peter Tschaikowsky.

The Nutracker Suite will include five individual parts: March, Russian Dance, Dance of the Candy Fairy, Chinese Dance and Waltz of the Flowers. The Suite concludes the first portion of the Dance Fantasy.

IN ACT II, the dancers do an interpretation of Shannon's Mexicali Jai Alai, Abednego. The lyrics are recited by Corry. The music is composed by Ancenio Arahan Cakewalk, David Rose: The French Dalby Doll, Oceana Pinto; Grecian Odyssey, Claude Debussy.

Corry and Conrad present "Black Bottom" by Pas de Deux by Peter Tschaikowsky. This is the most famous classical pas de deux today. It is from the ballet, "Swan Lake" and the choreography utilizes all the ballet spins, lifts, balances, that usually appeals to an audience. This number by Tschaikowsky is presented in eight parts: Entrance and Adagio, Variation by Corry, Variation by Conrad and Coda by the duet.

THE FINAL TWO numbers on the program will be the Dancing School Recital by Felix Mendelssohn and Curtain for Three Clowns by Raymond Scott.

A variety of dancing comes to the concert platform in Dance Fantasy, a fantasy of blended art from ballet to boogie, from tap to toe and from character to comedy. Colorful costumes accentuate a fast moving panorama of dance with piano interludes of their accompanist. The dancing offers many moods and variations.

Field Trips to Be Held in Tallahassee

Three trips for summer school faculty, staff, and students are on the agenda of the Summer Recreation Committee of which Miss Shirley Gregory is chairman. Miss Evelyn Raulerson is top chairman.

THE TALLAHASSEE Tour is the first of these trips and will leave from Bryan at 2 p m on Sunday, making a complete circuit of the city seeing enroute historical, religious, and state governmental landmarks. These architectural landmarks link Tallahassee and the present day business university with the beginnings of American history.

Fort San Luis De Talimali, one of the spots to be seen on the tour was built in 1640 by Franciscan Friars.

The first Presbyterian church was a famous for the people of Tallahassee was built in 1832. Today FSU students find it a fortress against the problems of our war torn world.

THE SECOND TRIP on the calendar will give summer school students who had to leave their city a chance to see the most historic Old St Marks, a fishing village.

The bus leaves Wednesday from Bryan corner at 5 p m for St Marks and will return to Tallahassee by 8 p m.

The third trip is to the Marianna Caves, Sunday June 30th.

Reservations for all of these trips may be made at the Women's residence halls or at the FSU Bookstore.

Nehez Issues Call For Band Members

Mr James Nehez, director of the FSU summer session band, has issued an invitation to all students to play in the band this summer.

The band rehearses every day at 2 p m in the instrumental room of the music building. Instruments are available for loan to those who do not possess their own. The band will present three concerts in the music amphitheatre during the summer.

Membership is open either for credit or non-credit, for work or for recreation If interested, contact Mr Nehez or come to rehearsal at 2 o'clock.

2,865 Students Register For Summer School Term

Walker Reveals Total Enrollment; Women Outnumber Men by 200 Count

Total registration figures for Florida State University's first semester-plan summer school have been released. According to Mr Charles H Walker, Registrar, there are now 2,865 students at FSU, all-time high of 3,035.

This total shows a slight decrease from last summer's

MR WALKER also announced that there are 1342 men and 1,523 women on campus. He added that these totals do not include the Demonstration School, the Nursery, or special students.

Mr E Turner of the IBM Room has stated that early registration figures taken from the IBM appointment cards showed 297 freshmen, 1,036 graduate students, and 1,544 undergraduates. The potential enrollment total of 2,594 was estimated by this method. This summer's registration was the first to be handled by the new IBM arrangements.

For the summer session, women's dormitory assignments have set aside Landis, Broward, and Reynolds halls for graduate and mature students. Bryan, North Cawthon, and South Cawthon are residences for women undergraduates.

HOUSING arrangements for men on East Campus are covered in Reddy Hall and Campuside. On West Campus, six barracks are used for single men, and two are available for married ties. Apartment sections are open as well.

The registrar has stated the academic regulation that today is the last day for dropping or adding a class. Those who drop courses after this date receive a "Withdrew Failing" notice for the summer session.

The Graduate Record Examination will be given on Friday and Saturday, July 6 and 7, according to the Graduate School office.

Seventh Annual Boys State Begins June 24

More Than 300 Youths To Participate; Mark Wheeler Will Direct

Beginning Sunday evening, June 24, 300 boys from every section of Florida will assemble on the Florida State University campus for the seventh annual Boys State.

MARK M WHEELLER from St Petersburg, director of the 1951 program said, "Boys will obtain first hand knowledge of the fundamental principles of American government by engaging in good citizenship, along with good governmentship, good dependability, and cooperation with each other and their counselors."

Boys State will again be divided evenly into the two makebelieve parties of Nationalists and Federalists with each political group having its own counties and town subdivisions to which officers will be elected.

THE BOYS will have headquarters on the FSU West Campus and will meet in their assemblies in the Little Theater building. The legislative assemblies will be held in the House legislative chamber with the Boys State governor and other officials presiding.

The official opening is scheduled for Sunday night when the boys will meet their counselors. At that time the boys' daily newspaper will be organized, and the assignments of lodging and political parties will be completed.

Students, Faculty, Staff May Submit Revue Material

All students, faculty members and staff are eligible to submit original material in the search for suitable scripts to be used in the FSU department of speech's talent musical revue to be given during the first week in September.

A seminar on writing material for the original revue has been set for 7:30 p.m. Monday, June 25, in room 205, History building. All persons selected for consideration of material for the revue are invited to attend and participate in the discussion.

THE DEADLINE for submitting the material is July 6, according to Sara Margaret Davis, chairman of the selection committee of Les Jongleurs, the new honorary dramatics fraternity sponsoring the revue.

The original material needed includes satirical sketches, music, lyrics and ideas for dance routines. It offers those with amateur talent in writing, musical, or who have useable ideas, an opportunity to utilize their talent along the long line.

Meteorology Courses

According to a representative of the FSU Department of Meteorology, the United States Air Force has contracted for about 30 students to come here for courses in the meteorology of the Mediterranean area.

'Our Town' and Comedy Slated For Summer

The FSU speech department will present two plays this summer. The plays, See How They Run, and Our Town, will be given in the Conradi Theatre, history building, on July 11 and 12, and on August 8 and 9, respectively.

AUDITIONS FOR ACTORS in the first play, See How They Run, were held last Tuesday night in the Conradi Theatre. The play is a fast-moving comedy with a British background. Costumes of garbas will direct, assisted by Dr Roger McCalman.

Casting for the second play, Our Town, has not yet been held. Students interested in any phase of theatre work, acting, costumes, properties, etc., are requested to contact Dr McCalman in 106 history. There are openings in all fields.

THESE TWO PLAYS constitute the summer theatre program of the speech department. Varied plays of all types, comedy and drama, are planned for the speech department in the course of the school year. During this year, productions such as Family Portrait, Clarence, and Jim Dandy, were given. However, the department concerns itself with the drama of all periods.

In the 1948-50 season the repertoire was spiced with plays from the Greek, Antigone, through Legenda Among the Tauritans, and Molière's School for Husbands were presented as an experiment with all elaborations, and apparent success.

Points earned by acting or assisting in the production of these plays entitle the student to a membership in Les Jongleurs, FSU theatre club formed last year, when he has done enough work to merit recognition.

Piano Short Course To Be Offered Here

A special short course for girls in the elementary grades is offered this summer at Florida State University July 8 to 13.

The special music class will be conducted by FSU's renowned maestro, Ernest Von Dohnanyi, and Rebecca Rodenberg. Dohnanyi will be assisted by Miss Rodenberg, who are specialists in the field of piano teaching methods for young people.

The short course this year has had the distinguished endorsement ally recommended by Guy Maier, distinguished pianist and teacher.

Registration Makes Friday Black Day in Our History

Last Friday was a day which will be remembered by many students. It was a black Friday. Some will remember how tired and confused they were after registering. Others will remember how disgusted they were at the inefficient programming by the registrar. Others will remember because they are trying so hard to forget it.

It was quite an ordeal. Hundreds and hundreds of students wanting only to sign up for their two or three courses found that they were caught in an intricate, complex system formulated by the school.

It is possible to understand that mature students might get lost in the program for they have not been here for some time and they have to be reorientated. But, when juniors and seniors who have gone straight through feel that this was one of the most difficult and unorganized registrations they have seen, then the truth comes out.

It appears that each time one registers in this school a few more cards are given out. There are yellow cards, blue cards, white cards and cream colored cards, totaling around sixteen or seventeen. If one of those cards is dropped out of the group while passing from table to table, then the student is out of luck. Every card must be on hand and accounted for .

It appears that the biggest and most retarding factor of the entire system is the lack of help to assist students.

When students went to sign up for courses, several instructors were there to register them and only a few minutes at the most were spent in lines. But, a different story is told about the final stations.

In one case a student fell into one of six lines leading up to the fee assessors and after standing still a few minutes she wondered why the line wasn't moving. She found out it was actually moving but at such a slow rate because the lines were converging into two at the table. Only two assessors were stationed there.

These students became so impatient to get out that at several different stations, the tables almost fell down because of students knocking each other and elbowing to the front.

It was such a common sight to see about ten or fifteen individual groups of cards being waved in front of an overworked assistant's face. The helpers were doing the best they could but the load was too much for them. They could do no more than their maximum capacity would permit.

Another factor which seemed disturbing about registration was having to step over student after student who would be sitting on the floor filling ou his cards. Inside the last room were many large tables for the students to sit down comfortably and write his schedule in ink. But, this was not permitted.

The student had to have his cards checked as he entered the room to see if they were already filled out. It was a pass to the room. So, they sat on the floor, leaned on the walls, sprawled across desks—anything. To do something to write upon. And if their pen gave out of ink—too bad.

Registration could be so much easier, simplier and quicker if situations were handled in a better way. It would not be such an ordeal if there were more efficient accurate help to assist the mass of students.

This business has got to become more organized. The school is growing by leaps and bounds and it is becoming a recognized coeducational institution rather than a small girls college.

IFC by the administration.

Campus newspaper editors and columnists outdid even the Argentineans.

Robert Cooper, editor of last summer, began the parade, accompanied by Jeanne O'Riorden. They resigned their official titles of Editor and News Editor respectively at the faculty request. The dis-agreement was over the then momentous question of segregation.

Then came Gene Burnett, discontent first because non-fraternity students were not allowed to apply for the small dormitories being completed; second because of high residence fees. Denied space in the already "hot" Flambau, he mimeographed and personally distributed his own newspaper entitled Youth-Times.

Burnett was dismissed from the University, but after legal appeal, was permitted to graduate and take his exams.

Then there was the Who's Who issue. Although the Flambeau campaigned hitherly for it's abolition on FSU's campus, declared it a farce and worthless, the Editor Board refused his invitation to join, Who's Who reigned supreme. The question was put to student vote and Who's Who won by 136 of a 400 vote total.

The Patton investigation climaxed the school year. Florida's legislature, following the trend set in Washington, decided to investigate communism and other rumors of undesirable conditions in this state.

Convenient Florida State was chosen as a likely point of origin. The geography, philosophy, political science and Preparation Martyr departments bore the brunt of the attack.

The smoke cleared as the legislature adjourned, the Preparation for Marriage course emerged as the only noted casualty. Rumor has it that a modified version of the course will continue.

Welcome Back!

● NO CAR SPACE

Much criticism has been voiced about our parking problems. True, the situation isn't all that could be desired. However, the present crisis will be considerably relieved when the 700 persons attending the PTA convention leave this afternoon.

It must be remembered that our campus is rapidly expanding and much of the space f-.merly available for parking facilities is now being used as dorm sites and other building projects.

Also, during the summer sessions it seems that we always have half the number of students and twice the number of cars as during the regular school term.

The wreck in already been observed on the campus—last Wednesday—as a result of traffic congestion. But an even more destructive accident occurred on Monroe street Wednesday night, with only two cars on the entire block.

The campus policemen have offered their services to any who may be in urgent need of them, and will attempt in every way to find parking spaces for students and faculty.

In the meantime, it has been suggested that car owners park correctly, in the spaces provided and thereby make the most of what we have

NO PATON COMMITTEE IN WISCONSIN

Summer editor's note.
This is the last column at the fall editor in chief before he leaves for work in New York.

By ROBERT GRIFFIN, Ath

School's over for me until next fall. I certainly have a bunch of pity for you poor souls that will suffer in this sweltering heat during summer school. My motto this summer is, "Keep Cool." Working in a cool and delightful summer resort in the upstate New York will help me keep the motto.

BEHIND THE IVY

TEACHERS, BEER AND EDITORS

By BOB TIPPINS

With so vast a number of editors here at the summer school, entering classes with, in some cases, more experience in the journalistic field than instructors, we neglected undergraduates are forced to put in far too many o1s burning midnight.

I feel, as one Alabama student quips you all, that I signed up for a crip like basket-weaving, two Navajos would enroll, raise the curve, and I'd flunk.

"Oh, well, that's life." a sodophomore philosopher informs me.

The Beacham room seems drab during the absence of George Bee's rather stimulating lectures on music. And speaking of absences, I've noted that a number of last summer's faculty and quite a few friends are vacationing elsewhere this term.

John Dawthon finally received his degree before his daughter received hers. Ann Parker presented his Master's degree to his draft board and was promptly awarded a deferment to join the Air Force . . . Bill Marks, a senior last summer, wrote us a very interesting letter from Korea—and I miss you, too, Rosslyn.

Also among the missing is Gene Burnett, an individual whom I still believed in freedom of the press. And in our time.

And . . . speaking of press freedom . . . Open letter to columnist Harry Ellzey: Sorry, Ernest, our readers are adults. They already know about the birds, flowers and bees. Rather, "Here to the standards, and let the chips fall where they may." Alumni, you know, are always worried about not receiving their diplomas.

A special session of the legislature for the purpose of raising teachers' salaries would provide an excellent opportunity for political science students to illustrate a pressure group in action. Go to it, Gradiola! . . . We Undergraduates will appreciate your efforts.

Noticeable among the undergraduates of FSU, however, is the complete indifference to the fact that the Student Body is the Alsetor . . . that the students could, if ornanized, control the University's policies in a democratic majority-ruled democratic fashion . . . Without the students, there would be no university.

KING'S KNIGHTS

ANOTHER CIRCUS MAYBE? ? ?

By EMORY KING

Well, it's sure been hot in Tallahassee this week, and it looks like it might get a lot hotter in more ways than the weatherman thinks.

The law and order in the state is for an extra session of the bi-annual Tallahassee circus. Those of us who were present during the previous semester remember the big top which introduced their novelties for the public for two months. Probably the most interesting feature of the session was the attempted impeachment of the ring master by the animals. Sort of a 'bite the hand that tates you' affair.

This extra session would presumably be for the raising of teachers' salaries throughout the state. However, if the 'boys back home' do not get their heads straight this year there's no telling what may happen

Thousands of teachers and laymen throughout the state are writing letters, converse and in various legislators in an attempt to start the 'animal parade' to the state capitol immediately. It is rumored that among the celebrated letters writers are the Tallahassee street cars and buses—outside of the teachers themselves.

But seriously, there is a potentially powerful force here on the campus in the form of approximately if all the public school teachers, who are taking summer courses, were to band together and "march on the governor's office." For once they brought together a really overnight. Unlike the undergraduates, who continue to lose their diplomas if they make their opinions on college affairs known in such a manner, the adult teachers could create much pressure in high places.

There's one joker in the situation, however. Sixteen counties have already approved the raises for their teachers. This seriously damages any hope for those teachers in the event of an extra session. They have their values and that is all. It is to be feared that they will not fight for the cause any longer.

There's still 31 counties to be heard from nevertheless, and they can make a lot of noise if they work together.

Columbus University spent a great deal of money a few years ago in a "keep off the grass" campaign. Although they put up signs at the entrance of the student body, the students continued to walk on the grass. Dwight D. Eisenhower, then president, solved the problem nicely. "Watch where the students are walking," he told the groundskeeper, "and build the walks there."

NOTE TO THE BUSINESS MANAGER: About three weeks ago a water pipe broke out at a West Campus bus stop. The water has been flowing ever since. That's the third broken pipe on the west side that I know of on the campus. Why is the University has to pay for that water or not, but it's getting rather deep at the bus stop.

WHAT A WELCOMING PARTY FRIDAY!

JANET PIERCE

Well, we're back for the summer now and what a welcoming party we had last Friday. The school officials have taken much pains to prepare this complex campus (and I use the term complex) program. I've seen many different systems but never before have I been so confused, befuddled, and so disgusted.

If you don't mind my generalities yet—I'm talking about registration. You know what registration is, don't you? Walking slowly through the many rooms of the Women's Gymnasium, standing in a minute for all your courses, and then tripping lightly out the back door only to repeat the process at stations.

As an example of one poor student, I wandered over to the gym about 11:20 and though to myself. Well, I'm in the right place at last. It might not be so bad this time. I'll get the card after a small line and my classes with no wait at all. I though to myself: Amazing! easy!!

Of course, I hadn' tried to get out, yet. Upon asking which was the exit door, a dejected looking student told me to begin standing in the line which extended through three rooms.

Passing along this trail, I noticed the Junior English table with one or two teachers and about fifty to sixty students begging to be assigned to that department obviously knew who their students were and should have estimated how many would attempt summer school.

Infinite gadjoutsbay m m b

Further on through the line you stop at a desk to have your schedule check.d. This was a necessary stop to se if any classes were overlapped. Surprisingly enough the checkers efficient and one could move on fast. It seems the necessary stops are always the most efficient.

Moving on, I fell into a line of about a hundred women . . . I didn't know what I was doing there until a half hour later when I got a carbon copy of my course assignment card—I don't know what for but they handed and I took.

From there, I had to get my my assessmeute. I fell into one of eight lines and wondered who it didn't move. Later it was discovered that the eight converged into two lines and traffic got so bad that those standing near us, actually pushed the table into the assessors lap. In addition the legs of

Many of the summer school students don't have to worry. They've married and some have children, but the poor summer school frosh . . .

The University of Wisconsin, in a new deal for professors, should make a provision for romance "free from snooping campus policemen."

Prof Howard Gill of the Wis sociology department urged private country couplings recently at a conference of student and faculty counsellors.

Privacy would be extended, he said, only to couples on the basis of "their sense of responsibility, maturity of love and their discrimination." He suggested areas be set up on the campus, plus private visiting rooms in dormitories, to give romantic couples opportunities for privacy.

"Courtship is characteristic of collegians and we must provide for it," he added.

"What's wrong, don't you all have a Pallen Committee, Wisconsin.

Poetically Yours . .

By LEWIS AIKEN, JR

To all students, young and otherwise, I should like to introduce this poetry corner. I am in the habit of accepting all contributions, poems, that is, which are addressed to Lewis Aiken, c/o Florida Flambeau, FSU. Everyone is urged to try out and have his poems published.

This week, by way of christening, I present a little bit on love for approval.

POST FUGIEMAT

Desolation creeps upon this sandless spot.
I cannot grasp the riches love has offered to the patient heart.

For my whole being bleeds with sense of her,
While sickness seeps into my pit of paradise—
Gone mad with passing translucence.

Too soon she flees this presence
Come into her mind,
And this anitre existence on a broken scale.
Where weight of me is measured in this fault of love—goes.

I feel as if it were dying day,
With yet a longing for the vanished morn.
Goes hope—goes life—goes soul
Into the nether regions set apart for fools as I.
My peace drifts into the fast sloping sun.
Compiaint. . . .

Eleven Buildings Under Construction

Construction on most of the eleven buildings at Florida State University is proceeding on schedule and will be finished date, according to Dr. Doak S. Campbell.

The biggest of the eleven is the huge new Student Union, which will occupy the site formerly used by FSU Circus. It will include a theatre, post office, bookstore, snack bar and restaurant, and recreation area, and is scheduled for completion on October 1, 1951. Later, a swimming pool will be added.

A LACK OF STEEL is the factor holding up construction on the eleven story men's dormitory. It should be completed by October, 1952.

Groups A and B of the small dormitories for men are going on schedule and will be finished by October 1, 1951. Each should be completed by December 31, 1951.

TO BE COMPLETED by October 1, 1951 is an additional wing to the Administration Building.

Remodeling on the top floor of the Demonstration School is progressing rapidly. It includes the installation of fireproof stairways in the school, reconditioning of the top floor, and centering of the west end of the basement.

Antics and Frantics

By CURTIS CAMPBELL

The era of clean sheets, electric fans, human-beings and some professors.

Gone are most of the duty-bound collegiates who attend school for the family and reasons of prestige and glory. Wonder how they will waste their time this summer? Many new—old—faces on the campus these days.

For FSU this summer I predict: tanned bodies of all sizes and shapes, crowded arcades, libraries and lakes, hot and cold weather intermittently, and a flock of chronic complainers at the cafeteria.

Jitterbugs and aesthetic dimers will miss the music of George Bee and troupe at the Suwanee Room.

There are one hundred young lady of the campus go into hysterics upon seeing her grades of last semester.

Tripping the light and heavy alike at the O club Saturday night were Don Kendrick and Earl O'Neal, potential and active Cavaliers respectively.

Boarding houses and penthouse apartments are the rule for many "livers" this summer, despite unchristian-like prices. Most would prefer a pup tent to the domains of West Campus anyway.

Welcome mat is out to: new students, high school teachers, All American football players, basketball players over six-six, and to some beautiful females.

Congratulations to the graduates of '51 who graduated "Cum Laude"—respects, regards and bye bye to those who finished, Laudo, How Cum?

Summer Recreation Features Fish Frolic, Folk Dancing, Fun

So you'd like to land the prize for catching the season? "Baited Ones" are in order this summer as the recreation program announced for there will be everything from deep sea fishing to informal fish-fries.

To begin with are Tuesday skating parties at the Roller Rink for the. And by Saturday, energy diverted for a square dance at the Student Union. For those who can brave that pale green thing there are Saturday fishing trips with a blue marlin sure to be hooked. Contact Mr Williamson for more information about these trips. Book reading and forums on Wednesday or Thursday provide a more mental activity and a chance to air your people. A must on the list of the uninformed in Tally Ho option is the bus tour of our social city arranged by the recreation committee.

WITH A GROUP of students forms an advisory committee, the recreation program is set to function as a service of the Student Welfare Council to summer school students. Miss Christine Miller will direct the activities which are planned by a special group from small fry to Mom's bridge committee.

Camp Flastacowo will be in full swing with boating, swimming or what-not on Lake Ella. There are tennis courts for the experts, shuffle board for the amateurs, and no bowling alleys in the gym to be open, too. The square dance features Florida reels, but those who prefer their reels within liners may do stories on Friday nights in the amphitheatre. Before the movies start, there will be community sings and Sunday evening a hymn sing will provide worship in the amphitheatre.

The recreation handbook of the summer program provides students with a schedule of events and a guide to a full summer of recreation.

Madhouse Results as Students Fight Through Registration Line

LAST FRIDAY dawned bright and clear over the FSU Women's Gym. There were few people there. But by 10 o'clock the place was filled with a cacaumus mass of loud, eager registrants. For this was summer registration day.

Many old students, who had never attended summer school, and even some of those who had, were running around. It seemed as if everybody wanted to enter FSU.

HYPOTHESES and conjectures as to the cause of the bedlam were presented by sundry persons. Some said the students were getting blurrier; others thought that the teachers had guilt. There was a mad, last minute rush to escape the draft, or the sym had contracted.

One explaining line had three bends and several curves. At many tables, procedure students with the same initials, or giles, something which has never before been done at this university. One registrant threatened to gather the Kansas Jayhawk line to help her get it out into the hall, and dispose of it.

Registrar Walker offers these points as explanation.

This is the first summer in which IBM cards have been used. These forms were instituted on this campus only last fall.

Reason number two concerns those who came without preparation. Naturally a lot of confusion resulted when people did not know what courses they wanted to get.

The error made in sending the wrong X-ray units from Jacksonville caused delay. These were also supposed to be outside. The examiner finally gave up and no more pictures were taken after noon.

THE RE-ARRANGEMENT of the gym into schools, together with the failure to alphabetize the departments added its share to the confusion.

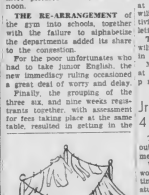
For the poor unfortunates who had to take junior English, the new immediacy rules brought a great deal of worry and delay.

Finally, the grouping of the three six and nine weeks representants together, with assessment for fees taking place at the same table, resulted in getting in the wrong line and standing there for an hour.

When it was all over, bot, weary students could be seen tramping to the university bookstore, there to wait in another long line.

Episcopal Group Plans Activities

Brad MacGowan, president of the Canterbury club, announced today that Rose Hall, Episcopal student headquarters at Florida State University, would be open for student activities during the 1951 summer school.



"THE CENTER IS FORTUNATE," he said, to have a permanent Chaplain now in residence at Rose Hall." The Rev Walter K Morley assumed his new duties on June 1and will make his first regular contacts with students and faculty during the summer session.

Chaplain Morley has in recent years been associated with the Christ Church in Waukegan, Illinois. During the war he served as a chaplain with the United States Naval Reserve. A member of the American association of Social Workers before entering the navy he served as executive secretary of the Social Service department of the Diocese of Chicago.

Mrs Morley has also been active in social work and he served as executive secretary of the Community Family Service Agency of the Wisconsin Council, Chicago area.

THE SUNDAY MORNING sermon at Rose Hall Chapel will be held at 9 a m each Sunday and the students will conduct evening prayer daily in the Chapel at 5:30 p m. The student Vestry will continue to meet and the activity will be posted on the bulletin board.

Mid-week services will be held at 7 p m Wednesday and 6:30 p m on Thursdays.

Jr Class Sponsors 4 Worthy Projects

The Junior class has made an outstanding record of accomplishments throughout the year.

With diligence, persistence and work-a-day energy, this class continually served the school and students in many ways.

Ably and progressively led by Will Pennell, next year's UGA president, the class of '52 started off early in the school year to plan the projects which they would sponsor throughout the terms.

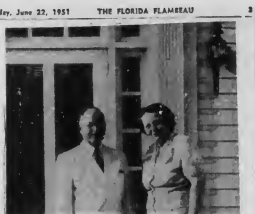
THE FIRST and most needed project was setting the foundation for a student book exchange. Shirley Gregory, exchange chairman, had previously investigated the possibilities of such a service and found out the New York University had saved between $10 to $15 on texts by using the used book exchange.

Establishing residence in the recreation room of the Alumni building, the exchange started operation beginning second semester. By April the chairman reported that they had handled over 2,000 books and sold over 1,000. Thus a student run exchange had been established.

A second project of the class with which every student on campus was familiar called for an all out scholarship program. In co-operation with the school, some four worn paths were paved and others closed at each end by unique signs. Signs had tricky remarks on them such as "Forget your Irish—Stop wearing the green," and "I Used to Be a Lawn"

TO PROVE their success today there are many newly paved sidewalks and old foot paths are budding grass.

Still the junior class did not feel that they had done enough. They took on two more projects. The first was paving to have a bulletin board built for all religious organizations. Today, this board is on the wall opposite the post office boxes of the women students. The board is constructed so that each organization has equally as much space as the other one. Each unit is surrounded by a wooden border with the name of the denomination at the top.



THE LAST OUTSTANDING project began functioning May 11 when the first free Friday nite movie was shown. The Class of '52 is sponsoring for the entertainment of all students free movies every Friday night. The first movie was "Pennies from Heaven," followed by "The Noose Hangs High" and "Pot O'Gold." The last two showings—one at 7 and one at 9.

Campbells Entertain At Informal Reception

President and Mrs Doak S Campbell will entertain at their home on Thursday evening, June 28, at 7:30 p.m. with an informal reception for all FSU faculty, students, and staff. The party, an annual summer event, is the only one which will be campuswide.

ASSISTING President and Mrs Campbell at the event will be Mrs Howard Culpepper and Mrs Charles Davis, wives of the deans of student welfare and arts and sciences, respectively.

MISS LOUISE Richardson, FSU librarian, and Miss Margaret Baldeis, dean of the school of home economics, will preside at the punch table with Miss Edith McCollum, director of housing for women, and the Misses Ruth Fyche and Marie Miller, head counselors on the staff of the Dean of Women.

Miss Elizabeth Lynn, assistant dean of women; Mrs Myra Bailey, residence counselor, and Miss Genevieve deArmond, head counselor for social affairs on the staff of the Dean of Women will assist in the dining room.

MISS KATHERINE WARREN, dean of women, and Dean of Men Dallis B Brovard Culpepper will receive at the door during the first hour. Dean and Mrs McBride will receive guests in the second period.

Students in every school of the university will have an opportunity to meet major professors in every department of the university. These key people will be present to meet guests at the Campbell home.

Fullbright Act Provides Graduate Research Abroad

OPPORTUNITIES for more than 700 Americans to undertake graduate study of research abroad next year is being provided by the United States government under the Fullbright act, according to Kenneth Holland, president of the Institute of International Education.

Competitions are now open for awards for study abroad under the program during the 1952-53 academic year in Australia, Austria, Belgium, Burma, Egypt, France, Greece, India, Iran, Italy, the Netherlands, New Zealand, Norway, Pakistan, the Philippines, Thailand, Turkey, and the United Kingdoms. The awards will enable young people in all fields of graduate study or research, as well as those qualified in certain professional or academic fields including fine arts, drama and music, to study in foreign institutions and universities.

THE GRANTS are made under the Public Law 584, 79th Congress. The Fullbright Act, which authorizes the Department of State to use certain foreign currencies and credits derived through the sale of surplus property many of the projects upon their shoulders to direct were the class officers. In addition to the president, Dean Roberts served as vice president. Pat Dean was secretary, with Patty Mims treasurer and Ann Dillard, parliamentarian. Peggy Spangler efficiently guided the planning and undertaking of the Junior-Senior prom in her role as social chairman. Evelyn Roberson was appointed as publicity director.

Dick Bradley Will Attend Student Meet

Dick Bradley, now vice president in charge of legislative affairs and next year's senior class president, will attend the 4th annual FSU at the fourth annual National Student Congress in August.

THE CONGRESS which is the legislative body of the United States National Student Association will be held at the University of Minnesota.

As yet, FSU isn't an official member of the association. Bradley will attend the Congress to bring back a report of the advantages and disadvantages of joining the group next fall.

Originally, twenty-five students from different colleges throughout the nation formed the association.

They became aware of their position in the educational community, as a result of World War II, and decided to unofficially represent the United States at the World Student Congress, held in Prague in 1946. Delegates were then sent by 10 American organizations in student affairs and 15 student governments.

AT THE World Congress they realized that many of the foreign nations were more able to take advantage of the new awareness because they are already organized into national unions or national associations. There is also no such group, following the disintegration of the National Student Federation of America, of late twenties.

As a result, the 25 students called the Chicago Conference in December, 1946, to bring together the nucleus of a national association could be established.

Each August since that date, the National Student Association convenes the annual National Student Congress.

The Congress is the highest body within the association. Its delegates, democratically chosen on member campuses, elect the national officers of NSA, decide the policies of NSA, and guide the work of the association.

THE BASIC unit of the National Student Association is the individual member student body. There is no individual membership in NSA, except insofar as all students in a member student body may be so considered. The student body itself is the unit of the real member.

There is another way, too, in which the individual student body is basic to NSA. It, through indifference or failure of communication, NSA on a campus is ineffective, then the students on that campus are not entitled to be adequately represented by or to be benefitted by NSA, no matter what efforts are made elsewhere in the organization.

A student body becomes affiliated with NSA by ratifying the basic principles and basic structure of the organization. Specifically, a student body seeking membership must ratify the Constitution and Articles of USNAS, must accept the By-Laws as an implementation of the constitution and organization of NSA, and must recognize the Basic Policy Declarations.

Library Will Close For National Holiday

The FSU library will be closed all day, Wednesday, July 4, in recognition of the annual national holiday, Miss Louise Richardson, librarian, announced today.

The FSU librarian urged that all students and others requiring books or other materials from the library to take note that the library will be closed July 4 and make their arrangements accordingly.

ery abroad for programs of educational exchange with other nations. Grants to students are made for one academic year and generally include round-trip transportation, tuition, a living allowance and a small amount for books. All grants under the act are made in foreign currencies.

Interested students in school should secure further information and applications from the campus Fullbright Program Adviser before October, 1951.

Child Development Program Here Is Only One in South

Children from birth through adolescence are the source of information for the Child Development Program in operation at Florida State University. Through this program, parents, teachers and students are learning more about child behavior than they ever have known before, by studying the children themselves.

The Child Development Program was started at the University in 1945 and is the only one of its kind in the South. The program was set up because of the need for trained workers and more research in the child development field.

Dr R L Witherspoon, associate professor of psychology, director of the program, explains, "The program emphasizes the importance of understanding child behavior and its relation to later personality structure. The long-range idea is that such research will show us ways of improving our society."

THE CHILD study classes always have an abundant supply of children for observation in the development program. Dr Witherspoon reports. Members of the faculty as well as many local townspeople are always anxious to co-operate with the study groups.

In addition students receive practical experience through the study of children from the University Nursery School, the Demonstration Kindergarten and School, and the Child Development Center.

Children who are enrolled in the Nursery School and Kindergarten range in age from two-and-a-half to six years. At first students observe the children and discuss their observations with one of the five regular instructors later they work with the children and prepare written reports on their behavior.

After a child has been in the nursery school or kindergarten for six weeks, the instructor prepares an "initial picture" of his behavior. This is the first of many written reports. The teacher also meets with the child's parents several times during the year to give and take conferences. Information is exchanged so that all concerned may understand the child better.

THE "INITIAL PICTURE" and reports by teachers and students are filed away for future reference. They are the beginnings of research.

Further studies of child behavior are made through the Child Counseling Center, which offers free counseling service to parents and couples interested in adopting children, public schools and child welfare agencies in the state. The center is open from 3 to 4 p m daily, and from 8 a m to 12 noon Saturday. Children are tested by appointment only.

Teachers or students conduct the tests in a one-room laboratory where the tests are observed from an adjoining room through a one-way vision glass. An amplifying system carries what is being said from the laboratory into the other room. The children are not aware that they are being watched, and once adjusted to the room, usually behave as freely as if they were at home.

INTERPRETATIONS of the tests are discussed with the parents, then kept as a part of the research. More than 200 children have been tested since this phase of the program was started in 1948.

The most recent extension of the program is the addition of Dorothy Cross as a laboratory, which works in much the same way as the program at the university. Teachers connected with the program in the county's 17 schools meet once a month, with members of the Child Development faculty from the University as consultants.

Four FSU schools administer the program. They are the schools of Home Economics, Education and Social Welfare, and the College of Arts and Sciences. Co-operative departments in the School of Home Economics are food and nutrition and home and family life. In the College of Arts and Sciences, the psychology and other departments contribute to the program.

Art Gallery Show Features Work Of Honor Students

Student exhibits were put on display in the Florida State University Art Gallery, for the first time, this spring.

SAYS PROFESSOR Edmund Lesandowski, director of the FSU gallery, "The exhibition gives a new level of importance to the works of art students."

More than 30 examples of undergraduate work were put on display. The works on display include paintings, drawing, graphics, figure drawings, interior design, sculpture, commercial and advertising art, introductory design, and water colors.

In explaining that the show includes examples by freshmen as well as seniors, Mrs B B Williams department head, said "The purpose of the exhibition is to show ALL facets of student production."

GALLERY HOURS are 12:30 p m Monday through Friday and from 7 p m to 9 p m Thursday, and from 2 p m to 5 p m Sunday.

An added attraction to make the art-lover pleasant is soft background music played throughout visiting hours.

Students whose works are in the Student Honors Art Show are Guy D Johnson, jr, Bradenton; Jean Bennett, West Palm Beach; Diane Van Dusen, Winter Haven; Murray Allen, Tampa; James Kirby, Tallahassee; Clyde Moore, Maitland; Allen Schmele, Tallahassee; Sally Suber, Homestead; Margaret Rias, St Petersburg; Barbara Robbins, Lake Como; Carolyn Henry, St Petersburg; Eleanor Virginia Gillette; St Petersburg; Barbara Rogers, Miami; Katinka Hillis, Bradenton; Susie Gibson, West Palm Beach; and Frank Reber, Bradenton.

Van Syoc Reviews Three New Books

Miss Edna Van Syoc gave a presentation of three current books concerned with the life, the people and the importance of Tibet in our modern world strategy, in Broward Hall parlor Wednesday afternoon.

MISS SHIRLEY GREGORY, student chairman for the Summer Recreation Committee introduced the speaker and other guests.

The review was a joint project of the FSU Library and the American Association of University Women. Miss Louise Richardson of the Library and Miss Barbara Drainer of the AAU were introduced to the summer school students. Miss Katherine Warren, Dean of Women, past state president of AAUW, was also introduced.

Miss Richardson will speak next Wednesday at 4 p m on "Florida Through the Eyes of a Naturalist."

Mrs F R Allen is chairman for the hostesses each week. Miss Dainey Adams, Mrs B B Angell, Mrs Margaret Blair, Mrs Vera Burdick and Dr Anne Carol Fults assisted her last Wednesday.

All members of the student body, the university and their guests are cordially invited. Punch is served before and after the discussions.

Florida Rhythm Boys Featured in Program

Square dancing to the music of the Florida Rhythm Boys will be the program of the Summer Recreation Committee for Friday night at 8:30 p m at the West Campus Student Union. New students will want to know they may get the use the Union at the corner of Bryan or at the Landis gates. The bus returns at 11:30 to East Campus following the dance.

Jean Riesel and Del Peters are making the plans for this Friday night's party. Mr and Mrs John Stead of Tallahassee will lead and call for the dancing.

More than 400 persons attended the Open House last Friday night and many out of state students expressed their enthusiasm for the outdoor terrace for dancing and of the homeiness of the club rooms in the Student Union.

Mrs Grace Bateman of the Student Union and Miss Christine P'Simer, summer recreation director, will act as chaperones.

FSU's New Journalism School To Offer Professional Courses

By FRANCES CAWTHON

A NEW PROFESSIONAL school was born in the winter semester of 1950 when the School of Journalism became free from the College of Arts and Sciences. Before, the university had offered journalism courses more for interest and academic sake rather than for actual, professional practice.

Today the school, headed by Dr Laurence S Campbell, newspaperman and co-author of several textbooks in the journalistic field, has an enrollment of approximately 95 students. Eight sequences, or groups of specialized studies, are offered, and others will be added later. Those now offered are Newspaper Editorial, Community Newspaper, Radio News, Teaching, Advertising-Management, Specialized Writing, Magazine and Public Relations. The school plans to add a library sequence, under which the student may major in either library science or journalism, carrying a minor in the other. The school is also studying the possibilities of providing training for those with a home economics background.

The student with a major in journalism chooses one of these sequences of 12 hours beyond core requirements of 14 hours, a total of 26 hours thus leaving much time for electives.

Some of the courses have been combined or concentrated, and new ones, such as Reporting Basic Affairs and Reviewing for Press and Radio, have been added. "We have tried to give attention," said Dean Campbell, "to a professional program, so balanced that the student can get thorough technical training and at the same time study the social role of the press."

The school, as yet, is not accredited, but hopes within the next few years to receive recognition. We are trying to develop a school to compare favorably with leading schools of journalism," Dean Campbell stated. "We are not interested in training large numbers, we are interested in quality. The aim of the school is to create accurate, unbiased and responsible newsmen of the future."

The school has two laboratories, a typography lab located in the journalism school building and a photographic lab under the Seminole dining hall. The labs, under the direction of Mr Zell Mayberle, have received much new equipment this year and will receive more in the future. The photographic lab, among other things, also contains an enlarger, and the typography lab has recently obtained a small printing press.

THE SCHOOL has published many booklets, directories and bulletins in the past year. Among these are a directory of Florida newspapermen, a Florida school press directory, and bulletins issued periodically to Florida newspaper editors and school publications staffs. The school has also conducted a penny post card poll to find opinion on contemporary affairs. In February the first southern newspapermen's short course was held at FSU, and the school has established a school press bureau to work with student publications. This summer a seminar will be held on school yearbooks and college journalism.

The faculty of the school is made up of men of broad experience in the world of journalism. Dr Richard B Eide, professor was asked by the U S State Department to go to Norway as a public affairs officer. He is now in Bevern and will be there during next year. Robert Stapp of the Denver Post is replacing him in the advertising department of the school. Phillip Ward Burton of Syracuse University and one of the most outstanding men in his field, was visiting professor this year. All advertising courses will, in the future, be listed jointly with the School of Business.

Civil Service Exam Given For Engineers

The United States Civil Service Commission Board of U S Civil Service Examiners, Eglin Air Force Base Florida, is announcing open competitive examination for indefinite appointment to the position of engineer with the following options: Aeronautical, Mechanical, Procurement, Ordnance, and Electronics.

Further information and applications can be obtained at the Office of Director of Vocational Guidance and Placement, 203 Westcott.

Graduate School Gives Master Degre To Record Number

MORE MASTER'S degrees were awarded to graduate students in 1951 than during the entire first 40 years the school has been in operation, according to Dr Millon Carothers, dean of the graduate school.

Several of the reasons for this given by Dean Carothers were: the change-over from Florida State College for Women to co-educational Florida State University, which brought many men students to the school, the GI Bill of Rights which enables more men to participate in college than would be the case if the government provided no finance to veterans, and state scholarships add still more students to the list.

"TEACHERS DESIRE to qualify themselves for better paying positions in their profession and get supervisory teaching positions with additional study," stated Dean Carothers, by way of further explanation for the sudden leap in degrees.

Masters degrees are now awarded in 9 of the 10 academic divisions and the FSU School of Nursing plans to offer a masters program when the need for such a program is established.

FSU also now offers doctoral programs in many fields, including education, music, botany, chemistry, English, home economics, physiology, zoology, Spanish and speech.

Cooper Is Composer Of 3 New Songs

Irvin Cooper, professor of music education at FSU, is the composer of a new series of songs currently being published by the Carl Fischer Music Publishing company. Four numbers have already been issued, and additional ones are scheduled for release in the near future.

THE SONGS, known as "Melody part-songs", are designed for use by choruses of high school and junior high level. The idea of the songs, according to Dr Cooper, is to provide interesting singing material for all voices.

"Too often the inner voices of a chorus merely fill a supporting role for the more fortunate soprano," Dr Cooper said. "In these songs, every part has an independent tune of its own to sing."

The four songs released by the publisher are Petals, I Have Done, Serenade for Spring, and Lullaby

BOYS STATE IN SESSION—Here is the seventh annual Florida Boys State, in session this week at Florida State University. Sponsored by the American Legion, they are pictured in one of their 'state legislative' meetings in the Capitol House Chamber. Eddie Gerig, a past governor of Boys State, is shown speaking to the assembled "citizens" from all sections of Florida. The 330 Boys attending, sponsored by the Legion, is the largest delegation in the history of the Florida Boys State.

Seventh Annual Boys State Will Close Here Tomorrow

American Legion Sponsors Annual Event Which Encourages Youthful Interest in Government

The seventh annual program of Florida Boys State, the non-profit organization sponsored by the American Legion which encourages youthful interest in the state government, will end tomorrow, June 30.

The 313 boys, chosen for their scholastic, leadership and citizenship ability, are from fifteen towns in Florida. They have their own band, glee club, and newspaper.

THE LEGISLATIVE sessions were in session Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday. The boys, who elect their own senate and house of representatives, have twice voted down the motion to lower the voting age to 18. They are interested in the problem of school teachers' pay, and also in the agricultural and industrial development of Florida.

MARK WHEELER, director of Florida Boys State, has donated much time and energy to the fulfillment of the purpose of the organization. Commander Falcone, Lt H E Kelth, Henry Hart, Dean Doyle, and many others have given their time for the boys.

This week, besides a full schedule of work, was a full schedule of fun. Stunt night, one of the highlights of Boys State, was held Wednesday evening. The boys also enjoyed a free visit to Wakulla Springs.

This morning at 8:30 there will be a parade in Tallahassee, starting at the Florida hotel and ending at the capital, and this evening the inaugural ball will be held.

DR DOAK S CAMPBELL said, "You have the greatest opportunity ever offered our youth to succeed, and more people than ever are interested in helping you to succeed."

The boys are divided equally into two political parties, the "Nationalists" and "Federalists," and have consistently ignored strict party lines to select the best qualified candidates for office.

The boys are being taught legislative procedure by Dr Wilson K Doyle, FSU dean of the School of Public Administration.

THEY ADOPTED their party platforms and introduced legislative bills of state-wide interest including 16 more pay for school teachers, stricter laws dealing with narcotics violations, illegal gambling and vice, laws to prevent pollution of the state's rivers and streams, more appropriations for public schools, strict laws covering political campaign expenses and wood utilization and economy in operation of the state government.

Director Wheeler summed up the Legion's position by saying, "We believe this training program will help in the future development of statesmanship and leadership of Florida in the years to come."

Reporter's Meeting

There will be a compulsory reporters' meeting at 5:00 Monday afternoon, July 2. The meeting will be held on the 4th floor of the Student Alumni building. All reporters are asked to attend

High School Students Meet For Girls State

Over 200 girls will arrive today to register for the annual convention of Girls State to be held here. The girls will begin registering at 2 p m and remain here until the confab closes Thursday night.

It was previously arranged that Girls State would convene the final day of Boys State. The reason for this pre-scheduling was to have the girls here in order that they might attend the inaugural reception and Governor's ball in honor of the newly elected Boy State Governor.

THE GIRLS STATE program headed by Mrs Maxwell Wells is sponsored by the American Legion Auxiliary. It is an annual affair in which high school students from the entire state meet in the capital city for instruction in city, county and state government procedures and functions.

A full program of activities has been planned for the girls during their stay at FSU. Saturday morning they will be officially welcomed to the university by Dr Doak S Campbell.

Mayor Bill Cates of Tallahassee, Dee Carroll, state legion department commander; Mrs M J Crandall, Legion Auxiliary president; and Mrs A J Ryan, Girls State committee chairman will join in the welcoming program.

INSTRUCTION in city and county government with city and county officials taking part will be in the Saturday afternoon session. This will be followed by nominations and the election of Girls State "city officials."

Saturday night the girls will separate equally into two major political parties whereupon they will elect their convention chairman. From here, they will get down to the business of drafting their party platforms.

Sunday the girls will attend informal reception given in the home of Dr and Mrs Doak Campbell. The reception will be held at 4 p m and Girls State Legion officers and counselors are invited.

IN AN ASSEMBLY meeting Sunday night, the girls will receive instruction for nominating and electing their state executive officers and justices of the State Supreme Court.

Monday the girls will nominate their higher officers and hold their primary. They will assemble in House Chamber to hear greetings from the Governor of Florida and the mayor.

The following days will be filled with political nominations, rallies and elections. Late afternoon the Governor and her cabinet will be inaugurated, the Justices of the Supreme Court sworn in.

The rest of the convention will consist of Senate meetings and committee reports of various bills, which will visit different governmental agencies and speak to many persons day officials.

Girls State will close after stunt night next Thursday.

Louis Rievere, Legion Poet Annually Visits Boys State

By LEWIS AIKEN

A Florida plowboy, poet, sprung from an Alachua county farm, has come to FSU. He is Mr Louis Rivere, official poet laureate of the American Legion in this state, now attending Boys State at FSU.

MR RIVERE, who has come to Boys State every year for the past six years, has been writing poems for over 30 years. Ten years ago, he was appointed poet laureate of the American Legion for the state of Florida in recognition of his talent and 28 years of service to the Legion.

Many of his 400 poems have been perused in the Florida Times-Union and other papers. They have also been used by the Boy Scouts, Boys State, and the "Voice of America."

THE POET, whose "people set to Marianna over 100 years ago," was born near Gainesville, but has lived in Jacksonville for the past 41 years.

Some of his best-known poems are "My America," "Official Poem to Florida," and "Wanderlust." He has also written one called "Toast to Tallahassee."

ALTHOUGH HE IS a descendant of Paul Revere and has achieved a good success in writing the poem makes no claim to fame from either one. He says, "I'm just an amateur, who works for a living." He is a member of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company since 1915.

His philosophy is based on his belief in the individual to 'make good' with persistence and hard work. He presents some very 'colorful' quotations for living—By belief or service to fellow men, consideration of each man as a soul-seven to which he must take stock, that is, "retrospection" and a divine faith in God.

THE POET SAYS, "you can always tell what sort a person is by observing him in the stress of adversity." He states that prosperity and anger give an indication of the true character of a man.

His love of life is indicative of this basic philosophy—"A wee little bundle of mirth, comes prancing on to play a game upon the stage of teeming earth." These are his own lines.

His patriotism manifests itself in his "Thank God I Live in this America of Mine." Very concerned with the present crisis in Asia, he has written a few poems about the war.

EVERYWHERE HE GOES, he carries his pencil and book, and will, on request, thumb through the pages and read a while or quote from memory some of the poems in his collection.

FSU Library Hours Undergo Changes

Library hours for the summer session at Florida State University have undergone several changes.

Weekdays, the periodical and reserve rooms are open from 7:30 a m to 10 p m, while the circulation desk and reference room hours run from 8:15 a m to 10 p m. Stacks are open from 8:15 a m to 9:30 p m.

THE SATURDAY schedule for periodical and reserve rooms is 8 a m to 5 p m. The circulation desk and reference room are open from 8:15 a m til 5 p m. Stacks open at 8:15 a m and close at 4:45 o m.

From 2 to 5 p m on Sunday, reference, periodical and browsing rooms are open to students.

Undergraduates may check out as many as six books for a period of two weeks. These may not be renewed. Graduate students may borrow up to 15 books, and provided these are not in demand, they may be renewed for another two-week period. A fine of 3c per day is charged for books overdue

RESERVE ROOM books are of two kinds: room use and two-day reserve. On weekdays room use books may be borrowed between 9 and 9:45 at night and returned by 9:30 next morning. They may be borrowed for the weekend between 1:30 and 4:45 p m on Saturday and returned by 9:30 Monday morning.

Two-day reserve books may be borrowed any time during the day and returned by 9:30 a m two days later

Band Concert Set For Next Sunday In Amphitheater

The FSU Summer band will present its first concert next Sunday evening at 8:15 p m, James D Mehen, conductor of the band, has announced. The program will be played in the outdoor theater, and in case of rain, in the Music hall. The program will be open to the public.

This presentation is the first of a series of outdoor concerts to be presented by the band this summer. The program is designed for outdoor, hot-weather listening. Mr Nehen states, and will feature marches and popular favorites for band.

William Cramer, trombone instructor in the School of Music, will be trombone soloist with the band in the "Recitative and Prayer" from the Grand Symphony for Band by Hector Berlioz. Eunene Crabb, assistant conductor of the band, will lead the group in performing Minuet in E Flat by Mozart, and Overture to the Sta-

Summer Housing For Men, Women Now Completed

Housing arrangements and programs for men and women students for the summer session have been completed, it was learned today.

GOVERNMENT activities for undergraduate women will be continued during the summer, according to Miss Katherine Warren, dean of women. A president, two vice presidents and judiciary representatives were elected from each dormitory at a similar meeting of all women students planning summer attendance.

House councils are also functioning this summer. Floor chairmen were elected at house meetings last Monday night.

Dean Warren cited the problem of not having a special dormitory for women who are first-semester freshmen this summer. This difficulty has been solved, however by placing these 25 students in one segregated area under a junior counselor's guidance.

PLANS ARE being made for the new women's dormitory, now under construction, to open in September, 1952. This hall, costing approximately $300,000, will accommodate about 240 women students.

According to Dean of Men Olin McBride, Senior hall on East campus will accommodate 200 and the Dormitory recreation facilities in-

Mark Wheeler Cited As Man of Talents

Mark Wheeler, 38, director of Boys State, is a man of many talents and accomplishments to his credit.

He has consistently shown this during his five years as director of Boys State and his 1951 program on the FSU West campus has been the best attended and the most highly praised thus far.

THE OLD SAYING that "a man is not without honor save in his own community" doesn't hold true for Mark Wheeler. He is widely recognized in his home city of St Petersburg as one of the most indefatigable workers for civic, fraternal, religious, patriotic and community-wide projects in the city.

Boys State, sponsored by the Florida Department, American Legion, calls for 15 to 18 hours of work daily by Director Wheeler.

He takes it all in his stride. He spends weeks in advance on the program with planning committees, travels long distances, excludes his own family and plunges into his work with all the enthusiasm of a young man starting in on the life community, state and country.

MR WHEELER chosen by the St Petersburg Civitan club as the "Civitan Man of the Year" for 1950, admits being a "little tired," but the huge success of the seventh annual Boys State has already started him making plans for next year's program

The many weeks of committee meetings, the careful planning and the constant supervision given the 313 boys of Boys State, the largest group thus far, from the moment they arrived on the FSU campus to leave for home was much in evidence at all times.

The appreciation of the boys was made evident by the tremendous ovation they gave him at a recent meeting called to discuss election procedure.

MUCH CREDIT is given by Director Wheeler to the Department of Florida, American Legion and his associates and counselors.

Theatre Club Plans Musical Production

Les Jonsleurs, Florida State University theatre club, is planning a musical revue to usher in the 1951-52 season of speech department plays, if enough material is submitted.

Anyone from FSU or Tallahassee may submit ideas, skits, or music to the show. Originality, weirdness, and humor are given first consideration in the examination and selection of the material.

Music should be adapted for two pianos. A seminar for writing material for the musical revue will be held Monday night, July 9, 7:00 in room 205 History building.

'Our Town' Tryouts

Anyone desiring to try-out for Our Town, the Speech department play, can report Monday from 7 to 9 at the Church Theater, Dr McCalmon announced.

St Petersburg Student Body Prexy Elected 1951 Boys State Governor

Jack Sprott from St Petersburg was elected Governor at the seventh annual Boys State last night Jack was a member of the Nationalist party.

The two make-believe politics parties of Boys State are the "Nationalist" party and the "Federalist" party. The Federalists chose as their candidate for governor, Bill Yelvington, 18, a high school senior from Winter Haven, now president of the Florida Association of Student Counselors. Bill is also president of the Winter Haven School Counselors and a first lieutenant of the Winter Haven Civil Air Patrol squad.

THE NATIONALIST'S candidate for governor was Jack Sprott, 17, of St Petersburg, sponsored by the St Petersburg Lions Club and president of the student body of the St Petersburg high school.

The Federalist Party placed its self on record as denouncing any political party in this country that seeks to undermine American Democracy, and urged that proper steps be taken by authorities to eliminate any such party in this country.

They also urge hither pay for Florida school teachers from rural track revenues, the lowering of the voting age from 21 to 18, greater flood dike control of the Kissimmee River, and additional appropriations given the Voice of America for broadcasts to foreign countries.

THE NATIONALIST party, however, voted in favor of continuing the voting age at 21 rather than lower it to 18. They also went on record as being opposed to illegal gambling in Florida, and urged stricter laws for the suppression of the narcotics traffic and vice.

The Nationalists also urged economy in operation of the state government, increase in the employees of Florida Highway Patrol, and additional appropriations for the maintenance of the state parks, wild life and game protections, and establishment of medical and dental colleges in the state.

THE FEDERALISTS approved the adoption of the song "Dixie" as the Florida Boys State anthem. They also demanded that the choosing of political candidates for state, county, and municipal offices should be on the basis of merit and leadership rather than "vote swapping."

The inaugural ball will be held Friday night, at the Student Union Building of West campus. The dance band will be made up entirely of Boys State.

Boys State will end Saturday, June 30.

BOYS STATE GOVERNOR—Jack Sprott, 17, (left) is shown shaking hands with Bill Yelvington, 18, (right) just before the election for Boy's State Governor last night in which the two boys were candidates. Bob Canada, FSU student and 1950 governor, is in the center wishing both candidates luck. (Photos by Thornton).

Future Leaders Exhibit Efficient State Governing

Florida's Legislators will do well to observe the example being set by the Boys Staters.

The Staters are expected to complete the unfinished legislation raising teachers' salaries.

And they have their heads screwed on right.

Continuous observers will recall that in the past two years the boys twice voted down a bill to lower the voting age to eighteen.

With 18 year olds as conscientious as these boys, it might be a good idea.

dead—there

For unsatisfiahness — not yet completely dead — there is no better example than the numerous organizations contributing to Boys State. Of these, the American Legion leads the parade.

Each year, these groups spend countless, financially unremunerative hours selecting the Boys Staters, planning a well-coordinated educational program, counseling and supervising the boys' activities.

Mark M Wheeler, Director of Boys State, offers an excellent example of complete devotion to task. During last summer's Boys State convention, Mark remained "on the job" in Tallahassee—while his son was born in St Pete.

The Staters are assisted not only by the American Legion and other organizations, but by FSU, the highway patrol, and all the State officers and personnel.

During their one-week stay here, they go through a rigorous, exacting program . . . duplicating every phase of our government structure.

The boys elect city, county and state officials. And those elected actually perform the duties of their offices—in mock courts.

Assistance and experienced guidance are given the prototypes by the officials whose titles the boys are respective offices are posed; and the boys are tasked with solving them.

This year, 313 representatives from 15 Florida counties will learn through experience how their government functions . . . and will go home to tell others what they have learned.

The entire program might be summarized with an excerpt from a letter Jeff Tuten wrote during the summer . . . "Before I arrived I had thought of Boys State as a place where we went to classes and learned about our state government. I was mistaken. We don't learn about the government. we are the government."

● IS HONOR OBSCURE?

Several students have brought to our attention during the past week that there has been several breechs of the FSU honor code thus far.

The very regretable factor in the reports is that the persons accused of "not playing quite fair" have been the in-service teachers who are taking summer courses here.

To those who have not been on the campus before our honor system may be a bit obscure. During the years that this school has been educational we have strived to create and maintain an effective honor system. The going was tough in many instances because many students came to FSU with the attitude of cheating well established.

In order to overcome certain difficulties the University Government Association set up a Student Honor Court. That court had the painful joh of punishing those who offended the honor code.

However, the court is suspended during the summer months on the assumption that those students attending desire to get a real education—not a sugar coated report card.

The Honor Code of Florida State University provides that there shall be no cheating, lying, or stealing by the students of this university. It also provides that anyone who makes another student doing any of these shall advise the student to turn himself into the proper authorities. If, after that, the student does not confess his misconduct, the student who saw this act shall report it to the proper authorities.

Now we realize that many students are anxious to get good marks, attain a higher status, or get a diploma, but we believe that a good education is more valuable to the coming generation than all the good marks the IBM machines can produce.

● INDECENT DRESS?

According to "suggestions" made for students hy the Social Standards Committee, women should not wear sun-back dresses to class. Nor, says the committee, should women students wear shorts around the campus except to the gym.

In this hot sweltering weather, these suggestions can likely be taken too seriously. For comfort's sake many women have been seen around campus in cool looking dresses and on Saturdays and Sundays shorts and shirts are prevalent. So far, no one has been "arrested" for it that we can remember.

One of the main objections to sun-back dresses was made by the members of the Social Standards Committee was that the class room and the campus are like a businessman "You wouldn't wear shorts to the office, would you?" they ask.

But if Florida State University is to be like the cold, cruel world of business, the rules should be the same. If students are to be coddled like babies with rules about what time they are to be in at night, what they can drink and not drink and what places are approved for dating, why should students dress for business. That's just an idiosyncrasy of which there are many around here.

The main point, though, is that with weather uncomfortably hot, and if one is susceptible to drowsiness in class or in the library, why not be cool and comfortable?

After all, what looks nicer than a girl in a starched sun dress looking bandbox-fresh on a hot summer day?

Our suggestions is to junk the Social Standards Committee's suggestions concerning dress for the summer months. All of us are old enough to have enough sense not to wear a bathing suit to class.

● RED IN THEIR FACE

How to get a sunburn in four easy lessons . . . that's the course offered on the campus come the first day of summer.

First of all, you can do the trite old trick of going to sunny on the coast. Be spread-eagle in the blazing hot sun for five or six hours, go around for a few days afterward smelling of vinegar and what have you got to show for it? A touch. And you can play sun worshipper for three or four weekends, your golden tan begins to show.

If you want that sunburn to kind of sneak up on you, you can go around the grass here on campus with fellow class-cutters and acquire a pink glow before too long; that is, if the intrepid campus cops let you lounge that long.

Class field trips you go on to dig up old fossils, algae and mastadon skins give you enough sun tan to sizzle while you work. And think of the Marine Biology lab students who spend a hard day at Alligator Point working feverishly in their bathing suits diving in and out of the water. It must be Hell! And they get credit for it, too.

Then there are the capitalists who drive around in open convertibles stopping here and there to sip suds and soak sun. There's a vicious rumor going around that this type of student isn't getting all he should out of his college career.

These lessons on how to get a sun-burn are studied regularly and untiringly by FSU students, eager to get an education.

● FUN, FUN, FUN

The weather is hot, the courses are going too fast, and the professors are getting short tempered, but there is one major consolation in going to summer school—the summer recreation program.

Sponsored by the university and directed this year by Miss Christine P'Simer, the recreation program does more for student-teacher moral than any other factor on the campus.

Many students who believe their professors to be stuffed shirts, soon change their minds when they see them on square dancing, playing bridge, or laughing at the same jokes at the free Friday night movie.

And the professors, too, get a closer look at their students than they ordinarily do in the classroom.

Miss P'Simer and her staff have showed so far this summer that they're willing to go a long way to make the summer feel at home. This is the sort of helping hand the student body needs all during the year.

The rest and relaxation fostered by the summer program will undoubtedly show up in the grades of the students 7 weeks from now. There is no better tonic for worn out patience and frazzled nerves than fun.

The program is geared for the student body today. This program was designed last semester with the summer students taking part in the planning. From here it looks as though everyone in the university system can find rest and relaxation in the program—except maybe Miss P'Simer who works so hard keeping everybody happy.

Actually, it's tough work being a pseudo panther.

Poetically Yours . . .

By LEWIS AIKEN, JR

Many surrers have been taken to show the relative preference of men for blondes and brunettes. Some say blondes are giddy and brunettes stable, while others claim the opposite. Well anyway, here's my subjective idea on the merits of both.

BRUNETTE

She lifts me from the reality of days,
And leads me, without knowing, to her hermit home,
Where none may find but only see a while,
And leave his passion stain upon her bed.
I often take, by chance, a look behind,
When I come from the fires of her love,
And see the dust-drunk crowd that writhes below.
And then I sicken for a drink.
But all that's there to find is my sapina throat,
Lit the hot, hard, blueblood of her lips.

BLONDE

She takes me off to realms where fancy dwells,
And fills my being with the warmth of Eros' pains.
To die, and be infused through lips,
That tremble from the hurt of day.
And in the silent hue of hair
That hides me in her unknown brain.
I often fail, and feel her magic working still,
Within my breast.

MONSOONS, 'BUCKETS' AND 'OLD' FRIENDS

By JANET PEARCE

Last week we had the monsoons—this week we have sunstrokes—what will fabulous Tallahassee weather bring us next week? Your guess is as good as mine. With Tally's traditionally surprising climatic conditions it is just liable to be snowing with the temperature bursting out of the mercury thermometers.

First on the agenda for the day is buckets of congratulations to Shirley Gregory and Evelyn Rasiereon for their time and effort spent in planning entertaining and yet educational tours for all students, faculty and wives. It is quite a job finding a variety of places which will interest all levels of age and education that will be taking these tours.

Scheduled for the summer are three completely differently-styled trips. The first which took place last Sunday was a thorough sightseeing tour of the highlights of Tallahassee, including historical, religious, and state governmental landmarks.

Such sites as the Fort San Luis De Talimali, built by the Franciscan Friars in 1646, and the First Presbyterian church, built in 1838, link present day capitol with early American history.

The second tour scheduled on the calendar is the drive down to quaint, historical old St Marks, a little fishing village well-known for its tasty seafood.

The final trip planned by Shirley and Evelyn who are members of the Summer Recreation Committee, will be to the Florida Caverns at Marianna. A well-trained guide will take you through the beautiful "understand wonderland." You will view imaginary figures created in the limestone and see unique patterns on the walls as it is quite a job finding a variety of places which will interest all levels of age and education that will be taking these tours.

WELCOME HOME—The Flambeau was honored last Monday with a distinguished visitor and old friend. He is now 2nd Lt Harry Ryder in the United States Air Force, but most of you remember him as just plain Harry.

To see him make one reminiscence of last year on the Flambeau when most of us were just reporters and maybe columnists. He was a BTO on the paper with the position of Friday editor supervising the Friday edition of the Flambeau.

Now, Harry has gone into a higher field of greater importance by serving his country in the Air Force. He spent seven months in OCS at Lackland Field in San Antonio and last June 22 he received his bits gold bar.

With his fine record in school, Harry was selected to go to Denver, Colorado at Lofery Field and study for duty in ONI which spelled out for the civilian means and Office of Special Investigations. This branch of the Air Force is similar to FBI and Criminal Investigation Department of the army. It is indeed an honor to be chosen—GOOD LUCK HARRY.

This week everything was rosy around the Flambeau office and the rest of the school. BUT, I'm still looking out the window and seeing the congesting, heinous parking situations.

Attention Mr Shaw: THINGS MIGHT NOT BE SO BOST NEXT WEEK!!!

LEGISLATORS, FACULTY AND JANITORS

By BOB TIPPINS

Reports have it that the Boy's Staters will consider the Teacher's pay increase the Florida legislature bungled so successfully. The Staters can certainly do no worse. It will be interesting to note the outcome.

As the Boy's State legislative sessions are open to the public, we urge students of this school to get in some lobbying time. Desirable legislation passed by the students would be a guide to our legal representatives.

The Florida house would have saved valuable bill-passing time had they had the present incompetent FSU investigation.

As their aim seemed to be decreasing the number of votes on one, wonders why they left such things as canoeing, swimming, modern dance, lighting . . . and, on. AD INFINITUM. Perhaps my conception of a University is warped . . . but seems to me that secretarial courses should be left to trade schools . . .

But then, a college of liberal arts is passed . . . and wouldn't encourage enough prospective students.

Those summer students with free time and who have seen the local cinema attractions are invited to partake of Miss P'Simer's recreation program.

Tours, field trips, parties, movies, social fests, lectures and skating are among the diversions planned.

Less cafeteria lines still prevail. Also, the Mocca and Sweet Shop are overflowing. A new cafeteria is under construction rodsend . . . Ye gods, how did they ever get by the present enrollment we had last semester?

Undergrads are moaning about the passive help offered student projects by the administration. Although enthusiasm such student productions as Sandspur, the State Journal, and the University . . .

Would be a great help if those in power really assisted . . . or gave the students complete pow-

MISSILES ARE FLYING---AND MURDER

By JOEL P SMITH

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Joel Smith, former Flambeau movie columnist and movie reviewer, will write weekly reviews on the movies that are playing currently at the local theaters. Joel will review the top movies of the week for your information and entertainment).

The bomb that stalks its prey across a hit in Columbia Pictures' thrilly "Fixed Bayonets" is an exciting new drama. "The Flying Missile" starring Glenn Ford and Viveca Lindfors at the State Theatre today and tomorrow.

For your protection, the Defense Department until now has prevented the films of the most astonding weapon for public viewing. Now that secrecy has been removed, the "Flying Missile" is revealed as a new super-weapon and Columbia's story of "The Flying Missile" is equally thrilling, equally important.

"The Flying Missile" stars Glenn Ford as one of the men that launches the weapon—from a submarine commander who sets the missile on course, equipped with deck launching platforms to loose the Navy's new guided missiles, the combination would be unbeatable.

He receives permission to take his ship to the missile test center at Point Mugu, California, for special training with guided weapons. Here, he meets and falls in love with beautiful Viveca Lindfors (secret service secretary. She falls for him, too, and there isn't a cloud on the horizon.

But the guided missile work is going fast enough to suit Ford. He and his crew take matters into their own hands to complete the submarine's launching-platform in time for the impending war games. From this point on, sequence after sequence adds to the suspense of "The Flying Missile" until the weapon finally is launched from the deck of Ford's vessel.

KING'S KNIGHTS

CITY BUILT, OPERATED AND ABANDONED

By EMORY KING

This week Jack Tye sees a city built, lived in and operated. That city will be abandoned tomorrow. Jack's Tye's West camp is the scene of this city in miniature that sprang up over night last Sunday.

The miniature city-state town situation is taking place at the seventh annual "Boy's State" program. Last week the freshmen area on West campus was closed and locked. Then on Sunday, 1,000 selected junior boys from all over the state assembled with their sponsor, Legion. Florida highway patrol counselors.

I can admit that when I first went to the "O" club last Sunday I was none too impressed by the assignment. I was sure that over 300 high school maniacs have descended upon the campus and would undoubtedly demolish the Student Union, the freshmen dormitories, and perhaps the entire West campus.

I was in no mood to trifle with hundreds of squid high schoolers, bent on ruining what little assets the West campus offers.

However, before the week was over I was delighted to discover that I was entirely wrong about the entire situation. It is my humble opinion that "Boy's State" is the best thing that happens to a boy during his high school career.

"Boy's State" is correctly called "a laboratory in practical political science." The director of "Boy's State," Mr Mark M Wheeler, of St Petersburg says, "The object of the program is to train the future leaders of this state and nation in the principles of democratic self-government."

In order to learn government first hand, the boys are split into two political parties—the Nationalist and the Federalist. The "State" is broken down into four major political subdivisions called counties. In each county the membership is half National and half Federalist. Each party puts up candidates for local and state offices. Local officers are elected along with a state legislature of two houses. Then a governor and his cabinet is elected . . .

And brother, you think these elections aren't spirited.

I have yet to see such vigorous campaigning outside of a national election. It is to be devoutly hoped that means are decided for student government offices was half as well planned.

After the elections are over the legislature meets down town in the capitol building. All sort of legislation are discussed and voted upon. And this is another point that stamped my mind about "Boy's State." Instead of submitting bills like free lunch periods and three day week-ends these boys were talking and voting on many major issues facing the day. Teacher pay raises was a major issue at this session.

Last year's governor, Bob Canada, is now a student at FSU and has been made a counselor.

The boys also put out a newspaper daily, organize a band for their annual dance, and hold a talent show, besides taking trips to the state offices here in Tally. For high school kids they work harder than many of our political science students.

They tell me "Girl's State" will be here before the boys leave.

Movie Scheduled On July 4th Night

The free movie for the Fourth of July will be "A Wing and A Prayer," which tells the story of Hickman Field and the attack there which drew America into World War II.

Professor J Dayton Smith will lead the singing for the celebration of the Fourth with a patriotic note.

Mr Martin, the University gardener, and the electrical staff plan to add a festive note to the occasion. Mr Rod Shaw, business manager, has had the area sprayed to cut down the mosquitoes.

The movie for July 5 is "Anna and the King of Siam."

In case of rain, the Conrad Theater has been reserved for both the Fourth and the sixth.

For many of the years since his early manhood, Mark Wheeler has been working hard, day and night, just as he does at Boys State each year, in serving others.

Only several weeks ago the St Petersburg Times honored him with a feature article which showed the extent of his unselfish service to his fellow man, community and state.

"REALIZING THAT the youth of our state and nation are our citizens of tomorrow," says Mr Wheeler, "we in Boys State believe that the best contribution we can make to society is training in Americanism and good citizenship of integrity and statesmanship in government at all levels.

"Our Florida Boys State program just doesn't happen," the state director continues. "It's the creation of many fine persons in Florida who are interested in the proper development of our youth."

Chesterfield Co-Reps Renamed For Summer

Virginia Smith and T D Tedder have been reappointed Chesterfield campus co-representatives for the summer session. During the summer they will conduct Chesterfield contests and personal contacts.

Last semester Chesterfield sponsored several contests including "Miss Chessie Field's Leg," Question of the Week, and "Professor Chesterfield." The co-representatives state that they plan new contests with Chesterfield cigarettes given as prizes.

ROTC Offers Summer Courses

Florida State's department of the Air Force ROTC announces that it is offering a summer course for first year basic students.

This will be the first time in its history that the U S Air Force has presented an accelerated ROTC program during the summer months.

THE PROGRAM has been setup in order to correlate the ROTC program with the present's accelerated University program. It offers ROTC students the opportunity to graduate in three calendar years as does the University.

Only freshmen students, mainly high school graduates beginning college this summer for the first time, are being admitted to the course. No students with prior ROTC experience have been accepted.

Summer courses being taught are, first aid and hygene, military psychology and personnel management, evolution of warfare, military policy and military organization.

THESE COURSES correspond to those offered during a regular semester. The students will receive the same number of credit hours for their summer's work as those who take the same course in September.

The 60 students now enrolled in the summer course are not eligible for draft deferment until they have completed at least one semester of work in ROTC.

THE ACCELERATED program is supervised and instructed by a staff of 5 officers and 5 enlisted personnel who have had experience in the various subjects being taught.

Last June, 35 ROTC graduates received their commissions from the first ROTC unit. Of these, 31 are now serving in the Air Force on active duty.

Mr William Earle is the resident dence counselor for the men's West campus quadrangle area. This group will also sponsor summer recreation programs.

ON EAST CAMPUS, three fraternities are welcoming men to their residences: Lambda Chi Alpha, Phi Delta Theta, and Pi Kappa Alpha are renting their housing groups to all men students.

The Sigma Chis have filled their house with their own fraternity men for the summer session.

There will be no formal Men's Dormitory association during the summer, according to Dean McBride. Instead, an honor basis will replace authority.

A separate program for men's intramural activities has been set up. This includes one of the largest baseball groups, 14 teams, to be sponsored at FSU.

Student Houses Plan Programs For Summer Session Activities

The activities of the religious student houses at FSU have been somewhat limited this summer due to decreased enrollment. However, the various programs will be in full swing again when the fall semester opens.

METHODIST STUDENT HOUSE

The weekly calendar of the Methodist student house includes Sunday school at 9:45, fellowship supper at 6:15, and fellowship at 7 on Sunday, and meditations on Wednesday at 9 p m.

The recently elected summer school officers are: Shirley Gregory for Sunday school, Doris Stevens for Fellowship, Rhoda Linton for meditations, and Ivan Kestner for recreation.

The students' house is planning some outings and party functions in the near future.

RUGE HALL

Ruge hall, Episcopalian student house, will hold choral and sermon services this summer at 9 a m on Sunday, followed by a coffee hour. The students conduct a daily vespers at 5:30 p m and two mid-week services at 7 a m on Wednesdays and 6:30 a m on Thursdays.

Every other Sunday afternoon, students volunteer to conduct services in the Episcopal church at Lloyd.

Chaplain W K Morley and his family took up their residence at Ruge hall the beginning of this month. He was appointed full-time chaplain of the student house, and assumed his duties this past July 1.

In addition to the Sunday night suppers, many of the students have found the kitchen facilities helpful in preparing an occasional meal. The food and materials are paid for my student chapel offerings.

Ruge hall is celebrating its 20th anniversary this year. Activities are administered by a student vestry.

BAPTIST STUDENT HOUSE

The Baptist student house has Tuesday night vespers at 7:30. Saturday from 7 to 11 is play night, during which all sorts of games and activities are conducted. Refreshments are served.

FSU Library Makes Archive Collection

The reference department of the Florida State University library is making a collection of important documents and papers which concern university life.

The purpose of the collection is to give posterity some notion of how the students of FSU ran their lives in the present are. It is a monument of our generation for the future.

Miss Higer, director of the task of assembling the material, began the job recently, but has already gathered a wealth of material on such things as the curfew hour at FSU in 1951, our student government president then, and what bills were passed by the University Government Association.

Anyone who is a student at FSU may use the archives. It is a quick source of reference information, another feature of the FSU library.

Dean Duxbury Holds Nursing Forum July 5

Miss Vivian Duxbury, dean of FSU's newest graduate division, will talk about the program offered here for nurses at the Forum in Broward Hall, Thursday evening, July 5, at 7 p m in the Broward Hall parlors.

Dean Duxbury will talk about the future which her division of the university anticipates as this new school moves to the fore in the nursing field in the section of the country.

Punch will be served afterwards.

New Text Set For Humanities In Fall Term

Over 200 Attend Meet Beginning Today; First Activity is Annual Ball

Dr Robert L Arends, of the humanities department, announced this week that a new textbook for humanities 103 will be published and in use by this fall.

Humanities 103 covers the modern period from 1700 onward. The subjects studied in this course are: Literature, art, music, philosophy and religion.

DR ROBERT MILLER, Professor of philosophy and religion, is writing the introduction to the book. Dr Arends is editing the text and also preparing material for some of the chapters.

Dr Wilson Micks, associate professor of French, is writing the section of Voltaire. Dr Edward Hsuch is preparing the chapters on Goethe, the famous writer and philosopher.

MISS LAURA C LEE, assistant professor of art, is writing the units on modern art. Miss Dabney Adams, instructor in English, is preparing material on impressionistic art.

Miss Tania Leshinsky, instructor in German and Russian, is composing the section devoted to Russian novels. Dr Russell Reaver, assistant professor of English, is writing the chapters on William, the great American poet.

MR LESTER MOORE, instructor in English, has written on modern poetry.

Dr Grace Cairns, assistant professor of philosophy, has devoted her time on the book to modern philosophy. Dr Laurence Lafleur, associate professor of philosophy, is writing on English philosophy.

The book, written in narrative form, is being published by the Odyssey Press of Tampa, Florida. It contains many illustrations and should be of great benefit to next year's classes in humanities 103.

Final Draft Exams Slated for June 30

Florida State University's student body has faced many problems this past year; not the least among these was the draft situation. The second semester saw many of the men students go to the colors.

The on-again, off-again statements from Washington kept the campus in a constant state of confusion. Many of the men joined the service voluntarily, afraid that they would be called.

"THIS IS FOOLISH procedure," said Dean McBride on January 16, "because many of those men would not have been called yet, and now they may sit out their time in latrine duty."

Early in October the men were mailed to send letters to their draft boards asking for deferments. The office of personal records sent out accompanying letters giving the boards the student college status.

The various branches of service began to send officers here as early as February trying to boost enlistments. Even a woman came to the campus on February 20, looking for women who would be interested in going to Japan and Germany.

THEN PRESIDENT Truman ordered General Hershey to stop drafting college men. The campus was jubilant. The boys wouldn't be going to be killed after all. Then the various college presidents around the country began complaining. They protested that not drafting college men was undemocratic.

The president and apparently congress ignored these objections. The selective service office sent out notices for national deferment examinations to be held at the nation's colleges.

THE FIRST TEST was held at Florida State University May 26 with over 400 men taking the exam. It was next offered on June 16 and will be offered for the final time on June 30.

The scores of the exams will be sent to the students' home draft boards. The boards are left to the discretion as to whether to draft the student then or not. In any case, the campus fliers have subsided greatly since the examinations were announced.

There will be a meeting of the Cavalier club on Monday, July 2, 1951 at 7:15 p.m. The meeting will be held in the Social Work building.

Langanlass Directs British Farce Cast In 3-Week Rehearsal

Work on the latest speech department play, See How They Run, is progressing rapidly, according to Mr George Langanlass, director of the comedy.

With a week's rehearsal behind them, and only two more weeks to go before opening night, the actors, directors, and technical crew are creating a play which, although having an accelerated production time, promises to be as good as any of the other plays which have been given by the Florida State University in former years.

ASSISTED BY Dr George McCalmon, head of the dramatics area of the speech department, Director Langanlass is working his actors every day except Sunday in order to meet the July 11 opening night performance.

Mr Langanlass is no newcomer to FSU. He helped with productions during the 1949-50 season at FSU. During the past season he has been coaching and directing speech and dramatic activities at Chapman high school in Apalachicola.

Twenty-eight-year-old Langenlass is now a graduate major in speech and dramatics at FSU.

The play, written by Phillip King, was produced in London for the first time in 1949. At present it is enjoying a successful run at the St Petersburg-Pinellas theater.

ACCORDING TO the Tulsa World, the play "Set an all time record for Little Theater plays . . . Overwhelming demand for tickets." Hilarious seems a tame and inadequate word to describe this play . . . Left the audience rolling in the aisles."—says the Rochester Times-Union.

See How They Run will be presented in the FSU Conrads theater, history building, on July 11 and 12, two nights instead of the usual four. There will be no advance ticket sales; tickets will be on sale at the box office and entrance to the theater.

Homemakers Confab Ends Friday

The annual conference of the Future Homemakers of America ends Friday. The 92 girls and 125 advisors and teachers have been here since Sunday. They are under the supervision of Thomas D Bailey, state superintendents of public instruction; Frances Champion, state supervisor of homemaking education, and Lucy Lang, state FHA advisor.

THE WEEK WAS filled with recreation, crafts and demonstrations.

Monday Miss Amy Cason talked about parliamentary drill.

Tuesday there was a demonstration of corsage making by Mrs Wade Wehunt.

Miss Alice Brown of Alice's Beauty Center gave a demonstration of hair styling Wednesday.

THURSDAY THE GIRLS attended the reception of President and Mrs Doak Campbell. The closing candlelight ceremony was also held Thursday.

An aluminum tray will be given as first award to the chapter with the most diversified activities for the year, and a shield will be given the chapter next in line.

THE EXECUTIVE COUNSEL, the governing body of FHA, plans the schedule for the year.

The officers of FHA and three advisors will go to East Lansing, Michigan, for the Eastern Leadership training conference lasting from July 2 to July 6. They will visit Mammoth Cave, Cliffy Falls, Indiana, and Battle Creek, where they will see the General Foods plant and the Ford Motor company. They will also visit Toronto, Canada, and Niagara Falls.

FSU Drama Student Plays Summer Stock With Barter Group

Jayne Gardner, pretty junior co-ed in the Florida State University's most talented student of the theatre She hails from St Augustine, where her father is an automobile dealer.

Formerly a student at the University of Alabama, with a major in theatre arts, Jayne transferred to FSU last year. At Alabama Jayne belonged to Blackfriars, a dramatic honorary comparable to Les Jongleurs. She won their award for best actress of the year. Among the roles she played there was "Joan" in Maxwell Anderson's "Joan of Lorraine."

"About the best thing that's happened to me in a long time, says Jayne, is my apprenticeship to Barter Theatre of Virginia, which begins on June 7.

Jayne is the recently elected president of Les Jongleurs. She has held leads in several of this year's department of speech productions, including "Arms and the Man" and "Family Portrait."

Well-known for her sense of humor, Jayne is a versatile actress, in comedy and serious roles alike.

Musical Portraits Will Be Presented Tonight in Series

"Musical Portraits," the second in this summer's Artist Series, will be presented in the amphitheater tonight at 8:15 p m.

THE PROGRAM will feature William Metcalf, baritone, Emmalina De Vita, lyric-soprano, and Dana Lordly, pianist-arranger. The trio will present excerpts from classical and modern opera all in English.

"Musical Portraits" was conceived by the desire of the three musicians to combine opera, concert and light music and present them in a unique and entertaining fashion.

THE PORTRAITS are fully and amusingly acted out and staged with fundamental properties. They bring to the public in miniature form what is customarily designed for large scale productions.

The program consists of two parts. The first will feature scenes from The Marriage of Figaro, La Boheme, Die Fledermaus, and the modern comic opera The Telephone by Menotti. Mr Lordly will play Prelude in E Flat, by Rachmaninoff and the Liebestod from Tristan and Isolde. Miss De Vita will sing a solo, Clavelitos.

THE SECOND HALF of the program has a medley from The Wizard of Oz and a Musical Portrait Scene arranged by Mr Lordly. Mr Metcalf will sing Song at the Open Road and Matinata, and there will be two other piano solos by Mr Lordly.

Student Union Plans Dance For Saturday

The Student Union will sponsor a dance Saturday night from 8 until 11:30. Music will be furnished by Jerry Kohler's orchestra on the outdoor terrace of the Union.

Mrs Grace K. Bateman, assistant director of the Student Union, and Miss Genevive DeArmon, head counselor for social affairs in the women's residences, will will chaperone the dance.

'Our Town' Features Oriental Technique; Scenery Not Used

Try-outs for Our Town, next on the agenda of FSU speech department plays, and slated to be presented on the nights of August 8 and 9, were held last Wednesday and Thursday evening in the Conrad theater.

The show, which will be directed by Mr Russell Graves, is the story of a New England town. The town itself is the leading character.

No scenery will be used in the presentation. This is an old Oriental technique. The stage manager directs all the action.

Our Town was made into a moving picture. The director won the Academy award for directing the story in 1949.

Gregory Issues Call For Talent at FSU

Faculty and students interested in appearing in this year's FSU Talent Show are asked to contact Miss Shirley Gregory, at Cawhom hall south.

The Talent Show will be Saturday night, July 7, at 8 in the Music hall. There will be a dress rehearsal at 2 p m on Saturday in the Music hall, to work out the order of procedure and to time the show. Jerry Kohler's band will play the music for the show and accompany the singers and dancers. Dean Otis McBride will be master of ceremonies.

Chairman Gregory announced that the committee would be open to suggestions from the student body.

All students will be admitted to the performance with their FSU identification cards. There are no tickets available at the artist series office for there are no reserved seats. The program will be held in the Music Hall in case of rain.

Reservations Made In Seminole Room

Reservations for the Marianna Caves Tour may be made at tables located in the Seminole dining room.

Miss Muriel Maxwell, counselor in Reynolds hall, will be in charge of the tour to the Marianna State Park and Caves. Saturday, leaving Bryan at 1 p m. Miss Maxwell may be reached every afternoon between 2 and 5 to answer questions about the trip.

The trip is furnished by funds from the Educational Tours budget of the summer recreation program. The state park guides will be on hand to tell the group what the caves contain. There are snack foods which may be purchased at the park.

No reservations will be taken after 9:30 a m Saturday and people cancelling should call in to allow someone else the chance for a seat on the bus. It is anticipated that the group will be back in Tallahassee by 7:45 p m.

Students, faculty and staff and their children are invited.

Prof. Angel To Speak At Vespers In Alum

Pat Kirby and Herman Bekemeyer, in charge of Vespers, Sunday, announce that the program this week will be held in the small upstairs parlor of the Alumni building.

Professor Richard Angel of the philosophy department is the speaker for the worship service which will begin promptly at 7:15 p m with a hymn sing.

This week students have worked out mimeographed song sheets with Mr Herman Gunter, music director.

Miss Ruth Pyche, head of the counseling program in the women's residences will be the faculty hostess.

Make Reservations

Reservations may be made for the deep-sea fishing trip Sunday, July 1, by calling the intramural office on West campus Mr Ed Williamson makes the arrangements with the fishing boats at St Marks and must be able to hire a boat of the right size for the FSU crowd. The cost is about $5.

FUTURE LEADERS HOLD SESSION—Future leaders of the country learn how it feels to be a legislator holding session in the Senate chamber. The high school seniors learn the procedure and art of studying, recommending and passing various needed bills.

New FSU Vice President Assumes Duties August 1

To Become FSU's First Vice President Dr A B Martin Comes From Mississippi

Dr Albert Boynton Martin, Florida State University's newly appointed vice-president, will assume his duties on August 1, it was announced by Dr Doak S Campbell.

Dr Martin will be FSU's first vice-president. His appointment will necessitate an amendment to the University Constitution.

IN COMMENTING on the duties of the new officer, Dr Campbell said, "The vice president will act as an administrative associate to the president. In view of the fact that the president's office and staff have not enlarged during the past 10 years, although the responsibilities and duties of that office have increased greatly since we became Florida State University, the advent of a vice president has been long overdue.

Dr Martin comes to FSU from the University of Mississippi in Oxford where he served as associate professor of education and director of the University Extension Services. He is also director of the University Summer Session. In this capacity he has carried major responsibility in the general administration of the University.

IN ADDITION TO his administrative experience at the University of Mississippi, the new FSU vice president served from 1941-46 except for a period of service in the U S navy, as deputy state superintendent of education in the state of Texas. During that period he was director of equalization and finance and later served as director of curriculum.

A United States navy commanding officer of an escort ship during World War II, Dr Martin returned to active duty as a lieutenant commander in 1945.

HE RECEIVED his undergraduate education in Southwestern University in the State College at San Marcus, Texas, where he received his AB degree. He received his masters and doctoral degrees at the University of Texas.

Born in Africa of American parents serving as missionaries, Dr Martin has spent the greater part of his life in Texas where he has been closely identified with educational and civic affairs.

Mrs Martin, formerly of Dallas, is also a graduate of the University of Texas.

Pictorial Bulletin Wins Third Place At Miami Conclave

Hirh honor in the publications field came to Florida State University the past week-end, Robert Leigh, chairman of the FSU Board of Publications, announced today.

The 1951 Florida State University yearbook, Orlando, was judged the third best college viewbook in the nation, Mr Leigh said. The viewbook competed with hundreds of bulletins in the annual American College Public Relations Association meeting in Miami Beach."

First prize went to Colby College, and Columbia of New York entered the second place winner. Both Colby and Columbia utilized professional artists and photographers in producing their view books.

"President Campbell, students and faculty are extremely happy that our viewbook won a place against such able competition."

Woodard Elected Governor, Runner-Up Is Senate Prexy

Bettie Jane Woodward, an attractive 16-year-old Leon High School senior, was inaugurated Tuesday afternoon as 1951 governor of Florida Girls State. The annual Girls State, now in its fifth year, is sponsored by the American Legion Auxiliary.

BETTIE JANE, daughter of Mr and Mrs. W E Woodward, won out in a spirited election late Monday afternoon after her "Federalist" party and the opposing "Nationalist" party nominated a total of 116 girls for the seven major state offices and seven positions as State Supreme Court justices.

The runner-up to the seat of governor was Margaret Lipscomb from Jacksonville. This 16-year-old high school senior hails from Jackson high school. In a last election, Margaret was placed in the position as president of the senate.

Mrs Maxwell Wells, Orlando, Girls State director, and Mrs A J Ryan, Legion Auxiliary chairman of Girls State, said the general election was held Monday afternoon so that the winning candidates for state cabinet posts and justices of the State Supreme Court could have actual experience in their elected positions during the remainder of the week.

ELECTED WITH Miss Woodward as members of the state cabinet were Joan Tavel, 16, Orlando, secretary of state; Suzanne Brunstrom, 16, Orlando, attorney general; Nancy Harunan, 16, Jacksonville, superintendent of education; Elizabeth Mays, 17, Monticello, commissioner of agriculture, all of the "Federalist" party.

The "Nationalist" party elected Carolyn Phillips, 16, Fort Worth, as state treasurer, and Marilinda Martin, 18, Tampa, superintendent of public instruction. They also elected Winnie Alman, 17, St Petersburg, and Barbara Battin, 17, Bartow, as Supreme Court justices.

THE OTHER elected Supreme Court justices, all from the "Federalist" party, are Sandra Hall, Jacksonville, chief justice; Frances Pitzali, 16, Clearwater; Susan Phelps, Miami, Joyce Calloway, Miami, and Marion Baidt, Hialeah.

Party chairman for the Nationalists was Jean Gibbs, 17, of Winter Haven, previously elected city commissioner of the city of "Alachua." The Federalists party chairman was Patricia Rodgers, 16, of Tarpon Springs, previously elected mayor of the city of "Olustee."

THE 239 GIRLS Staters were schooled in preparation of legislative bills after being given instructions at their night session in the Main Hall on legislative procedure by Senator LeRoy Collins of Leon county and Speaker Richard Simpson, of Monticello. The legislative bill instruction was supervised by Dr Wilson K Doyle, dean of the School of Public Administration, and Girls State educational director. He was aided by Isabella Bidenfield, assistant Girls State educational director.

The attention of the Girls Staters was occupied Tuesday on election of members and officers of their "State Legislature." Committee meetings and open hearings on proposed state legislative bills were held at Tuesday night's session.

CANDIDATES FOR GOVERNOR—Bettie Jane Woodward and Margaret Lipscomb are pictured shaking hands before the election which puts Bettie Jane in the governor's seat. In a later election Margaret was elected president of the Senate.

Two Delegates To Girl's Nation Are Selected

Rodgers, Gibbs to Attend Washington Conference Sponsored by Fla Legion

Selection of two of the 1951 Florida Girls State citizens, delegates to attend the Girls Nation in Washington starting July 27 was made today. The Florida Department, American Legion Auxiliary, sponsors of Girls State now in session at Florida State University, chose the pair.

THE TWO GIRLS selected, Patricia Rodgers, 16, of Tarpon Springs, and Jeane Gibbs, 17, Winter Haven, at the 1951 Girls State, were picked on the basis of citizenship, leadership, and other outstanding qualities.

The selection was made in a secret ballot of the Legion Auxiliary committee in charge, Mrs A J Ryan, chairman; Mrs Maxwell Wells, Girls State director; Mrs Murray J Crandall, president, Florida Legion Auxiliary; Girls State counselors; and Dr Wilson K Doyle, dean of the School of Public Administration and Girls State educational director.

THE COMMITTEE selected a total of 12 outstanding Florida girls as candidates for the Girls State. They are Miss Rodgers; Miss Gibbs; Jane Woodward, Tallahassee, 1951 Girls State "Governor"; Nancy Bostick, Quincy, legislative representative;" Joan Tavel, Orlando, the "secretary of state;" Suzanne Brunstrom, Orlando, "attorney general;" Elizabeth Mays, Monticello, "commissioner of agriculture," Margaret Lipscomb, Jacksonville, "president of the senate," and Barbara Battin, Miami; Mary Louise Dee, St Petersburg, and Roberta Uher, Miami, all "state senators."

Also included in the 12 outstanding girls are Sally Senerchia, Boih Colby and Columbia utilized professional artists and photographers in producing their view books.

"President Campbell, students and faculty are extremely happy that our viewbook won a place against such able competition."

FSU Sponsors Oak Ridge Plan

Nuclear Institute Set For Atomic Energy Study

The Florida State University has been unanimously elected to a sponsoring role in the Oak Ridge Institute of Nuclear Studies, Dr Doak S Campbell, FSU president has been advised.

DR MILTON W Carothers, Dean of the FSU Graduate School will represent the University on the Institute Council. This group is composed of one representative from each of the sponsoring institutions.

The Oak Ridge Institute of Nuclear Studies is a non-profit educational corporation chartered to conduct a program in research and training, according to Dr Campbell. The Institute is the primary agency through which the southern universities participate in the nation's atomic energy program.

ACCORDING TO President Campbell, the Institute is financed by contract with the United States atomic energy commission. The Institute also maintains agreements with the commission's industrial and other laboratories as a base for using research and training facilities in common with other operating units.

Several leading scientists from the Oak Ridge Institute of Nuclear Studies have been guest lecturers at FSU during the past year. Speakers have included Dr Russel Poor, head of the Duke University division; Dr John Overton, research scientist; and Dr Paul Magnus Gross, president of the board of directors and vice-president of Duke University.

4 Piano Recitals Given Next Week In Music Hall

Four piano recitals will be featured in the Music Hall next week. Although designed and scheduled to co-ordinate with the piano course for piano teachers conducted by Prof Mary Reeder and Rebecca Rodenberg, the recitals will be open to the public without charge.

A two-piano music program will be presented Monday evening, July 9, at 8:15 p m. Bettie Bernal with Robert Leslie at the second piano, will play the first movement of the Haydn piano concerto. Mr Leslie will play a movement of the Mozart concerto with Miss Rose Leslie accompanying him. Prof Ernest Hoff, of the School of Music, will play a cadenza.

Young pianists of elementary and junior high school age will be a solo piano recital by Robert Leslie, Mr Leslie, a talented young musician, has played recitals in several Florida cities, and is a student at the FSU academy who represented FSU at the recent National Federation of American Guild of Organists at Charleston, South Carolina. He will play works by Bach, Beethoven, Schumann and Brahms.

WFSU Broadcasts In the Afternoon

WFSU, the radio station operated by the students of Florida State University, and located in the Alumni building, is on the air from 4:00 until 6:00 p m Monday through Friday.

In the afternoon, WFSU presents a program of music, and campus announcements. Terry Porter is in charge, with Len Miller as chief announcer. The production department is run by Marian Martin, Arden Eubanks, and Edith Franklin.

Summer Band Concert Postponed For Week

The concert of the summer band scheduled for Sunday, July 8, has been postponed till Sunday, July 15, Mr James Neher, band director, announced today. The concert will take place in the Outdoor Theater at 8:15 p m on July 15, Mr Neher said.

High School Pupils Attend Fifth Annual Girls State

Training Program in Legislative Procedure And Good Citizenship Sponsored by Auxiliary

The fifth annual Girls State will close its "State of the Seminoles" today. The 236 future citizens have conducted a training program in legislative procedure and good citizenship.

The conference began last Friday with registration of delegates and a formal dance in conjunction with Boys State.

Legion Auxiliary officials said the girls were brought to the FSU campus on Friday for the start of their week's program of activities so they could attend the inaugural ball of Boys State. The ball was held at the FSU student union Friday night in honor of the new Boys State governor, Jack Sprott.

FRIENDLY GESTURE—Dr and Mrs Doak S Campbell hold a reception for all the girls attending Girls State last Sunday afternoon. The group was taken to the Campbell's home in FSU buses with each city of girls going at a different time to help lessen the load on the host and hostess.

During their entire week of training at the university and the Capitol legislative chambers, the "citizens" of Girls State were guided strictly by the rules and regulations of the real Florida legislature.

EVERY GIRL selected for Girls State was sent, several weeks in advance, a booklet showing proper legislative procedure. Dr Wilson K Doyle, dean of the FSU School of Public Administration and Girls State educational adviser, said that much girls arriving at FSU showed a surprisingly good knowledge of the state's legislative method.

At their first assembly meeting Saturday morning in the Girls Staters were welcomed to the University and Tallahassee by Dr Doak S Campbell, FSU president; Mrs A J Ryan, Girls State committee chairman of the Legion Auxiliary; Mrs M J Crandall, State Legion Auxiliary president; Don Carroll, state Legion commander; and Mayor W H Cates of Tallahassee

Saturday afternoon the girls were given instruction in city and county government procedures by officials. This was followed by nominating speeches and election of Girls State "city officials."

SATURDAY NIGHT the girls were separated equally into two major political parties, the "Nationalists" and the "Federalists." They then elected their respective conventions chairmen and drafted party platforms.

The party chairman of the "Nationalists" was Jean Gibbs, 17, of Winter Haven; and the "Federalist" chairman was Patricia Rodgers, 16, of Tarpon Springs

Sunday morning the Reverend Laurence I Steli, pastor of the Tallahassee Presbyterian Church, conducted religious services for some of the Girls State members while others attended one of the churches of their faith in downtown Tallahassee.

THE MEMBERS of Girls State, the Legion Auxiliary officials, and the Girls State counselors were guests at an informal reception Sunday afternoon at the home of Dr and Mrs Campbell.

Monday was filled with party activities, followed by the general election of the governor, other state cabinet members, and justices of the supreme court. Winning candidates could then have actual experience in their elected positions during the remainder of the week.

At an assembly meeting Monday night in the FSU Music Hall, the girls were given instructions in the same legislative procedure as that used in the Florida Legislature

Week Is Marked By Social Activities

The 1951 Girls State session has closed its doors on a full calendar of activities. The "State of the Seminoles" featured wholesome recreation as a major element of good citizenship.

ON FRIDAY NIGHT a formal dance was held at the West campus Student Union. Boys Staters also participated in this "O Club" event. Campaigns, parliamentary procedure, and serious discussions were forgotten in an atmosphere of gaiety.

Saturday afternoon the girls enjoyed a swim in the University pool.

Sunday morning, churches in downtown Tallahassee provided spiritual guidance for the group A special choir of Girls Staters sang at Dr Laurence Stell's Presbyterian church.

THAT AFTERNOON, an informal reception was held at the home of President and Mrs Campbell.

Tuesday and Wednesday the delegates found their own casual style of a general recreation. Wednesday afternoon there was an inaugural tea held at the governor's mansion.

Thursday a tour of the capitol building was scheduled. Stunt Night that evening was the final climax to Girls State.

'O' Club Pool Room Now Opens All Day

A consolidation of the Student Union facilities on the West campus has resulted in three pool tables being set up in the main building.

The pool room will now be open all day instead of just the evening hours as before Students who desire to play may use the facilities at any time during the day or night.

Standard rates have been set and students may play by the hour or by the game.

LOCAL GIRL IS GOVERNOR—Bettie Jane Woodward, 16-year-old student of Leon High school, was inaugurated as governor of 1951 Florida State Girl Tuesday afternoon at 2:30. The new governor was a member of the Federalist party and succeeded Jill Rifkin of Hollywood, Fla.

Sam Meyer Joins Botany Faculty

Dr Samuel Lewis Meyer of the University of Tennessee has been appointed professor and head of the Florida State University department of botany effective July 1, according to President Doak S Campbell.

Dr Mayer, who became a member of the University of Tennessee staff in 1940, has been head of their botany department since 1945.

Dr Meyer, who has studied at Central College, Vanderbilt, and the University of Virginia, has been active in scientific societies. During the war Dr Meyer served with the United States Army in the Canal Zone. At present he holds a commission as a major in the Chemical Corps Reserve.

Girls State Demonstrates Women's Interest in Politics

There has been a long standing argument in the world between man and women. For a long time, unofficially long, certain quarters insist—men have ruled the world and all its domain.

The women have stated time and time again that they could do a better job than the "stupid old men who do nothing but smoke cigars, act officious, and get into wars."

The men have always laughed and and maintained that a woman's place was in the home—except when a war was in process—then the woman's place was reloading guns, tending the wounded, or working in the shipyards.

Today, however, women are beginning to assert themselves in politics, business, and industry more than they ever have before. Many men are beginning to look at their jobs and wonder if tomorrow some woman might take over their positions—and worse—if she might do a better job.

This week we have seen the Florida "Girls' State" 5th annual training program. The emphasis of the program was on legislative procedures and good citizenship.

Dean Doyle, of the School of Public Administration and "Girl's State" educational advisor commented that the girls were surprisingly well aware of proper parliamentary and legislative procedures.

The girls got together in their two political patties and elected local, county and state officers without much dallying. The elections were spirited, but the girls knew exactly where they were going and how to get there.

Both "Girl's State" and "Boy's State" worked under a two-party system—and they worked efficiently and for the good of the entire group. Perhaps the leaders and the voters of the state should think this over carefully.

Someday soon, the products of these leadership programs will become voters in this state. Certainly the training in practical political science will help the state and the nation.

We, here at FSU, could do ourselves and the State no better service than to sell Florida State University to these girls.

In two years or less these girls will be looking for a college to advance their learning. Our student government, our student body could do no better than these girls. With more and more of this type of civic-political minded students coming to this university we could advance immeasurably.

● NEW NAME---UG'

It seems that the school just tries to be difficult and complex at the expense of confusing others.

For many years the name Artist Series was familiar to all branches of the college —faculty staff and students. Everyone knew what it mean and what it implied. The artist series sponsored a series of outstanding artists through the year.

It's implication was even more significant. If an artist appeared on the artist series a student knew he automatically could have a free ticket for he had paid for it in the activity fee. He knew it was sponsored by the school, and professional artists were the only entertainers that could be selected. A student knew all this when he saw or heard the name artist series connected with program featured on the campus.

Then this spring things began to change. The executive council of deans decided that the title artist series was too specific. It could not include named bands and radio and movie comedians who were famous for their talent yet not considered artists.

It was thought by the executive body another name should replace that of "artist series" in order to specify the definite types of entertainment. This title should be explicit and informative.

So the simple name of Committee of Recitals, Plays, Lectures, and Art Exhibits arose.

But, does the new name include such entertainers as band concerts and famous comedians? How would you class a performance by Stan Kenton? It is sensible to believe you wouldn't call his presentation, a recital.

Take Bob Hope for an example. His comical program could hardly be classed as a recital"—play?—lecture?—or an art exhibit? Some persons might think the last was most appropriate but not from a professional standpoint.

In addition to not solving the original problem, the name is wordy, redundant to say the least, and confusing. Perhaps lectures and art exhibits presents' when the familiar concise phrase of artist series is so much more clear and equally as adequate. Why, it is even difficult to put in advertising signs for entertainers and the printers are either leaving out words of the title or twisting them around. This paper is guilty of this also.

It seems only the sensible thing to do is change it back in time for fall session. Then, the stuednts would never know that the CRPLAE ever existed.

● HELPING HAND

Want a ride in from West Campus, or to down town Tallahassee? Well try and get it! The drivers this summer seem to have taken an intense dislike to student hitchhikers.

Perhaps the anti-hitchhiker campagin that has been launched throughout the country is to blame for this attitude. But, I think it is that drivers are forgetting that those kids out on the corner are not criminals who will beat them up or take their cars.

It's hot weather, the buses are crowded, and the students are melting. For a long time there has been a misunderstanding between students about the hitchhiking regulations at the university.

The non-official booklet, issued by the committee on Social Standards, says that it is beneath the dignity of a woman student to hitchhike. Many students, however believe that a woman will go before a court for "catching a ride" in from the west campus. That is not true. The handbook of social standards are not law. It is merely those social regulations that are considered proper in the society.

Older students who are on the campus for the first time perhaps don't realize that it is traditional and very helpful to pick up students.

● HAZARDOUS HALLS

Several complaints against the condition of FSU's beautiful but slippery halls have been received by the Flambeau from teachers and students.

A fall by one of the older, less agile residents could easily result in disaster. They, therefore, are justifiably concerned.

Upon receipt of a number of complaints, the Flambeau began investigation of several buildings on the campus, comparing the conditions of the halls.

It was found that the halls in Westcott are both beautiful and old, yet, a youthful, experimentive reporter found very difficult to purposely slide on the halls and deems accidental slipping very improbable.

The halls are also free of the crags in the music building and school cafeteria. Although the halls shine with all the glitter of highly polished steel, rubber-soled shoes are the suggested footwear for the ice-like floors.

The administration is, therefore, respectively requested to either bring all the buildings up to the safe standards maintained in Westcott . . . or install a contipuous series of handrails . . . either of which would be less expensive and less embarrassing than the present halls.

Poetically Yours . . .

By LEWIS AIKEN, JR

A THEORY OF POETRY

True poetry should express contemporary sentiment, or at least, the poet's interpretation of the underlying pulse of his age, that is, what motivates his generation.

Poetry is more similar to music than it is to prose, and as music, it must do a good job of creating a symbol of the happiness and anxiety of the age

Bach, Beethoven, and even jazz are misunderstood by the youth of our time because of the foreign and unexperienced feeling which a performance or audition of these works produces.

The individualism of the seventeenth century and the Victorianism of the nineteenth century resulted in the production of the incomplete and dissatisfied personality, typical of our generation. As Bill Faulkner says, "Respectability has killed love." What else can it do?

Therefore, if poetry is to be honest, the poet should strive to symbolize in his work that which most of the people are talking and thinking about, to wit, what is bothering them.

The factor which is bothering us is evident. When respectability slays the ban on sex, anxiety and warped interest result. The poet's job is to tell about this.

> I have found myself sitting in cigarette-dirtied rooms,
> When someone shot a coin for music
> The nervousness of the race.
> Oh, modern music, burn me until I feel
> What I have lost.
> Give me hope until I find—a substitute.

PLAYBITS . . . .

By JEAN FLYNN

The department of Speech is planning many activities for this summer, including two plays, Our Town and See How They Run.

Big news around the department is its all-out campaign for revue writers, for a musical they hope to sponsor in the fall. The doors of 108 History are opened to any and all comers with ideas for songs, songs, skits, and so forth.

Also a big event is the coming production of the British farce comedy See How They Run, by Philip King. As model for the Cockney accent the show needs, the cast is using the gravedigger's scene from Hamlet (the grave-digger was a Cockney).

For the suffered British, they are using various dictionaries and phonograph records, claiming that one of the cast has a genuine Scotch brogue. She is Sybil Veronica Cecil, a medical student, and she has one of the many comic parts in the play. She says, "Somehow I can't seem to get the hang of stage British."

George Langanfan, director of the play says, "The prime prerequisite for acting in this free-for-all show seems to be physical stamina. We were thinking of advertising for 100-yard dashers for the cast."

An experienced scene designer from down-town got wind that Ken Martin, male lead, wears a pair of red, polka-dotted shorts in one of the scenes. Racing out to the campus, he proposed that we take pictures of Ken in said shorts (Answer shortly), then his store would feature the pix in the window, thus giving the show publicity.

ADVICE TO EMPTY-CAR DRIVERS

By JANET PIERCE

The Fourth of July has rocketed through to the tune of fire-crackers and roman candles and once more we, as a nation, are officially independent.

Yes, and it took a lot of people to make it official. Washington, Jefferson, Henry, Nathan Hale and other patriots down through the centuries. Even today people are still fighting to keep us free.

It is something to think about now and then. . . .

HELPFUL HAND—It seems that many of the new students this summer who are fortunate enough to have cars don't know the tradition which has been established around this school. During the regular months of college if a group of students are standing on the bus corner waiting in the hot sun, the person who rolls up with an empty car going to town wouldn't think of passing these pedestrians by. He would pile the car full and then some all to town. The same holds true of the bus stop at West campus.

Unfortunately, this summer tells another tale. Many cars drive pass these stops and never consider picking up a regular fixture—maybe the same person will do you a favor some time. Think of that old rule—Do unto others . . .

GREAT SERVICE . . . It sure is good to see all the Girl Sisters blossoming around the campus studying and exercising their right as women in the political field.

Not too long ago women weren't allowed to participate in politics. Then came Women's Suffrage with the 19th amendment giving them the right to vote. But, they were still in the dark. They had no education in intelligent, sensible use of their new freedom.

Now, as the American Legion sponsors the boys, the American Legion Auxiliary brings outstanding high school girl session to the capital city to build and perpetuate the ideals of their own.

The girls are not only instructed in state government, but in city and county governmental administration as well. They are taught how to nominate, and elect officials, and then perform the duties of the elected officer.

The American Legion and its Auxiliary are doing the country a great service with their sponsoring of Girls and Boys States. All over the country, these high school seniors meet and are educated in their government by the very ones who are keeping democracy stronger and more efficient in years to come.

I'LL BE DUNN

LAUNDRY SERVICE AND CAFE FRENCH

By BILL DUNN

A lot has been said in previous editions about all of the differences of summer school as compared with the regular session. Some of the other columnists have pointed out the various changes but I would like to mention something that is still the same old self—the university laundry.

Yep, this oversized cement-mixer is still going on its merry way as a big, noisy, ever-expanding holes in socks and ranking bitter with the students. Time seems to make it only more perfection in shrinking of clothes.

I overheard one boy say that he would like to see the machine that the university laundry has. When asked what machine that was, he said, "The machine that tears the buttons off your shirts and pushes them through your socks."

I wondered myself if there were a way to get your clothes back from the laundry intact. A decent and was told that if I sent them in with a laundry ticket marked "special" that they would come back looking fine.

Well, I tried that but that didn't help much. Instead of getting my clothes special, they made out a parcel post receipt. It still tore up my clothes accompanied by that. That happened the next time and so I don't thank that it was an exceptional "accident." The boy who worked in the laundry room also said that he could not understand it.

Of course, having my laundry done special may not be what helped it any more but I was thinking that it would be nice if the university rates are more reasonable than those of Tallahassee laundries. In any rate, the Senior Hall automatic washer has helped many to solve their laundry problems.

GEORGE BOLDI told me the other day about an experience that he had in his First French class. That class, upon hearing that there were quite a few veterans in the class, asked if any of them had ever been in France. About five of them, including George, said that they had been there.

Next, the teacher asked if any of those knowledge about a little French. George, quite proud of his wife French, said that he thought that he could have any trouble going into a restaurant and ordering something. So, the asked him to order a bottle of wine. To this George replied with, "Oh, that's Parisian French.

After he had finished his translation of it, it was very polite of you. You have just asked the waiter if he would like a glass of wine."

THE STUDENTS are certainly being confused back summer in certain women's dorms. They are being greeted by friendly residence counselors for a change. Let's hope that this same spirit prevails in the fall.

SOME OF the fraternities this summer are certainly more active than they are during the regular term. Judging from some of the stuff that they have been having, you wouldn't think that they organized activity at all.

KING'S KNIGHTS

ODYSSEY OF CHARLIE—BOOK I

By EMORY KING

I thought you should know about Charlie. Charlie is not an FSU student, but, as much as I hate to admit it, he is a part of our campus.

While all the other FSU students are busy making plans for a real, honest-to-goodness Charlie to cut making passes at the women.

Charlie is that little Flambeau reporter who gives us the ups on the big stories that we miss. Sort of a gremlin of the copy-paper type.

Many people ask Flambeau reporters how they found out about a story and such a story. Well most of us say it's none of your business and go on about our work, but the truth is that Charlie has been hard at work again.

Charlie first came to the Flambeau in 1824. You see all newspapers have to start off on one sort or another. They are supplied with news from wires that cover newspapers. But college newspapers get the best gremlins because they need them more than the big newspapers.

Charlie has been a big secret at the Flambeau for two years. Only the editors have known of his presence. But lately Charlie has been getting out of hand. He wants publicity. New among the directors that rules Charlie. However, there's nothing we can do about it. General gremlin regulations says that no gremlin replace Charlie because of the great gremlin law of averages. (Their casualty lists are increasing every day. One of these days we will lost in Argentina recently).

So you see we have to give Charles the hates that name some publicity or else he can do us a lot of harm. You will remember last semester we lost two editors. That was Charlie acting up. He was mad because we left off his name in the paper, so he gave the editor some "mis-information."

BEHIND THE IVY

WHAT PRICE PROGRESS ? ?

By BOB TIPPINS

"This above all, to thine own self be true . . ."

Several criticisms have been voiced about the tone of my column. The general complaint from these critics is that this writer criticizes too indiscriminately and congratulates too infrequently.

Justification—or at least explanation—is, I suppose, in order . . . In order to relate my writer as my readers.

Contrary to possible implication, I am not blind to the accomplishments of the FSU administration. The Florida Legislature or anyone else about whom I editorialize.

Yet, I definitely do not believe that we should rest on our laurels.

Changes are made through constant, repetitive complaints about undesirable situations. Back-patting is fine . . . if only done during the respite before the pursuit of perfection begins anew

A satisfied state is a stagnant state. Rome became such a state, and it fell. Charlet Russia became such a state, and it fell.

An effective government or administration must be alive, active and open to constructive proposals. If the voice of the people isn't heeded, revolution will result. Or outside interests will move in to fill the political void left by the people.

Eventually, it is hoped, some one editorial or speech will provide the spark to the maximum of power that is being built up. Then, the constructive changes will be made . . . but only after careful consideration of the direction of the proposed change, and the solution by which the discontent and progressive purpose to correct it.

This method of gradual, beneficial policy conversion has succeeded in the past . . . and very effectively. I surmise that admitting that we have problems is the first step toward their solution.

Also and aloud, I've been remembering the words of that Charlie's wanderings. I hope you like him as much as we do. He's really a nice guy. He's publicity crazy right now.

Here's a note he left for me: "To Ring, from Jerusarle. Room 16 in Building 513, West campus, needs cleaning. Probably don't realize it in buses every morning. See Mr Brewer."

Another reads: "Why don't you write an editorial about the way the grounds look this summer are not very nice about picking up students for rides in their automobiles. Also the town. These new people on the campus probably don't realize that it is traditional and helpful to the students."

That's Charlie. Always looking out for the students. Why if I remember one time he stayed up all night writing a story about a kidnapping. It turned out to be a joke, but he was worried about the students involved.

This publication considers the FSU administration as an agency of the students . . . One which should be representative of the students . . . One whose policies should reflect, judiciously, the students' demands.

First Play Will Be Comedy

The curtain will go up at 8:15 Wednesday night on See How They Run, the first of the FSU speech department's summer plays.

COMBINING the resources and skills of actors and technical crew, Mr Lazenetas, the director, and assistants have worked continuously to live up to, and present, a first class drama to the public.

Technical rehearsal for the play will be held tomorrow night. The finishing touches will be added in the Monday and Tuesday night dress rehearsals.

The play, written by Philip King, is concerned with an unmarried lady, a reverend and his wife, a bishop, another reverend, a corporal, a sergeant, an intruder, and the inevitable maid.

THE PLOT of the farce comedy which, according to the newspaper critics, "leaves them rolling in the aisles," evolves around mistaken identities and other reconstudies resulting from intermittent visits by an uproarious intruder.

Almost every bit of the old slapstick comedy is here, plus many new, original lines adding to the hilarity of the show.

THE CAST, which Includes Sharon Lane, Veronica Croll, Ken Martin, Gordon Storm, Bill Upshaw, Francis Sherman, Roland Kennon, Bill Peterson, and Glen Gordon, under the direction of George Langenfass, has molded the production into shape in three weeks.

The performance will be given in the Conradi theater, History Building. Tickets may be obtained at the box office entrance on the two presentation nights, July 11 and 12. Student admission price has been reduced to 44 cents.

Art Professors Plan Study, Travel Afar

Members of the Florida State University Department of Art are planning to further their art studies, travel abroad, and do research work during the summer months.

PROF EDMOND LEWANDOWSKI, acting department head, said Miss Laura C Lee, FSU assistant professor of art, has already left for Scotland, where she will attend a summer course at the University of Edinburgh. After completing this course Miss Lee plans to visit historic European art centers such as cathedrals, museums and art galleries.

Miss Alice Kern, instructor of art, is carrying on her studies at Columbia University in a combination of summer courses extending over a period of 10 weeks. Her studies are being made in fields of Design and Fashion Illustrations. While in New York, Miss Kern also plans to visit the larger and most important art museums and art galleries throughout the east.

PROF ADOLPH KARL, acting associate professor of art, is spending the summer in New York completing a research project on which he has been working during his leisure time for the last five years.

His study is entitled "The New York Realists, 1900-1913," and is concerned with such well known American artists as George Bellows, Robert Henri, John Sloan and George Lucas.

MISS FLORENCE KAWA, instructor of Design and Composition, who has won numerous awards for her work, is now showing an exhibit of her latest work at the Contemporary Arts Gallery in New York, a gallery with which she has been associated for some time.

She plans to enroll at the Cranbrook Academy of Art in Bloomfield Hills, Michigan, for a summer course where she will continue her art studies and work with a number of important and outstanding young American artists.

Miss Kawa also plans to travel to points within the midwest area this summer to observe and study the many art projects being carried on in that section of the country.

National Draft Test Set for Saturday, Announces DeGraff

The National Selective Service Qualification Test was administered Saturday, June 30, by the FSU Test Service Bureau, Director Mark De Graff supervised the federal draft deferment examination.

THE TEST was available to applicants who had previously registered with local draft boards to request occupational deferment as a student.

Examinations, received under express signature, were completed under a stiff proctoring system. Papers, returned to Princeton University by the same protective procedure, will be evaluated there.

Results of the test will be sent to local draft boards, and each individual applicant for educational deferment will be notified of the results.

THREE EXAMINATIONS have been given, on May 26, June 16 and June 30. Approximately 500 men have taken the examinations, according to Dr De Graff's estimate.

Another special test is scheduled by the Test Service Bureau for 8:30 a m Wednesday, July 11, 1951. This will be held for men whose religious convictions prevented taking the examination on Saturday, June 30.

Baptists Plan Many Summer Activities

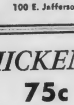
BAPTIST

The Baptist Student Union has organized completely for the summer session. Each week several activities are planned at the Student House, 641 West Call street. Vespers are on Tuesday at 7:30 p m. This week Miss Miriam Robinson, speech teacher at the WMU Training School, will speak. WYA's are held on Thursday at 7:30 p m. Every Saturday, 7-10 p m, is Play night.

At the First Baptist Church there is a University Department of both Sunday School and BTU. A supper is held for students at 5:45 p m on Sunday, with the BSU choir meeting each Sunday night.

EPISCOPAL

As a follow-up to their Fourth of July beach party, the Canterbury Club is sponsoring a lawn party and fish fry at Ruze Hall this Sunday night. Following the Evening Prayer Service at 5:30, there will be an outdoor supper, and women will compete with men in a paper-plate discus-throwing and a table tennis sweet.



CATHOLIC

The Newman club beach party, first large scale social event of the summer session, will be held Sunday, July 8, at St Theresa's Beach, announced James Wilkie, vice president. Newcomers are urged to bring their friends for a day of fun. Anyone with an extra automobile will be most welcome as transportation facilities are a bit slack.

'Gasamobile' Featured In Red Skelton Movie

By JOEL P SMITH

With Red Skelton cast as the inventor of a horseless carriage in the horse-n'-ere of 1895, MGM has turned out a technicolor musical, "Excuse My Dust," which brings a carload of laughs and a flock of new song hits to the Florida screen Sunday for a run through Tuesday.

SKELTON HAS one of the most exasperating roles of his laugh career as the small-town boy with big-time ideas of the future of the automobile. Not even the determined opposition of his fiancee's father, owner of the town's livery stable, can deter him. After a series of rib-tickling fetials and tribulations in which he almost burns down his barn in his experiments with the gasmobile and faces the loss of his sweetheart to the son of the local banker, he gloriously vindicates himself by boxing out his rival in a race for a $1,000 purse, a race which for suspense, ingenious accidents, horseplay and howling situations is sure to thrill Red Skelton fans.

There are previous successful turn-of-the-century musical, "Two Weeks With Love." Director Roy Rowland and Producer Jack Cummings have infused their story with appropriate song and dance interludes.

SKELTON PROVES himself as adept at warbling a tune as he does at getting uproarious reaction at the wheel of his unpredictable gasamobile, and at the same time achieves a dramatic tour-de-force in completely winning the sympathy and encouragement of his audience in his efforts to make his horseless conveyance work in the face of overwhelming obstacles.

HE'S A COCKEYED WONDER

It's an action of the prize ring that a good big man can beat a good little man, any time. But leave it to diminutive Mickey Rooney to prove otherwise. Mickey, in Columbia's comedy, "He's a Cockeyed Wonder," co-starring Terry Moore, routs stalwart Mike Mazurki with, of course an able assist from scriptwriter Jack Henley.

IN THE PROCESS Mickey and Terry manage to convulse the audience as the little guy manages to get the upper hand over a big galoot. "He's a Cockeyed Wonder" comes to the State theatre for a two-day run next Monday and Tuesday.

Mickey is a sad sack given to mooning over pretty Miss Moore. His chief romantic rival, Rods Ford, is nephew of the owner of the ocean package plant where Mickey and Terry are co-workers. Terry's dad, Trollan Demarest, is the foreman when Mickey is fired for writing notes to his daughter during working hours.

WHAT TO DO AND WHEN

Student Stunt Night Slated for Tomorrow

By DEE STEVENS

Next to the weather, recreation has probably claimed the most attention on campus the last few days. The Fourth provided an off-season weekend and the opportunity for picnics and beach parties. The results were several hundred barbequed Hemingway's and ghastly, blood-shot or closed eyes in class yesterday. Last Tuesday night's free skating party attracted the largest crowd this season. Twenty people went on the deep-sea fishing trip Sunday and 200 journeyed to Marianna Caves the day before.

But lest you feel you're mixed out on all the activity, there's more to come. "Anna and the King of Siam" will be along to entertain this evening at the free movie in the amphitheater.

Tomorrow night will be the first and only showing of the suspenseous Stunt Night of Summer School 1951 with local talent giving the Artist Series talent competition.

For those who prefer their recreation more active, the next deep-sea fishing trip will be coming up on July 16. Mr Ed Williamson, who is in charge of the fishing trips, also loves the intramural activities, which feature a soft-ball league.

Golf is shooting is quite the popular thing this summer with Mr and Mrs John Stead doing the calling at the Student Union dances. The couple are the envy of the other dancers when, after a few rounds the friends are interesting and cool while the unskilled are breathing in gripping.

Last night featured the first showing of the newly arrived uniforms of the School of Nursing in the forum in Broward parlor. Dean Duxbury, head of the school, led the forum on nursing, and one of the students modeled the uniform. The forums are part of the recreation program for the summer.

Next Saturday, July 14, there will be a tour of Wakulla, but chances are the resurrectful FSU student has plans of his own for this Saturday and a classless day.

Spanish Professors Compile Atlas On The Latin Countries

Drs D Lincoln Canfield and Herberto Lacayo will travel to El Salvador and Nicaragua, respectively, at the close of the summer session. They are working on a research project under the direction of Dr Thomas Navarro, of Columbia university, who was a visiting professor at Florida State University this past spring semester.

During their one-month stay, the Spanish professors will be collecting material for a linguistic atlas of the countries mentioned. "A linguistic atlas," says Dr Lacayo, "is an extensive survey of the languages patterns and habits of a country."

THE IDEA OF a language atlas originated in France and Germany about the end of the 19th century. In this country the research is being carried out by Hans Kurath, who has already mapped out New England and Virginia.

When completed the atlas will be of much use to linguists, geographers, and sociologists. "Such an atlas," Dr Canfield tells us, "would reveal trends in migration, study of population, occupational interests, psychological traits and even climate influences."

The two professors will carry on their research through interviews with people in all walks of life, from every region of the country. "From the Indians to the diplomats," says Dr Lacayo. They will ask leading questions and note the answers carefully with respect to pronunciation, meanings of words and their relationships to each other.

WORK IS BEING done in other Spanish speaking countries also. Dr Canfield informed us. Porto Rico and part of Mexico have been completely mapped. Guatemala is still in the process. Eventually the atlases of all the Spanish speaking countries will be compiled and compared with that of the mother country, Spain. The Spanish atlas was completed just recently under the direction of Dr Navarro. Drs Lacayo and Canfield received much valuable information on methods of research during Dr Navarro's stay here last semester.

Southern 'Home Remedies' Called Dangerous by Jordan

Home remedies for disease have often produced more violent effects than the malady proper. This has been brought to light in a study by Dr W T Jordan, professor of history at Florida State University. Dr Jordan's work on the history of the South from 1800-1860, conducted under two grants from the Social Science Research Council, is soon to be completed. One phase of the study is medical treatment.

HOME REMEDIES, some of a startling nature, were used for both real and imaginary ailments, according to Dr Jordan. Preventive medicine during the last century was virtually unknown. The rural and agricultural areas of the South produced horrifying types of treatment.

It was a common practice for the head of the family to keep a diary of medical practices on man and beast. One favorite and widely advertised cure from the journal of a Southern family concerned the following treatment: "Red Chickwee is a specific remedy in hydrophobia or bite of a mad dog. The dose for an adult is a small tablespoon of the dried leaves in powder. For beasts the dose is much larger. Red Chickwee is also called red pimpernal."

MANY HERBS, roots, and other natural ingredients used in bygone days are still in repute today. Many have been pronounced sound by pharmacists and physicians.

There were very few doctors in the early South, and medical training, in comparison with present standards, was quite inadequate. Twenty-five different types of doctors were listed in the Niles Weekly Register of October 15, 1836, a New York publication. This document listed the following physicians: Regulars, Irregulars, Broussaians, Sangrsdorians, Morrisonians, Brandrethians, Beechiarians, Botanics, Thomasonians, Reformed Thomasonians, theoretical, practical, experimental, homeopathians, dogmatical emblematical, magnetical, electrical, chemical, botanical, dentists and florists.

Hence the collecting of cures by families was a common thing. Lists of home remedies were gathered from daily newspapers, travelers, and friends.

DR JORDAN'S RESEARCH illustrates the great strides made in medicine during the past hundred years. In addition to this OLD PATENT MEDICINE—Dr W T Jordan, history professor, has done research of home remedies in connection with Southern life in the 19th century. Old home remedies never die, they just kill other people.

Demonstration School Gets Needed Rooms

Workmen are busy putting new rooms in the Demonstration School. The school has had a busy year and now is doing its summer house cleaning while students are on vacation for the summer.

The demonstration school is the proving ground for many of our future teachers in this state. Many of the education majors here, specializing in elementary and junior high school teaching, do their first work in the rooms of the dem school.

IN OCTOBER, the school got a new principal. Dr Eugene M Boyce was appointed by Dr Doak S Campbell. Dr Boyce taught educational administration and served in the US Navy during World War II. In 1942 he went to Columbus High School in Columbus, Ga. as its principal.

In December, the students presented a Christmas fantasy called "_____ And Visions of Sugar Plums". The entire student body of the school took part in the production.

In March, a rovina Flambeau reporter discovered a student newspaper at the dem school called the Junior Flambeau. Pictures of the staff and their advisor were taken and a story followed in the Flambeau.

FOR MAY DAY, the school put on its traditional May Day program, with a mock parade of goblins, jesters, elves and the like.

The demonstration school expects to do even more next year with the advent of new facilities "more and better space," said one of the teachers. "Will make more and better teachers and studen for the State of Florida."

Letter to the Ed: Upshaw Upset

Dear Editor

We wish to complain about the publication of certain excreta in last week's issue of the Flambeau on page two, lower center section, euphemistically entitled "Poetically Yours."

Mr Aiken's "subjective" opinion of blondes and brunettes is the most nauseating example of gross vulgarity that we have ever had the misfortune to see.

It is because of such putrescence as this that poetry has fallen into disrepute of late. We suggest Mr Aiken use the latrine rather than the Flambeau.

Viennese Exchange Visits FSU, Likes American Education

Dr Stephenie Dollar, of Vienna is visiting Florida State University under the auspices of the FSU School Education and Department of Modern Languages. Dr Dollar is a principal of a Viennese school, called Madchen eral gymnasium here. She is visiting the United States for the first time through the teacher exchange program.

DR DOLLAR spoke recently to a class of doctoral candidates and graduate students on curriculum planning as it is done in Vienna. This class is making a study of curriculum planning and program construction in school systems both in America and abroad.

Says Dr Dollar, "Your buildings here, your library facilities, your Democratic system of allowing the students to select their own subjects. It's all very wonderful. I have been extended much of American cordiality, and I am very grateful for the opportunities offered me as a foreign visitor to see your school systems in action."

Dr Dollar is most interested in the manner in which handicapped children are allowed to attend regular public schools along with normal students, for Europeans separate the two groups.

ENGLISH IS NOW the principal language being taught in Austria according to the Viennese teacher.

In conclusion, she said—"I will take back will me many wonderful memories of kind treatment from your people here. I will be able to tell many of my people how your school system is consistantly serving to make Democracy work in America."

Dr Campbell States Summer No Problem

Dr Doak S Campbell, Florida State University President, has cited the fact that summer session has brought no special problems to the administration. Development advancing program of FSU in terms of building projects and academic-student welfare is always on the official agenda.

According to Dr Campbell, the summer school enrollment, while slightly higher than before (Editor's Note: Flambeau statistics say this summer's enrollment is lower than last summer's. The figures are: This summer, 2,885 students; last summer 3,035 students.) has followed the normal pattern. The number of graduate

New Displays Arrive For School Museum

By EMORY KING

The old idea that a museum should be a dark and dingy place is out at the Florida State University Museum. Hale G Smith, director of the museum said, "The traditional musty, depressing atmosphere of a museum is a thing of the past, and good riddance."

THE NEW MUSEUM is housed on the fourth floor of the Seminole Club cafeteria. The collection dates over an 1,100-year period from 400 A. D. to 1500 A. D.

Mary Carter, whose husband, John V Carter, is an import and export man, gave the collection to the institution when it was Florida State College for Women. She was a student of the college in the late 1930's.

She gave the display in 1943, the year the collection was established as the Mary and John Carter collection of valuable artifacts from prehistoric Peru.

LATEST INTEREST in the museum was displayed through the appointment of Hale G Smith, from the University of Michigan.

Smith was employed here in Florida by the State Park Service for about 18 months in 1946-1947. He has a deep established interest in Florida and the state, and is especially anxious to broaden the FSU archeological and ethnological museum here.

Dealing with prehistoric Peru, the display of the future for the Mary Carter collection will be shaped up somethin like this.

SHOWING OF STATE techniques of the people of prehistoric Peru; animal, bird and fish representations of the prehistoric Peruvian vessels.

All of the displays will be in

New, Modern UG To Feature Brick, Plate-Glass Doors

Many hearts were broken when the University Grill burned down last spring. The place landed about 3 a m and by morning all that was left was charred wood and ashes, and the remains of tired machines.

The most regular customers, together with others, lost the economical food and cheerful service and the informal atmosphere which pervaded the late Grill.

But the University Grill is expected to be resurrected by this fall, according to Mr Albritton, of Albritton and Williams, contractors.

The wreckage of the old Grill has been carried away and the ground cleared for the construction of a new and more modern establishment.

The 1,000 plot of ground will serve not only as the foundation for the new Grill, but will also hold a barber shop, clothing store, dry cleaning establishment, and a bookstore, which will be associated with the university book store.

THE NEW University Grill building will be constructed of roman brick, with glass doors and windows, containing plate glass throughout. This will be another step in modernizing the buildings on and near the FSU campus.

The other annexes to the main building will be of the same general construction. The bookstore is to be on the south side, and the cleaners will be situated on the north side facing in that direction. The Grill will face the Education building as before.

When vacationing students return in the cannot help but fear that they may be surprised to see their "home away from home," the University Grill, standing again.

According to Mr Albritton, the crew of builders is working hard to complete construction by September, the beginning of fall and a new school year.

Summer Flambeau

VOL. XXXVII, No. 4 — PUBLISHED BY STUDENTS OF FLORIDA STATE UNIVERSITY, TALLAHASSEE, FLORIDA — Friday, July 13, 1951

3rd Artist Series Is Comedy Review

Comedy Through the Ages, the third program in this summer's Artist Series, will be presented in the outdoor amphitheater at 8:15 p m Wednesday, July 19.

Comedy Through the Ages is an historical review of famous scenes and characters which have made audiences laugh for several thousand years. Edward A. Wright, originator and producer of Comedy Through the Ages is head of the theater department at Denison University in Granville, Ohio. The two stars, David Brands and Frederick Bogart, have been outstanding students at Denison.

THE SKETCHES range from the classic Greeks to the modern comedy of radio and television. They are a living anthology of scenes, skits, characters and buffoonery presented by two supremely gifted young artists.

Dr Wright began his career in the theater at 14, and has personally appeared before more than 4000 audiences throughout the United States. Before his career in theatre, radio and concert field he turned to college teaching and was established at Denison University one of the leading departments of theater in the country.

THE TWO BOYS first met at Denison and are fraternity brothers. Their originality, wit and humor became a part of the Wright theater. They had roles in the Denison summer theater and their popularity, their perfect sense of timing, deep appreciation for comedy values, and ability to work together prompted Edward A Wright to suggest the idea for their present program.

DAVID BRANDS was born and grew up in New York City. His career started and training in the theater was via the dance. In 1950 he showed a great flair for comedy and was cited by Albert and Sullivan productions.

Frederick Bogart, from childhood, took roles in school and community theater productions. He chose Denison University, as it was noted for its superior dramatic programs, and later was taken as the first apprentice in their summer theater—a professional company.

In case of rain the show will be presented in Dodd Hall. Students may be admitted on their I D cards. There will be no reserved seats.

Veteran's Deadline For Enrollment Set

Plans for the enrollment of veterans before July 25 deadline have been announced by the office of Registrar Randolph Preccy. Two registration dates for veterans have been approved by the Council of Deans and the Faculty Council. On July 13 there will be registration for those veterans who are school teachers and who will be teaching during the next year. They may register for a weeks directed individual study course, followed by a five weeks short course. This will enable these veterans to get credit for the five weeks which is required for validating their certificates of eligibility for future use.

The first week's registration is July 23. This will be the registration time for veterans who could not enroll previously and who plan to be enrolled throughout the next school year.

News Staff Holds Compulsory Meeting

A compulsory meeting of all Flambeau reporters will be held Monday, 5 p m, in the Flambeau office.

All reporters and students desiring to join the Flambeau staff as either a reporter or feature writer should attend.

Another in a series of lectures on "How to Become a Reporter" will be delivered by Henry Rice, associate news editor, after the regular business.

Textile Show Is Sponsored By Art Gallery

Exhibition on Display Until July 25 Features Silk Screen Prints

The art gallery opened its new show last night with a collection of printed textiles, the work of students of Reine Randall of Central Washington College.

The exhibition which is open to the public daily until July 25, features silk screen prints on fabrics designed and executed in the eliminating term project of a beginning design class.

THE COLLECTION consists chiefly of prints suitable for drapery material. Designs range from free 'form linear patterns to geometric figures. There are a few of animal subject matter.

Silk Screen is a stencil process which originated with the Chinese many centuries ago. Until recently it has been a technique largely overlooked in the fine art field.

Silk Screen techniques were brought to a new level of development during the Federal Art Project.

DEVELOPMENT OF the silk screen in the fine art field has brought a new dimension of refinement and enrichment in technique in the commercial field.

The process involves the use of a sheet of silk which is coated with a masking agent, except where color is to appear on the printed object.

Paint is then applied to the silk. On the unmasked portions. It prints strongly to the surface on which the finished design is to appear.

IN THE current gallery show, printing was done on bleached muslin, lawn and burlap of various colors.

For each color used in the silk screen print, a separate stencil must be made. The prints in the collection from Central Washington College use one or two colors in addition to the background of the fabric.

Summer Term Band Presents Concert In Outdoor Theatre

The Summer School Band will present its second concert of the season Monday evening, July 16, at 8:15 p m in the Music Amphitheater. Mr James J Nebes, conductor of the band, has announced that in case of rain the program will be presented in the Music Hall.

The program will feature William P Cramer as trombone soloist in a selection by Arthur Pryor entitled Thoughts of Love—Valse de Concert. Professor Eugene Crabb, assistant director of the band, will conduct a selection from the musical comedy Caravan by Richard Rogers and Percy Langhetto from Beethoven's Symphony No 2, arranged by Mayhew Lake.

Two Hungarian Dances by Brahms and selections from Handel's Water Music Suite will be played. The band will perform three numbers from Vincent Persichetti's Divertimento for Band. The program will also include selected marches and novelties.

Seminoles to Face Six New Opponents

The FSU Seminoles will face six new football opponents next fall.

The new teams are University of Miami, Sus Ross State, Delta State, Jacksonville Navy, Wofford College and Bradley University.

All opponents on the nine-game 1951 football schedule are new except Troy State, Tampa and Stetson.

Moving up in the ranks, the Seminoles will lead off their schedule by tackling the powerful University of Miami in their home territory.

Speech Production 'See How They Run' Ended Last Night

The first speech department production of the 1951 summer season, See How They Run, was presented last night at 8:15 in the Augusta Conrad Little Theater. The play, written by Philip King, was directed by George Lanzendan.

THE SHOW, a three-act farce comedy concerned the antics of a reverend and his wife beset by an old maid, a corporal, two other servicemen, a constable, a maid and a mysterious intruder. Mistaken identities added to the general hilarity.

The FSU cast included Sharon Lane, Veronica Cecil, Ken Martin, Julie Storm, Bill Upshaw, Roland Keeton, Francis Sherman, Bill Peterson, and Glen Gordon. Dominique and Roark, two cocker spaniels, furnished outside talent.

FACULTY SUPERVISOR of production was Dr George McCalmon. Scenery designed by Mr William Kinzer, was carried out by his personal direction of construction and painting. Costumes, make-up, and properties were handled by Miss Rebecca Grimes.

Roger Busfield was in charge of publicity, while Mr Carl Zerke served as business manager.

The student technical staff was headed by assistant director Ken Martin. The two stage managers were William Tebo and Sara Margaret Davis. Costume committee members were Mary Haller and Laurene Wallace. Properties staff

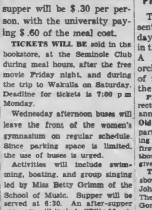
Jernigan To Become Queens College Prexy

Dr Charlton C Jernigan, head of the department of classics has accepted a position as president of Queens College in Charlotte, North Carolina, effective August 1. This was announced by Dr Doak S Campbell, and the Board of Trustees of Queens College.

DR JERNIGAN, a native of North Carolina, has been at FSU for the past two years, having come here as a professor of classics and department head. He holds AB, AM and PhD degrees in Greek and Latin from Duke University and the University of Chicago.

He has written a book, "Inconsistity in the Plays of Aristophanes," and numerous reviews and articles appearing in professional journals. He is listed in Who's Who in America.

ACCORDING TO Dr Jernigan, Queens College is affiliated with the Southern Presbyterian church. Queens, now 93 years old, is exclusively a women's college with a highly selected enrollment. Dr Jernigan has said that he is considering the possibility of co-education there soon.



The challenge to take over the administration of a top-flight church affiliated college and contribute to its further development offered an opportunity he could not refuse, according to Dr Jernigan. He believes such institutions have an important educational contribution to make along with our state universities.

"I AM LEAVING Florida State University and Tallahassee with much reluctance." Dr Jernigan said. "In my personal opinion FSU represents the most significant development in higher education in the South in the past quarter of a century. The growth of the university, the leadership provided by President Campbell and quality of its faculty is attracting much attention from

Nursing School Recieves New Uniforms for Students

The School of Nursing, the newest school on the campus, has received its new uniforms, added two new members to its faculty, and created several new courses.

The aim of the School of Nursing is to graduate a professional nurse as an individual and to guide her to make adjustments not only to professional nursing, but to life as well.

SEPTEMBER IS the regular time for enrollment in the School of Nursing. Students are advised against enrolling during a summer session as this tends to lengthen the program.

In her first year the student nurse will receive a general education only. She will have courses in sociology, English composition, foods and nutrition, history, physical education, psychology, chemistry, speech, humanities, introduction to nursing, and one in drugs and solutions as used in hospitals. There is no clinical experience whatever in the first year.

GIRLS IN their second year begin to wear uniforms and spend a few hours a week at practice experience at one of the local hospitals. However, they still continue to be on the general education here at the university.

Third year students leave Tallahassee to intern at one of two of the state hospitals. The School of Nursing is planning to use these hospitals as clinics and all nursing students from FSU will be sent there during their third year.

In their senior year the girls

Music Camp Begins Five-Week Program

Picnic to Come On Wednesday

Slated to Begin at 4 p.m., Chicken Dinner for 30c

The All-University Picnic at Camp Flastacowo will be open to students, faculty, and staff on Wednesday, July 18, from four until eight p m. Tickets for the fried chicken supper will be $.30 per person, with the university paying $.60 of the meal cost.

TICKETS WILL BE sold in the bookstores, at the Seminole Club during meal hours, after the free movie Friday night, and during the trip to Wakulla on Saturday. Deadline for tickets is 7:00 p m Monday.

Wednesday afternoon buses will leave the front of the women's gymnasium on regular schedule. Since parking space is limited, the use of buses is urged.

Activities will include swimming, boating, and group singing led by Miss Betty Grimm of the School of Music. Supper will be served at 6:30. A floor-supper program will include "Billy Moe's Menace," a swimming act, and a bathing beauty show.

MEN'S LIVING UNITS will nominate candidates for the beauty contest, and the first six names turned in before Tuesday at noon to the Dean of Men's office will be selected for the contest.

The contest will be closed except to ticket-holders.

121 High School Musicians Attend Annual Summer Course

Music will be in the air all over the campus for the next five weeks, when 121 outstanding high school musicians from Florida and adjoining states gather here for the tenth annual Music Camp.

According to J Dayton Smith, camp registrar, most of the campers are usually from Florida, but this year they are coming from Georgia, Alabama, Mississippi, Ohio, and Arizona as well.

THE "MUSICAMPERS" will participate in band, orchestra, and chorus, according to their wishes and abilities. The music organizations will present a concert each Sunday evening in the Music Outdoor Theater. All attending Musicamps may take part in this work.

There will be private lessons for each camper, and solo performances will be encouraged through instruction with artist teachers. Each student will receive private lessons on his or her major instrument, his voice, or in baton twirling and operetta production.

THE HIGH SCHOOL students will be housed in university dormitories. A complete recreation program will be provided under full time recreational directors. Including swimming, tennis, stunt night, and day trips.

The total expense of the course will be around $116.80. This includes meals, recreation, instruction, registration, laundry, room, and post office box. There is no extra charge for out-of-state high school students. There is also no loss and breakage fee this summer. Flambeau students may attend as day students. The total fee of day students will be only $48.50 for five weeks.

THE MUSIC CAMP will be climaxed by a dinner and final gala concert on Thursday, August 16, with special numbers being presented by each of the groups with direction of their musical conductors. Faculty directors for the Camp organizations will be Otto Kraushaar of Lake Wales, director of band events; Oliver Rohrs of Leon High, assistant director of band division; Herman Gunter of FSU, director of choral division, and Eugene Crabb of FSU, director of orchestra division.

Choral Union Plans Concert

Vocal Group to Present Program on Wednesday

The Choral Union will present a program next Wednesday evening, July 18, at 8:15 in the Music Outdoor Theatre. A fantasia for chorus and orchestra by Dr Irvin Cooper of the music faculty will be the principal work.

PROF HERMAN GUNTER, director of the Choral Union, has announced that Dr Cooper's The Old Love would form the central part of the performance. According to Dr Gunter, this will be the first American presentation, although the composition has been given several times in Canada.

THE OLD LOVE was written about nine years ago in a text by John Buchan, a Canadian poet. The music has been published by Theodore Presser Co, of Toronto.

THE PROGRAM will vary from 16th century to present-day music. Two selections by Palestrina and a chorus from Handel's oratorio Samson will be included, as well as several Prof Wyeth arrangements. The Woodchuck Song will be among the latter. Miriam Kirkman will be baritone soloist in Now the Day Is Over.

Term Music Camp This Year Features Class in Twirling

One of the unusual features of this year's Music Camp, according to Dean Karl Exnerstner, director of the Camp, will be a daily class in baton twirling.

Frank S Lanius, young twirling champion from Jacksonville, will take charge of the twirling classes. Lanier has won several twirling awards, crowned champion of Florida twirlers last year, and won first place in the Southeastern Baton Twirling contest at Pensacola last month.

AN OPERETTA will be another attraction offered for the first time in this summer's camp session. Prof Herman Gunter, director of the Choral Division of the Camp, said today he hopes to produce the novel opera, "Let's Make an Opera," by the contemporary British composer, Benjamin Britten.

Band and orchestra will form an important part of the musical activities. Prof Owen Bellers, assistant director of the Camp, said today that both organizations will present a weekly concert in the Outdoor Theater on Sunday evenings.

Dr Canfield Speaks To Civitan Club

Dr D Lincoln Canfield, head of the department of speech and languages, made a humorous talk before the Tallahassee Civitan Club Monday, July 9, entitled "English As She Is Spoke."

The message showed how English is spoken in various countries and gave different interpretations and pronunciations affecting the meaning of the words. Dr Canfield will give the same talk July 16, before the Civitan Club, Alabama, Rotary Club, in Dothan.

Knobler's Paintings To Be on Exhibition

Twenty-two oil paintings representing the work of Lois Jean Knobler for her masters degree in art will be on exhibition in the University Gallery, July 16-25.

CELEBRATING the opening of Miss Knobler's one-man show, a special reception will be held in her honor from 4 p m to 6 p m. Art patrons are cordially invited to attend.

Both Mrs Knobler and her husband Nathan, have been students of Prof Edmund Lewandowski, acting head of the department of Art and nationally famed artist.

There is no special category in art to which Mrs Knobler attaches herself. Her self says she paints what she can comprehend.

"I do hold one strong conviction," she says, "that painting no excuses are necessary for sincerity and simplicity, and no excuses are possible for affection and artificiality."

MRS KNOBLER received her Bachelor's decree last June from the College of Fine Arts at Syracuse University where she majored in painting. She now specializes in fashion. She is working toward her masters degree which she expects to receive at the end of the summer session.

Mr Knobler received his masters degree in art from the University last semester and is now a summer instructor in the art department.

AS A GRADUATE assistant in the department of Anthropology and Archaeology, Mrs Knobler has assisted in designing exhibits in the University Museum.

She and her husband plan to return to New York where she will continue her work of writing an illustrating children's stories as she has been extensively employed for the last four years. She prefers writing and illustrating books for children between three and eight years of age and several illustrations she has completed here will appear in her one man art show.

BOTH MRS KNOBLER and her husband have become highly popular with the faculty of the FSU art department because of their spirit of cooperation and "getting in with right in and get things done."

Crabb Issues Call For String Players

Professor Eugene Crabb, director of the Music Camp Orchestra, has call string players on campus to participate in the orchestra during the summer session.

Rehearsals will be held in the instrumental room of the music building. The orchestra will rehearse two hours daily and on Thursday evenings. A weekly concert will be presented in the Outdoor theater on Sunday evenings.

Interested musicians should contact Professor Crabb in the music building or come to practice Thursday at 7:30 p m.

FSU Faculty Grows, New Catalog Shows

In 1894, the catalogue of Florida State University required only 34 pages to list all the faculty, courses and other general information.

The 1951 catalogue takes 385 pages.

Even more startling is the title on the 1894 catalogue which shows the Tallahassee school as being called "Florida University."

By 1897, the name was "Seminary West of the Suwannee River," and in 1898, the words, "State College for Western and Middle Florida" had been added.

"Members of Faculties" in 1894 numbered 22 . . . in 1951, the faculty included more than 606. The "University" of 1894 had schools of ancient languages and modern languages, mathematics, natural science, English branches and history.

Question Looms Before County Citizens

The age old question of prohibition of alcohol is again being discussed in Tallahassee. The Junior Chamber of Commerce is currently circulating a petition to registered voters of Leon county. The petition asks for a vote on the question of the legal sale of alcohol.

Certain people have been surprised that the Junior Chamber did not get the needed 8,000 signatures during their first week of campaigning. This might tend to prove an anti-wet faction argument, that the good people of Leon county do not want legal sale of liquor. It might mean anything. The Flambeau is not prepared to make any kind of prediction as to the outcome of the petition, the election, or any subsequent results.

A few years ago it was "the thing to do" on many college campuses to drink hard liquor. However, recent studies have shown that students, especially women, have cut down their drinking habits considerably.

Those against whiskey have a formidable battery of arguments. They have conclusive proof—surveys taken by competent researchers in the medical field—that alcohol is one of the greatest destroyers of humanity known. Scientists have proved that alcohol is poisonous to living cells. And that scientists agree that broken homes, broken lives, and broken bodies can be traced directly to alcohol in many cases. They will show a long list of diseases that alcohol has caused or contributed to. They will show the juvenile delinquency lists in this county compared to wet counties the same size.

However, the pro-wet group also have good arguments for their cause. They point the fact that the state has ever gone thirsty in Tallahassee" before. They will show that the money brought into the county in liquor taxes could help to build a much needed library, and could help to promote better educational, recreational, and health facilities in the county. They will prove that a great number of new citizens have come to Tallahassee since the last wet-dry election; and they will demand that these people should be heard on the question.

They will point out that people are spending a great amount of money in this county for liquor today and no one is getting any benefit from that money, except the bootleggers.

Both sides have good sound arguments and the Flambeau does not presume to know how the voters of Leon County feel about the question. Only time will tell.

The Flambeau believes that the question of drinking is a personal one that must be faced by every individual. Weigh the facts as impartially as possible and make up your own mind.

Quoting from the editorial the suggestions stated:

1. "That a parking lot north of Jennie Murphree be constructed which will accommodate approximately 50 cars parked in herring bone fashion.

2. That parking facilities on the University parking lot East of the Baptist Student Union house be improved.

3. That construction be started immediately on the already proposed Senior Hall parking lot.

Just what happened to these suggestions. Not one of them has been fulfilled. The three sites for parking relief are today as they were in November blocks of hard soil, grass and weeds.

If these recommendations to relieve the situation would be considered and accepted this present situation would be greatly alleviated.

● INFLATION COSTS

Back to food prices again.

Only because, in spite of persistent requests, the problem has never been relieved.

This time we point as a prime example of "nothing for something" the Alumni soda shop.

There, you may purchase a bar-b-que beef sandwich for only twenty cents. However, there is consistently a noticeable lack of bar-be-que.

Nevertheless, the gravied bread is very appetizing.

In this day of rising food prices, higher costs are expected. Perhaps, even, slightly smaller portions. But certainly not to the extent practiced by the soda shop.

After a number of years at this particular spot on the university's campus, it seems the proprietors would be able to estimate the number of customers for certain foods and would buy accordingly.

Somehow, it seems the old Ford and Waltham theories, of low-cost articles in mass production and sales making a million, might still hold true.

At any rate, places like the Munroe Inn are adhering to that theory, and doing quite well.

Agreed, students are the most undernourished class of people in this or any country. But let's not carry it to extremes.

The very fact that these concessions have a monopoly, almost, on student patronage should lead them, morally, if not economically, to compromise with the students' budgets.

Thus we add another chapter to our long list of plaintive pleadings to amend . . . or at least neutralize . . . this definitely unatisfactory, and we think unnecessary, system of high prices and low values.

● NO RELIEF YET

The summer session is half over and still nothing has been done to relieve the parking situation.

Numerous students spend many hours touring the campus trying to find a place to leave their car that they might attend classes or take care of campus matters.

Day after day, students bump their tires against the curb to park in the vacant lot next to Jennie Murphree. These are the unfortunate ones who don't get here early enough to park in the one parking lot or in the scanty space on the campus streets.

Persons often come to class an hour earlier to catch one of the demanded spaces on Copeland, College, Park or Jefferson streets. Those who have later morning classes are just out of luck. They might as well ride the bus for a dime.

Workmen have been laboriously toiling over the parking lot for the last two weeks. They have repainted the parking lines and enlarged the individual space for cars. They have placed concrete markers to separate the spaces. All this is fine and probably needed, but it doesn't give any extra space for any more cars to be parked in the lot. It just doesn't help solve the emergency.

Last November the Flambeau printed an editorial stating the parking problem was on its way out.

Why? Because a committee appointed in University Council had submitted to the proper sources in the administration three suggestions for solving the problem.

Poetically Yours . . .

By LEWIS AIKEN, JR

Even if man has experienced the frustration of love, its occasional blackness, and the feeling of uselessness that it often produces, he still finds that it is at least many times rewarding, and therefore different from the unreal pleasure of ambition.

INJURED LIVES

When thin waists have set me shaking for another time,
And lost virginity creases the twilight in my eyes,
Nothing else remains but hackneyed tears—
No other way to say that I despise,
The dirtiness of bodies working in the rain.

When artificial joy absorbs our invalid time,
And gives each child the worries of the world,
And even hungry love seems ugly anymore,
Then eyes are reading life without a word.
To seek out myriad shining, running girls,
Who give a false hope to my otherwise,

Fast goes everything that ape-man did.
For sinking posterity denies that I have ever done,
Divine me nothing to do but crawl through unkempt muds.
And wait 'till Roman rulers die with me.

What makes the day before or after a holiday so important that 1/8 of your credit is deducted if you are absent? Professors are usually as impatient as students before the holiday and as a result less than average work is usually accomplished. Sense like hand bolted and inconsiderate policies to me.

Vote of Thanks

Gentlemen:

It was nice of you to go all out for Bob's State in your issue of June 29. So many pictures and such well written articles on management of Bob's affairs.

Goodbye Friends

Dear Editor:

It has been my privilege for the past two years to teach at FSU.

Just as it is now a deep regret to be unable to continue my happy association there with the present form and step has been a source of personal satisfaction, so I shall always find pleasure in the many friendships with faculty and students it has been my fortune to attain.

There are so many persons whom I should like individually to greet and bid goodbye, but time does not permit. If you see fit to print this in order that all these may be informed I wish them every good thing, you will help me.

I know FSU is destined for a truly great position in the world and my good wishes are superfluous; nevertheless, you will afford me something more for myself if you through this allow it to be known that I am able to appreciate FSU.

Thank you for your kind attention . . . and, goodbye.

SIDNEY FOSTER.

SOME PEOPLE THANK THE PAPER!

By JANET PIERCE

Attention—all superstitious people!

Don't get up today. It is Friday the 13th, the most unlucky day of the year.

The Flambeau almost didn't print an issue on this fateful Friday because one of our staff members knew something awful would happen if we did. He suggested such delightful forethoughts as getting chewed up in the presses, no ink on the machine, coming out in backward type and other such misfortunes. Some people probably have the satanic desire for the paper to undergo such a tragedy every issue. Our friends!

STRANGELY enough some people like our editorials. Mr Gullek, superintendent of buildings, called me last Friday to thank us personally for our observation on the non-slippery floors in Westcott hall. It seems that a new wax has been recently tried which claims non-slippery qualities. At the same time in the school were condemned and thought to be dangerous by the paper. But, evidently, was recognized to have shiny but safe halls.

To our knowledge this wax has solved this problem and probably saved several law suits from the sprained ankles or broken arms. We appreciate you calling, Mr Gullek, and telling us that you are going to wax all the halls with this new safe product. The Flambeau's thanks go to you.

AS ONE PERSON'S opinion it seems that the students both in-service and undergraduate) have returned home the idea of giving helping hands to those who need rides to town or between the A. and M. campuses. It haven't had to wait a minute on the corner till cars come by and pile their ears full. It certainly is a gratifying sight.

Of course, I am told by other students that they still have to wait for 15 or 20 minutes on corners while numerous cars roll by empty. We of the Flambeau have worked out a little idea to see if people mind being recompined for their inhospitality.

This columnist will take with her to each bus stop one pencil and one piece of paper. Every car that passes a group of students waiting for a bus at the usual stops and doesn't bother to stop and give these youngsters a lift will have its license tag printed in this column. It will fail at the end of each column under the heading of HALL OF SHAME.

Everybody won't know whose license they are, but the owner will and will realize that his inconsideration for his fellow student is being observed by on-lookers. Maybe he will have a change of heart.

Another side to this story display, the driver's viewpoint. After our last week's editorial when the A. and M. woman car owner called the paper to give us her story. She picked up a group of students (keep in mind they are adult college students) and gave them a needed ride. The students who should have been appreciative at the least, carelessly dropped ashes on her seat covers and burnt holes deep into the seats.

Other cases report stomping out cigarettes on the carpet in the car, leaving food on the seat and damaging papers or materials that the owner has resting on the seat.

Let's remember that if these people are reluctant to give any other students rides

KING'S KNIGHTS

ODYSSEY OF CHARLIE, BOOK I, CHAPTER II

By EMORY KING

The following was found on my desk this morning. It is a report from Charlie, the Flambeau grenadier. Charlie goes everywhere, sees everything, and tells all to us.

This was Sidney Foster. This was the man Walter Damrosch compared to one of the great European pianists. This was pianist, composer, artist, human being Sidney Foster.

He is the walking argument to the tune that all artists must be temperamental, foggy minded, aesthetic worshippers. Foster is as down to earth and practical as pork and beans and blueberry pie. His laugh is infectious and his smile is cordial and friendly. Once in the Sally Shop a student, of the intellectual mein commented that the music coming from the John box was "perfectly dreadful", and wondered how Sidney Foster, ever in the corner, could stand "that kind of music."

"He played it," one of the group explained.

Foster brought nation-wide recognition to the university a few months ago when he came to play another of his concerts in Carnegie Hall, New York. The following Monday he broadcasted on "Piano Playhouse" over a coast-to-coast hook-up.

One of his most brilliant FSU performances was with the Florida State Symphony. He soloed on a medley of Stephen Foster.

Sidney Foster left FSU last week. Going on to greater and greater glory in music, he left a little more warm for his presence.

BEHIND THE IVY

STUDENTS TOO YOUNG TO LEARN?

By BOB TIPPINS
"OF HUMAN BONDAGE"

Miss Louise Richardson, head librarian, refused to comment on the present status of the three most controversial books on campus . . . Karl Marx' Communistic Manifesto, the Kinsey Report and Freud's Psychology.

She does, however, that they have been removed from the library.

When asked if they could be checked out by the students, she like "Prof Hunter" see Dr Campbell about that!"

Seems odd that one should see the Librarian about books. Isn't of the librarian about reference books an psychology, sex and politics.

Maybe Dr Campbell knows more about these things than the average college librarian.

We are students too young to learn about the facts at life?

One of the librarians, who shall obviously remain anonymous, reported that those books in question were removed from the library because of the controversy between the American and the Russian . . . .

in education must have sneaked them back since.

My next suggestion should be that Patton investigate Kinsey.

Or better yet, the citizens of the nation that provided the facts for the study.

Germany burned books and was heavily admonished by the broad-minded, truth-seeking, tolerant United States.

Even now, we have the gall to criticize Russia for concealing the facts of capitalism from the blindfolded eyes of the persecuted Russian people.

"Pooch! Pooch! Here, pooch!"

As I submit this column, I also submit that the book is insignificant enough that I needn't fear legislative investigations and congressional shindigs.

Degress as a result.

Patton may did a mighty fine job with his "Liberty or Death" speech. About time it was repeated on the floor of Congress.

But first we must define liberty. Death by poison-ed-ear universally accepted in the same connotation.

This reminds us of the controversy between the American and

I'LL BE DUNN

NO "MASTERMINDS" THIS SUMMER?

"Do you know what time it is?"

This is a frequently asked but seldom answered question in Sunday School Teacher Training. Approximately eight university clocks in the downtown and they practically never agree with university time or for that matter even with themselves. In Senior Hall the time changes from floor to floor and from wing so wing.

When I left this morning for my 7 o'clock class the clock on my floor said 3:05. Sometimes when I have my 7 o'clock class it will say 11 and sometimes it will say 5 but it has yet to say 7.

I was under the impression that all of the university clocks were controlled by some sort of master system. If so, what has happened to the "master-mind" this summer?

If someone had told me last semester that I would enjoy taking Spanish at 7 in the morning during the summer, I would have told him that he was "crazy loco." Nevertheless, I am in class at 7 five days a week, beginning at 7 a m I now take and enjoy very much Spanish 101.

What has made me change my mind about such a course at this obnoxious hour? A change in method of teaching and a knack for making classes interesting. Miss Carmen Rivera, Spanish teacher from Puerto Rico, is this unusual personality. If we had more teachers like this I am sure that learning would not be the painful process that it quite often is. (Miss Rivera will probably never read this since she informed the class that she never reads the Flambeau.)

I received a letter from a friend of mine who was in Washington, D C this summer and in it he said that the average Washington is familiar with the names of only two governors—Pulley Warren of Florida and Thomas E Dewey of New York. Is that true?

Quite a few people on campus this summer seem to have terrific colds. I asked several people why some who are suffering from them why they didn't go to the infirmary and get something to help them. They replied that they had found that a bad cold is what they could do for a cold or for anything else to stay away from the infirmary.

Attitudes like this may have been brought about by cases like one that happened last week. A boy went into the infirmary with a bad cough, after having been sick for several days, and was given several aspirin and a bottle of cough syrup. When he went home the following weekend he was informed him that he had bronchitis.

Eye-Specialist Tells Of Sight Handicaps

When a child's vision falls to 20/50, he needs prompt expert attention," declares a nationally known eye-specialist, Dr. Dixon of Miami, addressing guests at the School of Education Wednesday, stressed the need for early discovery of sight handicaps.

Dr. Groom is one of ten authorities in the field of treatment for partially-sighted scheduled to lecture to students enrolled in a course which deals with the partially-sighted. The course is offered in cooperation with the Florida Council for the Blind. It is also a training of teachers for work with partially-sighted children. The work is part of Florida's expanding program of progressive educational services for handicapped children.

DR. GEORGE J EMANUALE, director of the Prevention, Medical and Social Services of the Florida Council for the Blind, with offices in Florida, though late in January a program of education for sight-handicapped children, made good progress in this field. Ideally the program unites the parent, teacher, and medical specialist in a cooperative effort to help the partially-sighted child lead as normal a life as possible.

The Council stands by to offer a variety of services as the needs arise. Typical of these services is the Council's co-operation with FSU in bringing to the School of Education classroom the outstanding authorities lecturing to the group.

DR. GROOM, in a full day of discussion and demonstration, discussed Muscle Anomalies. He was preceded in the lecture schedule by Dr W Y Sayad of West Palm Beach, Dr Frances Reed of the State Health Department of Jacksonville also spoke.

Dr Bill Shank, Lighting Engineer of the Florida Power Company at St Petersburg, spoke on Thursday. Dr Charles McCrery, associate of Dr Shaler Richardson of Jacksonville will lecture on Internal and External Disease of the Eye today.

Speaking on Monday will be Dr N R Rubin of Pensacola. On Tuesday, Dr Edson J Andrews of Tallahassee will address the group on the subject of Refraction. Dr Harold F Visser of Panama City will appear before the class on Wednesday to discuss Hereditary Diseases of the Eye.

ON THURSDAY Dr O G Kendrick, Jr, of Tallahassee, runs on Ophthalmological Aids to Vision. The final speaker was Dr B B Porbes, Administrative Medical Consultant to the Florida Council for the Blind, from Tampa. He discussed Recent Trends in Medical and Operative Care of the Eyes.

This is the only school in the southeastern states to offer such a course. The work in this area has full approval and sponsorship of the National Society for the Prevention of Blindness.

Nursing School

will spend three months at Chattahoochee to gain experience in mental nursing. They will also have three months experience in public health and rural nursing.

During the final summer of the course, the students are brought back to the campus for seminar work. In addition to this they will carry three to six hours of elective work, such as teaching or administrative work in nursing.

THE COURSE lasts approximately four calendar years with a month's vacation each year. The expenses of a nursing school student are the same as those of a regular student with the exception of an additional $100 during the second year for uniforms.

The Bachelor of Science degree in nursing is awarded upon the satisfactory completion of the program. At this time, if the student is a United States citizen and 21 years old, she will be ready to take the state nursing examination. Its successful completion will make her eligible to use the letters "RN", signifying that she is a licensed, registered nurse.

AMONG THE FIRST faculty appointments to be made for the newly established School of Nursing are Miss Agnes E Sallsbury, who will serve as professor of the graduate nurse program, and Miss Mary Jane Dews, a graduate of the former Pensacola Black College for Women, who will become an instructor in medical nursing.

Miss Salisbury will also teach a course in "history of nursing," which will be part of the basic curriculum for students enrolled in the collegiate program of nursing.

Dr Doak S Campbell announced that the state Board of Control had approved the appointments, effective September 15.

WHAT TO DO AND WHEN

Students Journey To Wakulla Springs

By DEE STEVENS

"Henry," King of the Underwater World promises a special performance tomorrow in honor of FSU students. Henry is a waterlion bass and, at the time the Flambeau went to press, the only fish in the world that could claim the feat of pole vaulting. Wakulla Springs is Henry's home, and all those who join the trip tomorrow will have the opportunity to witness this amazing example of marine daring.

HENRY IS NOT the only attraction for the day. Swimming, boating, jungle cruising, refreshments—all are yours, for a nominal fee, of course. The trip starts at 8 on Saturday afternoon. Buses will leave from Bryan and return there at 5.

Embarking slightly of general education, the trip is planned to offer each participant a choice of four plans. Plan I includes swimming, price 31c. Plan II features swimming and a trip in the glass-bottom boat for the cost of 91c Refreshments are added in Plan III for $1.52. The refreshments will be from a buffet table of snacks. And for $2.50 you can take a trip in the glass-bottom boat, take the jungle cruise and have refreshments. Reservations are being taken all day Friday in the Seminole club lobby and in the office of Bryan Hall.

WHILE RIDING to Wakulla, you'll have the chance to buy your ticket to the All-University Picnic being held next Wednesday at Camp Flastacowa. Tickets are 30c and offer the holder one picnic supper of golden brown fried chicken (and more) plus one fine time. In addition to the attraction of fried chicken, there will be a special water program. "Billy Mose's Aquacade," and a bathing beauty contest.

Men's residences will furnish the names of the candidates. The men are asked to submit the name of their dorm's choice for the beauty queen to the Dean of Men's office not later than Tuesday noon. The first six nominated will compete.

HAVE A GOOD TIME, EVERYBODY!

MAKE-UP WORKERS were Jackie Kreston, Roland Kreston, and Marcie Lee. In charge of lighting were Lu Turner, Fred Myers, and Alan Downes. Publicity was handled by Barbara Wells, Lewis Aldred, Marjorie McDaniels, and Amos Cobbey. Marjorie McDaniels was in charge of house management.

Guidance Dept Wants Aug Grads to Register

Prospective August graduates who have not registered with the Office of Vocational Guidance and Placement should come to 108 Westcott for information. Immediate registration is necessary if credentials are to be complete an available to prospective employers. It is desirable for graduates to establish a permanent record even though a position may already have been obtained.

UP IN THE BALCONY

By JOEL SMITH

Several months ago a national magazine printed a layout on Macao, sinful and fabulous gold smuggling port on the coast of China.

Now in technicolor, Universal-International has brought this Oriental crossroads to life in a film named "Smuggler's Island," which comes to the State Sunday for a run through Tuesday.

Jeff Chandler and Evelyn Keys are starred in the movie. It is sock melodrama from start to finish, highlighted by two tremendous explosions at sea and the fine performance of a sea mammalie team which manages to embroider the action with romance in completely realistic fashion.

"Smuggler's Island" is another solid runs in the ladder that is fast taking the versatile Jeff Chandler to stardom. Heretofore, the six foot, four hero has been the strong, silent type. Now he blossoms forth as a sharp-cracking, two fisted dynamo who does not hesitate to slug his way out of an uncomfortable situation.

The object of his hard-won affection is Evelyn Keyes, who performs a masterful job of delicate shading in her portrayal of the half-bad, half-good girl who runs Chandler a wild chase along their path to true love.

The story, which concern the efforts of a young private detective and sloop-owner to transport a $200,000 cargo of illegal gold from Macao to Hong Kong as the request of a beautiful young lady in trouble, is admirably directed by Edward Ludwig with strong showmanship values displayed by producer Ted Richmond.

Abbott and Costello

"Abbott and Costello Meet the Invisible Man," comes to the Florida Sunday for a run through Tuesday.

Bud and Lou are at their usual selves. The cast, of course, lacks the producer, Howard Christie, employed a stepped-up fantasy which keeps an audience out of breath as the nutty story unfolds.

The story concerns Bud and Lou as private detectives who try to help Arthur Franz clear himself of a murder charge. The fact that Franz is a middleweight boxer, necessitates, of course, Lou becoming a fighter, with Bud his manager, and the Costello schtook taking a lot of punishment in the ring.

Basketball Star To Attend FSU

Sonny Powell, outstanding player on Jackson High school of Jacksonville's state championship basketball team this past season, has accepted a scholarship offer from FSU

Powell is scheduled to enroll in September.

THE AGREEMENT with Sonny Powell is three the number of Florida high school seniors who plan to attend Florida State next year on baseball scholarships.

The other two are Dick Benson of Maitland and Billy Cook of Fort Lauderdale, both fine prospects.

Three out-of-state newcomers have agreed to Florida State basketball scholarship terms, according to Kennedy.

THEY ARE Tom Bost, from Batesville, Ala., for a month in Tallahasee and Duane Gordon of Madison Wis.

Temple, a former all-state center for Leon High of Tallahassee is transferring from William Jewell college and is attending summer school, as is Gordon, who played freshman ball in the University of Wisconsin. Both will also enroll with the other freshmen in September.

FIVE MEMBERS of our 1951 NAIB Basketball 25 championship team are returning on basketball scholarships.

They are Captain - elect Bob Whitmer, Bud Marwe, Bud Scott, Tom McLaughlin and Lou Fisher, all from the state of Indiana.

Social Activities Set For Student Group

Parties, picnics, and serious study will mark the student religious activity for the week. Going into full swing, the denominational houses around campus have sponsored entertainments and made plans for the summer.

Baptist Student Union

TOMORROW NIGHT at 7, the weekly play night will be held at the BSU house on the northeast side of the campus. Refreshments will follow the games and entertainment.

During the Vesper Service Tuesday evening Dr Harold O Sanders, pastor of the First Baptist Church, will discuss his recent visit to the Holy Land and Far East.

Thursday night at 7:30 TWA will meet to discuss honesty.

Catholic Youth Center

THE NEWMAN CLUB will hold an informal dance tonight beginning at 8 p m. Newmanites are asked to come and bring their friends. The party is open to all university students, and refreshments will be served.

Episcopal Student House

AS A RESULT of last week's party and field day, the Canterbury Club now has a positive arena for recreation. As a follow-up a badminton and volleyball court is planned; this will be tried out following the Sunday six o'clock supper.

The regular Sunday morning service at nine o'clock in the Rose Hall Chapel will be dedicated to Korean peace negotiations. A coffee hour will be held after the service.

Ruge Hall students who are holding services at the Episcopal Church in Lloyd, Florida, will leave Rose Hall at 3:45 p m on Sunday afternoon.

University Coeds Learn Pool

Friday, July 13, 1951 THE FLORIDA FLAMBEAU 3

Many co-eds are adding new words to their vocabularies as the Student Union pool room becomes more and more frequented by women.

THINGS LIKE "eight ball in the side off the twelve," "lower left hand English," and "scratch" are becoming everyday slang in conversations of the co-eds.

A new consolidation program at the west campus Union brought the three pool tables into the building from across the street. The Student Union has been offering pool for almost four years, but the tables were in the annex.

The tables are now open to the public every night except Sunday, and by special request, a student can use the equipment during the day.

"MANY OF THE girls," Mr Bill Boyles, assistant director of the Union, said, "are becoming quite proficient in pool." He claims is relaxing, diverting, and economical for college students.

In addition to the pool hall, the Student Union also offers several other activities for students during the week.

THE HOBBY SHOP is open to college students and personnel every night Monday through Thursday from 7:15 to 10. The Hobby Shop specializes in art metal work and leathercraft. Several leathercraft articles have already been seen in the glass display case behind the Shop. Plans are also being made to increase the space and activities of the Hobby Shop.

The Union students and personnel also rent bowling tennis and ping pong for the students outdoor exercise. Cards there are cards, dice, checkers, marasthes and a radio.

THE BUILDING is equipped with with two lounges and stuffed divans and chairs for students who want rest, read, or study. The snack bar is open from 7 a m til 11 p m for the convenience of the students.

Every Friday and Saturday night the Union holds dances in co-operation with the summer recreation program.

TWO COEDS "FIGURE A HARD ONE" at the West Campus Student Union. More and more girls have been using the billiard facilities since they have been moved into the Student Union building. Fee for use of the pool tables is five cents a game. (Flambeau Photo).

Advertising Book Written by Burton

Professor Philip Ward Burton, who taught here during the spring semester, is the author of Retail Advertising for the Small Store, published this week by Prentice-Hall, Inc, in New York.

Typographically attractive, Professor Burton's book stresses the need for advertising of small and medium-sized stores. The 408-page book has 15 chapters, some of which deal with various advertising media — newspapers, radio, direct mail, outdoor, and point advertising. Store display is also discussed.

Professor Burton, who taught advertising courses in the School of Journalism and School of Business, has returned to Syracuse University. He was worked for newspapers, for Proctor and Gamble, and for advertising agencies.

Hugh Stickler Edits Reference Volume

Dr W Hugh Stickler, associate dean in charge of general education and guidance, has compiled Organization and Administration of General Education, recently published by the William C Brown Company. Dr Stickler has written five chapters and edited the 464-page descriptive reference volume. Twenty-three other educators have contributed to the book.

North Joins South To Present Social

Cawthon Hall — North and South—will unite for an informal "miser tonight from 9 until 12 midnight. There will be dancing on the patio and canasta-bridge games inside. Dr. Baum Explains Weather Changes

Someone once said that everybody talks about the weather but no one does anything about it. Here at Tallahassee, however, there is at least one man who can explain the weather.

Dr Warner A Baum of the meteorology department has the answers to some of the questions men have been asking for centuries.

In an interview, Dr Baum made the following comments:

1. Why is it that on some days it feels warmer than others despite the fact the temperature is the same?

WHETHER A PERSON feels warm or not depends only partly on the temperature; the humidity and the wind are very important. The body receives a cooling sensation whenever evaporation takes place from it, and the amount of cooling sensation increases as the evaporation increases. It is lack of evaporation and a chilling of moisture on the body which makes for a feeling of discomfort. A person will feel a good deal more comfortable in a temperature of 90-F with high humidity and little wind.

2. Why is it that you can get sunburned on cloudy days?

THE ULTRA-VIOLET rays of sunlight are responsible for sunburn. It is important to realize that these rays do not produce a sensation of warmth, even when they are causing a severe sunburn.

3.Why are June, July and August the warmest months although the hottest — is it because of the heat that we have more rain?

ACTUALLY, THE heavy summer rain is largely due to the heat. In summer, the waters of the Gulf are cold relative to the warm continental land mass. As moist air moves from the Gulf to the continent, it becomes heated from below. This makes the air lighter and forces it to rise. As it rises it cools and can no longer hold all its water vapor. Much of the water vapor is condensed out in the form of clouds. Then, if the cloud droplets become heavy enough, or the upward currents diminish, the water falls to the ground. During the winter, the water is relatively warm, compared to the land, and this effect does not operate.

4. Does the hot, muggy weather have any bearing on how a person feels?

CERTAINLY, although there is very little precise scientific information on this topic. It is very difficult to measure how a person "feels." It appears that man is inclined to be less ambitious and efficient on hot, humid summer days than in spring or fall. Some diseases certainly show a seasonal effect. Infantile paralysis, for example, is most common during summer. Statistical investigation of crimes indicates that more rash and impulsive acts are committed on hot summer nights than in winter, when crimes appear to be more carefully planned.

5. It is true that some animals and birds can sense a thunderstorm or electrical storm before humans become aware of it?

FOR REASONS not at all clear, man, without advance perception of the weather, is willing to attribute special weather sense to other animals. As far as we can tell, animals react only to past or present but not to future weather. There is, by reason to suppose that animals have advance perception of thunderstorms: it is possible, of course, that animals can hear the thunder of see the lightning of an already existing approaching storm before a human can.

A TENSE MOMENT in the farce comedy "See How They Run" is shown. The play ran Wednesday and last night is the last time, sponsored by the Speech Department. As the bewildered policeman tries to figure out who the real vicar is, the vicar's wife is held at the point of a gun by a Communist. But the ending is happy as they are saved by the bell. COMEDY GIVEN IN CONRAD! ...

Storm, Martin, Upshaw in Farce Featuring Fights, Footraces

The curtain rang down last evening on the second performance of the English farce comedy See How They Run.

The hilarious play first played in London in 1949, and was a smash hit. Throughout the three acts, characters are racing across the stage, brandishing pokers and guns. The plot is based on the mistakes made by several strangers who enter the home of the Vicar of Middleton-cum-Middlewick, England and his lovely wife, a former American actress.

A friend of the vicar's wife, the vicar's wife, an American actor, arrives to start the rat-race. The vicar, having gone out for the evening, is innocent until the end of the play that two of the men escaping from the nuns into the house, and impersonating him.

ONE OF THEM is an escaped Russian, whom the police are searching for in the garden. The other is Clive, the American actor. Holding the plot together are Ida, Penelope's Cockney maid, and Miss Skillon, an old maid, who is the town gossip, and who also has her eye on the vicar.

IN THE CAST are Julie Storm, Bill Upshaw, Ken Martin, Veronica Cecil, Sharon Lane, Pranela Sherman, Roland Keeion, Bill Peterson, Glen Gordon, and Dominique and Roark (two cocker spaniels).

One of the chief items of interest is the terrific fight between Julie Storm and Bill Upshaw which ends Act I.

Julie reenacted, surveying her bruised knees, "I didn't get these bruises from prayina."

Bill Upshaw sprained his wrist but announced, "There's no one I'd rather fight with than Julie."

Ronnie Cecil, who is thrown on the floor many times, protested, "I may look as though I'm being hurt, but really I'm not!"

Ken Martin, has been a good sport about the teasing he received wearing shorts during half of the play. He said, "My shorts cover almost every situation!"

Two Cocker Spaniels Featured in Show

Jayne Gardner is reported doing very well with her summer stock work with Barter theater in Abingdon, Virginia. She has had one walk-on and is auditioning for other shows.

GEORGE CARY IS in Tallahassee for awhile. He has been "reconditioning houses" in Tampa, but couldn't stay away from Conradi for long.

Orchids to Julie Storm and Bill Upshaw for not breaking any bones. They rehearsed their terrific fight scene all through the show and all Bill has to show for it is one sprained wrist, while Julie remains unscathed.

THE AUDIENCE probably counts Dominique and Roark among the most attractive actors. These two little cocker spaniels make an appearance twice during the show for fleeting moments.

Theater-goers to Conradi will no doubt appreciate the new curtain arrangement. It goes straight up now instead of being pulled from the sides. This is the way of most professional theaters.

KEN MARTIN was a good sport with all the teasing he received from his "shorts" scenes in the English comedy. He said: "At least they were cooler than the heavy winter clothes worn by a large part of the cast!" Also on the cool list was Julie Storm, who wore a short Japanese kimono in Act I. It was a very attractive kimono.

Next Thursday evening, FSU'ers will see "Comedy Through the Ages," third Artist Series presentation for the summer. The range in the program stretches from the Roman, and Moliere, to the present day era of G B Shaw. T S Eliot, etc.

"OUR TOWN" goes into rehearsal this weekend, as the veterans of "See How They Run" join the rest of the cast. This play is a top-rater, counted among the 100 best works of literature in the English language.

8000 See Exhibits Of FSU Art Gallery

The new University Art Gallery has made great strides in bringing a different conception of "art" to the students of Florida State University. Under the direction of Professor Edmund Lewandowski the gallery has featured four exhibits since last February.

Over 8,000 persons attended the first three exhibits. Almost half of that number saw the second exhibit, featuring the Ringling Museum Masterpieces.

On February 13, the gallery had its formal opening with an exhibit of contemporary American paintings. Twenty-five pictures were shown. Some of the outstanding American artists included Edward Hopper, Yasuo Kuniyoshi, John Marin, Charles Sheeler, and Karl Zerbe.

THE SECOND SHOW was opened on March 14. The show was an exhibit of Home Design for the modern Florida home. Professor Lewandowski said: "This exhibition forcibly demonstrates that the art gallery of our day is not just a repository for pictures, but is a vital educational force to acquaint the laymen and the artist alike with what is going on in the world of designs."

There were 80 examples of outstanding designs for the modern home. The pieces were chosen for their good design, their adaptability to Florida living, and their economic price for the general public.

On April 18, the third exhibition opened. It was an exhibit of Ringling Museum Masterpieces valued at over half a million dollars. Included were pictures by Van Dyke, El Greco, Rubens, and Titian.

THE FOURTH EXHIBIT was a one-man show of graduate student Nathan Knobler. Mr Knobler displayed 30 pieces of his work, plus a mural 8x52 feet to be hung in the Seminole Club dining room. The mural depicted the FSU football team at play.

The 5th exhibit opened June 1. It is the 3rd annual Student Honor show. Over 300 pieces of art work are being displayed. These pieces were chosen by the faculty members of the art department as the best pieces of undergraduate art of the year.

The Art Gallery plans a series of art exhibits during the summer. The entire gallery will be turned over to the art education department for their use.

The gallery is sponsored by the Artist Series and the Art department. "Continued patronage by the student body," commented Professor Lewandowski. "will keep the gallery alive. We have been very happy with the student interest in art this year."

Student Union Site Of Summer Activity

The Student Union on West campus is one of the most important centers of summer recreation activity on the Florida State University campus.

The renovated "O" Club, which was an amusement organization for the officers stationed at Dale Mabry airfield during the last war, has been reconditioned to provide good food and entertainment for the students of FSU.

WITH FACILITIES and features, such as a large dance floor snack bar, pool room, dark room, and lounge, the Student Union offers a variety of activity for every taste.

One of the most interesting additions is a hobby shop, where students and married couples may work at handicrafts, arts, or utilities of almost any sort.

Mr Bowers, manager of the shop, emphasizes that the hobby shop is for recreation: It is not a course in the university. All students are invited to come out at any time between 7 and 10 on any day through Thursday night. The price of materials, the only thing for which users must pay, is very reasonable.

'Our Town' Schedule As 2nd Speech Play

The second speech department production of the summer will be presented August 8 and 9. The play, Thornton Wilder's Our Town, has had an almost continuous run on the American theater since 1938. The cast will be composed of FSU and Tallahassee High School students.

Tickets, on sale at the Campus box office on performance nights will be $.75 for non-students and $.44 for students. There will be no reserved seats for Our Town.

Areas of College Living Function On Regular Basis

Areas of college living are functioning this summer on a regular basis, according to a representative of the Dean of Student Welfare.

Dean J Broward Culpepper has direct jurisdiction over the Rowena Longmire Student Alumni building, the West and Smith Student Union, the dining halls, and the infirmary. All of these are operating on a "business as usual" plan for a summer session.

THE PERSONAL - SOCIAL counseling program, as carried out through university housing units is directed by Dean of Women Katherine Warren and Dean of Men Otis McBride.

An educational counseling program offering assistance in academic fields is handled by Dr Melvene Hardee, co-ordinator of Guidance.

Under the jurisdiction of Mr Rod K Shaw, business manager, are the bookstore, post office, laundry, soda shop, and maintenance department. The business office, including the university bank and student accounts, will be functioning all summer.

THE REGISTRAR'S office, directed by Mr Charles H Walker, will operate at full capacity.

The Offices of Personnel Records and Vocational Guidance and Placement are also staffed during summer session.

The special summer recreation program, directed by Miss Christine P'Simer, is planned for the entertainment of all students. The university camp, Plastacowo, will likewise be available during the summer session.

Women's government activities will be continued under the sponsorship of Dean Katherine Warren.

Best Sellers And Summer Funlore On West Campus

The West Campus library is featuring summer attraction bulletin boards for the month of July.

This branch of the East Campus main library houses many of the historical novels and humorous books that comparatively few people know Florida State University possesses. Many of the latest novels, some travel books, best sellers, and books by such well-known humorists, as Cornelia Otis Skinner, Will Cuppy, and Emily Kimbrough are there.

ONE OF THE bulletin boards stresses Vacation Prescription and is illustrated by many colorful pictures showing summer fishing, boating, and loafing at the seashore or the lakeside.

Another of the bulletin boards is ornamented with photographs of modern girls wearing old fashioned bathing suits — also men wearing the same. It is captioned Swimming Styles.

On current issues is a board with the slogan—Free Enterprise —Unlimited Opportunity. On it are book covers on this subject.

A VERY UP-TO-DATE global geography map occupies a prominent position. Its legend gives information on the extension of the Iron Curtain, Iranian oil wells, and of other items of current interest.

Item of interest in the building of Library Training and Service is a large, easy to read book describing the group of islands is provided under a display of Hawaiian motif.

Albert Spalding Noted Violinist To Teach Here

Noted Artist Plans Joint Recital Jan 14 With Dr Dohnanyi

Albert Spalding, eminent violinist, has accepted a visiting professorship here beginning next January.

During January and February he will hear, teach, and give advanced stringed instrument students.

Spalding will appear on the faculty series January 11 when he will play a joint recital with Von Dohnanyi. Another recital on February 15 will feature Spalding as soloist.

TRAINED AT the Boloma Conservatory by Lefort, Spalding won the Belgian Prize, highest honor given violin students. He first American artist to obtain widespread recognition and popularity in Europe. Spalding lived there with the New York Philharmonic Orchestra under Walter Damrosch.

He premiered Dohnanyi's First Concerto for Violin in Europe and later with the Budapest Orchestra under the baton of Dohnanyi. The two men's close association has resulted in a remarkably sympathetic musical team.

MR SPALDING has received from the concert work and now devotes his talents to recording great violin sonatas for the violin. Among them Dohnanyi's sonatas and Brahms' three great sonatas. As an active composer, Mr Spalding's works include two violin concertos, orchestral suites, a violin suite and sonata, and many pieces and songs.

Currently he is working on a series of recordings for the Columbia Recording Co and in June will take him to Europe to be with the masters there.

DEAN ALBERT Lefort of the school of Music described Spalding as a "most distinguished artist and a great violinist." Spalding's linguistic ability will be his valuation to the State Department which he served in the First World War.

He visited home on Captiva with Fort Myers, Florida, in 1917 extraordinary fortunate in having him as a faculty member.

Parking Problem Needs Are Acute

By JANET PIERCE

The problem still exists.

The picture is proof.

Week after week cars bump the curve to park in the only space left around the school.

Space is needed. Why isn't space given over to alleviate this present situation?

Suggestions have been presented before the administration both by the Student University council and the Flambeau.

Proof of the necessity to remedy this problem has been exhibited but no one has considered it. No steps have thus far been taken to relieve this predicament.

It is hot this summer—very hot. Car owners, whether they be students, faculty or administrative officials get very weary driving around and around trying desperately to find a parking space.

Some have to park four or five blocks away from the school; some turn around and drive back home and ride the bus instead.

When a situation arises, proper channels should grasp the problem and try to remedy or abolish it completely.

It is half way through the summer school session and nothing has been done up to now.

Surely it hasn't gone without notice.

What is going to happen when the regular portion of student's return in the fall? Will things go unnoticed then also?

Journalism Class Field Trip Shows Values of Course

A field trip has been taken by the class in public relations, conducted by Dr Sidney Kobre, associate professor of journalism. In order to see practical workings of public relations, students visited offices of the Florida Industrial Commission and the printing plant of the Rose Printing Company in Tallahassee.

The field trip was designed for material to be used in civic, governmental, and commercial fields.

AT THE INDUSTRIAL Commission, students heard a discussion by Mr. George W. Hopkins, director of public relations. Mr Hopkins described his newspaper, magazine, and radio publicity, showing the development of newspapers from weeklies, dailies, and a monthly magazine.

He referred to one big news report. He announced that 5,000 forms for a movie helms made in Florida by Cecil B. DeMille Studios were hired through the employment service, a division of the Industrial Commission. Newspapers and magazines were anxious for articles on this human interest material.

The class completed this phase of the field trip with a visit to various divisions of the commission.

MEMBERS OF THE CLASS, having the writing and production of pamphlets, house organs, and other printed matter assigned the Rose Printing plant, saw they traced the processes of it through various printing ways, including the linotyping, type-reading, and final printing and binding steps. Mr Glenn Russell, assistant to executive Al Rose, explained the processes and showed how flat-bed presses, printing various colors, operate.

Ratio Dance Weekly

The North and South Cawthon Hall will be open for dancing on the free movies every Friday for the rest of the summer.

First Concert Given Sunday In Music Hall

'Musicampers' Sponsor Joint Program Series Throughout Summer

The first of a series of weekly concerts will be presented by Music Camp organizations on Sunday evening at 6:30. The concert, which is to be held in the Music Hall, will be open to the public.

THE 121 "MUSICAMPERS" started classes on Monday morning. At present they are occupied with rehearsals, music lessons, music theory classes and individual directed practice sessions.

In spite of the fact that classes began only last Monday, the students were prepared to present a recital Tuesday evening. Another will be given next Tuesday, July 24, and the public is cordially invited.

Each Sunday evening at 6:30, the campers will present a joint concert conducted by their respective directors. Professor Ernesto Crabb is in charge of Orchestra, while Professor Herman Gunter, Jr., is conductor of the Chorus. Otto Krushaar of Lake Wales and Oliver Hobbs of Leon High School in Tallahassee share directing responsibilities for the Band.

DOWN IN THE VALLEY, an American folk-opera by the late Kurt Weill, will be presented by the Camp Chorus as a special feature of this year's session.

The opera is woven around the story related in the familiar folk-ballad by that name, also familiarly known as Birmingham Jail. Weill has also used other authentic folk-songs, including Sourwood Mountain and Lonesome Dove, in his opera.

Only Formal Dance Of Summer Session Saturday Night

The one formal dance of the summer session will be held in the West Campus Student Union Saturday, July 31, from 9:00 to 12:00. Bob Cole's orchestra will provide music.

SINCE ALL other Saturday night "O Club" events have been informal or square dances, the summer recreation committee is announcing that this one will be a white coat and date affair.

Dancing will be on the patio. Multi-colored lights and balloons will be used for decoration.

Refreshments will be served during the intermission of the summer formal.

Late permission will be granted to all undergraduate women students.

ANY MAN STUDENT new to the campus who would like to meet a girl to make a date for the dance may speak to one of the counselors or social directors in the women's dormitories. Undergraduate women students live in Bryan and North and South Cawthon; graduate women are in Landis, Broward, and Reynolds.

Contributions Made For Scholarships

Members of the Florida State Restaurant Association, located in Orlando and Ft Lauderdale, have contributed $100 from each city for scholarships in a Florida State University in the department of hotel and restaurant management, according to President Campbell.

Dr Donald E Lundberg, department head, said the scholarships were presented to the university by the two organizations both of which are affiliated with the Florida State Restaurant Association.

Students are selected for the scholarships on the basis of leadership and academic qualifications as well as their status of financial need in attending the university, according to Dr Lundberg.

Speech Dept Play 'Our Town' Aug 8

The second speech department production of the summer season, Thornton Wilder's Pulitzer prize winning Our Town, will be presented August 6 and 8.

Director Russell Graves has announced the cast as follows: Benjamin Powell, Ann Downes, Elizabeth Neel, David Lowe, Frances Hightower, Josephine Sharits, James Keck, Adrianne Norton, Larry Hill, Leon Reichert, Huber Ellingsworth, Lewis Allen, Jean Flynn, Ken Martin, Marjorie McDaniels, Francis Sherman, Byron McCalmon, Ned Hafner, Robert Brown, Pete Williams, and Fredrick Wilds.

The twenty-eight character roles in the play will be doubled for a few minor roles. All actors except Frances Hightower, Larry Hill, Robert Brown, and Byron McCalmon are students at FSU.

Army Ordnance ROTC Is Now on Campus

Colonel Cornell Dent Booth of the United States Army has arrived on the campus to begin the long-awaited Army ROTC program.

THE NEW PROGRAM will train students in the specialized field of Army Ordnance. It will become the second ROTC unit on the campus, joining the Air Force unit which has been active here for the past three years.

Col Booth announces that he is now accepting applications and granting interviews to students interested in joining the unit next fall.

The ordnance unit has not received any definite quotas as yet; however, they will arrive from Third Army headquarters before the beginning of the fall semester.

GRADUATES OF the ROTC program will receive reserve commissions as second lieutenants in the U S Army Ordnance Corps and may, upon recommendation, request regular army commissions.

Upon completion of the course, the graduates may request assignments on active duty for a period not to extend two years, except in a national emergency.

Deferments from the draft are granted students while they are

Music Camp Began Monday; Features Noted Performers

Two Faculty Recitals Scheduled This Summer; Band to Play for Commencement Exercises

The tenth annual Music Camp, held yearly at FSU, opened this week with a "get-acquainted" party Monday evening, July 16. Dean Karl O Kuersteiner spoke to the students and stressed the fact that Music Camp is an important part of the summer program. Tuesday night, a short informal dance was held in the Instrumental room in the Music building.

AT THE FIRST convocation, held Wednesday, July 18, Billy Weathers played a saxophone solo, accompanied by Jimmie Bagdon. Plans were made for the election of officers and representatives of boys, girls, and day students who are to meet with the Music Camp steering committee. The next month will be filled with many other recreational and educational activities.

The Music Camp, for high school beginners en to music experience, last year featured Dr Irvin Cooper, of Canada, Dr Cooper, doctor of music at Montreal University, was visiting professor, serving as music consultant. Miss Frances Mauze was a special feature in the Artist Series concert last year. The concluding major feature of the '36 Music Camp was the student recital held in Westcott. Last year the Music Camp featured a special string program.

THIS YEAR Music Camp has several outstanding performers, among them Frank Lanier, master fiddler, who is widely representative to the national contest in New York.

There will be two faculty recitals this summer. The first, a piano recital, will be given by Professor Francisek Zachara, formerly of the Society of the Sacred Heart Conservatory, on Wednesday, July 28. Monday, July 30, Professor Robert Bernard Thomas, instructor in music education, will present an oboe recital. Four recitals will be given by graduate students: Miss Mary Rosenbush, piano, July 21; Thomas Hendrix, piano, August 4; Betty Brown, cello, August 10; Adrian Ketchum, voice, August 6.

Each Wednesday there will be a chapel service. Music will be presented by the students and other speakers. All convocations will be open to the public and to Music Camp students.

ON THE 31 of July, the students will go to Camp Flastocovo, where they will spend the afternoon and night. On August 14, the annual banquet will be held in the dining hall, with certificates of merit and citizenship keys awarded to the boys and girls who have most merited them. The banquet, the orchestra, band, and chorus gala concert will be held. At the end of the summer session, the Music Camp band will play music for the commencement exercises.

Rudolf Jegart Joints Art Dept

Design Consultant And Staff Artist Arrives

Appointment of Rudolf Jegart as associate professor of art adds an outstanding American art educator in the field of advertising and industrial design to the University faculty.

Professor Jegart comes here from Milwaukee, Wisconsin where since 1947 he was head of the advertising and industrial design department of the professional art school, Layton School of Art.

FOR THE PAST several years Professor Jegart has acted as design consultant to national firms and agencies. He was staff artist and copyrighter for three years for the General Motors Corporation in their advertising department. Because of his technical and designing knowledge he was an instructor and designer in visual aids for the U S Air Force in World War II.

The furniture field knows Professor Jegart for his invention of the "Contour Delineator," a mechanical device used in the styling of automobiles.

HE IS A graduate of the University of Wisconsin where he established his bachelor of Science and master of Science degrees. He has also art research work in Germany, Belgium and Holland.

The new professor of art says, "The art student today will be the practicing artist of tomorrow whose creative talents will be much sought after by industry as the marketing of products becomes more competitive.

"THE ADVERTISING design department will draw and train the art student in the many varied reproduction techniques, commercial design and will develop his professional skills so that he can readily adapt his talents to the ever changing field of commerce and industry."

Professor Lewandowski, acting head of the department of art, has "We of the art department are indeed pleased to have Professor Jegart join our staff. The art department will now be in a position to offer outstanding courses in the field of advertising and industrial design.

Life Saving Courses Will Begin Monday

Instruction in Red Cross Senior Life Saving will be given from 5:00 July 26 at the women's gymnasium. Classes will meet Monday, Wednesday and Thursday from 5:30 to 10:30 in the swimming pool.

All classes, taught by Jean Rigell, are open to any student, faculty or staff member.

Curator Chosen For Museum

Wittsberg Appointed; Plans Art Exhibitions

Mr Lothar P Witsberg has been appointed the new curator of the University Museum and Art Gallery effective July 1.

MR WITTSBERG was employed as student assistant curator at the Detroit Childrens' Museum for two years. At the University of Michigan, he held the position of Research Assistant in Eastern United States Aboriginal Pottery and in Far Eastern Ceramics. He also accompanied numerous archaeological expeditions in the field while attending the University of Michigan.

The last three years have been spent in the field, 1848 in Northern Canada where one of the earliest traces of man in the Western Hemisphere has been found. He also excavated sites in southern Ontario, southern Michigan and Ohio. Last summer he was a member of the Central Mississippi Valley Archaeological Survey expedition in St Louis, Missouri, where excavation of the largest and most highly developed Indian mound in America of the North American Indians was undertaken.

THE MAIN INTERESTS of Mr Witsberg lie in the field of primitive art, in which he will teach a course in the spring semester.

The new curator has plans for developing the University Museum and Art Gallery, including numerous exhibitions on contemporary American and ethnic art. He also plans an exhibit on African Negro sculpture.

Hardee's Article Published in Issue Of Education Mag

An article on "General Education and General Educational Courses" written by Dr Willard Wilson Hardee, co-ordinator of counseling, has been published in the current issue of the School and Society. This periodical is published weekly by the Society for the Advancement of Education, Inc.

Dr Hardee discusses the work of teacher-counselor in the FSU program and makes suggestions which other institutions may utilize in inaugurating or evaluating academic guidance.

Dr Hardee emphasizes the counselor's planning of first-year courses for the student's "faculty friend" with reward to student adjustment to university life.

She also shows how the educational counselor serves as a link between students and faculty and administration by preventing failure in academic work, explaining procedures for dropping or adding courses, showing general education requirements, and suggesting eligibility for remedial help in special classes or clinics.

Plans Being Made To Overhaul Mecca

Plans are being made to modernize the Mecca, according to owner Woodrow ("Woody") Wilson. Architects are drawing preliminary plans which will be submitted to city officials for approval before any changes are made.

"Woody" hopes to remove the torch and incorporate this advertising area to the main building. Then a brick-and-glass front will replace the present one. Also, the cosmetic counter will be enlarged and improved.

Plans should be ready for city officials in order that construction may begin about August 15. Thus the Mecca would be redecorated by school opening in September.

"Woody's" objective is to "Kinda bring it up to date."

Zachara Will Give Recital for Piano Wednesday Night

The most familiar compositions of nine composers of piano music will be played by Franciszak Zachara in his recital next Wednesday evening at 8:15 p m in the Music Hall. The program will be open to the public without charge.

Professor Zachara received his training at conservatories in Poland and Russia. At his recital in this country several years ago, he was hailed as the successor to the great Polish master of the piano, Ignace Jan Paderewski.

MR ZACHARA'S abilities do not end with the piano keyboard, however. Besides being on of the outstanding pianists of his generation, he is a crack shot with the pistol, and was recently elected president of the Tallahassee Rifle and Pistol Club.

The compositions on the program Wednesday evening are those which are most closely associated with the name of each composer. Prof Zachara said. They will be the Moonlight Sonata of Beethoven, Liebestraum by Liszt, the Minuet in G by Paderewski, Golliwog's Cake Walk by Debussy and the famous Prelude in C sharp minor by Rachmaninoff.

FOUR FAMILIAR numbers by Chopin will be played by Mr Zacharas. These will be the Nocturne in F sharp major, the Black Key Etude, the Fantasie Impromptu in C sharp minor from which the song "I'm Always Chasing Rainbows" was taken, and the Grande Polonaise in A flat also familiar through many a popular song.

A number by Mr Zacharas himself entitled The Music Box will be played, and the program will conclude with the Dohnanyi arrangement of the Nadla waltz by Leo Delibes.

Manners Cancels Appearance Here Because of Health

Lucille Manners, soprano, scheduled to appear here for the Artist Series next week, has canceled her engagement due to continued illness, it was announced.

Miss Manners, well-loved singer of radio, opera, and concert fame was taken ill in the middle of the season. Artist Series officials were notified on Thursday.

Booking agents and Artist Series officials conferred yesterday about possible replacements for Miss Manners. However, by press time no word had yet been available.

Miss Manners would have been the fourth feature attraction of the Summer Artist Series.

Specialized Course Given For Teachers

Florida's visually handicapped children should greatly benefit from the fifth specialized course given at Florida State University for teachers who have charge exceptional children in their classes. Florida State University is the only school in the entire Southeast to offer such a course.

Miss Louise Pickle, who is teaching the course, has been approved and recommended for certification to teachers in the area of the partially sighted.

Harry Simmons, of Tampa, director of the Florida Council for the Blind, will attend the class as an observer and speaker.

THROUGH PRACTICAL daily demonstrations teachers learn how children with poor vision can be detected and the cooperative steps which can then be taken through efforts of the teacher, the parent and the physician to assure the child a normal education.

Says Miss Pickle, "We stress their likeness to other normal children," rather than a difference because of their vision. We make them feel at all times that they are in the same category as other children. They understand they have visual limitations but they are taught to conserve and fully use what vision they have."

Many of Florida's leading eye specialists are scheduled to lecture the class, which is now approved and sponsored by the National Society for the Prevention of Blindness.

IN ADDITION to physicians' lectures the people taking the course see sight saving classes in action here, where large letters and oversize objects are used to teach children with poor vision.

During this week, four physicians lectured the class. They were Dr Edson J Andrews, Tallahassee; Dr O G Kendrick, Jr, Tallahassee; Dr Harold E Wagar, Panama City and Dr S B Forbes, Tampa. Today concludes the lecture series.

Library Books Due

All students who are registered for the six weeks summer session should return all library books before Friday, July 27. There will be an additional fee for each book not returned by that date.

Truth and Censorship Do Not Mix in College Papers

"Ye shall seek the truth, and the truth shall set ye free."

American college newspapers have consistently been prevented from printing the truth . . . facts . . . by the rigid administrative controls and censorship exercised.

The Flambeau and Alligator have the present distinction of being among the few college papers left in these United States with relatively slight censorship.

Commercial newspapers live under the constant threat of being labeled "communistic" or "slightly pink". Labels of this type, however wrongly applied, can mean the death of a paper. Therefore, their news stories consist of "man bites dog" affairs, and their columns are a series of half-truths about, for the most part, non-controversial issues.

To go against the status quo, either in the commercial world or on the college campus, can be disasterous for an editor. It has been here.

On our own campus, "radical" newspapers have been silenced by the dismissal of the editor. "Undesirable" columns have resulted in the coerced resignations of an editor and news editor.

The question put before the students is, "Do we want a college newspaper which prints the whole truth, gives factual, complete information . . . or do we want a propaganda organ for the school's administration?"

College newspapers are being used as instruments of public relations. They are being used to influence solons to pass desired legislation through misleading facts and ostensible study opinion. They are being used to cloud or completely conceal relevant issues and pertinent news.

Newspapers are being so completely and surreptitiously misused that their real, moral purpose is nearly unknown to the general public, and forgotten by all but a few idealistic newspapermen.

However, some campus papers have broken away from any controlling yoke and become independent. Such papers as The Daily Texan of the University of Texas which supports itself through subscriptions and advertising can still print the news as it occurs and not as any particular group would prefer it had occurred.

A free press is essential to democracy. A free press means a free America.

● COOPERATION NEEDED

Rumors were flying. Something is happening in a certain girl's dormitory. There are several officials from downtown in the building. With them is an official of the University police. This is the tip we got yesterday.

Strange stories began to circulate about many things. Every coed had a different tale to tell the reporter we sent to check. Rumors of all kinds began to our ears. Most of them seemed fastic, but to be sure we sent a reporter around to the dorm.

Our reporters try to assume that when they want to know something the best place to find out is from those who know the answer. The reporter went to the counselor. The reporters was brushed off with, "It isn't anything the paper would be interested in."

This just forget the whole thing attitude is one of the big things that contribute toward bad relations between the paper and administration.

In all probability, judging from the rumors we heard, the paper would not have printed the story. However, we believe that the paper has a right to know what is happening. It would have been a terrible mistake for all concerned if the paper had printed the rumors we heard. This kind of thing has happened in the past. It has of course been bad for the paper as well as the paper's reputation.

Happily, the counselor in question called the Flambeau office later in the day and offered to talk confidentially to the editor. This was the best possible course that could have been followed. When the facts turned out, was not one the paper was interested in at all. Fortunately, a bad situation was saved by the intelligent handling of both the counselor and the editor.

The paper paper does not want to hurt the University, the faculty, or anyone connected with the institution. But, in order that foolish rumors be not made, we feel that a more understanding attitude must be adopted by both the paper and those people we deal with during the day's work.

The school, the paper, and the student body can benefit through such an understanding.

● NEW THREAT

The recent expose of narcotic rings in the United States has created a new understanding and fear in the people of the nation.

In the past, educators, parents, and certain students have seriously considered smoking, drinking, and sexual affection as the greatest dangers to the moral conduct of the youth.

However, the testimony of students, and other young people in New York concerning narcotics have created a new fear for the people.

One expert estimated that there were easily 5,000 addicts in the New York high school system. These included morphine, benezedrene and heroin, not to mention marijuana.

One girl told of becoming a prostitute in order to get enough money to buy dope. She was 14.

So far there has been little narcotic addiction either in Tallahassee or at the university. However, the men who peddle this youth killer are unscrupulous. In times like these, this nation cannot afford to lose the potential that youth offers.

A little fun, or the thrill of being in a "smart" set is not worth a ruined life.

● NEW SIDEWALK

North Cawthon now has a sidewalk to the main part of the campus. It will save many pairs of shoes and dresses from being ruined while students tramp through the wet weeds of the vacant lot en route to center campus.

Up till now the occupants of North Cawthon had to walk up between the arcade of Jennie Murphree and Reynolds if they wished to walk to the academic buildings by sidewalk.

Now that the new sidewalk is available they may journey straight from the door of North Cawthon through the vacant lot to the Student Alumni building without stepping off solid concrete walk.

Mr Shaw and Mr Shaw and the business office for providing for this badly-needed sidewalk. The occupants of North Cawthon thank you.

● ALL THIS HEAT

Oh it's hot in Tallahassee today. It has be hot, not only the rest of this summer, but every summer yet to come. All this heat and no air-conditioning.

The old building around the campus are almost insufferable during the summer. Fans of all sizes, types, and descriptions come on in a vain attempt to cool off the offices, classrooms, and dorms.

Many students cry air-conditioning in the answer. They point to the Music building and demands that all buildings on the campus be air-conditioned immediately.

However, is it feasible to do that? We have seen Westcott receive air-conditioning in one part of the building. That necessitated weeks of work cutting out sections of the walls—walls that were not constructed to accommodate air-conditioning. The work resulted in high cost of man power, material, and time.

To air-condition the existing buildings on the campus would be a gigantic task that would cost the school much more than it is worth.

It would take months to knock holes in the walls and insert the proper materials for such a project. No, the fans must go on. The people must suffer with the heat—for awhile anyway.

It is to be hoped, nay, demanded, that the new buildings, classroom, administrative, dormitory, be built with air-conditioning. This wonderful feature of twentieth century living.

It has been noted in the past that many times public buildings are built without air-conditioning units pre-inserted. The cost of the job was prohibitive, or it was thought to be at the time. But in a few years after, the building is equipped with fans.

Then, someone decides that the building cannot do without air-conditioning. The cost of the fans plus repairs and replacements, and electricity has already cost the building a great deal. Now add to that the cost of having the building remodeled for air-conditioning. The price of waiting until after the building has been erected and operated has been great.

All new FSU buildings should be air-conditioned while they are in the building stage.

● WELCOME CAMPERS

For the tenth straight year, the School of Music is sponsoring "Music Camp", for young and old musicians all over the state and nation.

During the years of "Music Camp" students and professors from all over the world have come to this campus. Besides offering professional help to these musicians, the "camp" has done a lot to advertise Flordia and this school and university.

Poetically Yours . . .

By LEWIS AIKEN, JR
COLLEGE
By Stella Clay

First Day:
The big doors open like a broken sore,
And brown halls run with puzzled children,
Asking where and why in such familiar space.
I can't remember when I was confused.

Six Weeks:
The smiles are quite accustomed by this time;
I seldom pass a sad, unopened face.
Sweethearts are circulating uncontrolled,
And the bell stings everyone.

Winter:
Holidays burst. The daysare colder now.
But we have the fun of wearing clothes.
And bundles incognito blow their smoke.
Home friends are soon unrecognized.

Spring:
A forgotten torch sets the earth afire.
Clothes come off and sun tans are compared.
Some lads are disappointed in their hopes,
And coquettes have a chance to show their art.

Commencement:
See the scholars with their hats piled on,
As they painfully approach in the watery heat.
The temporary fixture called the "place of reward."
The thing is over, and all rush about in mock joy.

Dear Editor . . .

Not Obligatory

Dear Editor,

I am in wholehearted agreement that drivers pick up students standing on the corner and I'm glad that the Flambeau is trying to awaken a spirit of helpfulness. But surely the editor doesn't serious when she said that license numbers of those who don't pick up students would be published. Just as breezing by fellow students is not good, neither is listing tag numbers good. This would be similar to publishing the names of those who didn't contribute to WBSF or some other cause. It is directly opposed to the spirit you're tryin gto build up.

I think that probably the fine writings of the Flambeau have already made car operators aware that students appreciate rides. Let's improve the attitude from doing a good turn is voluntary, not obligatory.

Very truly yours.
Thomas N Morgan, Jr.

Antics and Frantics

By CURTIS H CAMPBELL

Dormitory dances here are about as successful as a turkey on Thanksgiving day.

UNDERSTAND THAT the older students are complaining about the lascivious display of affection in front of dorms at night. Keeping their people will be animals I can think of no solution to this problem except to extend the hours till past bedtime for the older generation and thereby rid those shameful sights from their eyes.

The dullest person alive has enough interesting experiences about himself to produce a best selling novel if those experiences could only be described and narrated as the sleeper felt them.

THE WORLD is full of contrasts.

Frank Tobin has been elected president of the local Ruthie Garst fan club and announces that males must have blood and be able to breathe deeply and blow warm breath before they are considered for membership.

The United Nations is indignant over the fact that only twenty news reporters are being allowed to see the peace talks. For as much as the conferences appear to have accomplished a new born left-handed baby girl could adequately cover that assignment.

THIS WEEK it is fair and sportsmanlike to: hunt and fish without a license; park on first class: be ill and irritable and blame it on the hot weather; expectorate on sidewalk and walks; and to say bad words and write no letters at all.

A good answer is: I don't know. I just don't know . . . Leaves respect and doubt in a person's mind for hardly anyone can perceive of anyone who frankly admits he knows not.

THE WELL OF LONELINESS is still on reserve at the library. . . .

Other girls just have a suntan. . . .

AS THE EDITOR SEES IT

RAINS, EDUCATORS AND OLD AGE

With Tallahassee's notorious rains, I never thought I'd see the day when people would beg for it to rain. But, from early morning on the sweltering heat never leaves you. Everybody is constantly on the move to find a cooler place to rest. The dorms are hot, the classrooms are hot, the hangouts are hot. The only places I have found of any comfort are the music building, the new science wing and the theatres.

It is remarkable how popular this building is these days. I see people just standing in the halls to keep cool. Others trek into the library and people are studying everything from psychology to religion.

It is no longer nice to be out on a sunny day like it was in the spring. You sit half an hour in the sun and you either have to apply Noxema or put on dry clothes, or both.

It could be easily said that if a person got out in the sun twice a day there he or she should keep a nice tan. Kind of hot isn't it.

ONE OF FLORIDA State University's finest educators is learning at the end of this month. His name is Dr Charlton C Jernigan hus his friends just call him Jerry for short.

The classics department was not heard from much till Dr Jernigan came to this institution two summers ago. This jovial, good-natured educator brought before the students a new approach to an old art.

He applied the modern method to help present solutions and suggestions in modern thinking and reasoning. Dr Jernigan made something that had almost died from dire presentation into something which once again stimulates the student's imagination and cultural yearning.

He set up new and different courses in the classics department and helped instigate a rising membership in the Classics club.

Many people feel that classical subjects should only be taken for Humanities requirements or by classical majors. But, in the short time Dr Jernigan has been here he has 40 to 50 persons in all his classes of which 3/4 are taking them for electives. Some are majors are from journalism to home economics.

KING'S KNIGHTS

ODYSSEY OF CHARLIE—BOOK I CHAPTER 3

By EMORY KING

Charlie, the Flambeau cremlin, unwound his body from around a dusty volume of The Decline and Fall of the Roman Empire, in the library stacks, and peered out the window.

Dawn was breaking and a hazy cloud of morning mist over the lake. Charlie had searched the stacks most of the night and had finally found asleep an Gibbon's masterpiece.

He rubbed his eyes and yawned loudly. Another day—and another story. He ruefully remembered the insulting look the librarian attacked him the day before. There were small lumps on his head where their drowning attacks had been successful.

He began his search anew. He looked through the stacks for a few hours, and then went into the reading room.

No luck. Still he couldn't find any trace of Marx's Communist Manifesto, the Kinsey Report, or Freud's works on psychology. Exasperated at his failure he checked through the card catalogue again.

A few minutes later he marched into the office of the assistant librarian. The walls were covered with old and rare books.

He plodded around the office looking at books, listening to the librarian, asking questions, and getting answers.

A few minutes of this and he took out his pencil and paper,

He scribbled a few notes, peered at the titles of some of the books and scribbled more notes. After 15 minutes of this Charlie pocketed his notes, thanked the librarian for her time and stole silently away to write his report.

To King from Charlie

Story: A CLARIFICATION:

Last week Bob Tippins, news editor had a bit of trouble with the library rulebook three books. (He wrote about it in his column.) Charlie Decline and Fall of the Roman Empire, in the library stacks, and peered out the window.

In pursuance of your orders I went to the library and got the following info.

All the books in question are in the library and are available to students in proper request. All of Freud is in the stacks, and there are several other rare editions that cannot be replaced. (These are available at the desk.) Marx's Manifesto is in a book of political essays can be found in card catalogue. The Kinsey Report is at the desk—is regarded as book for mature students. It can be procured by request of professor.

There are several other types of books held behind the desk. Most of these are those which would be stolen if allowed to stay in stacks. After several copies of a certain book has been stolen, the library removes the book from the stacks. They are available at the desk. Most all recent hi-cost books, game books, and paper books."

BEHIND THE IVY

TEACHING - - - DICTATED OR FREE

By BOB TIPPINS

What is the future of our American college professors?

George Orwell has a vivid description in his "1984".

James T Farrell offers a not-so-dramatic answer in The Road Ahead.

Our college professors were a once respected group of distinguished educators, revered for their knowledge and their unrestricted research and disseminating of that knowledge.

Today they seem more than automatons . . . robots . . . puppets . . . who are mere propagandize for the status quo, parrot-like in their classroom lectures.

Can a professor really take pride in his role as a molder of minds when he is forced to follow a strict, printed, unimaginative, time-worn pattern changing end in itself? Are we helplessly bound to a master of our own making? Is there an enstein monster?

Are we succumbing to the Russian concept of freedom which permits one to debate not the ultimate goals, but merely the methods of attaining already formulated goals?

"That statement governs best which governs least." This laissez faire philosophy has its good points, when applied to thought control.

Has the Legislature lost faith in the ability of the people of America to think, to reason, to arrive at rational, discriminative, dependable judgments? The only youth who fought at Valley Forge for the freedom of thought was . . . who died for his convictions at Appomattox . . . who won another's freedom in the Philippines . . . and the same youth who victoriously raised the flag of free thought on Iwo Jima.

A free mind is an American heritage. When you destroy that, lost, then America as a free nation is lost.

Must we faith fire with fire? Must we permanently—or even temporarily—sacrifice or sublimate our principles, employing the methods of our ideological enemies in order to survive? Is restricted in his very pursuit?

Has our open-minded Constitution which once provided the means to an end degenerated into an unchanging end in itself? Are we helplessly bound to a master of our own making? Is there an enstein monster?

Are we succumbing to the Russian concept of freedom which permits one to debate not the ultimate goals, but merely the methods of attaining already formulated goals?

"That statement governs best which governs least." This laissez faire philosophy has its good points, when applied to thought control.

Or should we let democracy stand as its own two feet, allowing the people — us — free thought and complete, full knowledge? Can democracy the inalienable right to thoroughly investigate every issue and decide for ourselves what we believe to be right and wrong? Certainly democracy is capable of being capable of making up our own minds—and not insulting our intelligence by allowing our representatives to do our thinking for us?

That is what, I selfishly desire, even demand that I be allowed to benefit from all of the experience and knowledge which qualify my instructors to teach.

That I be permitted to attend as many divergent views as are existant or available.

That I be allowed freedom and opportunity of unlimited unrestricted personal research.

That I be allowed the courtesy and respect of my reasoned conclusions which, if correct, will be settled through open debate, discussion and argumentation. That I be able to refute philosophies, ideals and values formulated from blind acceptance of political dictators.

All this I expect in return for my tax dollar and for my freedom to don uniform and defend my country in time of external strife.

ON OTHER FRONTS

Active, constructive efforts to alleviate the campus parking problems are now underway.

The first step was the re-zoning of the alumni lot, maximizing the already available space.

The infirmary reports a record attendance of sore feet and fallen arches. Tally's seven hills have been advocates causing trouble with the defeat of the Seminoles. Of course, the cool drinks industry should take correspondence courses.

I'LL BE DUNN

STEALING STILL A PROBLEM!

By BILL DUNN

Stealing has long been a problem on this campus as well as at other institutions, but it seems to have reached a new height here this summer. Recently a thief has stolen the radio out of the Senior hall parlor.

To those of you who know what the Senior hall radio is like, it may seem hard to believe that someone could steal it. A huge cabinet housed the radio and a combination—juke box—television, but this evidently failed to discourage one person from taking the radio. This ingenious thief pulled out the cabinet, detached the radio and left a note saying that it was being repaired and would be back in a week.

I imagine that the thief is very proud of the "good one" that he tune put over on the university. This if all he learned were to respect to use li his neighbor's property. We would probably have fewer wars if universities could install that in their students.

THIS SUMMER the Neces seems to have taken the place of the secretly and fraternity hazes. Several of the sororities and fraternities seem to have completely overlooked except a weekly chapter meeting. Noticeably have been the Theta and the Chi Omega.

SOMEONE OUGHT to inform certain freshmen that the back entrances to women's dormitories where the loading platforms are not the entrances to be used by men when calling on co-eds When reprimanded by the residence counselor for using this entrance, their reply was that there weren't any signs telling them not

Professor DeLand To Take Two-Year Leave

Dr Graydon S DeLand of the Modern Language department will leave for Bolivia at the beginning of August. He will be serving as director of the "Centro Bolivia-Americano" in La paz, the capital. The American center for United States government.

Dr DELAND has been a professor of Spanish and Portuguese for the past three years. Before he was head of the department of Modern Languages at Stetson University in Granville, Florida. He has served as national secretary-treasurer of the American Association of Teachers of Spanish and Portuguese for the past one-half years. The professor is a member of Phi Beta Kappa national scholastic honorary fraternity and Lambda Chi Alpha social fraternity.

He is now in Washington, D C, on a six week's orientation course directed by the State Department division of Libraries for Latin Americans. At the end of the orientation period Dr DeLand and family will fly to La Paz.

HIS DUTIES besides directing the American cultural center, which is run for the purpose of giving American customs and way of life, will include teaching English to Spanish speaking people. He has had previous experience with teaching English to Latin-Americans at Anarbor Michigan.

Dr DeLands have been active in campus affairs since their arrival in 1948. Dr and Mrs DeLand have served as patrons to Delta Sigma Rho, and have been honorary members of several of the FSU dormitories. Their son, Graydon DeLand, Jr, is an FSU graduate of 1950. Dolores, their daughter, was a freshman at the University last year.

Contest Begins To Name Prof C Field

The campus Chesterfield co-representatives, Virginia Smith and Ted Tedder, announce that they have found the simplest way possible for students to win anywhere from five to 15 packages of Chesterfields. This is the Professor Chesterfield Contest.

The contest works like this: The co-reps choose a professor who serves to be the anonymous Prof Chesterfield. This Professor (he or she may be in any dept) remains anonymous until some student asks the vital question, "Are you Prof Chester Field?" This student wins the Chesterfields.

The prize for the first week is five packages and each week the Professor's identity remains unknown five more packs of Chesterfields will be added to the prize.

August Graduates Should Order Caps, Gowns By July 27

Friday, July 27, is the deadline for August graduates to place orders at the bookstore for caps, gowns and invitations, it was announced by Gordon Wheeler, bookstore manager.

Invitations will cost $.15 each; students must pay for these when the order is placed.

CAPS AND GOWNS must also be ordered from the bookstore. A $10 deposit is required, but $7 will be refunded if the regalia is returned immediately after graduation exercises.

Class rings can be ordered at any time before or after the August 13 graduation. Payment must be made in advance, with prices ranging from $18 to $32.

PLANS FOR AUGUST graduation are being made by President Campbell and Dr Venita Shores, chairman of the convocations committee. Information will be compiled by Mr Charles Walker, registrar, and Mrs Margaret McColium of his office, who will have letters explaining the procedure available for each August graduate.

Business Office Has Corn Roasting At Lake Bradford

If the folks in the business office were eating lightly today there's a very good reason.

They held their annual "corn roasting" late yesterday afternoon at PSU Camp Flastacowo on Lake Bradford. R K Shaw, business manager, headed the committee in charge of arrangements. J P Lovy served as official "corn roaster."

The "corn roasting" consists of placing ears of corn with the shucks still on them in a dirt pit. The corn is then covered with burning charcoal.

The result was more than 100 persons attending the annual outing. Many of those present got in line several times to be served "seconds" and "thirds" of this unusual treat.

Mrs Shaw, Miss Alice Henderson, business office secretary and others were on hand to assist in the serving of the "roasting ears" along with other food, cold drinks and watermelon.

Some of those attending the annual business office outing came early and took a cooling swim before dinner.

Free Movie Showing Tonight

NEW FRAT HOUSE—An artist's sketch of one of the new 40-man dormitories under construction is pictured above. When completed, those buildings will be used as fraternity houses.

Seminoles Facing Toughest Schedule

The 1951 Seminole grid schedule will be played as follows:

*Sept 29	Troy State	Home
*Oct 5	—Miami	There
*Oct 13	—Delta State	Home
*Oct 20	—Tul Ross	Home
†Oct 27	—Stetson	Home
Nov 3	—Ga TAS	There
Nov 10	—Wofford	Home
*Nov 17	—Tampa	There
Nov 24	—Bradley	Home

*—Night games.
†—Homecoming.

All home games will be played in the Doak S Campbell Stadium.

DR DON A VELLER, head football coach, is uncertain of the prospective strength of his 1951 squad, for capable replacements must be made at several key positions. These fill-ins must come from the ranks of new players, many of the coaching staff has never seen in action.

The first five tackles and the starting ends from the undefeated 1950 squad have graduated or left for one reason or another. With the minimum reserve the Seminoles had last year, these positions will have to be filled by men of unknown ability.

CAPTAIN BILL DAWKINS, Earl O'Neal, and Bob Schmitt will be back as guards. Added strength will be needed at center where last year's starter, Steve Kalenich, will return. Nine letternen from last year's team will be here next season, including Fullback Mike Seller sand Halfback Nelson Hallano.

Since the Seminoles are facing a much tougher grid schedule in 1951, they must be stronger to keep up the pace which has seen them 24 of 30 starts in the past three seasons. The fact that many of the team's starting positions will probably be filled by freshmen would indicate that this squad should improve as these boys gain experience during the season.

Physical Education Doctorates Given

Miss Grace Fox and Mr Donald Loucks, who have been connected with department of physical education at Florida State University for 15 years, received degrees of Doctor of Physical Education this June from Indiana University.

They were two of the three physical education doctorates awarded this June in Indiana. The other recipient was Mr William Solley.

Miss Fox' thesis was entitled Ring Plays and Other Games of the Florida Negro, and Mr Loucks' was An Analytical Frequency Study of the Content of the Research Quarterly for 1930 to 1940.

Miss Grace Fox hails from Lakeland, Florida, where she is the daughter of Mr and Mrs D C Fox. She graduated from Lakeland High School in 1933.

Joint author of the books Physical Education for the Elementary Schools, and Folk Dancing for High Schools and Colleges, Miss Fox has shown great ability and is rated "the best" by students here in the physical education courses.

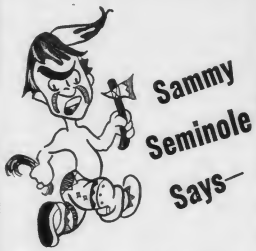
PLAYBITS

Speech Play Enters 2nd Rehearsal Week

Going into second week of rehearsal is Thornton Wilder's Our Town, scheduled to be presented in Conradi on August 8 and 9. The play is cast with high school students, grammar school boys, married students, and some of the "regulars."

A GOODLY GROUP saw "Comedy Through the Ages" last night. It was a very clever presentation of several skits representing the stages comedy has gone through since the cave man made up the first jokes.



Les Jongleurs, drama honorary, is contemplating making an original design for their pins, which has not definitely been decided upon as yet. Many students, speech and otherwise, have expressed the desire to become apprentices to this organization.

A PARTY of graduate women students and men students, as well as sundry professors, is journeying to Panama City Beach to see the Pelican Players present Noel Coward's comedy Private Lives tonight. They got a taste of this in the late production of See How They Run.

Julie Stern and Bill Upshaw expressed a desire to see if the two leads got as many bruises as we did in their stage fight, which was represented in the aforementioned See How They Run.

WHAT TO DO AND WHEN

Dancing Is on Agenda For Saturday Evening

By DEE STEVENS

The formal dance highlights this week's list of recreation events. Saturday night is the time and the Student Union on West campus is the place. Mike Salliba's orchestra, formerly Bob Coles, will provide the music for dancing from 9 to 12 p m. This will be the only formal dance of the summer for the whole university.

BIGGEST PICNIC ever! Over 600 people showed up for the all-University Picnic at Camp Flastacowo last Wednesday. There was plenty of activity for all, from croquet to canoeing, plus a pile of good food for 30c and a wait in line. The program was tops, too, with Mary Hudson singing, the Gymkana troupe tumbling and the Tarpon girls swimming.

Orchids to the latter and their male partners for braving the black depths of Bradford. The swim act survived the hazards of water too muddy for the swimmers to see each other and darkness that clouded the vision of the spectators.

TH INFORMAL dance held on the North and South Cawthon terrace last Friday made such a hit that they have decided to open the floor for dancing every Friday night. After the movie tonight there will be music in the patio for all who wish to dance. Come stag or drag, they say.

The movie tonight will be House on 92nd St. It's free and in the amphitheater as usual, with community singing preceding the movie which starts at 8:15.

Judy Wins Spotted Pony; No, Only 'Friend's' Prank

Judy Sadler has always loved horses and anything pertaining to horses. She rode often at a stable near her home. She read book after book of horse stories, dreaming of the day when she would own her own horse.

Yesterday afternoon she was home alone when the telephone rang. "Is there anyone at home between theages of 9 and 14?" asked the voice on the phone.

"Yes, me," answered Judy. She's 12 and attends the Demonstration School.

"Who discovered America?" the questioner asked.

"Columbus," Judy answered quickly.

"For answering that question correctly," the voice continued, you will receive tomorrow a spotted pony as a prize from the Golden Mare radio program on WTAL.

Judy, bursting with joy, called her friends to tell them the good news.

But after checking with station WTAL, her friends found that there was no such program as Golden Mare and WTAL people knew nothing about it.

"It must have been a prank by one of your friends, Judy," said one person.

"Yes, fine 'friends', answered the disappointed girl.

Tallahassee Ranks High in National Retail Trade Sales

According to Dr. W Bruce Weale, associate professor of marketing, Florida had 14 cities in the first 100 cities of the United States leading in retail sales volume. This was an analysis of the 1948 U S Census of Business.

FIGURES SHOW that Miami, with a retail sales volume of $338,283,000, ranked highest in Florida. Jacksonville was in second place with a total of $247,762,000 for the year.

Other Florida cities and their sales volumes included: Tampa, $160,465,000; St. Petersburg, $118,676,000; Miami Beach, $103,351,000; Orlando, $84,851,000; West Palm Beach, $76,480,000; Fort Lauderdale, $59,959,000; Pensacola, $56,535,000; Daytona Beach, $40,199,000; Lakeland, $37,405,000; Tallahassee, $32,311,000; Gainesville, $32,075,000; and Panama City, $23,895,000.

ALTHOUGH NOT listed in the population class exceeding 25,000 when the federal business census of 1948 was made, Dr Weale found that Sarasota had a total retail sales volume for the year of $28,788,000; Coral Gables, $25,543,000; and Ocala, $24,513,000.

Dr Weale also found that Miami with 3.72b scores ranked 84th nationally, while Jacksonville with 2.46f ranked 492d, and Tampa with 2.000 ranked 80th among the leading 500 cities.

University Tells Graduation Plans

Plans for summer graduation, to be held at 8 p.m on Wednesday, August 15, in the music amphitheater, are underway.

Mr Hoyt Price, assistant registrar announced that the graduating class will number about 300, approximately the same as last summer's group. Candidates for degrees will finish exams, according to Mr Price, the first part of exam week; their grades will be due August 11.

MR CHARLES H WALKER, registrar, and Dr Vernla Shores, convocation chairman, have sent the informative letter to all candidates for graduation.

The statement announced that permission for degrees in absentia may be granted in writing by students dean's not later than August 1. Any person who does not obtain exemption from commencement exercises and who does not appear on August 15 will not be granted his diploma.

The letter stated that a $5 diploma fee must be paid at the student accounts office immediately. Those fees and the $1 music and social security certification fee slips should also be made at this time.

EACH CANDIDATE, the announcement said, must close all accounts in connection with the business office before August 1. This includes library fines, infirmary bills or any other university-wide payments. If these records are not cleared, candidate will not be permitted to graduate.

The letter also stated that caps and gowns may be rented, and measurements must be made at the bookstore by July 31. Tassels must be worn by candidates with graduation. Academic regalia for bachelor's degrees will be black cap and gown, master's degrees, dark blue cap and gown, and doctor's degrees, black cap and gown, with gold tassels.

Candidates—both graduate and undergraduate—met Tuesday at 4 p.m in the auditorium of Sweet. Dean of Student Welfare J Rowland Culpepper. Convocations Chairman Vernla Shores, and Registrar Charles H Walker spoke to the group.

DEAN CULPEPPER first commented on the university dress code room ion for academic schievements. He then described three formale wear for graduating men, ranging from traditional and informal to modern and informal. He emphasized, after discussing advantages and disadvantages of each, that the proper attire is up to a student choice. In the final analysis, people prefered to have persons awarded individually on the music amphitheater stage. He did hope there for a modern-ized ceremony.

Dr Shores stated that a commencement rehearsal will be held the night before graduation. All candidates for degrees must be present in the music amphitheater by 7 p.m on Tuesday, August 14. Upon arrival, candidates should find their designated spot on the seating arrangement chart which will be distributed at this time.

DR SHORES stated that guest tickets will be given out at the rehearsal. At present there is no limitation on the number of tickets each graduate, for this will depend upon seating capacity. Dr Shores hopes, however, that the amphitheater capacity, usually 1,500, will be increased to 1,800. In this case, graduates may be given five or four tickets apiece.

Mr Walker clarified the problem of last-minute credit work for graduates. Grades are due Saturday noon, and records will be checked for quality-point requirements. Students found to be deficient will be notified as soon as possible. This information should be out by Tuesday afternoon at the latest.

LATER QUESTIONED about minor class officers, Dr Culpepper replied that none have been elected because of insufficient student demand in the shorter summer session.

According to Dr Shores, the theme of the graduation commencement services has not yet been announced.

Exams Not Scheduled

According to Mr Hoyt Price, assistant to the registrar, there will be no published final examination schedule for the summer session. Exams will be arranged by the instructor for the last class period.

2nd Speech Play to Be Given August 8 and 9

Pulitzer Prize-Winner By Thornton Wilder In 4th Week Rehearsal

OUR TOWN, Thornton Wilder's Pulitzer prize-winning play to be presented August 8 and 9, will be the second ma jor summer speech production.

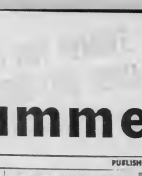
The play is now beginning its fourth week of rehearsal. Dussell D Owens, assisted by Claire van Breeman, is directing the play under the general supervision of Dr George McClinton, chairman of the drama area.

FIRST SEEN by New York audiences in 1938, the drama has enjoyed a national reputation for the past 13 years. The unique effects made by the absence of stage scenery and the presence of pantomime in lieu of properties only enhance the total image of the play.

Ben Perrell, graduate student from Miami is stage manager. Adrianne Cooper and David Lowe, who starred in Gilbert and Sullivan operettas last year, have the leading roles of Emily and Emily. Parental roles will be handled by Jean Newton and Elizabeth Neel as Dr and Mrs Gibbs, and James Slack and Josephine Shields as editor and Mrs Webb.

OTHER PLAYERS will include Loren Reichart, Marjorie McDonald, Mrs Hendricks, Lewis Aiken, Frances Hightower, Larry Hill, Paul McLerran, Neil Hilford, Pete Williams, and Frederick Wilds.

The story concerns life in a small town, Grover's Corners, New Hampshire.



Using the audience's imagination, the stage manager gives a description of Our Town as it looks to him and to its citizens, from the churches to the livery stable. The play is set in the early 1900's.

CHIEFLY ABOUT two families, the play deals with their daily life, love and marriage and death. The Gibbses and the Webbs who live next door to each other, have, respectively, a son and daughter of high school age. These two young people, George and Emily, suddenly discover they are in love and decide to get married when they graduate.

Their wedding is shown at the end of Act II. Act III begins nine years later, with the past dead and the remainder of the play deals with her struggle to accept her part, which is non-living.

THE LANGUAGE is simple and the style is homey. At first glance the play appears to be just an account of everyday life, and that is just what it is. It is a comedy, a tragedy and a drama.

Curtain rises at 8:30 in the Augusta Conradi theatre. No seats will be reserved but tickets can be obtained at the box office on performance dates.

Physical Ed Dept Holds Seminar Here

A national seminar on public relations for physical education has been scheduled at FSU from July 30 to August 5. Several nationally known authorities in fields of physical education and public relations will speak.

ACCORDING TO Dr Howard O Danford, FSU men's physical education director and conference chairman, nearly 200 persons from all sections of the country are expected to attend.

Dr Danford said that while the seminar is primarily planned for persons directly connected with physical education, others have been invited. School superintendents, principals, supervisors and teachers interested in this particular area of education will be welcomed.

Included among the speakers are Dr Delbert Oberteuffer, professor of physical education of Ohio State University, and Dr Benjamin Fine, education editor of the New York Times.

DR OBERTEUFFER, according to Dr Danford, will discuss "Physical Education Values," with conferences on the evening of July 30, and Dr Fine will speak the first morning, July 31, with the first general session schedule for 9 a.m in the Augusta Conradi theatre. President Doak S Campbell will welcome those attending.

The seminar plans and procedures will then be outlined by Dr Danford. The first of a series of talks by Dr Oberteuffer will be given. Dr Fine will make his first talk of the seminar at the Monday afternoon session.

Both Dr Oberteuffer and Dr Fine will lead the discussions during the Tuesday and Wednesday meetings. A physical education demonstration will be conducted by Mr Jack Haskin, FSU circus director with Miss Nelle Bond Dickinson, modern dance director, and Miss Mary Titus, Tarpon club director, taking part.

COACH HASKIN, whose FSU circus "Flying High" is a national fame, and Dr Hartley Price director of Gymkana and the FSU Festival of Arts, organizers of the hastic team, will present the public relations possibilities of the annual circus and gymkana.

The entire seminar, according to Dr Danford, will emphasize how public understanding of a physical education program is basic in public support. An important phase of the seminar, he said, will deal with the organization and operation of both indoor and outdoor demonstrations as a means of increasing the general public's understanding of physical education

1951 Music Camp Elects Officers; Has First Dance

The 1951 Music Camp made up nominating ballots for student body officers Friday night. Leaders to be elected will include presidents, secretaries and representatives.

Saturday "Musicampers" went to Camp Flastacowo to receive the names of nominees. Campaign speeches were delivered by candidates. A dance was held in Macpeila Hall, with music furnished by the Music Camp orchestra, better known to students as Billy Weathers and his "Cocoa-Nuts."

Monday after chorus rehearsal elections of officers was held. While ballots were being counted, another dance was completed.

Officers elected are: president, Jimmy Staples, whose duties include being Master of Ceremonies at the weekly convocations at the secretary, Shirley Boulware, representative of boys' dormitories, Wayne Bullock; representative of girls' dormitories, Martha Ware, and representative of day students, Lucious Merritt.

These officers, meeting every week with the faculty committee, will organize the newspaper to be put out by Music Camp students.

Civil Defense Conference To Open Monday, July 30

Five Day Conference Features Noted Authorities as Speakers

The five day Conference on Citizenship Education and Civil Defense will be held here July 30 to August 3. Dr T Q Srygley, conference director and head of the Division of Instruction, State Department of Education, has stated that arrangements are being made to obtain the maximum information and most effective program possible.

Dr Srygley said that the conference sponsored jointly by the State Department of Education and Florida State University, is designed to explore and develop a wide range of procedures in the civil defense program with special emphasis placed upon American ideals. According to the chairman, most of the sessions will be held daily from 8-30 a m until noon. Monday through Friday, in the air-conditioned Music hall.

A LARGE GROUP of civil defense leaders and educators from all sections of the country has already accepted invitations to speak during the conference. Heading the list will be Millard F Caldwell of Washington and Tallahassee, ex-governor of Florida who is now Federal Civil Defense Administrator.

Mr Caldwell, who will come from Washington especially for the address, will discuss "Civilian Need for a Program of Civil Defense." He will be followed by D Mark Easton, Washington official, the Federal Civil Defense Administration, who will discuss "Federal Civil Defense Program and Policies."

Another principal speaker will be Dr Benjamin Fine, education editor of the New York Times. Other authorities will include E B Norton, Dean of the School of Education, executive secretary of the National Education Association of America, Association of Health, Physical Education, and Recreation.

ALSO SPEAKING will be William M Alexander of the School of Education, University of Atlanta; Kenneth A Reeder, College of Education, University of Illinois; Gordon Gemmill, Teachers College, Columbia University; Colonel R G Howie, State Director of Civil Defense; and Lewis F Mcnitt, Professor of Education at the University of Illinois.

Dr Edwin R Walker, Dean of the FSU College of Arts and Sciences, who recently returned after six months' work with the Federal Civil Defense Administration, will also speak.

Language Profs Spend Vacation In S America

Dr D Lincoln Canfield, head of the department of modern languages, and Dr Herbert Lacayo of that department will spend their summer vacation period doing professional work in Latin America, according to President Campbell.

They plan to leave the university immediately after the end of summer session on August 15. They will remain in Latin America for a month.

DR CANFIELD will go to El Salvador to attend a course on linguistic atlas under the general supervision of Dr Thomas Navarro, visiting professor at FSU last winter. Dr Canfield has said that he will observe and do interviews with natives of the Central American country, making notes on their pronunciations, vocabulary, and grammar. These notes, he explained, will later be incorporated in a book with a series of maps showing the over 130 million Spanish speaking peoples have speech variation in accordance with their environment.

Dr Lacayo will visit Nicaragua, where he will work on the same project as Dr Canfield. Dr Lacayo will uses questionnaire prepared by Dr Navarro to obtain a uniformity of answers.

BOTH DR CANFIELD and Dr Lacayo will confer with the international departments of education, and local authorities in the two Latin American countries in the selection of persons to be invited.

Dr Navarro has already prepared a book on the different manner of speech in Puerto Rico as part of the overall program of identification with different departments of speech in Latin America, according to Dr Canfield.

Vespers Held Sunday On Longmire Lawn

Vespers this Sunday night will be held at 7:15 p m on the lawn in front of the Longmire building. Professor Griffin Pugh of the English department will speak on "A Current Fashion in Theology."

Miss Betty Grimm is arranging special music. Professor Herman Gunter will direct the hymn sing.

Nigro Leaves For Lectures

Speaks to Pan American Government Officials

Dr Felix A Nigro, associate professor of public administration, has completed a series of lectures for the United Nations Technical Assistance Program in El Salvador, General Assembly, August 10 to September 15.

ACCORDING TO President Campbell, the Board of Control has approved arrangements for Dr Nigro, a new member of the Science of Public Administration, to lecture government and public officials of El Salvador.

An expert in personnel administration and management with a background of practical experience and teaching since 1927, Dr Nigro was selected through Fernando Rivera of the Technical Assistance Administration of the United Nations Headquarters. This was announced by Dr Wilson K Doyle, dean of the School of Business and Industry.

DR NIGRO has spent the last two years as a visiting professor at the University of Puerto Rico. From 1948 to 1949 he taught government at the University of Texas. He worked for various government agencies, including the National Housing Agency, War Shipping Administration, and National Resources Planning Board, in an administrative capacity.

Dr Nigro received his BA, MA, and PhD degrees at the University of Wisconsin. He has recently completed a documentary book, "Public Administration Readings and Documents," to be used as a beginning reference. This will be published by Rinehart and Company next fall.

IN COMMENTING on Dr Nigro's lectures in Central America, Dr Doyle said that they are designed to bring about a closer understanding and relationship

ROVING REPORTER LAVERNE

FSU Students Express Opinions On Campus Parking Situation

This week's "question of the week," asked by Steve Newman, Flambeau roving reporter, was, "What do you think of the parking facilities on campus?" The administration's answer to the parking situation are presented on the editorial page.

Phil Davis, Junior, 547 W College: They must be improved; the situation is very bad.

Bill Hayes, Freshman, Senior Hall: They could be worse. Maybe we'll have to have a bicycle campus. Why not make it a "horse" campus?

Mary Hubbard, Graduate Student: I think the parking situation on this campus is disgraceful.

Tommy Morgan, Sophomore, Rums Chi House: The situation is terrible for the boys. I'd give anything beside a scooter for a pair. The Chevrolet I am riding around looking for a place that's not painted yellow. I don't drive on the campus because I can't fight the sweating and cussing.

G Grice, Gradnate Student, West Campus: Just too many cars and too much parking.

Ed Black, Gradnate Student, Senior Hall: Parking facilities at the moment appear to be unsatisfactory. However, before facilities could be called inadequate, a check on number of cars to be here this fall should be made. Ratio of cars to student body should be higher in summer because of school teachers, and present facilities may be adequate this year.

Jim Stark, Gradnate Student: I think parking spaces should be raised and three-tiered parkmobile be created. Parking is worse problem in confirmed bicyclists!

Mary West, Senior, Day Student: It's really bad when the only parking space available is blocks around are in the driveways of sorority houses closed for the summer.

Jim Dras, Senior, Senior Hall: I think there are some the administration can't do something about the parking situation. Dr Price says the administration that the State Road Department constructs all parking areas on campus. They seem to have completed little. Why can't these people improve the badly beat and forth and get some work done?

Jack Newman, Senior, Senior Hall: Another complaint on parking seems that for some people one parking place is not enough. How about our "campus police" taking care of improperly parked cars? That would help, but there's obviously a great need for more roads.

Jane Aichley, Senior, Byrnes Hall: I think they are most inadequate, and I do mean inadequate. Please—more benches!

Bob Jenkins, Gradnate Student, Senior Hall: The parking situation on East Campus is so bad that it is easier for one to park on West Campus and walk in rather than to drive over and try to "light."

Wallace Hamrick, Senior, Senior Hall: Parking is a problem here at school. Not enough parking spaces and not enough space available. In some cases the situation seems a worse problem by wasting space.

Reid Burdin, Sophomore, Day Student: I like them in several campuses, and this is the worst one by seven. Lots of times I have had to park at the lower end of Collene Avenue in order to get to class on time. It's a terrible situation.

Evelyn Harrison, Senior, Day Student: I think the parking facilities are terrible. I have to come out to school a half hour early to find a place and then I usually have to walk three blocks.

Tom Edwards, Junior, 537 Park Avenue: "I think that the main parking problem on East campus might be solved by building a parking lot between Senior Hall and Landis Green, especially since the new student center and the new men's dorms are being constructed in that area.

Mary E Rhodes, Senior, West Campus: The parking situation on West Campus is terrible. There is very definite problem. It is practically impossible, at certain times of day, to obtain a parking place within three blocks of the administration building. This situation must be coped with and solved soon. If the architects of the "50 Year Plan" are considering all phases of University life, parking and automobiles should necessarily be considered.

School of Music Has Scheduled Three Recitals

The School of Music will present three recitals in the Music hall next week.

ROBERT FORMAN, oboist, will present a faculty recital in the Music hall Monday evening at 8:15 p m. Professor Forman will be assisted by pianist Robert Glenbeck and soprano Mary Helen Warner. The program will be open to the public.

Public recitals on the oboe, according to Mr Forman, occur so seldom as to be practically nonexistent, even in large cities.

Professor Forman will play an Air and Rondeaux by Henry Purcell, the Concerto for Oboe by Benedetto Marcello, and a selection of oboe melodies from Rimsky-Korakov's Scheherezade. In his piano solo group, Mr Glasbach will play two preludes and the Etude in C Minor by Chopin.

Miss Warner will sing the aria My Soul Reposes in Jesus' Hands by J S Bach, with oboe obligato by Mr Forman and piano accompaniment by Mr Glenbach.

Professor Forman, a former member of the Wichita Symphony orchestra from 1946 to 1948, He has taught in public schools at Hutchinson, Kansas a nd the University of Kansas. He is the University of Kansas While in the service he was director of the band at the San Diego Music School.

A GRADUATE RECITAL in piano will be presented Tuesday evening, July 31, by Mary Roosenbush, a pupil of Professor Franciseek Zachara. The program, open to the public will be in the Music Hall at 8:15 p m.

The recital will include the Prelude and Fuane in G from Book II of The Well-Tempered Clavier by J S Bach and the Sonata in E Flat, Opus 81 by Beethoven. Entitled Les Adieux by Bethoven, the sonata was written to commemorate the coronation of the Archduke Royal pupil, the Archduke Rudolph, had left the from Vienna when the city was under bombardment by Napoleon's troops.

Two pieces of Chopin, the Nocturne in F and the Scherzo in B Minor will be played. Three preludes by Debussy, Danseuses de Delphes and Salis will be followed by the Rhapsody Espagnol Op 11 by Franz Liszt. For the final number, the first movement of the Bestboven Concerto in C Minor, Miss Rosenbush will be joined by Professor Zachara, who will play the orchestral accompaniment on a second piano.

Tryouts for Roberta To Be Held First Week of Fall Term

Roberta, a Jerome Kern musical comedy based on the Alice Duer Miller novel Gowns by Roberta, will be the first production of the Light Opera Guild, Dr Robert L Brisas, director, has announced. Assistant director Nelle Bond Dickinson will assist in the direction of the show scheduled for December 6-8 in the Music Hall.

TRYOUTS WILL be held during the first week of the fall semester. Every student interested in participating in the show, not a part, Dr Brisas said.

The musical comedy gives ample opportunity for almost every type of stage talent. In addition to singing, there are speaking roles, a dance chorus, and a group of mannequins.

Some of the highlights of the plot is a style show, representing the creations of Roberta, a Parisian dressmaker. The dresses, to be furnished by local style shops, will be modeled by campus beauties, according to Dr Brisgs.

Roberta first was presented on Broadway in 1933 and was filmed in 1935 with Irene Dunne, Fred Astaire, and Ginger Rogers in starring roles. Among the hit tunes from the show are "Smoke Gets in Your Eyes," "Lovely to Look at," "I Won't Dance," "Operatalking," "Yesterdays," and "The Touch of Your Hand."

During the part year the Light Opera Guild staged two productions. Gilbert and Sullivan light operas The Mikado and The Pirates of Penzance. Both shows played to standing room only in the Music Hall.

Business Manager Sums Up Improvements for Parking

After an interview with Florida State University's Business Manager, Rod Shaw, the Flambeau is able to explain clearly and accurately why the school has not alleviated the present parking situation.

First and foremost above all other factors is the matter of money. Yes, if one intend to solve this problem one must have the dollars and cents to proceed with the solution.

The University has no money in the budget for paving of any type.

Any road work which has to be done is paid for from the budget of the state road department. Through them, and only them, can any road improvement or parking facilities be taken care of.

Three years ago a group, including the business manager, presented a proposal to pave the vacant lot beside Jennie Murphree. The proposal was rejected.

Why? Because the bedroom windows of this freshman dormitory were so close to the ground that the occupants of these rooms on the north side would have to keep their shades down practicaly every minute of the day.

Last fall football season the Chairman of the State Road department, Alfred A McKethan, passed by the New Men's dormitory and noticed the inadequately parking facilities.

He immediately had $80,000 appropriated to be used on paving for FSU.

The University hoped to get their improvements begun and completed during the summer session but this is the time of the smallest enrollment and would inconvenience fewer persons.

Unfortunately, the tourist section of Florida wanted their roads repaired and built during the summer in order to have highways open for trade in the winter.

Trying to complete all their projects at once has kept the road department jumping!

The present and future methods to remedy parking and driving hazards have been carefully planned and are being completed as soon as time and energy will permit.

At present, workmen are planning to widen the streets six feet, from Gilchrist hall, around the Westcott building, to Bryan arcade enough to permit parking on both sides.

The streets running north and south through the campus to McCall street past the freshman dorms, the West dining hall and the Women's gym are to be widened six feet also. This is to relieve the narrow driving conditions which now exist. These roads already have parking on both road sides.

The road which runs parellel to the parking lot opposite the BSU house is in the process of being paved. 340 feet of the road on the side of the lot will not have curbing but a paved ramp to go up into the lot.

Projects which have been approved over long-range planning are the road to the new student service building, which is now nearing completion. Traffic will triple when the center is finished, for the post office, book store, and new cafeteria will be included in the building. As it stands now most of the traffic would come along the Quincy highway to the center.

To keep this flow of cars off the highway, a road is to be built parallel with the highway. Students will drive on the street instead of the main highway.

Also in future plans is a road leading from the overpass by the stadium to McCall street in Mabry Heights to be constructed. This is intended to head off the traffic coming from the stadium and send part of it back to the campus via the maintenance building.

These are the present plans of the school for the remedying of the parking problem and helping to lessen the driving hazards.

The plans are good ones carefully suggested, needed and approved. The sooner they are put into practice the happier all car owners will be.

RENAISSANCE—1951

Who says the years of birth are gone?
I say we're just begun to turn the page of infancy.
In 1800 there came a smashing intellectual blow to the brain of mankind—
As though a piston had been turned full force—to a little ledge—
But now—now in our time
A second renaissance begins—
Another piston has been turned
Nothing which is said to be is irrefutable
All is open to the ever-seeking minds of thinkers—
And far on down the line of years
A new sun rises and calls to groaning slaves—
Your trek to the mountain's peak has just begun!
Rise and struggle into the foothills of knowledge
And understanding.
For tomorrow's sun is even brighter!

AS THE EDITOR SEES IT

COOPERATION IS THE KEYWORD

By JANET PIERCE

After the talk with the FSU Business Manager, Rod Shaw, this columnist is glad to see that the school has looked into the parking problem for many years and has planned in advance various improvements which will help solve the problem.

Granted that many of the solutions are scheduled for the future, it is at least consoling to know that the school has recognized the problem as it stands and has sought methods to remedy the situation.

It is through this means that the administration and the students can work together to bring forth a better institution . . . an institution which stands for great pride among other colleges and is highly praised by those that attend the university.

* * *

It is true that maybe the methods and solutions for remedy of the crowded conditions could have been planned. For instance, the vacant lot which was proposed to be paved and set for parking was rejected because it was next to Jennie Murphree.

When the higher authorities were questioned about their refusal to approve it, this was the general trend of their answer.

The windows in Jennie Murphree are so low to the ground that the people in the parking lot could see through the windows. Thus, the freshmen would have to keep their shades down at all times for "Peeping Toms."

To me this strikes a note of ridiculousness. Does the day's heat to see through a window for the sun casts a dark shadow in the screen which keeps the outsider from seeing anything but darkness in the room.

As for pulling the shades at night, I live on the third floor of Jennie Murphree and I still have to shut mine for people riding by in cars on the street can look up and see me walking around in the room. The girls in Jennie Murphree aren't put to anymore inconveniences than other dormitory residents.

Besides, I never a fact that students pull their shades on the north side of Jennie Murphree anyway to prevent boys who walk through the vacant lot from looking into their rooms.

ONE BIG DANCE HALL NEEDED

(Guest Column)

A stranger visiting our campus would remark at the beautiful buildings and grounds; at the happy student hurrying to class and especially at the tremendous amount of construction going on under the 50-year plan.

When the plans for all this construction are finished, it can be seen that the new buildings —men's and women's dorms, fraternity houses, and Student Service Center—will be things of beauty.

But . . . there's something lacking.

Since this University became co-educational, there have been big dances, little dances, formal dances and informal dances. The high spots of the year, the Homecoming and Sandspur dances at which name bands such as Charlie Spivak, Freddie Martin, etc., play, always bring out a tremendous crowd of students who normally do not attend dances.

They have been held in the Suwannee room of the dining hall with the overflow of students invited to dance in the woman's gym. And what an overflow! The dances have always been crowded, a hot and uncomfortable. But students have gone along with the discomfort because they knew in the back of their minds that in a few years the new Student Union would be built with a ball room big enough to accommodate any sort of dance.

Members of the Student Union Organization planned their dances around the Student Union on West campus, patiently awaiting the construction of the Student Center where they could have bigger and better parties and dances. They trusted, too.

But it seems that there may be a delay of 50-100 years to wait. The plans for the new Student Service Center do not include a ball room. In fact nothing in the 50-year plan includes a ball room.

The dances will continue for more than 50 years to be held in makeshift halls in the Suwannee room and the old Student Union building.

We trusted, and waited . . . for nothing.

It is this columnist's sincere wish that the authorities who rejected this proposal reconsider and watch the need for more parking space against the trouble of pulling the shades in Jennie Murphree.

IT SEEMS that some people just will not honor other people's property. Recently a lady left her purse in the FSU dining hall. Upon checking later it had not been turned into any of the lost and found stations.

This lady had several important cards among which were her driving license and a set of necessary keys in the purse. The lady states that she doesn't mind the finder keeping the money but the keys and cards are very valuable to her.

She hopes someone will send these items through the mail.

If the person who found the purse would think of that old adage "do unto others . . ." he would have what he got in the purse without hesitation. If he lost something he would want it returned.

● SPACE TROUBLE

The Committee on Recitals, Plays, Lectures, and Art Exhibits, better known as the Artist Series, has presented four top notch performances this summer.

The Amphitheater has been filled to capacity during all four shows. The committee is to be commended on their selection of available artists.

Further, they came through in splendid form when Lucille Manners was forced to cancel her performance because of sickness.

It is indeed fortunate, however, that the summer school enrollment is not as high as the regular sessions. The Music Hall or the Amphitheater do not have the seating capacity necessary to accommodate the regular session crowds.

It should be condemned, and that means there will be no adequate facilities available this fall for the Artist Series. The past Legislature did appropriate enough funds to build a new auditorium—if they had it is probable that the materials might not have been available.

Where will the Series be held when the weather becomes too cold for outdoor audiences?

There has been talk of a proposal made by the City of Tallahassee and Leon County. They should be pushed by the people of the University, the city, and county to chip in and build an auditorium in Tallahassee. This seems, on the face at least, to be a wise plan.

If the plan were adopted the university would benefit, the city and county would benefit. It would, among other things, create a better understanding between the townspeople and the university. More townspeople would attend university functions, and the city would also have a place to accommodate large audiences for anything it wished to promote.

● BIDS FAREWELL

FSU bids farewell to a great educator this week.

Dr Jernigan is changing his residence to Charlotte, North Carolina, where he will become the President to Queens College.

This is a fine honor bestowed upon the former head of the classics department, but it is well deserved.

With Dr Jernigan's departure, another page in the history of the university department is turned. Great advancement has been made during his two-year stay at FSU. Many new techniques of teaching have been employed by the progressive leader. Many new concepts have been drawn by students who found new interest in an old culture.

In addition to his modern instructing philosophy, Dr Jernigan was a friend to every student inside and out of class. He was always there with a helping hand.

Yes, FSU was very proud to have Dr Jernigan here for two years. His presence will be remembered long after he is gone.

● KKK COULD HELP

Freedom is the watchword of our democratic society. But is it possible that freedom can be carried too far? The freedom of one group to do something may interfere with the freedom of another group or individual.

We hear that the Ku Klux Klan has burned a cross in front of a 15-year-old boy's house because he wanted to have a Negro student make a report at his school.

This may or may not be true. It makes little difference. Perhaps some group of pranksters did the job. The point is that whenever something of this nature happens, the KKK gets the blame. They have shown in the past that they are capable of such acts, and are willing to commit them. Their attack of Prep for Marriage courses, and movies teaching sex proved this.

The freedom to dislike something or somebody is an inalienable right in this country. You may dislike anyone or anything you please, but you have no right to commit acts of violence, or fear in order to stop them.

The KKKK could be one of the greatest forces for law, order, and democracy in the South if it would adopt a safe and sane policy toward the real problems in this section of the country. They could be respected and admired by their fellow Americans if they would take an intelligent view of the Negro question and all other Southern questions.

They have taken an admirable stand against the Communist Party in the United States. Anyone who would fight the Klan as communist is a fool. The KKK is violently anti-communist.

However, while they attack the communist menace in this country, they attack a vital democratic principle also. They are anti-Negro, anti-Jewish, and anti-Northern.

The Northerners may be Damyankees, but their industries and their capital can save the South from poverty. Do not misunderstand. We do not mean to say that the South should wait for a handout from the North. We have a pull ourselves up by our own bootstraps. But how can we effectively do this if a great number of our Southern leaders are continually fighting against progress?

Southern progress died at Gettysburg and Bull Run and a dozen other places for an ideal. They also died at Verdun, the Marne, and at Iwo Jima, Normandy, and the Bulge. They are dying today in Korea. All these have died for an ideal too—the ideal of a free democracy—for a free world. Free for the Negro and his wife and children as well as for the Jew, the Southerner—and the Damyankee.

Ice Cream Social Set For Tuesday at 8 PM

By DEE STEVENS

Killing time and being lazy seem to be the best ideas offered by summer school students at this more-than-mid-point. But classes and July are still with us, so best we think of something else.

THE RECREATION program has hit on one solution to the best-the-best problem, and it's timed to the perfect moment. The good old Good Time Coast is the tional Ice Cream Social will be with us for a day—next Tuesday—when the University is invited to turnout for that cooling refreshment. Korean peace talks have progressed so fast that the conference had to recess for one week to determine what they have accomplished. Meanwhile the World Politics slright; doing things first and considering their actions later.

THERE MUST NOT be a single 200 per cent red blooded revolutionist on the campus this summer. Everyone has seen any secret papers and have read very few letters to the Editor where anyone objected to anything.

KING'S KNIGHTS

ODYSSEY OF CHARLIE BOOK 1, CHAPTER 4

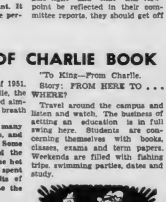
By EMORY KING

. . . and it was the morning of 1951. It came to pass that Charlie, the Flambeau gremlin, wandered aimlessly across the campus and trough of the campus.

During this time he saw many things, heard many things, and pondered them at leisure. Some days he sat in the shade, and co-eds playing tennis in the hot afternoon sun. Others he spent looking for interesting bits of information to pass on to the newspaper.

Sometimes he was as large and good looking as the other students. Sometimes, when saying the right words, he was only three inches tall and he stood unnoticed among the people and listened.

He was an oddity, this mischievous little elf who had spent almost 27 years in the newspaper office. He liked everybody, he did not readily jump to conclusions.



And so it was that he spent his time in these days—working and studying, and writing reports to the office. When the end of the regular summer term was close at hand he handed several reports to the associate news editor.

The dice was seen for 15-20 minutes by an FSU co-ed and his wife. The dice had a mirror-like surface that reflected the sun. It looked like a bent saucer.

5:30 p m: A large disc-like object was seen by a family on the road to West campus. The disc looked like a bright star.

5:30 p m. A round object resembling a star was seen by a fraternity co-ed while returning from a weekend visit to Pensacola. It alternated brightly in the afternoon sky.

Consider, if you will, the possibilities of a flying saucer. Consider, if there are such things—or that they come from another galaxy—or anything. Just think of the changes that could come about over night in this world if we were visited by another planet. We, who are on the road to conquer the universe could suddenly become aliens. Then how much would a degree in Social Work or any translation of any kind can no longer work in peace, some greater power takes over.

This is as it should be. We need an intelligent populous to hold this old earth together. However, think about this following item in the light of current events.

Sunday, July 22:

10 a m: At least two people saw what seemed to be a large circular disc in the sky four miles southwest of Tallahassee.

BEHIND THE IVY

GUEST COLUMNIST DEFENDS PATTON REPORT

By BOB TIPPINS

John McCarey, an FSU student from Tallahassee, has been among the most vehement critics of protesting to recent criticisms of the Patton committee's report.

John has asked for an opportunity to present his views on the subject. Therefore, we are relinquishing this space to him for this edition.

GUEST COLUMN
By John McCarey

There has been a good deal of criticism directed at the Patton committee by the students and the Florida legislature. Before I start jumping to conclusions, let's examine the facts.

First, the Patton committee was a duly constituted committee of the Florida legislature.

Second, the committee was fair, the committee were in legitimate performance of this task for which it was appointed.

Third, all its actions or activities were within the legitimate powers granted it by the Florida legislature.

Four, all the committee activities on the part of the committee were ethical, all hearings were open to the public and all witnesses invited to such a manner as to be in keeping with public policy. Therefore, anyone who desired to testify on any pertinent factor was amply provided to do so.

This was not a witch hunt. It was simply and strictly the performance of the duty imposed upon the legislature by the taxpayers and the constitution to conduct such investigations as may be necessary to determine whether existing legislation should be repealed, and whether new legislation is necessary in a given field.

If there is such apathy on the part of the student body and the faculty of FSU that they cannot study concerning what regulations pertaining to the University shall be passed by the Florida legislature, that only "crack-pots" and dissatisfied elements appear to testify at such investigations, then it ill behooves the rest of us to complain at any legislation that is adopted by the committee investigating.

We should not childishly attempt to excuse or allibi our own woeful indifference to neglect of, and lack of interest in, proceedings which vitally affect us, as students of the state of Florida and complaining about an unfavorable committee report which could have been avoided otherwise, considering the situation of those "round pegs in square holes" who appeared to testify before the committee.

If the students and faculty would prefer that future committees are FSU in a more favorable light and that a favorable point be reflected in their committee reports, they should get off their . . . easy chairs, appear before the committees, and let them know what's right with FSU!

Be assured that many will be present to tell them what's wrong with FSU!

It might be worthwhile to note that in spite of the squawking about thought control, no bill was passed by the Florida legislature concerning what the students may or may not read, or what the instructors may or may not teach.

If any restrictions have been imposed in these areas, it has been done by a weak-kneed, jelly-eared administration . . . NOT by the elected representatives of the people of the State of Florida.

Personally, I do not believe that any such restrictions have been imposed. Certainly no one has tried to tell me what I may think or read, and I have no reason to suspect that the representative officers of this university appointed by the board of control would tell them what they tried to dictate such restrictions to any one.

Let me repeat, if you are dissatisfied with the Patton committee report, don't complain a good legislature for performing its duties. Accept the responsibility where it belongs . . . with YOU, if you did not appear before the committee which would have occasioned a report more to your liking.

EEING IS BELIEVING'

Alexander Queries Validity of Saying

Dr Theron Alexander, psychologist is seriously questioning the validity of "Seeing is believing."

DR ALEXANDER says his research indicates the reverse, "Seeing is seeing" in that we tend to see what we want to see. Two individuals perceive things in the environment exactly in the same way. We tend to accept or reject on the basis of personal attitudes.

Dr Alexander began studying aspects of this problem several years ago at the University of Chicago. In continuing his research he was under a grant from the FSU Research Council, he has found a way of predicting how a person will see certain situations. He plans to read a paper on this at the annual national meeting of the American Psychological Association in Chicago next September and will be the second consecutive presentation before this group.

THE PAPER, according to Dr Alexander, will deal with the influence of certain personality factors of perception. It will show how it is possible to predict the way people will see their environment. "If we can find out how people perceive certain things or certain situations we are much better understanding their behavior," states the FSU psychologist.

In his research Dr Alexander has used a psychological device known as the "Thematic Apperception Test," a series of pictures, each showing what people saw, he was able to predict what they would see in an experimental picture.

His theory, according to the psychologist, seeing and interpreting the picture is based on organismic experience factors. This means that people see according to personality attributes and past experience.

DR ALEXANDER says that a number of behavior develops from experience which is used in conjunction with situations. This process of perception can be determined to some extent, and other reactions to situations can be predicted.

While he considers his research findings merely a beginning, the psychologist says that they are related to other problems and promise new possibilities for the future.

Art Prof Designs Fortune Mag Cover For August Issue

The August issue of Fortune magazine features a cover illustration by Prof Edmund Lewandowski, noted American artist on the FSU faculty.

Early this spring the editors of Fortune commissioned the art professor to execute the cover which depicts the reactivation of the Gulf Coast shipyards.

The painting was developed from a series of sketches made by Prof Lewandowski after visiting the shipbuilding yards at Panama City last spring.

This will be the seventh Fortune cover he has done over a period of four years.

At present Lewandowski is acting head of the art department.

He pointed out that since the School of Public Administration is located at the state capital, encouragement is being given for a better understanding of workers of American government at all levels, national, state, and municipal, by the people of South and Central America.

"Through a better understanding of governmental organization and operation and feeling of mutual friendship and cooperation between the peoples of Latin America and those of this country we can make a real contribution toward lasting world peace," Dr Doyle said.

over the various general sessions scheduled daily will include, in addition to Dr Bryzley, Dr Harris W Dean, FSU professor of education and conference co-chairman; Dr Sam H Moorer, assistant director, Division of Instruction, State Department of Education; and Herman P Hinton, state supervisor of trade and industrial education of the State Department of Education.

In order to make the conference as effective and far-reaching as possible, the committee in charge has opened facilities to a large number of school administrators, principals, supervisors, teachers, librarians, defense directors, and others from all sections of Florida. Nearly 700 people interested in the development of civil defense and citizenship education programs in Florida and the South will attend, according to committee co-chairman Bryzley and Dean.

A MEETING of conference consultants, the State Department of Education staff, and the discussion leaders will be held Sunday night, July 29, to set the stage for the sessions to follow.

Registration for those attending the conference is scheduled for 8 a m, Monday, July 30, in the lobby of the music building.

At the opening session Monday morning, President Campbell will deliver the welcoming address and introduce speakers. Dr Bryzley will preside at this 9 a m meeting.

MR THOMAS D BAILEY, state superintendent of public instruction, will take an active part in the proceedings and extend greetings to the delegates on behalf of the State Department of Education. He will also outline the purpose of the conference, emphasizing American citizenship and ideals.

In commenting on the importance of the conference, Dr Campbell said:

"THE IMPORTANCE and significance of such a conference both on a state-wide basis and in connection with the national civil defense program, cannot be overestimated.

"Florida State University, in accordance with its policy of fostering American ideals and working closely with all agencies interested in greater development of American democracy through education, is serving as co-sponsor of the conference. It also extends the use of its physical facilities and personnel as its contribution toward making the conference as successful as possible.

"WE SHALL BE glad to welcome to the conference at the university participants from all sections of the state in working with us toward a common objective of developing the procedures for carrying on the civil defense program of Florida and the nation, with special emphasis upon American ideals."

"Some of the subjects to be discussed will cover the importance and need for an adequate program of civil defense and citizenship education at community, city, and state levels.

Florida Plans Exams For Sanitarian Posts

The Florida Merit System has announced open competitive examinations with the State Board of Health for sanitarian positions.

Selectees will undergo a three months' training course, and then be accepted into county health departments.

Written and oral examinations will be held for candidates. Application blanks or further information may be secured at the office of the Director of Vocational Guidance and Placement, 203 Westcott.

with authority on this subject. Before coming here, he served in varied capacities in and around the continent of Asia. At present, he fluently speaks six widely diversified languages, including Malayan and Javanese.

Dr Van Assenderp began his diplomatic career shortly after his graduation from Leiden University, Holland, with his appointment as District Officer of the Netherlands East Indies Colonial administration in Java.

AFTER ACTING in that capacity for six years, Van Assenderp was then "loaned" to Surinam as District Commissioner. This lasted for five years, the last two of which were spent in the additional capacity of Mayor of the capital, Paramaribo, for which he prepared their first municipal government.

Leaving that position, he was appointed Consul of Noumea, French Caledonia. Before he arriving at that post, however, he was intercepted in San Francisco and sent to Australia to work for the Netherlands East Indies commission, where he aided the government of the Netherlands East Indies was headquartered.

FROM THERE, he "drifted" into intelligence work for the Netherlands Forces Intelligence Service.

A short time afterward he was sent to Southern New Guinea as a combination civil administrator of Aussie troops and Liason officer of the 11th Australian Division.

From there to Morotai, where he was Comanding Officer of the Netherlands East Indies Civil Affairs units. He soon left this post, though, and accepted an appointment which put him in charge of the military government on Borneo, where he also acted in capacity of Acting Military Governor of all Netherlands Borneo.

THEN TO MAKASSAR. Celebes, as Liason and Intelligence Officer accredited to the 80th British Indian Infantry Brigade. After which he was transferred back to the Netherlands, in charge of co-ordinating all political and economic Inteligence for East Indonesia.

At this point, he vacationed to the United States while on leave, received and accepted an offer from Tulane University as a professor, resigned from the East Indies government and applied for U S citizenship.

Dr Van Assenderp came to FSU after staying on the Tulane campus two years. He received his citizenship papers last year.

Fla Restauranteurs Given Home Course By FSU Department

A large number of Florida restaurant operators and managers, whose business prevents their attending a special course in "Restaurant Management" here, will have the class brought to them in their own home town by the University.

THE DEPARTMENT of Restaurant and Hotel Management is conducting the course this summer in several Florida cities. Active cooperation of the Florida Restaurant Association and State Board of Health has been given.

Dr Donald Lundberg, head of the department of restaurant and hotel management, said that the special short course will be given in Jacksonville July 25-27 and in Fort Lauderdale August 8-10.

NEARLY 100 restaurant operators in the Miami area and more than 65 restaurant operators and hotel managers in Tampa-St Petersburg have already attended the course this summer.

According to Dr Lundberg, the first day is devoted to personnel management, management, recruiting, selection of employees, and training methods. The second day is devoted to labor costs, while the third covers proper food costs and menu planning.

EACH LECTURE is illustrated by training films. Recommendations in salad preparation and meat cutting are held. Outlines of subjects being discussed are distributed in printed form to those attending.

Lectures include Dr Lundberg from FSU; Roger Herndon, Orlando, assistant executive secretary of the Florida Restaurant Association; and Chassell Johnson of the Florida State Board of Health.

Former FSU Student Awarded Fellowship

James T Jones, former Florida State University student, has been awarded a fellowship at the University of Chicago.

Jones is one of 191 students selected for graduate study awards, part of the university's annual three-quarter million dollar program of aid for outstanding students.

An army veteran, Jones received his bachelor's degree from the University of Alabama in 1949 and his master's degree from FSU in 1951. During 1949-50 he was an instructor in German and Latin at Alabama College.

Rounds and Bogaert Captive with Comedy

Last Thursday evening David Rounds and Frederick Bogaert appearing on Artist Series program, gave a hearty captivating presentation of Comedy Through the Ages.

THEY USED a unique method of costume changing make-up. While one of the performers was behind the screen dressing, the other sat at a table in full view of the audience, putting on his make-up, at the same time describing the comic scene to them.

Then the latter would come out, dressed, and apply his makeup and manner to the audience further while the first actor changed his costume. Then the two would come out and presented scene after scene of comic situations.

AMONG THE "ACTS" presented were Moliere's The Physician in Spite of Himself, Cox and Box, an excerpt from Green Pastures, modern television shows, and radio's Jerry Lewis type of comedian act. Also were some medieval clowning and a short vaudeville show. Ben Jonson's satires were condensed and one of Ring Lardner's most hilarious short stories came alive as Frederick and David gave excellent performances.

The two personable young men recently graduated from a middle-western college, and plan to make the theatre a permanent career. After an intensive season of performances, they begin their vacation in a few weeks.

Music Camp Band Presents Overture 'Floridan' July 29

An overture by a Florida composer, Guy Rimert, will be played by the Music Camp Band in their weekly concert Sunday evening, July 29 at 6:30 in the amphitheater. The band, directed by Otto Kraushaar, will present the program jointly with the Music Camp Orchestra, directed by Eugene Crabb.

Mr Rimert, band director in Malone and a summer school music student, will direct his overture Floridian. In addition, the band will play three marches, Americans We and Noble Men, by Fillmore, and Bullets and Bayonets, by John Philip Sousa.

Other compositions to be performed will be the First Swedish Rhapsody by Eric Leidsen and Aubade Printaniere, by Lacombe. The orchestra will perform Berlios' Hungarian March and the Bacchanale from the opera Samson and Delilah, by Saint-Saens.

Two additional concerts will be offered by the Music Camp organizations during the week. On Wednesday, August 1, the Camp chorus will present a program in the outdoor theater at 6:15 p m. On Saturday afternoon, the Music Camp band and orchestra will unite for a concert at Wakulla Springs Lodge.
